The Great Domestic Remedy

For Pains, Soreness, Stiffness of the Joints, Lameness of the side or back, Swellings, Rheumatism, [illegible] Smart Weed Liniment. The [illegible] with [illegible] fair trial [illegible] worth and of the advantage of having it always on hand [illegible] certain means of meeting and curing many of [illegible] to which all are liable [illegible] in the world with which to break up a cold [illegible] from soreness and stiffness and pain [illegible]

TO PARENTS.—As this is the season in which [illegible] are most frequently troubled with Bowel complaints, it may be well for parents to know that Worms are a fruitful source, and a frequent cause of these derangements, and that a return to health and regularity cannot reasonably be expected [illegible] as the system is kept in a state of irritation by the presence of these animals. Their expulsion is therefore a condition of health. This can be readily done by a few doses of the GERMAN WORM CANDY, which removes both the Worms, and the slime in which they are bred and nourished, is not disagreeable, irritating, nor hurting to the stomach and bowels, but just the contrary [illegible] taste, allays fever, purifies the breath [illegible] of the Liver and Bowels

A VAST NUMBER.—Few Persons are aware of the vast number of Women there are throughout our country [illegible] either naturally feeble, or rendered so [illegible] whose lives are a burden to themselves [illegible] to their friends, a support to none but Doctors and Druggists [illegible] weakness having rendered them Nervous, [illegible] impairing, Low Spirited and Irresolute [illegible] of life [illegible] compelled by circumstances [illegible] the possession of all their faculties in full vigor. What [illegible] to be in, and yet what hope of escape [illegible] have lost all confidence in Medicine, or given [illegible] farther effort after relief, we would say, Try this [illegible] which so many [illegible] have obtained so much relief and which so seldom fails to meet the wishes of those that use it—we allude to Carter's Female Restorative and Moth er's Cordial

Use Anthelmintic Wafers, the only safe, certain and pleasant remedy for Worms. They are entirely free from the taste of medicine [illegible] eat them as readily as candy. For sale by R. G. HERRON

The Difference.

The difference between a medicine that is worth [illegible] every disease and one that is designed for a single class [illegible] the former rarely cures a single [illegible] ingredients equally [illegible] in their effects, hence they neutralize the action, or destroy the effects of each other, and little or no benefit can result from [illegible] designed for but one class [illegible] same organs [illegible] composed of various remedies, are yet selected with a view to harmony of action [illegible] meeting some symptom of the complaint, and [illegible] [illegible] the strength [illegible] organs that [illegible] weakened and unable to perform their proper functions [illegible] The Female Restorative is compounded [illegible] [illegible]

Thousands and Tens of Thousands of Women

THROUGHOUT this country suffering with Pains, Languor, Low Spirits, Want of Energy, Palpitation of the Heart, Nervousness, general Weakness, etc., could be placed in the enjoyment of renewed and vigorous health; and see "their youth's bright hopes come bounding back again," were they to make use of that most salutary, invigorating and bracing cordial,

CARTER'S FEMALE RESTORATIVE.

There is no deception about this medicine, as daily report shows that at least nine out of ten persons that have used it fairly, have been greatly benefitted by it: indeed from the well known nature of the Herbs of which it is composed it cannot well be otherwise. No woman therefore that regards the enjoyment of sound health, strong nerves, and cheerfulness of disposition, as necessary to the faithful discharge of her duties to her family and friends, will fail to make use of a remedy that has proved so efficient where ever used.
