CARRIER'S ADDRESS.

Good morning, sir—Good morning
This New Year's morning, here I am;
My annual wishes to express,
In honored poesy's modest dress.
If word of mine can light your eye
With sparkle of the azure sky;
Or through the spirit send a thrill
Of highest joy, my mission will
Its noblest purpose then have served;
And I shall leave you strongly nerved,
To scatter in the dawning year,
My weekly gossip far and near.
But don't expect this little lay,
To throw the past upon your way;
Its faults and follies, sorrows too,
Are buried 'neath the weeping yew;
There let the willows mourn the dead,
While drooping roses deck their bed.
But if fond memories bubble up,
To overflow life's joyous cup;
I would the stream should ever flow,
While living pulse shall beat below.
Now while the snow bonds down the fir,
And icy winds the branches stir;
And frozen cascades glint the sun;
Let merry hearts all blend in one;
And as the changing seasons run,
That make the year we're entering on,
From flowery spring to autumn's dies,
May happiness be each one's prize;
And to this end let love and truth
Enrobe you in perennial youth;
And they will crystallize a gem
To shine in virtue's diadem.

☞ The undersigned take this method of expressing their gratitude to a large number of friends and members of the Baptist Church and congregation of Huntingdon, for their surprise visit on New Year's night; at which time they left us a large store of necessaries for the family, consisting of clothing, groceries and provisions. Among the pleasantries of the evening was a short wedding performed by Esquire ——, the fee for which was promptly handed over to us as reminiscent of the occasion. We cannot but desire that while we are the recipients of so many favors indicating the kind regards of friends for us, that they would also remember our Divine Lord, and be as faithful to Him—always enjoying his smiles.

☞ How often do you hear the complaint from mother and father that their son or daughter is not well; that they have no appetite; that they feel languid; that their head aches; that they are growing thin and feeble, and that they have no life or energy left. That they are low-spirited, and perfectly incapacitated to participate in any pleasures, or perform any mental or physical duty. And the question is often asked, what shall I do for them? or what shall I give them? SPECIAL NOTICES.

TESTIMONY OF A PROMINENT PHYSICIAN.

Dr. J. T. Baker, a skillful and widely known physician of twenty years standing in Lancaster, Pa., gives his opinion of a popular household remedy, in the following letter:

LANCASTER, PA., November, 22, 1868.

DR. S. R. HARTMAN & CO.—Dear Sirs: During the past eight years I have had frequent opportunities to study the effect of Mishler's Herb Bitters upon persons suffering from Dyspepsia, Loss of Nervous Energy, Sexual Weakness, Diarrhea, &c. Remedies were prescribed by other physicians belonging to the Homœopathic, Allopathic and Hydropathic schools, and only a comparatively few permanent cures effected. On the other hand, I have never known the Bitters to fail producing the desired result, and I still use them in the treatment of such complaints, with the highest success. I have no hesitation in saying that I consider Mishler's Herb Bitters the most efficacious remedy ever discovered for diseases arising from a disordered Stomach, Liver, Kidneys, Bowels, Lungs and Heart.

Yours truly,

J. T. BAKER, M. D.
