on the retreat, leaving not a sol- between us and the farm-house.

There was no one in the advance to order me to make an advance, and as we had selected a camping spot, no advance was made. Something kept telling me all the time that Col. Le Ville was near. I could not shake off the voice, and so wandered down the road where the pickets were being stationed. The advance was within a dozen rods of the farm-house. As it had not been disturbed I pushed down almost to the house, following the reserve picket.

Everything was still around the place, but we saw shadows on the curtains, and finally entered the yard and walked up the path. Nearing the door, I heard a deep, solemn voice reading or repeating a ceremony. Stepping boldly up, followed by the men, I opened the door upon a marriage ceremony. Col. Le Ville, in full uniform, held the hand of Kate Hastings; a minister stood before them, the parents on either side, one or two citizens were there as witnesses. The group was thunder struck, and for a moment no one moved or spoke.

"Good evening, Colonel," I remarked. "You invited me, you remember, and I am here."

I held the door so that none of my men had looked into the room. I now whispered to them to go back to the road and look sharp, and then I entered the room.

The clergyman had taken his seat and was greatly frightened, but he was ordered to go on, and no explanations were made until Miss Kate Hastings was Mrs. Col. Le Ville.—Then we explained. There was crying and laughing, and "a regular time," as the old ladies say.

The Colonel did not know that the Confederate rear guard had passed on, but was intending to wed Kate and move south an hour after. He looked at me to read my decision, and Kate leaned on his shoulder and wept that he was again a prisoner.

"What happened?"

"Well, nothing to you. I don't want to hear anything about 'army regulations,' 'conspiracies,' 'court-martials,' and such talk. It is however my opinion that Col. Le Ville got away somehow."

"I was down in the Shenandoah valley a few months ago, and who do you suppose I took dinner with? The Col. looked as bright and happy as a new silver dollar, and Kate was more charming than ever. The war rested hard on both, but peace and love have made the farm house a little paradise, and there was money in the crops growing on every foot of the ground. A curly headed boy was racing around, and he was named after me. If they had not told me this I should not have had the courage to reply that I had a handsome little daughter way up in Michigan named Kate."

Neither Uncle Sam nor Jeff. Davis ever knew how the customs of war were outraged, and it is too late to court-martial either one of us now.—Our Fireside Friend.

Aphonia or Loss of Voice

This is another of that pestilential brood of diseases which make way so speedily with human life and make it wearisome—not that it is a fatal malady unless it be connected with diseased lungs, when danger of the most fearful kind may be seriously apprehended; that loss of voice which usually affects the larnynx and vocal cords, so common among those who have much speaking to do, is not usually of a dangerous or fatal nature, any more than any other diseased condition is dangerous; but when it is a consequence of diseased lungs and consumption, whose inflammatory borders are investing the mucous lining of the lungs and throat, then it points with almost a fatal finger to a state that ought at once to be remedied. Much better, truly, if it had been cured before it had spread so far, but having spread, there is still hope. Dr. Keyser's Lung Cure, may yet reach the disease, which it surely would have done in the beginning. It will remove from the system all morbid matter which keeps up irritation and disease and will aid the stomach to make plastic material to repair the wasting organism. Read Dr. Keyser's treatise on chronic lung diseases, which will be sent without charge wherever it is ordered. Price of Lung Cure, $1.50, or 6 bottles for $5. If your druggist does not keep it order from Dr. Keyser, 167 Liberty street, Pittsburgh. Office hours from 10 a.m. until 1 p.m., and from 3 until 6, and Saturday night until 9 o'clock.

A Gay Deceiver.

The Muncy, Pa, Luminary records the following romantic occurence in its last issue: "Forty-eight years ago a young man left this borough, 'between two days,' to avoid arrest upon a warrant sworn out by a young lady, who, it seems, who was left with a little responsibility which she thought should have a father's name as well as a mother's care. Time passed, and the girl then, is now an old woman. The other day a stranger appeared upon our streets whose locks were silvered (as was afterwards learned) by the frosts of seventy-two winters. By some means he was recognized as the truant lover of forty-eight years ago, and his presence in town coming to the ears of the deserted one, she at once had a new warrant issued for him and caused his arrest. That the old gentleman was taken by surprise when waited upon by the constable may easily be imagined; but having been caught in the meshes of the law he determined to make the most of it. A meeting took place before A. B. Pulnam, esq., and negotiations entered into for the amicable settlement of the difficulty, which was finally accomplished by the venerable gentleman paying the injured woman two hundred dollars. This was cheap enough, all things considered. As the old man left town on the first train after he was discharged from custody we suppose he has returned to his home in the west, where he has resided for nearly half a century, no doubt feeling all the better for having discharged an obligation for so many years resting upon him."

'Loved not wisely, but too well,'

TRUTH AND POETRY.—Milton puts into the mouth of Lucifer, in "Paradise Lost," these memorable words—

"TO BE WEAK IS MISERABLE."

Never was truer sentence written than this—supposed to be wrung from the arch-fiend in his impotence and agony. Every victim of nervous debility, or of that depressing languor which is one of the accompaniments of dyspepsia and biliousness, can testify to the misery of mind which they involve. The motive power of the system as partially paralyzed; the mind is haunted by anxiety and fear; and the sufferer is as incapable of applying himself energetically to any kind of business as if he were under the benumbing influence of catalepsy. This terrible mental and physical condition need not, however, be endured for forty-eight hours by any human being. Plantation Bitters is an absolute specific for all the torments which a deranged stomach, a disordered liver, and shattered nerves, superinduce.

Judge Nelson, of the Supreme Court of the United States is very old, and will doubtless retire from the bench at an early day. The gossip about his probable successor has already begun, and President Grant is having any amount of gratuitous advice offered him as to the nomination that ought to be made. The present court is distributed geographically, one to Maine, one to New York, one to Pennsylvania, and one to New Jersey, making four for the North-ic States. Ohio has two, Iowa Illinois one, and California one. The South is not represented in the, and it is likely, therefore, the northern man will be appointed.

A Perilous Fall and Wonderful Escape.

The Scranton Republican gives the following particulars of one of the most perilous falls and wonderful escapes upon record:

"Grassy Island shaft, a mile above Olyphant, on Eddy Creek, brought out the character of a hero a few days since. The shaft is one of the deepest in the valley. Brian Fallon, the fireman, had occasion to go down the shaft part way upon a platform used for bringing up coal and carrying the miners up and down to their work. After descending to the desired vein he stepped from the platform for a few minutes to attend to some duty in one of the chambers. Returning with a can of oil in his hand and a dim miner's lamp in his cap, he walked forward to the shaft to go up, expecting that the platform still remained where he had left it, instead of being lowered to the bottom, some 300 feet below.

He walked on, to step on the platform, as he supposed, and to his horror he started down the dark abyss. As he began to fall he turned a perfect somersault and struck the long chain suspending the platform 300 feet below him. By mere accident he caught and clinched this quick as lightning, as he was falling with all the rapidity his weight could give him. He clung to this for his life, and actually tore the flesh from his fingers before he could arrest his descent, 150 feet from the bottom. Smarting with pain, yet clinging to the huge chain for his deliverance, he called the attention of the engineer to his perilous condition by a loud whistle, and was drawn up on the chain in safety."

Shoeing Oxen for Pavements.

In regard to the matter of shoeing oxen, so that they can work on pavements, Mr. S. P. Bilsby writes to the Boston Journal as follows:

"As I have worked twenty-four years at blacksmithing, and claim to be master of my trade, I will give my opinion in regard to shoeing. In the first place, turn the shoe as usual, only a little thicker at the toe, and put a calk on the toe of one inch long one-quarter inch high; heel calk the same. In setting, care should be taken to keep each claw in its natural position—that is spreading them as the ox would usually stand, and also fit the shoe well. Put six nails in each half of the shoe. I have always used the Vulcan No. 6 nail. I have shod cattle in this way that were driven through a river twenty times a day, and they did not lose a shoe for weeks, when if shod the common way they would soon become lame."

A Popular Support Assured.

From The Boston Post (Dem.)

The President has planted the standard of Civil Service Reform where it may prove effective if suffered to remain. It is conceded that some of the same spirit would have worked equally well under the Murphy regime, in the New-York Custom-house, but the delay in applying the rules will be gladly overlooked if it has finally expedited their enforcement. Coming directly after his reelection, for which President Grant is reminded that he is the special debtor to Pennsylvania, this reported attitude is quite as commendable as it is remarkable.

It is an excellent resolution for an Administration to start off of, provided it is kept up to the end. The country, regardless of party, will enthusiastically co-operate with the President in his endeavors to bring over the Civil Service to a better basis: and if this vigorous declension of the officious intermeddling of the Cameron Clan is an honest beginning on his part, he may count on a popular support in that matter without the slightest visible tinge of partizan feeling.

ONE of the gentlemen who are now engaged in instructing the public how to prevent great conflagrations, that says if a blanket had been steeped in water and hung up in front of the hottest fire in Boston or Chicago, and kept thoroughly drenched by the engines, it would have remained unscorched to the last." He enforces his theory by a statement that "if any one will take a piece of paper, and shaping it like a cup, filling it with water, the paper thus filled may beheld close over a gaslight and an egg boiled in the water, and the water itself pass off in steam, yet the paper itself remain unscorched so long as the water shall be supplied to it.

A Kiss or Your Life.

A nice little bit of gossip transpired recently in the vicinity of North Penn square, illustrating the adage, "that people who have the name don't always have the game." A lady, who was in the habit of whiling away an hour or two of her time twice a week in pleasant converse with one of her agreeable gentlemen friends, was rather startled on the occasion of his last visit, to find him coming behind her, and bending down to kiss her; which impertinence she at once resented by slapping him on the face. Suddenly her visitor pulled out a six barrel revolver, and pointed it at her head. Almost frightened to death she dropped into a seat, when he, laughingly apologized, saying he meant it for a joke. The lady soon recovered herself and resumed the conversation, but after a few moments, excused herself for a short time, saying she wished to speak to her servant. Shortly after a "Knight of the Locust Club" entered the room and arrested the morning visitor upon the charge of carrying concealed deadly weapons. The policeman found the revolver, so Mr. was marched to an alderman's office, where he had the pleasure of paying seven dollars and-a-half fine, the lady sweetly assuring him that this was her idea of a practical joke.

Who Henry N. Smith is—He is Frequently in the Habit of Carrying $5,000,000 in his Pockets—Look Out for Him To-Day.

Henry N. Smith is known throughout the country as one of the most desperate and successful operators in Wall street. It was he who became so noted at the Black Friday time as the head of the firm of Smith, Gould & Martin; it was he who was in with Fisk in the bold operations against the Erie railway; and it was he who made a corner on greenbacks last winter by carrying $5,000,000 on his person and locking it up in the Tenth national bank—which last operation became the subject of congressional inquiry. Smith came on to Washington and was examined. The committee did not get much comfort out of his answers. They asked him fi he had locked up $5,000,000 in greenbacks. He frankly said he had. They asked him why he did it. He freely acknowledged that he did it to make money by the operation, and wanted to know what the committee intended to do about it. Without answering, the members of the committee asked what right he had to lock up that amount of money. Then he got angry and told them that it was none of their business: that the money was his own and that he could do with it as he liked; and it was about this time that the committee found they had made a mistake. Smith collected about fifty dollars witness fees and returned to New York, and that was the last of the silly investigation.

A gentleman who was a witness before the committee said subsequently that Smith actually carried the $5,000,000 on his person for two days. The lining of his overcoat was filled with pockets, and into these the money was stored. Smith is about thirty five or thirty-eight years of age, short of stature, slight of frame, and red of hair. The latter he wears cut close and his whiskers a la mikitoire or mutton chop, with moustache. His name is not Henry Meiggs nor Henry N. Smith, but Norman Henry Smith. He is a native of Tioga, Pennsylvania, a little village which is shut in with charming grace from the outside world by a circle of hills, which in the fall presents such an enchanting appearance that it clings to one's memory forever. In this pretty little village this monster operator was born, and here he is to this day called plain Tom Smith, a nick-name he got when a baby. It is nothing against Tom that he spent his young days about as other village boys do, and it is nothing against him that he learned the shoemaker's trade and was an excellent workman.

It is said there that Tom Smith can make the best "fine" boot of any man in America. A fine scrape, if I am correctly informed, drove him from his hammer and lap stone and took him to Buffalo a year or two before the war. While there he attended a course of instruction in one of the "Business Colleges" which were so common then. From this he operated in Buffalo in a small way, going finally to Albany. He could not long remain in such a place, and he turned his eyes toward New York. His career as a money maker is without a parallel in history. It would be idle to estimate his wealth, for to-day it might be twenty millions and to-morrow ten.

He is called the successor of Jim Fisk, but this is an insult to him. He possesses the same reckless daring, but he brought to his experience a keener and more deliberate judgment and intelligence than Fisk had. Besides he has none of the "flash" qualities which Fisk possessed. He has no desire to display his wealth ostentatiously; he does not care to build an opera house that he may have the privilege of the green room, and he is not likely to run a line of steamers merely to show himself in an admiral's uniform, nor to show himself at the head of a regiment at the cost of thousands of dollars. He lives as becomes a very wealthy man, and owns a number of the best horses that money could buy, merely for his own driving. He has considerable money invested in real estate in his native town, where he has provided handsomely for his father and mother.

A Revolutionary Relic.

On the parlor table of Captain Wm. Wilson Potter, of Bellefonte, may be seen any day by asking, no less a relic than the flag of the Royal Grenadiers, captured on the field of Monmouth by his (maternal) grandfather, the late Judge Wm. Wilson, of Chilisquaqua Mill, Northumberland county, Pa.

The ground is light-yellow, heavy corded silk; five feet four inches by four feet eight.

The device at the upper corner is the English Union, always on the Royal standards of Great Britain. It is composed of the Cross of St. George to denote England, and St. Andrew's Cross in the form of an X, to denote Scotland. This device was placed on the corner of the royal flag, after the accession of James the Sixth of Scotland, on the throne of England as James, First. The field of the device is blue, the central stripes (Cross of St. George) red, the marginal ones white.

The ring appears to have been wrenched from the staff and has a few old dust marks on the device; other-wise it looks as bright and new as if it had just come from the gentle fingers that made it, although nine-four years have rolled away since its golden folds drooped in the sultry air of that June-day battle.—Bellefonte Republican.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.—Absolute control over the disordered stomach and bowels is exercised by these unapproachable vegetable curatives. Their genial affect upon the system is akin to the miraculous. Sold by Maiden Lane, N. Y. Price, 25 cents per box. Ask for new style; the old is counterfeited.

—A Cleveland man lisps in his writing. He gave a check on a bank the other day and filled it up "tree thousand dollars." It wasn't paid until the lisp was taken out.

—King, who shot O'Neil in New York a few days since, is a broker; and O'Neill is said to be the third victim he has sent to that undiscovered bourne.

—Quite a sensation was caused in a New York court, Friday, by the entrance of Tweed, who went there to examine the vouchers submitted to the Grand Jury containing indictments against him.

—An Indianapolis minister caught a couple kissing in a church and stopped his sermon to pray for them. It was unnecessary; they had each given and received a blessing before he began.

—An Iowa farmer discovering that one of his cows did not yield her usual amount of bacteal fluid, concluded to investigate the matter. His night vigils were rewarded by seeing a litter of pigs abstract the milk when the cow was lying down.

—The Senate of Pennsylvania will stand 18 Republicans, 15 Democrats. The House will stand, according to the returns, 64 Republicans to 36 Democrats. The Republicans will have a majority of 31 on joint ballot.

—It is stated that the Pennsylvania Railroad Company are about to place leather straps across the tracks at a certain distance in front of bridges, so that brakemen who are standing on the top of cars will be struck by them and thus be reminded that the train is approaching the bridge.

—A negro, who was suspected of surreptitiously meddling with his neighbor's fruit, being caught in his garden by moonlight, nonplussed his detectors by raising his eyes, clasping his hands, and piously exclaiming: "Good Lord! dis yere darkey can't go nowheres to pray any more, with out being 'sturbed!"

The Popular English Novelist, Now in this Country.

Subscribers for the New Year will get the Whole of this New

ORIGINAL CONTINUED STORY,

Written Expressly For

The Fireside Companion

A New Series of Articles, by the MOST PROMINENT AMERICAN WRITERS.

This series will be commenced immediately, and will embrace contributions from men eminent in literature and science.—These articles will not be confined to the staple topics of the day, but will introduce new and original themes, which will make the collection one of the most interesting and important contributions to American literature.

A Series of Original Articles on Parlor

GAMES AND HOME AMUSEMENTS.

This series will embrace all the great variety of amusements which have become so popular during the last few years. Parlor Theatricals, Charades, Magical delusions, Scientific Experiments, Legerdemain, Divining Oracles, Card Games, etc., including all that is humorous, droll, and amusing in the whole range of games.—Much that is useful and instructive will give these articles value to all our readers, and will make a department, to which all who wish innocent amusement for the young, will prise and enjoy.

DURING 1873

The Fireside Companion

Will contain more new and Powerful

CONTINUED STORIES THAN HAVE EVER APPEARED IN ANY AMERICAN PAPER.

Our arrangements for the new year surpass all previous efforts; the vastly increased circulation of THE FIRESIDE COMPANION enabling us to complete our engagements upon a scale of unexampled liberality. The engagement of Mr. EDMUND YATES, who has come to this country to lecture, will convince our subscribers that money will not be spared to procure for them the best that can be obtained in every department.

SHORT STORIES, SKETCHES, POETRY, AND BIOGRAPHY,

From the Best Writers in each of these specialties, will make the variety of interesting and valuable reading in THE FIRESIDE COMPANION for 1873 greater than can be found in any other American periodical. We trust thereby to increase the just prominence already gained by THE FIRESIDE COMPANION as a literary paper. Nothing of an immoral tendency is ever admitted into its columns. The stories and sketches are in every instance pure and healthful in tone, such as any father or mother can read aloud in the family circle, or freely place in the hands of their children.

The high reputation of the regular contributors of THE FIRESIDE COMPANION, among whom may be mentioned, EDMUND YATES, JOHN ELDERKIN, Mrs SUMNER HAYDEN, CLARA PERCY, LUCY RANDALL COMFORT, EMILY FAITHFUL, MARY GRACE HALPINE, ELIZABETH DUDLEY, J. W. MACKEY, CAPTAIN CARLTON, Doctor PAEON, S. W. PEARCE, G. L. AIKEN, and TONY PASTOR, constitute a guarantee of the character and interest of its unique and comprehensive features, unequalled in variety—a fact which makes it acceptable to persons of the most opposite tastes.

FASHION, HUMOR, GOSSIP, AND CORRESPONDENCE.

Every week there is a fresh and interesting review of the Fashions; and a valuable addition to the Family Circle in the form of recipts and suggestion entitled BREAKFAST, DINNER AND TEA; or THE HOUSEKEEPER'S RECIPE. Those humorously inclined will be more than satisfied with the exquisite treatment of the element of humor under the head of HUMOROUS DRIFT and OUR FUNNY CONTRIBUTORS, while Bricktop will depict the laughable side of men and things. In fact, the amount of fun and laughter contained in these articles, are worth, every week, far more than the price of the paper

No expense or pains are spared to make THE CORRESPONDENT'S COLUMN the most attractive that money and talent can make it. This department is edited by a leading clergyman in Brooklyn, and a vast amount of information is given; answers to questions relating to love and etiquette; legal and medical questions; information for the kitchen and household; in fact, answers to all questions that turn up in life, can be found in this column

READING FOR LITTLE FOLKS.

This is and will continue to be one of the prominent features of the paper. The contributions to this department are by the very foremost writers for children in the country. This alone makes THE FIRESIDE COMPANION invaluable to every household where there are children. We know of instances where the little ones insist upon having these articles read over and over again to them before the paper for the following week is issued.

We endeavor to make THE FIRESIDE COMPANION the best, most useful, and most desirable paper in America.

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

HAS MADE THE MOST ASTONISHING CURES; SO QUICK, SO RAPID ARE THE CHANGES THE BODY UNDERGOES, UNDER THE INFLUENCE OF THIS TRULY WONDERFUL MEDICINE, THAT

Every Day an Increase in Flesh and Weight is Seen and Felt.

THE GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER.

Every drop of the SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT communicates strength like Blood, Sweat, Urine, and other fluids and joins of the system the vigor of life, for it repairs the wastes of the body with pure and sound material. Scrofula, Syphilis, Consumption, Glandular disease, Ulcers in the Throat, Stomach, Bowels, Pores in the Glands and other parts of the system, Sore Eyes, Strumous Discharges from the Ears, and the worst forms of Skin diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Tetter Scald Head, Ring Worm, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Acne, Black Spots, Worms in the Flesh, Tumors, Cancers in the Breast, and all wasting and painful discharges, Night Sweats, Loss of Sleep, and all stages of the life principle are within the control of the power of Modern Chemistry, and a few days use will prove to any person using it for either of the forms of disease its potent power to cure them.

Not only does the SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT exceed all known remedial agents in the cure of Chronic, Scrofulous, Constitutional, and Blood diseases; but it is the only positive cure for

Kidney & Bladder Complaints,

Urinary, and Womb diseases, Gravel, Diabetes, Dropsy, Suppress of Water, Incontinence of Urine, Bright's Disease, Albuminuria, and in all cases where there are bricklust deposits, or the water is thick, cloudy, mixed with substances like the white of an egg, or threads like white silk, or there be another deposit, bilious appearance, and while bone-dust deposits, and when there is a pricking, burning sensation upon passing water, and pain in the small of the back and along the Loins. Price, $1.00.

WORMS.—The only known and sure Remedy for WORMS, Tape, &c.

Tumor of 12 Years' Growth Cured by Radway's Resolvent.

Boston, Mass., July 16, 1865.

Dr. RADWAY—I have had Ovarian Tumor in the ovaries and bowels. All the Doctors said "there was no help for it." I tried every thing that was recommended; but nothing helped me. I saw your Resolvent, and thought I would try it; but had no faith in it, because I had suffered for twelve years. I took six bottles of the Resolvent, and one box of Radway's Pills, and two bottles of your Ready Relief; and there is not a sign of tumor to be seen or felt, and I feel better, smarter, and happier than I have for twelve years. The worst tumor was in the left side of the bowels, over the groin. I write this to you for the benefit of others. You can publish it if you choose. HANNAH P. KNAPP.
