Honors to General Meade.

A public ovation was given to Gen. Meade, on Tuesday, by the city authorities of Philadelphia. The affair came off at Independence Hall. In response to a lengthy speech by the Mayor, Gen. Meade replied as follows:

Mr. Mayor, and gentlemen of the Select and Common Councils—It is hardly necessary for me to say how much I am overcome by the unexpected honors which have been conferred upon me since my arrival in this city to pay a brief visit to my family. I fear, however, too much importance has been attached to my individual services, because it is to my officers and efficient private soldiers that all credit is most eminently due. [Applause.] This is especially so in the case of the Gettysburg battle, to which your Honor has referred: for without the undeviating, patriotic fighting of the men, who asserted that "they would either leave their bones upon the battle field or drive back the invaders," all the military tact and genius of the world would have availed nothing.

I therefore now desire publically to give to them that credit to which they are most justly entitled. The army has been inspired with a spirit of devotion such as seldom applies to any army, and this is evidenced in the fact of 100,000 men having been either killed or wounded since March, 1861, to the present time, and they will continue to be further inspired to renewed efforts when the season for operation again commences.

Mr. Mayor, my heart is full at this complimentary honor, for which I most sincerely thank you and those assembled.

This done, the public were admitted to the room, and hand-shaking began in earnest. It continued for a full hour. Uproarious cheers for General Meade were given at intervals by the throng that failed to find room inside. The congratulations offered to the General were hearty and earnest.

Gold in an Unexpected Quarter.

Nova Scotia has always seemed too cold a clime for the hot spirit of adventure. But we are told that gold is to be found there, and in these days of crying for gold when there is no gold, Nova Scotia, to the answer expectation, will hold a prominent position in the public eye. The gold district of Nova Scotia has lately been explored. The produce of the mines in Nova Scotian [illegible] represented as having been, within the past fort[illegible] [illegible] Halifax has the fever [illegible] and gold on the brain [illegible] A dispatch from Halifax, [illegible] states that, among the passengers on the Arabia, which [illegible] Boston, were Captain M. P. Field, and Messrs. [illegible] Pier[illegible] and John L. M. [illegible] Boston, who have made various [illegible] gold districts in this Province. CHANGES IN NEW ORLEANS.—The New Orleans correspondent of the New York Times says it is clearly [illegible] that a gradual change is taking place in the feelings [illegible] a great part of the recent [illegible] population of the [illegible] city. Active, demonstrative hatred of the North has in many instances given away, if not to an entirely opposite feeling, at least to a passiveness which promises better things, and hopes [illegible]. Many [illegible] see the new order of affairs, as the prospects of the Confederacy grow daily darker, and range themselves on the winning side. But what ever be the motive, certain it is that a regeneration is now going on, which ere many years will elevate Louisiana to the sphere for which she is by nature so richly endowed.

KNOXVILLE, TENN., is the oldest city of that State—was named for Gen. Knox, who was Secretary of War at the time the city was laid out, in 1793. It is situated on the high bluffs of the Holston River, below its confluence with French Broad River. It was well supplied with handsome storehouses, hotels and private residences, while among its public edifices, the State Asylum for the Deaf and Dumb was especially worthy of note. The University of East Tennessee, founded in 1807, more remarkable for its beautiful location than architectural elegance, stood on an eminence which commands an extensive view in every direction.

A GOOD bon mot of the Grand Vizier, apropos of the clerical squabble about the burial of the late Baroutchibachi, is told by the Levant Herald. It appears that the deceased "Catholic" party urged their right, to the last resort, before his Highness, affirming that they hold conclusive proofs of the deceased functionary having died a member of their communion. "Well, then," said Fuad Pacha, "since you are thus sure of his soul, you can, I think, afford to leave the others his body," an award which will bear no indifferent comparison with the famous judgment of Solomon.

McDOUGAL, of California, and Richardson, of Illinois, are the only habitual drunkards of the Senate. McDougal is harmless in his cups. He goes out horseback riding, falls into the gutter, and the small boys tally round him and have a little fun at his expense. He seldom troubles the Senate Chamber with his presence. Richardson, however, is disgusting in his bacchanalian revelries—always obtrudes himself upon the Senate, when scarcely able to stand erect—always, unfortunately for himself and for his State, in his seat to be pointed at from the galleries, and to have his name given in reply to the oft-repeated question, "Who is that drunken fellow there?"

Two soldiers on guard were recently found murdered in St. Petersburg. It was suggested that the eyes of the murdered soldiers should be immediately photographed, in the hope of successfully testing the discovery recently made, when, to the surprise of all, the result was the production of the portraits of two soldiers of the private guard at the palace, on whose breasts were the insignia of the Cross of St. George. The murderers were at once sought out and apprehended.

OF General McClellan's report, the Cincinnati Gazette speaks in no smooth terms: "It is the whimpering plea of a lubberly lout, accusing others of the nuisances in which he has been detected. It is no military report. No such document ever emanated from a soldier. And it is false as a military history."

THE New York Post calculates the present number of males in the Confederacy at 300,000, including those in the army, to which, adding the Border State men 50,000, makes the total strength of their forces east of the Mississippi 350,000. The Post considers this a liberal estimate as to numbers.

THE seat of Senator Lane, of Kansas, we learn from our telegraphic dispatches of this morning, is to be filled by Gov. Carney. Lane's term of office does not expire until one year from the 4th of March next.

A YOUNG Englishman was sworn in at New Haven, last week, who was one of the famous "six hundred" immortalized by Tennyson.

PERSONAL.

THE Richmond correspondent of the London Times intimates that Longstreet has fallen in general estimation. He writes that, in January of last year, it was found that Lee could not subsist his army in bare and devastated Northern Virginia, and that Longstreet was sent with twenty-five thousand men to occupy Suffolk, and scour all that region for corn and pork. The conduct of Longstreet in this first independent command created great disappointment at Richmond, and it was charged that he was very slow to go about his work, and slower still in breaking camp when called to assist at Chancellorsville. His affair at Knoxville closed the year with another imputed miscarriage, which had the effect to do away with much of the glory he earned at Gettysburg and Chickamauga. The correspondent adds that Longstreet has never been off duty an hour since he joined the Confederate army, before the first battle of Bull Run.

THE telegraph announces the death of Ex-Governor Marcus Morton, of Massachusetts. He died at Taunton, in that State, on Saturday morning, aged eighty years. Governor Morton was originally a Democrat, and was elected as such to Congress and the Governorship. He left that party, however, and died, an earnest supporter and promoter of the principles upheld by the national Administration. He was Clerk of the Massachusetts Senate in 1811; Representative in Congress from 1817 to 1821; a member of the State Executive Council in 1823; Lieutenant Governor in 1824; Governor the following year, by the death of Governor Curtis; Governor by choice of the Legislature in 1842, and by popular election in 1843, when he had one vote more than Governor Everett. He was also one of the Justices of the Supreme Court of the State in 1841, and Collector of the port of Boston in 1845.

GEN. E. P. SCAMMON, captured by guerrillas a few days ago, on the Kanawha river, West Virginia, was a regular army officer, belonged to the engineer corps, served in Florida and Mexico, and was on Gen. Scott's staff in the war with the latter country. Subsequently he resigned his position in the army and accepted the presidency of the Catholic Institute of Cincinnati, in which pursuit he was employed at the breaking out of our civil war. He then became colonel of the 23d Ohio regiment, and fought bravely in many battles, especially at Bull Run and Antietam, and received a Brigadiership as the reward of his distinguished services.

LIEUT. GEORGE WALLACK, a nephew of the veteran Wallack, died of diptheria last week at the residence of J. W. Wallack, Jr., at Deal, Long Branch. Like most of the members of his family, he was an actor by profession, but had been for some time in our western army, where he was a most enterprising and useful scout. He was but twenty four years old at the time of his death, and leaves a young widow, a daughter of ex-Governor Shelby, of Kentucky.

REV. A. M. STEWART, chaplain of the 102d regiment Pennsylvania volunteers, will address the citizens of Butler on the 18th inst., at 10 o'clock A. M., at the Court House, on behalf of the great moral interests connected with our armies. Rev. Stewart has been in the service since April, 1861, and is now serving chaplain in the Army of the Potomac, is an able and interesting speaker, faithful in our cause, and true to every duty.

A FEW days since, Dr. William Hunt, a brother-in-law of Parson Brownlow, and belonging to the 6th loyal Tennessee regiment, was permitted to go to Cleveland, about thirty-eight miles from Chattanooga to remove his family from the rebel lines, when he was seized by a lawless gang of guerrillas and afterwards hurried off to Atlanta. He [illegible] since been released.

IN the New York Assembly at Albany, on Tuesday, Major General Hancock was welcomed by the Speaker, and responded, stating that the object of his visit to Albany was to promote enlistments for the New York regiments under his command.

BISHOP DUGGAN, of Chicago, has followed the example of Bishop Wood, of Philadelphia in denouncing the Fenian Brotherhood, and directing that Fenians shall have nothing to do with the [illegible].

IT is stated that Gen. Augur has been assigned to an important command in the field, and that Gen. Sickles will take his place in charge of the defenses of Washington.

MISS BRADDON, the novelist, has just entered into partnership for life with Mr. Maxwell, the publisher, and has become a fortune to him.

GEORGE THOMPSON, the noted English abolitionist, has arrived in Boston, and is to have a public reception next week.

BISHOP AMES is officiating in the Methodist churches at New Orleans, and placing loyal clergymen in charge of them.

NEWS ITEMS.

A REQUISITION was made a few days since on the government for boots for the colored regiment in camp at Quincy, Illinois. The sizes were so enormous that they could not be procured at Chicago, and the agent had to telegraph to Washington to know what was to be done. He was ordered to have the regimental feet measured and send the result to Washington, so that the boots could be constructed there. The sizes range from 14's to 20's. This regiment will be apt to "trample on the rights of the South."

CAPT. J. M. STEEDMAN, 5th Georgia Regiment, is out in a card, urging his fellow-soldiers to desert. His reason for this is, that "the rebellion must finally fail; better that it should do soon and before the last poor fellow in the ranks is a sacrifice to gratify the obstinacy and pride of the rebel leaders, who intend in the last extremity to save themselves by flying to a foreign country, which you cannot do, for the want of the means of living there.

IN Idaho nothing goes as a circulating medium but gold dust. Every man carries his little buckskin pouch, and, no matter what his purchase is, he pays for it in the precious legal tender of the realm, which is weighed out on scales kept for the purpose, whether the article bought be a cigar, a horn of whisky or something of more utility and value. The minimum of values is a quarter of a dollar, and the weights are graduated from that sum up.

A NEW GUNBOAT, the Ouachita, has just been completed at Cairo. She is an iron clad, but differs from other craft of that description in retaining her cabin and upper works entire. Her batteries consist of howitzers and rifled Parrotts, and are in such a position as to command the banks of the river, and enable her crew to engage rebel batteries at almost any point upon equal terms.

LAUNCH OF AN IRON CLAD.—The large iron clad gunboat Milwaukee was launched at St. Louis on the 4th inst. The boat has two turrets, each mounting two eleven inch Dahlgren guns, moved by steam, loaded in the hold of the vessel, and raised to be fired. Two other gunboats, the Chickasaw and Kickapoo, will be launched in a few days.

THE Richmond Enquirer of the 6th says the Confederate Congress has got into a pet with the newspaper men, and will conscript all below forty-five years of age, making it necessary to suspend all the papers, except such as are necessary to do the public printing. There are now but thirty five papers in the Confederacy.

A LETTER from Vicksburg, dated Jan. 30, says that there has been much excitement here among the old soldiers about re-enlisting. Some regiments have re-enlisted to a man. The army in this region will be diminished but very little on account of old soldiers leaving the service.

THE Missouri Legislature have passed the Emancipation Convention bill by a vote of 86 to 34, after amending it so as to postpone the election of the members of the Convention to November. The amendment was adopted by the close vote of 60 to 57.

The Kansas U. S. Senatorship.

LEAVENWORTH, Feb. 10.—At a meeting of the Union League last night, resolutions were adopted denouncing an election of United States Senator by the present Legislature as an infamous fraud upon the people, and a disgrace to the State of Kansas, and expelling all members of the Legislature belonging to Cague, who voted for the joint resolution to go into an election. A meeting of the citizens is called for to-night to take action on this matter, and similar meetings are to be held throughout the State. There was no candidate voted for against Carney. Thirty-one votes were cast, but all were blank or against the fraud. The minority and a portion of the State officers issued a protest against the election.

Welcome to Gen. Curtis—Fighting on the Canadian River.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 10.—A dispatch from Fort Smith says that a large meeting of loyal citizens and soldiers was held there last night to welcome Gen. Curtis.

Fears were entertained for the safety of the Indian brigade which had been moved South from Fort Gibson to North Fork Town, on the Canadian river. They were fighting a largely superior force, under Glanwaite, at last accounts.

EVENING GAZETTE TELEGRAMS.

FROM HARRISBURG.

Special Dispatch to the Pittsburgh Gazette.

HARRISBURG, Feb. 11, 1864.

HOUSE.—Mr. Negley read in place a bill to change the place for holding the election in Cherry township, Butler county.

Mr. Bigham presented a bill proposing to fix the standard weight of grapes at forty-four pounds to a bushel.

Numerous petitions from Western counties were presented—subjects indifferent.

Mr. Searight presented a bill repealing the act relative to the appointment of tax collectors in Westmoreland county.

Also, a bill repealing the first section of the bill providing for the settlement of military claims, which was passed April, 1862.

The resolution of Mr. Kelly, of Washington, which has been under discussion, was called up by Mr. Moore.

Mr. Moore moved as an amendment to the bill, providing that applicants from the border counties, asking for damages from rebel raids, should be required, under oath, to furnish evidence of their loyalty, to the commissioners.

Mr. Barger, democrat of Philadelphia, is speaking against the amendment and the original resolution.

The Military Committee will to-morrow report a general bounty law, through their chairman, Mr. Glass. J.

GEN. CURTIS AT FORT SMITH.

Nearly all East Tennessee in Possession of the Rebels.

SMALL POX RAGING AT KNOXVILLE.

Formidable Fleet Fitting out by Admiral Porter.

THE SITUATION IN THE SOUTHWEST.

&c., &c., &c.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 11.—The Gazette's special says Gen. Curtis arrived at Fort Smith, Ark., yesterday. The Army of the Frontier will be reorganized for offensive operations.

Persons from Knoxville, arrived at Nashville yesterday, report communication with Cumberland Gap cut off, and nearly all of East Tennessee in possession of the rebels.

The small pox prevails to an alarming extent in Knoxville.

The correspondent of the Chicago Times says the largest and most formidable fleet yet seen on the Mississippi is being fitted out by Admiral Porter. The greatest activity prevails at all the naval stations and yards on the river, and work is [illegible] night and day, and night to have the vessels ready at the appointed time. The boats will probably rendezvous at Cairo and Memphis. The same correspondent thinks [illegible] expedition in Mississippi [illegible] Alabama [illegible] rather than to [illegible] Mobile.

[illegible] Nearly all the Tennessee brigades, and two thirds of the Kentucky regiments, have been sent South, ostensibly to assist in holding Mobile, but really to prevent desertion.

Veteran regiments have commenced returning to the army of the Cumberland.

The News from Mexico—The Abdication of Juarez—The Capture of Morelia—The Blockade at Campeche Raised, etc.

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—Mexican papers which have been received here state that the rumor of the abdication of Juarez is upon the statement of a Vera Cruz correspondent of the Esperanza, who writes that at a cabinet meeting at Monterey, Ortega and Doblado advised the step, and even threatened if Juarez did not accede to the proposition they would depose him.

It is also rumored that these three chiefs would go over to the French party.

The Esperanza subsequently announced that Juarez had resigned, and had been succeeded by Gen. Ortega.

It was the defection of Guadalajara from the national cause which encouraged Doblado and Ortega, that they opened negotiations for submitting to the French. This information, however, comes through interested channels.

It appears that previous to the battle of Morelia and its capture by the Internationalists, that the capital of the State had been removed by a decree, to Tlalpan, so that the capture was not so complete as had been stated.

Marquis de Montholan, the French Minister, has arrived at the City of Mexico.

Baron Maigre, the French Commanding General in the City of Mexico, addressed a letter to the Archbishop, complaining that incendiary proclamations had been circulated to inflame the populace against the army of occupation. The Baron urges the Archbishop to use his influence to counteract these incendiary proclamations.

The capture of Campeche raises the blockade there. By the articles of capitulation all government property passes over to the French Commander, and the city is picketed and occupied by French marines. Personal liberty and security, without distinction, are guaranteed by the French to all citizens. Persons who wish to leave the city will be safely conducted out of the State by French troops.

The Gaceta official publishes the manifesto of Gen. Almonte, dated January 2d, 1864, in favor of the regency, and announcing his intention to suspend from the exercise of their functions all those magistrates of the supreme tribunal who refuse to give in their adhesion to the interventionists. He concludes by saying that the Mexican nation was on the verge of utter national ruin, from which it could only be saved by the strong hand of the Emperor Napoleon.

Reception of Col. Taylor—Speeches of Geo. Thompson and others.

BOSTON, Feb. 11.—A large company assembled at the United States Hotel last night, on invitation of Col. Goodrich, to meet Colonel Taylor, of East Tennessee. Speeches were made by Mr. Taylor and others, including George Thompson. The latter thanked God that he had lived to see the noble position America had taken, and hoped in a few days to speak more fully on the state of feeling in England in relation to our great struggle. Mr. Thompson made an eloquent allusion to Washington as the founder of American independence, and to Abraham Lincoln as the founder of American liberty. His address was enthusiastically applauded.
