THE CHANGED BRIDES.—By Mrs. Emma D. E. N. Southworth. Price $1 75 in cloth; or $1 50 in paper

The Changed Brides. By Mrs. Emma D. E. N. Southworth. We have received an advance copy of "The Changed Brides," from T. B. Peterson & Brothers, Philadelphia, Pa. It will command a very large sale, as it is fully equal to "Fair Play" and "How He Won Her," which have proved to be two of the best novels ever published, and which are having unprecedented sales, for Mrs. Southworth, is beyond all doubt, the first female novelist of the day. For the brilliancy and point of her conversations, the ease and spirit of her narrative, the splendid and graphic character of her descriptions of natural scenery, and the general power and originality of her conceptions, Mrs. Southworth occupies a front rank among all writers of fiction. It is published in a large duodecimo volume of over five hundred pages, in uniform style with "Fair Play" and "How He Won Her," and sold at the low price of $1 75 in cloth, or $1 50 in paper cover, and will be sent free of postage to any one, on receipt of the price by the publishers.

JOY FOR THE MILLION!

Well friends I've been thinking and made up my mind
To say a few things for the good of mankind,
And if you take my advice in what I shall say,
I'm certain your troubles are ended to-day.

I know it is pleasant to be minus the blues,
Pleasant to think, and do as you choose,
And when peace and contentment can easily be found,
Why should ye go sorrowing sadly around?

Just see the crowd passing as if in parade,
All hurrying around for Bush's Arcade,
Where LONEBERGER & HENRY, its everywhere known
Are selling like hot cakes, the glorious "Old Home."

Old Mr. Jenkins spoke these words to me,
I'm as contented and happy as a mortal can be
A smile of delight upon his countenance shone,
He'd been to LONEBERGER & HENRY'S and bought an "Old Home."

A sparkle of gladness is seen in each eye,
As the people in hundreds go hurrying by,
To think of the joys and the sorrows that's flown
Since they've invested a little in the famous "Old Home"

Now homes that were cheerless are merry and bright,
And hearts that were saddened are happy and light,
And the children exclaim in a loud joyful tone
Pap's ended his troubles since he's bought an "Old Home,"

And the young and the old the low and the high
To Bush's Arcade are hurrying by,
And thousands of mortals whose troubles have flown
Are singing the praises of the glorious "Old Home"

These celebrated cook stoves and everything in the Stove and Tinware line can be found at the lowest possible rates at
