THE CITY.

THE ST. LOUIS COUNCILMEN.—Yesterday the St. Louis councilmen occupied the third day of their stay in this city in almost the same manner as they did the previous ones. In the morning the Insane Asylum was visited. The party were cordially received by Dr. Kirkbride, and welcomed to the institution. They were then shown through the various wards of the Asylum. They stated that nowhere throughout their travels had they seen anything to equal the institution. Part of the patients were wandering in the yards enjoying at will the fine weather and beautiful day.

The celebrated glass woman is no longer an inmate of the Asylum. She died a short time since. For twenty-five years she lived within its walls, continually declaring that she was made of glass, and petitioning the attendants not to touch and break her.

The teakettle man is also another of the departed wonders of the house. Year after year he was wont to stand in a corner of the aisles, with one hand resting on his hips and the other extended like a spout. At six o'clock he faithfully proceeded to the kitchen and took his station by the range, waiting his turn to be boiled. A number of other eccentricities were explained to the guests. They met a fellow-townsman there. His singular monomania is the belief that he is insane. He gives all his business matters to the care of Mr. Valle, of the City Council of St. Louis, and comes to Philadelphia, placing himself voluntarily under treatment. After a few weeks' care he fancies that he recovers, and is permitted to go home.

At noon the committee took their departure. An unfortunate creature, just as the guests were leaving, handed one of them a bunch of dried grass, which she said she plucked as curative of all ills from the tree of life. The grass was kept by the recipient, and will doubtless accompany him to his far-off Western home, where he will preserve it as a memento of his visit to this home of the wretched. The St. Louisians from the Asylum took their way to the Eastern Penitentiary. The cleanliness and order of the halls and grounds struck them with surprise. They were conducted to the cell of John S. Halloy, and through the corridors. The cells were thrown open for their inspection, and every facility given to see everything. An average of two criminals is the daily amount of commitments to the prison. The cells are vacated and refilled constantly. The latest arrival from the city courts is the notorious Peter B. Sanford. He was committed on Thursday for a term of three years for the charge of picking pockets. Two other clear and special accusations are now pending before the Quarter Sessions.

At one the delegation proceeded to the House of Refuge. They were here treated, as elsewhere, with the most cordiality and kindness. This building, of all others, is of interest to the St. Louis people, as some months since the city of their city was destroyed by fire, and the Council intend erecting upon the site of the old one a model building. Everything was carefully watched by them, and were we to judge by appearances, made a great and favorable impression upon their minds. The statistics of cooking vessels, where the boys make chairs, matches, brushes and boxes, was to them an especial matter of interest. After a stay of about an hour and a half they returned to their quarters at the Girard House. After partaking of dinner the carriages were again ordered, and the delegation wended their way to the great monument of Stephen Girard—Girard College.

Here again, all was carefully inspected. Mr. Horner, the city engineer, and Mr. Dyer, of the Councils, did not accompany the party on the morning trip. They had been in company with Senator Rigby and Mr. Z. McGrath, to the various manufactures of the passenger railroad cars, and examined the construction and plan of the Passenger Railway Company men, tired out with their day's work, in the evening remained quietly at the hotel.

STORE ROBBERY.—Sometime during Thursday night the dry goods store of Edwin A. Pue, No. 1634 Market street, was entered and robbed of silks, kid gloves, &c., of the value of about $2,000. The front cellar door was forced open, and the thieves entered the store by breaking down a slight board partition over the door in the store, which goes into the cellar. The silks were hidden behind other goods and in drawers, and nearly all the stock in the store was upset and searched before the silks were found. Crash and muslins were spread on the floor to deaden the sound of the robbers' feet.

BASE BALL.—An exciting game of base ball will be played between the two first nines of the Weyandotte and the Iona Base-ball Clubs, this afternoon, at Passyunk road and Thirteenth street. Game to commence at 2½ o'clock.

A match game of base ball was played on Wednesday last, at Kaighn's Point, Camden, N. J., between the Reeses and Enterprise Base-ball Clubs of Philadelphia, with the following score:

THE ST. LOUIS REPORTERS.—The Press Club of this city, with commendable esprit du corps, yesterday afternoon, tendered a complimentary dinner to the reporters now in Philadelphia from St. Louis. The banquet was given at Guy's, and it was worthy, in every respect, of that admirable caterer. Casper Souder, Esq., president of the Press Club, presided, and the host of taste characterized the affair. The speeches were good, the songs appropriate, the sentiments patriotic and unctuous. The St. Louis gentlemen were delighted, and earnestly insisted that the reporters of Philadelphia should return their visit at an early day.

BEQUESTS.—Algernon S. Roberts, recently deceased, bequeathed $200 per annum for five years, to the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy, for the purchase of scientific books and chemical apparatus; $200 per annum for five years, to the Mercantile Library Company; $200 to the Franklin Institute, for the same period, to be used in the purchase of works; $1,000 to the First Unitarian Church, and $1,000 to St. John's Episcopal Church, of Lower Merion.

THE FAIR FOR THE SOLDIERS' AND SAILORS' HOME.—The young men's department of the National Soldiers' and Sailors' Fair, for the benefit of the Soldiers' and Sailors' Home, to be held in the Academy of Music, in October, intend having a smoking saloon. Donations of cigars and tobacco are solicited, and may be sent to Mr. Gumpert, 1341 Chestnut street.

THE FIRE-HORN CONTEST.—The vote on the fire horn at the fair in Frankford, on Thursday evening, stood:

Washington	588
Decatur	480

FIRE AT THE INQUIRER OFFICE.—About half-past seven o'clock last evening a fire occurred at the Inquirer office, which, but for the prompt action of one of the employés, would have totally destroyed the building. The engineer had been at work about the machinery, oiling and adjusting it for the work it had to do, when a spark from his lamp fell among a bag of loose papers, and it and another one near it were soon in flames. A dense smoke arose, obscuring everything, but the engineer, at personal risk, grasped the burning packages and dragged them into the boiler-room. Here the blaze mounted through the grating in the pavement; the front office was filled with smoke, and the clerks hurriedly locked up the books and valuables in the safe, considering that there at least they would be secure from the flames. Meanwhile, an alarm of fire was sounded and the fire department was promptly on hand. A stream from the Hibernia Steam Fire-Engine quickly extinguished the flames, and all was again serene.

FIRE.—The alarm of fire at 5 o'clock, yesterday afternoon, was caused by the partial burning of Simonson's coal-oil refinery at Belgrade and York streets, caused by the bursting of a still. Damage to the amount of $200 was sustained.

PAINFUL ACCIDENT.—On Thursday night last, as C. O'Neill, a workman employed at Peterson's stove-works, was mixing some varnish with benzine the mixture took fire, and the vapor exploding communicated the flames to his clothing, burning his arms, chest, and head in a frightful manner. Dr. Stees dressed his wounds, after which he was removed to his residence, at Mervine and Thompson streets.

BEING REPAIRED.—St. George's M. E. Church, which was badly damaged by fire about a month ago, is being repaired and placed in good condition, and will soon be ready for the occupancy of the congregation.

FOOT AMPUTATED.—Thomas McGee, who had his foot crushed about a week since, on the Norristown Railroad, suffered amputation of the injured limb yesterday afternoon.

THE COURTS.

Court of Quarter Sessions—Hon. James R. Ludlow, Associate Justice.

DESERTION DAY.

Yesterday having been set apart for the hearing of desertion cases, Thomas K. Finletter, Esq., Solicitor of the Guardians of the Poor, appeared in court as prosecuting attorney.

The dock was filled with persons charged with deserting their better or worser halves.

AFFECTS OF ASSAULTING A TEACHER.

In the case of the female charged with assaulting a school teacher, the jury convicted; and the court sentenced her to a fine of twenty dollars and costs.

Mrs. David Stackhouse complained that she had been married to David five years, and had one child three months old. He had only worked one week during the five years, and then he gave the money to his mother. He has also been in the army. Ordered to pay $3 a week for his wife and $1 to the child.

Mrs. Patrick McPeak testified that her husband made $18 a week, out of which he gave her $2 week up to two weeks since; she did not know how long she had been married, but produced her certificate.

Judge Ludlow to prisoner. You should not be in that dock, but at home with your family.

Ordered to pay $3 a week for the wife and $1.50 for the child.

Mrs. H. Kerlin is the mother of three children; her husband left her last April.

On cross-examination the witness produced a marriage certificate, but there is no date upon it; her first husband was killed at the first battle of Bull Run. The case was continued.

Mrs. Michael Coyle, claimed support from her husband. He was on crutches, having been shot in the leg, and informed the court that when he enlisted he had no children, but when he came out of the army, he had two, much to his surprise. The case was continued.

Mrs. John Burke has two children and her husband left her last October. She thought he was an engineer on the Reading Railroad. Counsel for defendant, said he had filed a libel for divorce from his wife, on the ground of adultery. The action of divorce was withdrawn.

Mrs. Charles Wright colored, complained that her husband left her seventeen months ago. She has two children. The husband said his wife told him to go and he went. He was ordered to pay $3 a week.

Mrs. George H. Grover, complained that her husband left her on the 19th of January last, at the time they were married. He is a horse dealer, and makes $150 a month. The father of the defendant testified that he worked for him when he pleased, but did not receive any stated salary. Sometimes he gave him $10 or $20 spending money. George was ordered to pay $4 a week. The court saying if he had no employment it was high time he had.

Judge Ludlow had seventy-nine desertion cases on his list, all of which had accumulated in six weeks.

A number of cases were heard, in which husbands and wives had separated because of some trifling difficulties.

Judge Ludlow gave both parties good advice, calculating upon them to live together in happiness.

There is always a sister-in-law, mother-in-law, or some outside relative to stir up these disturbances. It is high time that the community should know that when a man marries a woman he does not undertake to support her whole family. In nearly every case that was heard the wife was posted by some outside relative. If relatives would leave husbands and wives together in peace, there would not be so many cases to occupy the attention of the court. It is astonishing that many distinguished members of the bar will come into court and advocate these cases, causing a more bitter feeling than is necessary.

THE GRAND INQUEST.

The Grand Jury made their presentment as follows:

To his Honor, J. R. LUDLOW, Judge at Court of Over and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of the Peace for the City and County of Philadelphia:

The Grand Inquest of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, inquiring for the city and county of Philadelphia, for August session, upon their respective oaths and affirmations do present: That they have acted upon eight hundred and thirty-five hundred and sixty-six of which have been found "true bills," and two hundred and sixty-four have been ignored.

The Grand Jury have called before them a great number of witnesses, revealing a vast volume of crime, much of it of the most atrocious character. They are glad to know that many of the criminals against whom indictments were found have been brought to speedy trial, and upon conviction, have received from your Honor a quick and condign sentence. It is only by thus dealing in a summary manner with heinous offenders that we can hope to abate the growing volume of crime, and drive criminals from our midst; and we most earnestly commend your example of merited severity to others. Late to your associates, believing that the condition of affairs requires a using of the "terrors of the law" to their numerous ends.

A great number of the cases of "assault and battery," brought before the body, are a trifling nature, growing out of the jealousies and evil-speaking of neighbors, and are in worthy the time occupied and expense incurred in the hearing of them. In very many instances the prosecutors suppose that when they have had the assailants "bound over" the matter is ended; in many other cases to have the assaulting party bound to "keep the peace" would satisfy the aim of the prosecutor and the ends of justice.

It is a lawful for the alderman so to do, without making a return to the District Attorney, we are sure that by following that course in all minor cases great expense would be saved to the county, as well as to all concerned.

The fruitful source of three-fourths of all the crime developed to our experience is the use of intoxicating drinks. Licensed and unlicensed taverns, saloons, and drinking-shops spring up on every corner and in every street, like mushrooms, in a night, until the evil flowing forth from them is disturbing, in an unwonted manner, the peace and happiness of society; filling our streets with drunkenness, fewness and vice; our jails and prisons with criminals, and sending numberless victims into an untimely grave.

It is neither the province of judge or jury to make laws, they can only execute them; but we can, and the people to the source from which so much crime emanates, and exhort them to seek through wise and just legislation an adequate remedy.

During four years of "furious war" the people have proved their patience, courage, and fortitude their ability and determination to defend and maintain ours as a Government of and for the people; and now, in these days of peace returned, they will enjoy the blessings of peace and the comforts of pure and virtuous society, free from the fear of crime, they must take into their own keeping the trust of electing good and wise legislators, and the eradicating of the evils now existing in the community.

The Grand Jury would present as a most serious nuisance the practice of half-grown boys and young men, of idle and dissolute habits, collecting about the doors in front of cigar shops and drinking saloons, and lounging around in such a manner as to interfere with the free use of the sidewalks by citizens, particularly upon Sundays, when going to and from their places of worship, and indulging in obscene and insulting remarks to females and others passing by. Whilst this nuisance is more prevalent in the less central districts, the evil is felt in the most thronged portion of our fashionable thoroughfares and it is without their lounges, who, if better dressed than their fellows, are none the less an inconvenience to citizens, and, with the whole class, are proper subjects for suppression and dispersion by the police authorities. That the nuisance has been so long suffered to exist unabated, is not creditable to those whose duty it is to prevent such gatherings.

The Grand Jury have made the usual visits to the County Prison, the House of Refuge, Eastern Penitentiary and Almshouse. The County Prison is overcrowded with inmates, and to remedy the evil we suggest that the cells of the Debtors' apartment (very many of which are unused—should be at once be arranged and fitted to suit for criminal purposes. The sanitary condition of the institution is good.

The condition of the other institutions seemed to be all that could be desired, except that it appeared to a member of the jury that the hours of labor for the boys at the House of Refuge were more, than at their ages, was best for their permanent good. Knowing the wisdom and philanthropic spirit that has ruled, and still rules in the institution, we make the suggestion, without holding a settled opinion; realizing that a fuller observation and larger knowledge might not confirm the impression of a cursory view. S. A. CALDWELL, Foreman.

JOHN GABEL, Secretary.

THE POLICE.

[Before Mr. Alderman Jones.]

DIDN'T FORK OVER.

Christopher Evans was charged with the larceny of money. It seems that Evans went into partnership with another individual for the sale of milk. The defendant drove the wagon, and did not share the proceeds of the sales as agreed upon. He was held in $800 bail to answer.

[Before Mr. Alderman Beitler.]

CHARGED WITH ROBBERY.

Edward Rich, colored, was arraigned upon the charge of robbery. The shoe store of Philip Rolle, No. 1010 Locust street, was robbed on early on Thursday morning, and robbed of ten pairs of boots and two pairs of shoes, valued at $125. Rich was arrested on Thursday night, while attempting to pawn some of the boots. A portion of the stolen goods were recovered at two or three pawnbroker establishments. The accused was committed.

[Before Mr. Alderman Godbon.]

A SOLDIER KNOCKED DOWN AND ROBBED.

Robert Degan was arraigned upon the charge of robbery. It appears that a soldier went with Degan and a companion to a lager beer saloon on Race street, above Front. Some sort of a fame was indulged in and ended in a quarrel. The soldier was knocked down, and Degan is then alleged to have robbed him of about forty-seven dollars. The accused was committed.

[Before Mr. Alderman Holme.]

ROBBING A POOR WOMAN.

John Foster, a youth of twelve years, was charged with the larceny of eleven dollars, the property of a Mrs. Gardner, residing on Wheat-sheaf lane, Annaiango, in the Twenty-fifth ward. Mrs. Gardner had been laying by the money to purchase coal. and Foster is alleged to have stolen all her savings. He invested all the funds, except about ten cents, in pistols and peaknives. He was sent to the House of Refuge.

[Before Mr. Alderman Fitch.]

RIOTOUS JUVENILES.

Joseph Hunter, Peter Anderson, Charles Kiker, James Stewart, William Roth, and George Philter, whose ages range from 13 to 16 years, were charged with riotous conduct. They were arrested on Thursday afternoon, at Tenth and Berks streets, while engaged in a stone fight. One of the juveniles had an old musket, and was chased nearly three miles before he was captured. Another had a loaded pistol. The prisoners were all held in $500 bail to keep the peace.

ASSAULT AND BATTERY.

Michael Roach was charged with assault and battery upon Fred. Wagner. Mr. W. and wife were passing along in the upper part of the city, a few nights ago, when they were violently assaulted by three or four men. Several arrests have been made previously. Roach was held in $800 bail to answer at court.

DARING ROBBERY.

A most bold and daring robbery took place yesterday afternoon, between one and two o'clock. The residence of George E. Reynolds, at Twenty-first and Brandywine streets, was entered by two young men, who got in the back way during the temporary absence of Mrs. Reynolds, and ransacked from cellar to garret. A large amount of property was carried off by the thieves, comprising six thousand shares of stock in the Western, Montgomery, and Dawson Petroleum Oil companies, a gold watch, two Colt's revolvers, three hundred and twenty-five dollars in United States notes, the pension papers of Wm. P. Reynolds, two mortgage bonds of five hundred dollars each on the Philadelphia and Erie Railroad, fifty shares of stock in the same road, besides a number of other articles. A lot of silverware had been packed up for removal, but was not taken. A "jimmy," which had been used to force the drawers and closets, was also left behind by the thieves.
