GENERAL ORDERS No. 105.

WAR DEPARTMENT, ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, Washington, April 28, 1863.

The organization of an Invalid Corps is hereby authorized.

This Corps shall consist of Companies, and if it shall hereafter be thought best, of Battalions.

The Companies shall be made up from the following sources, viz:

First. By taking those officers and enlisted men of commands now in the field (whether actually present or temporarily absent,) who, from wounds received in action or disease contracted in the line of duty, are unfit for field service, but are still capable of effective garrison duty, or such other light duty as may be required of an Invalid Corps. Regimental Commanders shall at once make out, from information received from their Medical and Company Officers, and from their own knowledge, rolls (according to the Form furnished,) of the names of all the officers and enlisted men under their commands who fulfill the following conditions, viz:

1. That they are unfit for active field service on account of wounds or disease contracted in the line of duty; this fact being certified by a Medical Officer in the service, after personal examination.

2. That they are fit for garrison duty; this fact being likewise certified by the Medical Officer, as above, after personal examination.

3. That they are, in the opinion of their Commanding Officers, meritorious and deserving.

These rolls shall be certified by the Examining Surgeon and Regimental Commander, and transmitted, through the regular channels of military correspondence, to the Provost Marshal General of the United States.

The Regimental Commander shall enter in the column of remarks, opposite each officer's name on the roll, a statement as to the general character of the officer for intelligence, industry, sobriety and attention to duty; and all intermediate Commanders shall endorse thereon such facts as they may possess in the case, or, if they have none, they shall state how far they are willing to endorse the opinion of the officer or officers making the recommendation. Similar rolls shall be forwarded from time to time, whenever the number of men fulfilling the conditions enumerated, or the exigencies of the service may render it expedient.

Second. By taking those officers and enlisted men still in service and borne on the rolls, but who are absent from duty, in Hospitals or Convalescent Camps, or are otherwise under the control of Medical Officers. In these cases the Medical Officer in attendance shall prepare the rolls, according to Form, entering the names of officers and men from the same regiment on a roll by themselves, and send them, with the certificate of the Surgeon, duly signed, to the proper Regimental Commander, who will forward them, as heretofore specified, subject to the same conditions and requirements. If in any case, the Regimental Commander shall think an officer unfit, in point of character, to continue in the service of the Invalid Corps, though disabled and certified by the Surgeon, he will state his objection in the column of remarks, and note the exception before signing the certificate. If any officer or enlisted man now in the service, but absent and beyond the reach of a Medical Officer in charge of a Hospital or Convalescent Camp, desires to enter this Corps, he will take the course indicated below for those who have been honorably discharged the service.

Third. By accepting those officers and enlisted men who have been honorably discharged on account of wounds or disease contracted in the line of duty, and who desire to re-enter the service. In the case of an officer, application for appointment must be made to the Provost Marshal General of the United States through the officer detailed as Acting Assistant Provost Marshal General of the State. No application of this kind will be considered unless the following conditions are completely fulfilled:

1. That the applicant produce the certificate of the Surgeon of the Board of Enrollment for the district in which he resides, that he is unfit for active field duty on account of wounds or disease, and is not liable to draft, but is fit for garrison duty.

2. That he furnish evidence of honorable discharge on account of wounds or disability contracted in the line of duty.

3. That he produce recommendations from the Regimental, Brigade and Division Commanders under whom he formerly served, that he is worthy of being thus provided for and capable of returning adequate service to the Government. In case it shall be impracticable to get this last evidence, he may, having established the first two points above, satisfy the Board of Enrollment that he is deserving and present its certificate of the fact. This evidence must all be obtained by the applicant, and must be transmitted with his application for appointment.

If there be no Acting Assistant Provost Marshal General for the State, the application may be forwarded through the Adjutant General of the State, who is desired to endorse thereon such facts in the military history of the applicant as he may know, or as are afforded by his records, and forward the same to the Provost Marshal General of the United States.

Enlisted men, honorably discharged on account of disability, desiring to re-enlist in this Corps, will present themselves to the Board of Enrollment for the district in which they reside, for examination by the Surgeon thereof, who shall examine them and report the result to the Board of Enrollment.

The Board shall then consider each case, and if the applicant is found to fulfill the conditions specified below, the Board shall give him a certificate to that effect, viz:

1. That he is unfit for service in the field.
2. That he is fit for garrison duty.
3. That he is meritorious and deserving.
4. That he was honorably discharged from the service.

The Provost Marshal for the District shall then send the application, with this certificate of the Board, to the Acting Assistant Provost Marshal General of the State, who shall procure such evidence of service and character as the records of the Company to which he belonged, on file at the Headquarters of the State, may show, and if satisfied that it is a meritorious case, and that the man is deserving, he will enlist him in accordance with such special rules as the Provost Marshal General may establish.

Medical Inspectors, Surgeons in charge of Hospitals, Military Commanders, and all others having authority to discharge, under existing laws and regulations, are forbidden to grant discharges to any men under their control who may be fit for service in the Invalid Corps.

The Provost Marshal General is charged with the execution of this order, and the troops organized under it will be under the control of his Bureau.

By order of the Secretary of War.

E. D. TOWNSEND, Assistant Adjutant General. my19:1mdaw

Having withdrawn his interest, stock and materials from the late firm of "Lighte & Bradburys," which firm was dissolved on the 21st January ult., and having purchased the entire stock of Piano-Fortes and Piano-Forte material owned by his brother, Edward G. Bradbury, in the said firm, he is now prepared to supply the increased demand for his celebrated Piano Fortes. Employing the most skillful and experienced workmen, with a large stock of the best and most thoroughly seasoned material, and an abundance of capital, he has taken in hand the personal supervision of the whole business of manufacturing his instruments, and is enabled to turn out Piano-Fortes of unequalled tone and durability.

BRADBURY'S NEW SCALE PIANO-FORTE. In the arrangement of our new scale, drawn and prepared with the utmost care, expressly for our new instruments, we have added every improvement which can in any way tend to the perfection of the Piano-Forte. We can confidently assert that, for delicacy of touch, volume, purity, brilliancy and sweetness of tone, combined with that strength and capacity of frame necessary to durability, these instruments are unequalled. "EXCELLENCE AND BEAUTY" is our motto, and we invite the closest criticism of the best unbiased judges in the land. Every instrument warranted for five years. WM. B. Rumored Removal of Gen. Hunter.

A rumor has prevailed in Washington for a few days past, that Maj. Gen. David Hunter has been relieved of the command of the Department of the South, and Gen. Gilmore takes his place. No reasons are given; it is known, however, that there has been a want of harmony between South and North Carolina as represented by Gens. Foster and Hunter. It is also stated that some days ago an order from Washington reached Port Royal to have several regiments sent up to reinforce Gen. Hooker, but that Gen. Hunter refused to send them, returning instead, a protest against the order.

A later telegram throws discredit upon the report of Gen. Hunter's removal.

The Reported Fall of Puebla.

The news of the capture of Puebla by the French, although minute and circumstantial, is not fully credited. Our advices state that on the 8th inst. Gen. Comonfort, who had received reinforcements, attempted to force his way into Puebla with a convoy of supplies, but he was opposed by the French under Gen. Bazaine, and defeated. Gen. Forey, in the meantime, had received his heavy artillery from Vera Cruz, and at once made a breach at the Fort Totimehuacan, by which the French assaulted the city in force and entered on the 17th inst., capturing Gen. Ortega and his officers, and 17,000 men, with all their artillery and equipments. It is also stated that a division of the French army had left Puebla for the city of Mexico, on the 20th inst.

The New York Tribune remarks:

There is, however, one point in the report which needs explanation. Former reports, French as well as Mexican, have asserted that the two strongest forts of Puebla, and which to a large extent commanded the city, were the forts of Loreto and Guadalupe. Neither of these is mentioned as having fallen into the hands of the French. But the fort of Totimehuacan, not hitherto mentioned at all, is now called one of the strongest in the city. Gen. Ortega, who, according to all former reports of the French, had conducted the defense of the city with great bravery, is said to have surrendered when the French artillery had succeeded in breaching the fort of Totimehuacan, and before the beginning of the assault. But these discrepancies are hardly sufficient to discredit the circumstantial report of the fall of the city.

While we hope that this news may prove to be a canard, designed, possibly, to operate upon the elections in France, (although rather too late,) yet we have our fears that it is as stated. At this perilous crisis in our own affairs, we have much more than a merely sympathetic interest in the success or failure of Napoleon in Mexico.

A Swiss General's Views.

A letter from Major General Zogliardi, Military Commissioner from the Swiss Government in the United States, who was spectator of General Hooker's operations on the Rappahannock, has been published. We copy the concluding paragraph:

The great principles of strategy are the same everywhere; they have been practised in the most remote ages, and we always see them confirmed and repeated in all European as well as former American wars. We have in Europe, also, forests, hills, valleys, undulating ground, streams and rivers, &c. But your territory is much more extensive and less provided with roads and magazines for supplies. This particularly is one reason why, instead of doing away with the great fundamental principles of military science and successful warfare, you should, in this country, adhere to them still more strictly if you do not wish to imitate Napoleon in his Russian campaign.

You say that in Europe we are accustomed to fight on open and clear battle fields, and that I could not see how a great battle could be fought on such ground. I saw and comprehended it; however, so well that two days previous to the advance upon Chancellorville, I wrote to my Government and predicted the result of that engagement in case certain eventualities should take place, which my knowledge of surrounding circumstances led me to believe would and did occur. The result was that my predictions were confirmed. But the bold movement of Gen. Hooker across the Rappahannock, and his subsequent prudent and timely retreat, by no means detract from his military genius, but on the contrary, have enhanced the high opinion which I had already formed of his great talent as a commander-in-chief.

RENEWED OPERATIONS IN SOUTH CAROLINA.—The New York Tribune, of Tuesday, says on the authority of its Port Royal correspondent, that active land and water operations will begin in a few days. Montgomery's raid with colored troops was to commence within a week. The presentation of a fine flag to the 2d South Carolina (colored) regiment had been an interesting event; Gen. Saxton made the speech.

THE great Billiard Tournament in New York began on Monday evening before a small army of deeply interested spectators. The players were matched by lot; three games were run off on Monday night: Tieman, of Cincinnati, against Kavanagh, of New York, 500 points; won by Kavanagh—his opponent making only 65. Second game by Seereiter and Foley, of Detroit; won by Foley, Seereiter scoring 390. The third game was between Goldthwait and Deery; won by the former, Deery having 396 on his string.

ELECTRIC CLOCKS have become very general in France within the last few years, several of the chief lines of railway, as well as a number of public buildings in Paris, being "timed" in this manner. It is now proposed to erect small clock towers, simple columns, with dials on all sides, in the main thoroughfares of the French metropolis, to give the true time to a second to all passers-by. The hands of the whole of the dials will be put in movement by an electric current from the Paris Observatory.

ONE of these days, perhaps, it will be possible to go from London to Calcutta by rail, and without change of cars except at the crossings of the Straits of Dover and the Bosphorus. The distance is about 5,100 miles, and as 3,000 miles of track are already laid, it is not surprising that a proposition has been made to complete the route.

AT an immense meeting of the citizens of Chicago, held on Monday, nearly $6,000 were subscribed to send supplies to the wounded at Vicksburg.

General Hunter to Jefferson Davis.

Gen. Hunter has sent the following sharp letter to Jeff. Davis:

HEADQUARTERS DEPARTMENT OF THE SOUTH, PORT ROYAL, S. C., April 23, 1863.

JEFFERSON DAVIS, RICHMOND, VA.: The United States flag must protect all its defenders, white, black, or yellow. Several negroes in the employ of the Government, in the Western Department, have been cruelly murdered by your authorities, and others sold into slavery. Every outrage of this kind against the laws of war and humanity, which may take place in this Department, shall be followed by the immediate execution of the rebel of highest rank in my possession; man for man, these executions will certainly take place, for every one murdered, or sold into slavery worse than death. On your authorities will rest the responsibility of having inaugurated this barbarous policy, and you will be held responsible, in this world and in the world to come, for all the blood thus shed.

In the month of August last, you declared all those engaged in arming the negroes to fight for their country, to be felons, and directed the immediate execution of all such, as should be captured. I have given you long enough to reflect on your folly. I now give you notice, that unless this order is immediately revoked, I will at once cause the execution of every rebel officer, and every rebel slaveholder in my possession. This sad state of things may be kindly ordered by an all-wise Providence, to induce the good people of the North to act earnestly, and to realize that they are at war. Thousands of lives may thus be saved.

The poor negro is fighting for liberty in its truest sense; and Mr. Jefferson has beautifully said—"in such a war, there is no attribute of the Almighty which will induce him to fight on the side of the oppressor."

You say you are fighting for liberty. Yes, you are fighting for liberty—liberty to keep four millions of your fellow-beings in ignorance and degradation—liberty to separate parents and children, husband and wife, brother and sister—liberty to steal the products of their labor, exacted with many a cruel lash and bitter tear—liberty to seduce their wives and daughters, and to sell your own children into bondage—liberty to kill these children with impunity, when the murder cannot be proven by one of pure white blood. This is the kind of liberty—the liberty to do wrong—which Satan, chief of the fallen angels, was contending for when he was cast into hell.

I have the honor to be, very respectfully,
Your most obedient servant,
D. HUNTER, Maj. Gen. Com'g.

Fire Side Valor.

People are often heard to complain of the siege of Vicksburg, and some newspapers profess themselves tired of repeating each day that there is nothing remarkable to record. It is curious to see how fond peaceable folks are of brisk military movements. There is nothing a quiet timid sort of man loves at breakfast so much as a good hot dispatch; a bayonet charge sends him to his toast with a double relish, and he swallows his last cup of tea with great satisfaction over a pretty cruel return of killed and wounded.

"What are our troops about?" cries the quidnunc; "nothing done—only a hundred and forty killed in the trenches. What are they about? Why don't they push on?" It was reckoned that five hundred would be killed, and here you see there are not above ten! This, perhaps, is a creature who would not hurt a fly; and if a shell was rumored to have burst in the next street, would go into fits.

The snugger a man is over his fire the more he wants hot work; he is bodily so disposed to quiet and comfort, that if he had not something to shake his sympathies a little, he would fall asleep. It is when a man wants a stimulus, when he has his person safely laid up in an easy chair, his legs on a stool, and the draughts closed out, and servants moving in and out gently with appliances for the restoration of the animal man, that he begins to chafe over the indolence of the army.

"What are they doing? Why all this shilly-shallying? Why don't they fight? Talk of sickness, weather, and want of provisions; stuff! I say they ought to have fought and driven the enemy out of the country. As for the fortifications you speak of, why did not the General storm them? I say, with such a battering train, and troops like ours, sir, he ought to have stormed them, and taken them, and (becoming gradually excited) put the garrison to the sword, sir, by way of example!" Talk of this kind gives a zest to the supper tray; and makes up for the deficiency of appetite arising from too copious a dinner. Seriously speaking, there is too much disposition to find fault among our people. Never did a nobler army exist on earth than our own, and we may safely trust our cause in their hands, for fault-finding will not mend the matter.—Phila. Bulletin.

The Confederacy Geographically Considered.

In reference to the present actual boundaries of the Southern Confederacy, as shown by tracing a frontier line on a map of the Southern States, the N. Y. Herald remarks:

From Madison, in Arkansas, just west of the Mississippi, and opposite the southern boundary of Tennessee, the headquarters of General Marmaduke, the line crosses the Mississippi some way below Memphis, passes through Northern Mississippi south of Corinth, turns northward so as to include Bragg's headquarters at Shelbyville, in Tennessee; going to the eastward safely south of Murfreesboro, near Sparta, in Eastern Tennessee, it again goes northward, by Buckner, at Knoxville, to Monticello, in Kentucky, the headquarters of Pegram; thence eastward into Virginia, and again to the north to Staunton and Mount Jackson, where General Jones holds the outposts of rebeldom almost as far north as Washington.

Thence the line runs by Fredericksburg, Yorktown, Suffolk, Newbern, Wilmington, Charleston and Savannah, and so down the Atlantic coast, crosses Florida near St. Augustine, winds along the Gulf coast, and reaches the Mississippi between Baton Rouge and Port Hudson.

This is a territorial summary of rebeldom. Not a single State is held entirely by the rebels. Narrow as the limits are, when compared with the magnificent dreams of the Southern leaders, they are in a fair way to be much narrower; for by the capture of Vicksburg we render Louisiana, Arkansas and Texas untenable to the Southern forces, and compel them to relinquish the greater part of Mississippi.

So the Southern empire grows small by degrees and beautifully less.

Grant's March and the Change in the Rebel Programme.

The Shelbyville correspondent of the Savannah News gives an explanation of the reason why Vicksburg was left to be defended by a force so much inferior to Grant's. He says that the previous failures, and the want of any real progress in the investment of the place, had led the rebel Generals to believe that it was secure, and that Grant had given up all hope of capturing it this season. Therefore Johnston was gathering all the force in the West to force Rosecrans to give battle.

The plan seems to have been advanced when Grant's landing below Vicksburg disturbed it. That forced Johnston to divert the re-inforcements he was drawing from Charleston, Mobile and other places to attack Rosecrans, and gather them to follow Grant. If Johnston were left undisturbed to carry that out, it might be expected that Grant would are long have to contend against superior numbers, in a situation where defeat would be likely to be destruction.

But we have evidence that the rebel Generals will not be undisturbed in their performance. The advance of Rosecrans will compel Bragg to give up all his fortifications and fall back, or give battle with inferior force. Should he fall back, we may reasonably expect the speedy occupation of Chattanooga by our troops, and with that the advance of General Burnside's corps to Knoxville. Between the necessity for relieving Vicksburg from Grant, on one hand, and the advance of Rosecrans' army, on the other, we may conclude that the rebel Generals are mentally and physically exercised. The situation promises a continuance of the most absorbing interest in the military operations in the West.—Cincinnati Gazette.
