A Closer Look

AUDITIONS OPEN FOR TEN LITTLE INDIANS

Nobody does a murder mystery better than Agatha Christie, and Ten Little Indians is the best of the best. There are ten statuettes of Indians on the mantle of the vacation house on a remote coastal island. The nursery rhyme above the mantle tells how each little indian met his death — until there were none. Eight guests are invited to a weekend at the house. They have never met each other or their host. A recorded voice accuses each of them of murder, including the two servants; the suspicious, tension and killings begin. When one little indian falls off of the mantle, one guest dies. One down and nine to go.

There are roles in the play for eight men and three women of varying ages and attitudes (18-65). Readings will be provided at the auditions. Scripts are available to read ahead of time at the Reserve Desk of the Penn State Behrend Library. Auditions are open to Behrend students, faculty and staff along with the local community.

4:30 p.m. — Women's Soccer vs. Wooster at Behrend Fields.

5:15 p.m. — Student Government Association Weekly Meeting in Reed Conference 114.

Thursday, September 7:

11:00 a.m. — Alpha Sigma Tau "Guess the Skittles" in Reed Union Building.

2:30 p.m. — College Republicans meeting in Reed 3.

4:00 p.m. — Greek Rush Week at Outdoor Basketball Courts.

4:30 p.m. — Auditions for Ten Little Indians at the Studio Theatre.

7:30 p.m. — Intersivity Christian Fellowship in 126 Science Building.
