MUSICAL STUPIDITIES.—A commonsense listener thus describes the performance of some of our church music, and the effect produced upon his mind:

"The solemn worship of God was introduced by a solo, 'Consider the lilies,' performed by the leading singers of the choir, gracefully accompanied by the organ. So far as the music was concerned, it was beautifully and faultlessly rendered. The effect upon my mind, however, was anything but devotional. The singers commenced, 'Consider the lilies of the field,' &c., and when she came up to the application it ran thus: 'And yet I say unto you—that even Solomon, in all his glory—was not arrayed—like one of these—was not arrayed—was not arrayed—like one of these—was not arrayed [interlude by the organ]—was not arrayed [interlude by the organ]—like one of these.' And then she went back again, and asseverated in the most emphatic manner, 'I say unto you that even Solomon, in all his glory, was not arrayed—was not arrayed—was not arrayed' (pause) until I began to despair for poor Solomon, lest he should never get the very first of his garments on.

"There was yet another piece of church—not sacred—music, in which the soprano led off with the announcement, 'I will wash;' and then came in the contralto, 'I will wash; and then the tenor, 'I will wash;' and then from the profoundest depths comes up the guttural of the bass, saying also, 'I will wash;' and last of all they strike in together, crying out in concert, 'I will wash.' No one could imagine that this singular and oft-repeated announcement of an intended ablution was a rendering in sacred song for the spiritual edification of a Christian congregation of those solemn words of the Psalmist, 'I will wash my hands in innocency; so I will compass thine altar, Oh, Lord!'"

WHAT KILLED THE "WEEKLY" HERALD.—Fifteen or sixteen years ago a man named Harvey started a weekly paper at Williamson's, Ingham county, called the Herald. The town was small, the times dull, and Harvey was propably the laziest editor who ever had anything to do with a Michigan paper. The citizens encouraged him all they could, and finally the gentleman who had furnished most of the capital dropped into the office one Friday to see Harvey and spur him up a little. It was publication day, but the outside only, half made up, was on the stone, and not a line had been set for the inside. Harvey was in the yard back of the office digging fish-worms, and was called in.

"See here, Harvey, you are not doing as you should," commenced the gentleman; "here it is Friday, and you haven't worked the first side of your paper."

"I see—I—haven't," slowly replied the editor, looking in the drawer for a fish line.

"Well when are you going to get the paper out?"

"Some—time—next—week."

"But this is no way to do business, Mr. Harvey. When you came here didn't you agree to issue the paper every Friday?"

"I—presume—I—did," drawled Harvey, "but—I—did—not—know—the—fish ing—was—so—good."

He took his rod and went to the banks of the Cedar, and when he returned the office was packed in boxes marked "old type," and a note on the door read: "The Herald is dead—too many suckers killed it.—Detroit Free Press.

MR. BROWN AND HIS UMBRELLA.—Brown stood for over an hour on a street corner the other day, holding a gigantic umbrella over him. When any of his acquaintances not similarly provided—who the day before would scarcely condescend to give him a nod of recognition—happened to see him, they would smilingly salute him, inquire how he felt, were all the family well, etc., winding up by asking him if he was going upor down, as the case might be. "Yes, directly," Brown would say, 'wait a moment." After waiting some time, and repeated nudges having failed to bring him, the friend who was solicitous about Brown's health would attempt to emerge from the shelter of the umbrella, when Brown would importune him to wait a moment longer, asking him after he had already waited five to ten minutes what was his particular hurry. At last the friend—who could not perceive anything so very funny in the neighborhood that should produce such a broad grin on Brown—with a look on his face as though he had just discovered that he cashed a bogus check, would dive from under the umbrella and walk off as if he was mad at something.

"HOW DRY I AM!"—On a sleeping car, the other night, one of the lady passengers exclaimed in a slow and solemn voice: "Oh, how dry I am!" There was a moment's pause, and again rang out, "Oh how dry I am!" Another moment passed, and the dozen sleepers were once more startled by the sepulchral information, "Oh how dry I am!" "Won't somebody get that woman a drink?" howled an old gentleman, who, being rheumatic, and occupying an upper berth, could not very well do it himself. The demand was complied with, and the graceful sound of gurgling water was soon heard. Then there was a moment of silence, and following it came in the same solemn tones, "Oh, how dry I was!" There appeared to be no doubt about it by the occupants of the car, and if the truth could have been known, they were unselfishly glad that she had found relief; and they composed themselves afresh for sleep. Then the voice again smote the air, "Oh, how dry I was!" Everybody started, and every eye was distended. "Oh, how dry I was!" repeated the grateful woman.—"Then dry up!" screamed the gallant gentleman in the upper berth. She did.—Truckee Republican.

NEW TREATMENT FOR CONSUMPTIVES.—A foreign paper says: Dr. Wm. Koch, of Berlin, well known to specialties from his investigations in the domain of modern surgery, and from his treaties of gunshot fractures, has discovered a new method of treatment for consumption. It consists of healing up the affected portions of the lungs by injections of iodine, so as to check the progress of festering, which is the origin of the disease. This treatment has been tested in the great hospitals of Berlin within a short time, among others at the Royal Charity, in the presence of the most eminent surgeons. All the reports of the cases in which this treatment has been administered are favorable, and hold out a promise of complete cure. For many years Dr. Koch has been trying the experiment with animals, having tested it with more than three hundred at a vast outlay of time and money.

HOW TO KEEP THE ROADS IN GOOD REPAIR.—In Lancaster county, the supervisors of Fulton township sell their roads to the lowest bidder, to keep them in repairs for the year, and it is said the plan works very satisfactorily. After six years' trial the supervisors of the above township make the following statement in their handbill announcing the sale: "After six years' experience, with greatly improved roads, we have been able to reduce the tax one thousand dollars per annum, thus clearly demonstrating that our system of mending the roads, when impartially carried out, is far preferable to the old one."

ONE of those dreadful statisticians, a Frenchman this time, has worked out the probable performances of the average man of 50 years of age. He finds that during that period said "average man" has slept 6,000 days, worked 6,500 days, walked 800 days, amused himself 4,000 days, spent 1,500 in eating, and been sick 500 days. He has eaten 17,000 pounds of bread, 16,000 pounds of meat, 4,600 pounds of vegetables, fish, etc., and drank 7,000 gallons of liquids.

TREASURER'S SALE
—OF—
UNSEATED LANDS AND LOTS
In Cambria County, A. D. 1874.

I, A. D. CRISTE, Treasurer of Cambria County, in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in pursuance of the Several Acts of Assembly in said Commonwealth directing the time and manner of selling Unseated Lands for Taxes, do hereby give notice that the following described Tracts of Unseated Lands and Lots of Ground in the said County of Cambria, or such part hereof, as may be necessary to pay arrearages of taxes due thereon for one year or more, will be offered for sale, at the Court House in the Borough of Ebensburg, on the Second Monday (being the 8th day) of June next, and continue, by adjournment from day to day, until the whole be sold for such arrearages of taxes, and costs necessarily accruing thereon.
