Seek Raise For Postmasters

eficial effect on employes and patrons of the Bellefonte postoffice. The bill provides that postoffices shall be classed on 100 per cent of annual receipts instead of on 90 percent, as at present.

Based on 100 percent of receipts, the status of the Bellefonte postoffice would be raised, employes would be entitled to more pay, and the public would be entitled to more service, through the employment of additional clerks, postal officials indicated.

The practice of classifying postoffices on 90 per cent of receipts was started by Congress several years ago when it decided to increase the out-of-town letter rate from two to three cents. The three-cent rate was authorized in the Revenue Act of 1932, so that the extra cent could be retained as a "nuisance tax." Recognizing that the rate increase would automatically hike postal receipts, Congress decided to base postal salaries and service on 90 per cent of receipts instead of the former 100 per cent.

The provisions for the three-cent rate expire June 30, 1939, and now the Postoffice Department unofficially joins with Representative Bradley in echoing a sentiment first voiced by Benjamin Franklin: "Postage can't be taxation." Stamp provisions of the Revenue Act of 1932 should be repealed, they believe.

Other pending postal bills provide for substitute laborers in postoffices; and for city delivery service in villages, so that lovers' notes and creditors' bills could be speeded to their destinations.

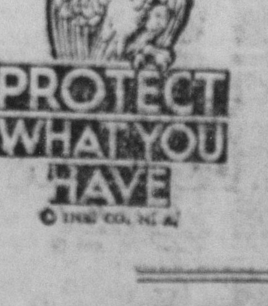
ARE YOU SURE YOUR FIRE INSURANCE IS ADEQUATE?
Millions of dollars in losses are suffered each year by property owners who are the victims of both fire and under-insurance.
A $1,000 fire insurance policy cannot cover a $2,000 loss. And there is no reason for anyone to deny himself adequate protection . . . an extra $1,000 worth of fire insurance costs but a few pennies daily.
Despite all precautions, fire still occurs. Our annual fire loss totals several hundred million dollars! Avoid the risk of having to pay part of this staggering bill by protecting yourself with fire insurance—and make certain it is adequate to cover any possible loss.



Come in, write or telephone for consultation. No obligation, of course.
