That every person licensed to sell spirituous, vinous, malt or brewed liquors under this act, shall frame his license under a glass, and place the same so that it may at all times be conspicuous in his chief place of making sales, and no such license shall authorize sales by any person who shall neglect this requirement.

SEC. 28. That any sale made of vinous, spirituous, malt or brewed liquors, or any admixtures thereof, contrary to the provisions of this law, shall be taken to be a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction of the offence in the court of quarter sessions of the peace of any city or county, the person so offending shall be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than ten, nor more than one hundred, dollars, with the costs of prosecution; and to stand committed until the sentence of the court is complied with, not exceeding thirty days; and upon a second, or any subsequent conviction, the party so offending shall, in addition to the payment of a fine as aforesaid, undergo an imprisonment in the county jail of not less than one month nor more than three months, and, if licensed, shall forfeit said license, and be incapacitated from receiving any license as aforesaid, for the period of five years thereafter, and any keeper of any drug or apothecary store, confectionary, or mineral or other fountain, who shall sell any spirituous, vinous, malt or brewed liquors, mixed or pure, to be used as a beverage, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and liable to conviction and punishment, as aforesaid.

SEC. 29. That any person who shall be found intoxicated in any street, highway, public house or public place, shall be fined upon the view of, or upon proof made before any mayor, alderman, or justice of the peace, not exceeding five dollars, to be levied, with the proper costs, upon the goods and chattels of the defendant.

SEC. 30. That any persons who shall sell spirituous, or other intoxicating liquors, as aforesaid, to any person who shall drink the same on the premises where sold, and become thereby intoxicated, shall besides his liability in damages under any existing law, be fined five dollars for every such offense, to be recovered in debt before any alderman, or justice of the peace, by any wife, husband, parent, child, relative, or guardian of the person so injured, and levied upon the goods and chattels of the defendant, without exception: Provided, That suits shall not be instituted after twenty days from the commission of the offenses, in this and the preceding sections.

That it shall be the duty of the court, mayor, alderman, or justice of the peace before whom any fine or penalty shall be recovered, to award to the informer, or prosecutor, or both, a reasonable share thereof, for time and trouble, but not in any case exceeding one-third, and the residue, as well as the proceeds of all forfeited bonds, as aforesaid, shall be paid to the directors of the public schools of the proper district, except in the city of Philadelphia, where they shall be paid to the city treasurer to be applied for school purposes, and nothing herein contained shall prevent any such informer or prosecutor from becoming a witness in any such case.

SEC. 32. That no person pursuing exclusively the business of bottler of cider, perry, ale, porter, or beer, and not at the same time following or engaging, in any way, in the business of keeping any hotel, inn, or tavern, restaurant, oyster house, or cellar, or place of entertainment, amusement, or refreshment, shall be required to take out a license under the provisions of this law; Provided, That such persons shall not sell or deliver said cider, perry, ale, porter, or beer, in less quantities than a dozen bottles, at one time, nor permit any of said liquors to be drank upon the premises occupied in said business, and any violation of this section shall be punishable as and in the manner provided in the twenty-eighth section of this act: And provided further, That producers and manufacturers of domestic wines and cider may sell and deliver the same by any measure not less than five gallons, and in any quantity not less than one dozen bottles, without license therefor.

SEC. 33. SEC. 34. That if any person engaged in the sale or manufacture of intoxicating liquors, as aforesaid, shall employ or permit any intemperate person in any way to assist in such manufacture, or sale, it shall be deemed a misdemeanor, and any person so offending shall be liable to conviction and punishment, as provided in the twenty-eighth section of this act.

SEC. 35. HARRISBURG, March 28 1856.—The following resolutions relative to the Improvement of the navigation of the Ohio river, have been submitted in the House:—

Whereas, The Ohio river, although the most important internal commercial thoroughfare in the United States, is subject to almost and often long-continued interruption in its navigation to the great detriment of the commercial, manufacturing and agricultural interests, not only of the States lying on its borders, but of several of the Atlantic States, and also of all the States and Territories, washed by the Mississippi and Missouri, comprising in all more than one half the Territory and two-thirds of the population of the United States.

And whereas, it is believed to be entirely practicable, at a comparatively small expense, to improve the navigation of that river, so as to render it permanently navigable for steamboats, except when obstructed by ice; therefore.

Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is herby resolved by the same, That the Congress of the United States be earnestly requested to make an appropriation adequate to the accomplishment of this improvement under such regulations as in their wisdom they may deem propo; and, thus our Senators in Congress be instructed, and our Representatives be requested to procure the passage of a law making such appropriation, and to do all in their power to accomplish efficiently and speedily this important and national work.

THE term "Republican" is both the oldest and latest name for a political party. The name Republican represented the party of the people, the popular party, in the earlier days of the Republic, when there were only two parties known, the Federal and the Republican. It was lost on the disruption of the old parties and the formation of new ones, in the campaigns which followed Mr. Monroe's last election. It has lately been revived to represent the idea of opposition to the extension of slavery into the territories of the nation. It represents that idea at present, and that alone, and as that idea is to be the great issue of the Presidential canvass, it would seem to be the appropriate term of designation for the appropriate term of designation for the anti-Nebraska union party. There can certainly be no objection to it, except that it has been the name of a party that has been in existence long enough to possess an independent position, and come has into political competition with the other existing parties, and voters who have opposed the organization, but not the principle, may be unwilling to be called by the name. If this feeling exists to any extent, and is any bar to union, no Republican will insist upon it, although the fitness of the name, as representing the idea at issue, and nothing else, must be apparent to all.—Mad. Cour.

THE wear and tear of English railroads is great; it takes 20,000 tons of iron every year to keep the tracks in repair, and 26,000,000 sleepers to finish which requires 3,000,000 trees, covering a space of 5,000.

Seventy-three battles were fought during the year 1855, in which 78,987 men were killed.—The whole number of death occasioned by war cannot be less than 800,000.

THE PROGRESS OF LIBERTY IN TURKEY.—The firman recently issued by the Sultan of Turkey, by which he grants to his Christian subjects an equality of privileges with the Mahomedans, is an extraordinary document. It seems to have been conceived in a spirit of enlightened liberality, which the Christian potentates of Europe would do well to emulate. That the Sultan has been impelled to this course by influences exerted upon him from without: that the allied powers of Western Europe have been mainly instrumental in bringing about this movement, and that they consequently deserve a great share of the credit of this important reform—has been repeatedly asserted, and we have been called upon to regard this measure, as one of the beneficial results of the present European war. There is good reason, however, to believe that the liberal purpose executed by this firman, was long ago entertained by the Sultan, and that it is part of a series of reforms which have illustrated his reign and that of his father. It is hinted, indeed, and that it was the rapid progress of liberal institutions, within the dominion of the Sultan, that gave rise to apprehensions on the part of the Western Powers, which were among the prominent inducements for them to enter into the present war.

Be this as it may, we are disposed to give to the Sultan, the entire credit for this bold and decisive step, towards the establishment of civil and religious freedom in his dominions. The step was certainly a bold one, inasmuch as it was in direct disregard of the strong religious and social prejudices entertained by the Mahommedans. It is no half-way measure. It has been said that every sentence of the firman is a resolution. It provides for a more complete social equality among the subjects of the Porte, than now prevails in any European nation; it secures entire freedom of religious opinion and action; it grants valuable civil privileges heretofore withheld from Christian subjects; and lays the foundation for wise and beneficent laws.

By the provisions of this firman is secured a revision of the privileges and immunities before given to Christian and other communities, in accordance with the spirit of the age and the actual state of society. These privileges are to be discussed by councils, and the improvements they may suggest are to be submitted to the Government. The patriarchs are to be named by diploma for life, instead of being removable at the will of the Sultan, as heretofore. The position of the patriarch, as the chiefs and representatives of their nations, renders this change in the tenure of their office of vast importance to them, as it confers upon them a degree of independence which they have not before possessed. Another important change in reference to the patriarchs, bishops and other clergy, is the assigning them fixed revenues, according to their rank and functions.

The direction of the national affairs of the different Christian communities is to be entrusted to a council, chosen by the clergy and laity of the community. Each community is free to erect schools for the arts and sciences, the studies followed there and the choice of teachers to be subject to the inspection of a mixed commission, named by the Porte. The path to official preferment is thrown open to all subjects, without distinction; the only requisite for admission to office, both civil and military, being that certain prescribed examinations shall be passed. Civil and criminal causes between members of different religious communities are to be subject to a mixed court, which will hold public sittings, and the witnesses are to take oath according to their religion. Heretofore Christian testimony has not been received in Mahommedan Courts. A commercial and criminal code is to be prepared and published in all the language used in the Turkish Empire. The penal code is to be ameliorated; attention is to be paid to prison discipline; and new police regulations are to be adopted.

Equality of taxation will be introduced, and the abuses in the collection of the taxes, which now exists, will be remedied by establishing a direct system of collection, instead of the system of forming the revenue, now pursued. A valuable concession is to be made to foreigners, by giving them the right to hold and when an arrangement shall have been made with foreign powers, to the effect that foreigners should submit in this respect to the laws of the country, and pay imposts at the same rate as the natives.

These are some of the important features of the firman, which when carried into execution must be productive of vast benefit to the Turkish Empire. Undoubtedly, some time must elapse before we shall hear of the accomplishment of all the reforms provided for by this instrument. The deep-rooted prejudices and jealousies and stubborn religious bigotry of the Musselmen will not easily be overcome, and until they are overcome there can be no fraternity of feeling, or freedom of intercourse between them and their Christian fellow subjects. It is, however, to be hoped that the operation of the liberal system which has been inaugurated by the sultan, will gradually liberalize the views of his Mahommedanism subjects, and induce them to live on better terms with the Christians.

THE MAPLE SUGAR CROP IN VERMONT.—The Burlington Free Press says:—"These frosty nights and thawing days are making the maple sap run well. Owing to the depths of the snow in the woods and the peculiarities of the season, however, it is probable that less sugar will be made in the State than usual—although the high price of common sugars will stimulate the manufacture of the native article."

DUTY ON SUGAR.—There are signs in the present Congress that the duty on Sugar and Molasses will be materially reduced. We wish that we could say that they are to be wholly removed; but as the statesmen are not yet educated who will not yield to the demands of class interests, we shall be forced to wait yet a while for the consummation of the movement which a material reduction of imports will inaugurate. Both these articles are of prime necessity to all the people of this country; and that they should have been so long burdened with a duty for the benefit of a few thousand nabobs in the South, is a fact as disgraceful to the statesmanship of the country as it is creditable to the tact and assurance of those who have compelled the whole people, through their representatives, to submit to taxation that they might be enriched.

If Gen. James' bill, now before the Senate, becomes a law, the two articles we have named will be admitted upon an ad valorem duty of 20 per cent. The present duty is 30 per cent.—Chicago Trib.

SILVER MINES OF CALIFORNIA.—We extract the following interesting article on the Silver Mines of California from the Mining Journal published at grass Valley, the first number of which was received on the 22d instant:—

"The fame of the silver mines of California is quite an ancient as the knowledge of its gold placers, and it is the opinion of gentlemen well informed in the matter, that ere many years shall elapse, we shall see the business of silver mining take high rank among the mining interests of the State. So far as discoveries have been already made, the presence of silver seems to be chiefly confined to central and southern portions of the State, and there can be little doubt but that where the mountains of that portion of the State are thoroughly explored, silver ore will be found as abundant, and perhaps as rich as in the most favored regions of Mexico or Peru."

THERE is a vigorous movement going forward in California to organize a Republican party in that State. The best men in the State are at the head of it, and have such encouragement as justifies the hope of a successful result in November.

MARTIN KOSZTA.—The Sanantonio Reporter learns that Martin Koszta has purchased a farm on the Medina, for which he paid $9,000. On this the American Celt says:—"as this notorious individual was, two years ago, represented in a starving condition, we must suppose that his patriotism has found rather a profitable market. That market, Mr. Celt, was a rich widow of this city, who captured him, and there was no Ingraham to rush to the rescue.—Chicago Dem.

CONTRIBUTIONS LEVIED BY WALKER.—It is stated that S. L. Wood & Son, United States merchants at Greytown, have addressed a formal protest to the President against the exactions of G. n. Walker, whose troops recently took forcible possession of $3,000 worth of their goods, without tendering any remuneration. They therefore beg the intercession of our government in their behalf as citizens of the United States, and entitled to the protection of its flag. It is also stated that Walker levied contributions upon the following merchants after he had taken the city of Granada:

Wiederman and Barsche, (German merchants) $5,000; Duke and Derbyshire, (English merchants,) $5,000; Mr. Solari, (Italian merchant,) $5,000; The Brothers Lanayos, (Nicaraguan merchants,) $12,000; Mr. Bernard, (French merchant,) $250; Pedro Roux, (French merchant,) $250. As well as others to a large amount. The respective governments of these sufferers will probably interfere in their behalf.

SPRING DRESS GOODS.—A. A. Mason & Co will open in a day or two a splendid assortment of Wool Cashmeres and Delaines, Fine French Lawns and Brilliantes, new style Plaid Organdies, Robes, Foulard Silks, &c. &c.

FOR SALE.—A Steam Engine, 15 horse power in good running order, boiler, &c.
