

Woodward cont. from page 1

journalism is an extremely competitive field, too much trivial reporting is taking place. He also commented that journalists and reporters "don't even have a glimpse of some of the real stories" that should be covered.

Woodward then answered questions that inquisitive audience members tossed at him. He was asked to give his thoughts concerning Hillary Clinton running for Senator of New York. He responded with just a few general comments. He did however, offer uniquely personal thoughts when he was asked to comment on Oliver Stone's film Nixon. Woodward said that the movie was 50% accurate and 50% pure fiction. He added that everyone gets the psychoanalyst that they deserve, and Nixon got the film director he deserved.

Woodward kept his speech interesting and even sprinkled it with humor to keep the audience's attention. He has published seven #1 best selling nonfiction books including All the President's Men, which is an account of the Watergate investigation and has appeared on television shows such as Larry King Live. Many students felt that it was an honor to listen such a distinguished figure.

"I thought it was really interesting. He kept the audience's attention, and everything he said was well thought out," said Holly Ristau, 02 Chem.

"I was surprised by his less than subtle predilection towards support of President Clinton. Most of what he said seemed to be aimed at somehow justifying or defending Clinton throughout the Clinton scandals," Ron Hayes, 06 Eng, commented.

"I enjoyed the speech, and I'm thankful that Behrend gave me the opportunity to listen to such an accomplished journalist." Keith Cerroni, 02 DUS.

Harassment By Communications On Behrend Campus

by Jennifer Hemme
staff writer

There are nine on-going investigations of harassment by communications being conducted by Police and Safety Services.

Harassment by communications refers to any message via telephone, letters, and e-mail. It is a third degree misdemeanor charge with the maximum penalties of one year in prison and a $2,500 fine for each offense.

Police and Safety has taken some of the cases to court, already. Bill Donahue, manager of Police and Safety Services said, "Because of technology, we've had a very good clearance rate on these, much better than we've had in past years. But," he adds, "they still continue to happen."

Some victims have received sexually harassing, profane, and name-calling messages. Some have also received messages that threatened their safety. But Donahue says, "...no one has carried out these threats..."

He advises that if any students are receive harassing messages, an accurate log of every one should be kept. Students should also pay particular attention to the sound of the caller's voice and any background noise.

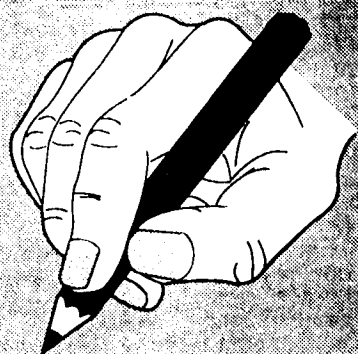

If a student receives the message by telephone, he or she should not bang down the receiver, converse, or reason with the caller because this can encourage more harassment. Tell the caller 'please do not call me again' and hang up.

Members of NSBE set up for fashion show

by Mike Frawley

Earn credit and work on the Beacon at the same time

Regeister for Commu
001(staff writers) or Commu
197A(editorial staff)

Police And Safety REPORT:

3/16/99 Student reported harassing phone calls.

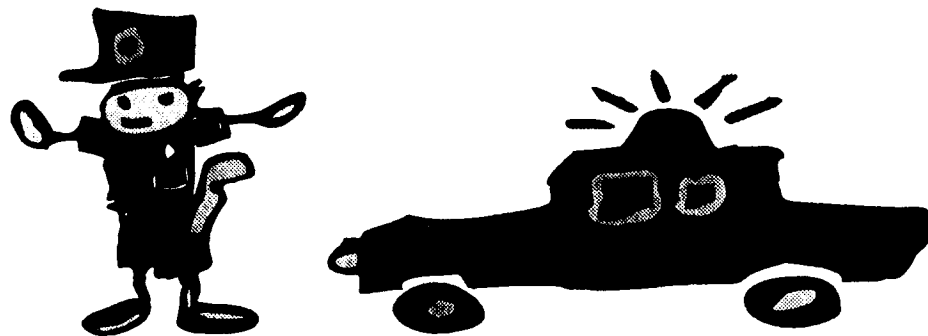

3/19/99 Student reported an attempted theft of fog lights off their vehicle.

3/20/99 Student reported that her car had been keyed.

3/20/99 Student reported that someone had gone into his room while he was at work and when he returned his room was in shambles.

3/21/99 A non student was observed urinating on the sidewalk leading to the parking lot between apartment buildings three and four. The male was arrested for disorderly conduct.

3/22/99 Student reported that his liscense plate was stolen.

Do you feel safe parking your car on campus over night?

"Yeah because my car is not the greatest."

JoseOrama, 04, Hist

"Yeah, I don't think there is a lot of crime on campus."

Jessica Turos, 02, Psy

"Yes, because there is nothing in my car to steal."

Mike Kraynek, 02, Engi

"Yes, because Behrend's a nice campus, the majority of the people are nice, and the exceptions wouldn't stop me."

Sean Davis, 02, Hist

"No, there is too many drunk people runing around at night."

Carrie Kish, 04, Ps

Question of the Week