CITY AND SUBURBAN.

The Greene County Oil Regions.

The Waynesburg Messenger states: "Within a few days, the Continental Oil Company, boring on the Maple Farm, has struck oil in what they regard as paying quantities. We trust this will turn out to be true. A considerable number of the company are residents of this place, and we are rejoiced to hear of their good luck. The excitement on the subject of oil is spreading in our county, and we hear of companies all around us organized and about to organize, to engage in this enterprise. This is the case on Whiteley creek, Muddy creek and Ten Mile creeks, and their tributaries, as well as on Dunkard creek, which is at present regarded as the leading point of attraction. The only reason for this, probably is, that oil is already demonstrated to exist there. But why its existence should be confined to that stream, we cannot see. Experiments will probably soon test the fact whether it has an existence there alone. We seem to be situated in the middle region between the Allegheny and Kenawha, on both of which oil certainly exists in great abundance, and the theory seems plausible, at least, that it should be found on all our streams as well as in those localities."

Sentence of Martin Brawdy, Jr.

This young man, who was convicted of manslaughter, in the killing of James Fegan, was brought into court on Saturday morning for sentence—the motion for a new trial having been withdrawn. Judge Stowe, before passing sentence, remarked that the offense was an aggravated one, and if the jury had convicted of murder in the first degree, the court would not have felt disposed to disturb the verdict. The prisoner was then sentenced to undergo an imprisonment in the penitentiary for a term of nine years and six months.

When the words "nine years" fell from the lips of the Judge, the prisoner, who up to this time had stood apparently calm and unconcerned, sunk back upon his seat in the dock and turned deathly pale. He had been led to suppose that his sentence would be a light one, and would consist of a few months in the county jail. His mother was present, and as he was removed from the dock she threw her arms around his neck, weeping and crying aloud: "Oh! Martin! Martin!" The scene was painful and affecting. The prisoner is not over nineteen years of age.

The Special Income Tax.

This tax will soon be demanded by the collectors, and the public should be in readiness to make proper and prompt returns, under the penalties prescribed in the act. This tax, it will be remembered, is the second one for 1864, and amounts to an additional five per cent. on the income. The first tax was but three per cent., and was paid some time ago. The intention of the law is that, every man having an income over $600, shall pay in the aggregate for that year, eight per cent. No deductions are allowed on the five per cent. assessment for dividends or interests received from any company or association. The full amount of a man's income, from all sources, must be counted, not including, however, certain other deductions which are printed on the back of the return furnished by the assessor. Every person is obliged to make a return, and these returns are open to the inspection of any citizen, so that every man in a district may see that his neighbor complies with the law and bears his proper share of taxation.

A Bad Husband.

A poor woman named Elizabeth Nearing, residing in Birmingham, appeared before Mayor Lowry, a few days ago, and narrated a series of gross outrages which had been perpetrated upon her by her husband, August Nearing. She had been driven out of the house, and compelled to beg victuals enough to keep her husband in idleness, and when she failed to bring in an ample supply he would beat her most unmercifully. Latterly she had been compelled to go to the poor house, and her husband had in the meantime "taken up" with one Margaret Winterman, and had given her the custody of an only child. Warrants were issued for the arrest of Nearing and his paramour, and they were both arrested and committed to jail—the former to answer a charge of surety of the peace, and the latter as a common vagrant. Mrs. Nearing's child was found and returned to her, and the rent away rejoicing.

Alias Poor Chivalry.

It is stated upon the authority of an escaped prisoner, who was captured during the recent raid on New Creek, that the chief thief among the rebels was a drunken, blear-eyed, pug-nosed, Major Mason, son of Ex-Senator James M. Mason. This fellow searched and robbed with his own hands eighteen or twenty citizens prisoners, taking everything of value found upon their persons. Although thrice ordered by General Rosser to send his prisoners to the front, he refused to obey until he had finished his pocket picking.

EDITORS GAZETTE:—The article in yesterday's Chronicle, in reference to the spring balance scales, in use by our butchers, is very unjust, and reflects upon a class of men, many of whom are as honorable and honest as any men in our community.

It is well known that it is the duty, and I think, the practice of the "Sealer of Weights and Measures," to inspect and stamp all the scales, used in the city markets twice a year. And now Mr. Editor, with all deference to your opinion as to the liability of the spring balance to get out of order, I will venture the assertion, that if the opinion of the "Sealer of Weights and Measures" is obtained, it will be to the effect that he has less trouble with the butchers' scales, than with any other class of scales equally as large run on in our community.

PAYMENT OF FINES.—The following amounts—fines and verdict fees—have been paid over to the County Treasurer by our present Sheriff, John S. Stewart, Esq., during the past eleven months. The amount paid over for this short period exceeds the amounts paid over by any of his predecessors, during their whole term. The following is the list:

January	$ 256 60	August	$291 00
February	1036 19	September	12 00
March	58 00	October	125 13
April	70 00	November	901 18
May	81 00
June	68 00	Total	$1,823 58
July	1075 00

SHOPLIFTING.—A young woman named Louisa Knock was arrested to-day on Market street, for the larceny of a pair of shoes from the store of J. H. Borland. She had a little girl with her, and while she was looking over a lot of shoes the girl stole a pair and walked off. The two met on the pavement again, when the shoes were put into the young woman's basket. An officer happened to be passing at the time, and on request of Mr. Borland he arrested her and found the stolen shoes in her basket. She was held in custody by Mayor Lowry.

OIL IN ARMSTRONG COUNTY.—The Armstrong Democrat states that "a very superior oil well has been discovered near Stewardson Furnace. While some of the workmen were digging for water they struck a vein of oil which soon filled the well. An engine will be on the ground in a few days which will test the matter thoroughly." Stewardson Furnace is situated one and a half miles from the mouth of Mahoning creek, twelve miles above Kittanning, and is owned by Alexander Laughlin, Esq., of this city.

ILLNESS OF THOMAS M. MARSHALL, ESQ.—We regret to learn that Thomas M. Marshall, Esq., is lying dangerously ill at his residence in McClure township. He is suffering from an affection of the liver, and his symptoms are of an alarming character. His numerous friends will read this announcement with extreme regret, and all will join in the ardent wish that he may be speedily restored to his wonted health and vigor.

LIQUOR SELLERS SENTENCED.—In the Criminal Court, on Saturday morning, Henry Schild and Frederick Jacobs plead guilty to selling liquor under a license limiting them to the sale of ale and beer. They were fined $50 each, and admonished not to come back a second time under similar circumstances. Wm. Nave was fined $10 and costs for selling liquor without license.

NEW BANK.—We learn that on account of the demand for additional banking privileges in the Monongahela Valley Oil Regions, the Odd Fellows Association of Waynesburgh has decided to apply for the privilege of becoming a bank of issue, exchange and deposit, to be known as the Petroleum Bank of Greene county, with a capital stock of $50,000.

DEATH OF ELI YOUNG.—Eli Young, the well known and popular caterer, proprietor of Young's Exchange, Smithfield street, died yesterday evening after a brief illness. Deceased served with credit in the Jackson Independent Blues, in the Mexican campaign, and was respected by all who knew him as a firm friend and a faithful citizen.

HORSE AND BUGGY FOR SALE.—Any gentleman desiring to purchase a valuable horse, will find an animal advertised in another column, which is well worth attention. The horse is of the celebrated Morgan breed, and is exceedingly stylish and spirited. It is not often that so favorable an opportunity is offered for securing a first-rate horse. See the advertisement.

HEAVY ROBBERY IN WOOSTER, O.—On Thursday night, the store of Messrs. George Plimor & Co., of Wooster, Ohio, was entered by burglars and robbed of silks, satins, furs and other goods. An unsuccessful attempt was made to force open the safe.

DROWNED.—Thomas Hays was accidentally drowned in the Ohio river at Newport, below Wheeling, a few days ago. He leaves a wife and four children in Cincinnati, where he resides.

MEDICAL.

DR. LIGHTHILL
ON CATARRH.
DR. LIGHTHILL,
THE AUTHOR OF
"Letters on Catarrh," "A Popular Treatise on Deafness," &c.,
IS NOW AT THE
ST. CHARLES HOTEL,
PITTSBURGH, PA.,
AND CAN BE CONSULTED
UNTIL
FRIDAY EVENING, Dec. 23d, 1864,
ON
Deafness, Catarrh,
AND ALL THE VARIOUS DISEASES OF THE
EAR, THROAT AND AIR PASSAGES,

SYMPTOMS OF CATARRH:

The first sensation is usually a feeling of dryness and heat in the nose and a frequent inclination to sneezing. There is an inability to breathe freely, as the nose becomes stopped up, sometimes on one side, sometimes on the other.

Soon a clear watery, acrid discharge makes its appearance, excoriating the nostrils, and edges of the lips, which become red and somewhat swollen. After a few days the discharge becomes thick, yellowish, extremely frequent and continues to be a marked feature of the disease, and a source of much danger and the greatest annoyance. After more or less time, it becomes purulent, highly offensive, and assumes an extremely fetid odor. It is usually so profuse as to require, when confined to a room, the frequent application of the handkerchief, or if it drops into the throat, which it more particularly is the case, while the body is in a horizontal position, constant expectoration, and sometimes both.

Sleep is frequently disturbed by a sensation of choking, caused by the presence of the discharge in the throat. Owing to the heat in the head, the watery portion of the secretion often evaporates, and assuming a condition of solidity is deposited upon the membrane of the nose and upper part of the throat, in the shape of crests or hardened lumps. The accumulation of these incrustations produces a feeling of discomfort, and renders the nasal passage so as to embarrass respiration. Therefore frequent efforts have to be made to remove them, either by forcibly blowing the nose or by repeated hawking—a practice so disagreeable to the one affected as it is to those around him. After the removal, that side of the incrustation which adhered to the mucous membrane will sometimes be found bloody, a fact which explains the occasional bleeding its dislodgment. During sleep these incrustations accumulate more rapidly, and the feeling therefore is most uncomfortable in the morning, rendering the efforts to clear the throat are futile until after hawking, snuffing, or after something warm is swallowed. Some patients state that they are not successful until they have swallowed some whisky or brandy. The discharge, which is at first without smell, assumes, in the progress of the complaint, an exceedingly fetid odor, the breath participates in this, and becomes occasionally so overwhelmingly offensive as to render the patient an object of disgust to himself as well as to others. Ulceration of the mucous membrane of the nose takes place frequently, sometimes even attacking the bones when small particles of substance will occasionally be found mixed with the discharge. The accumulation of the discharge, together with the thickened condition of the mucous membrane, renders respiration through the nasal passages very difficult, and oftentimes impossible, necessitating respiration partially through the mouth, a method very deleterious to the general health, but more particularly to the lungs, as will be shown hereafter. The disagreeable noise produced during sleep, known as snoring, originates from the same cause. The voice loses its musical quality, and assumes a harsh and nasal character; the sense of smell becomes much impaired or entirely lost, and the same effect, more or less frequent, is produced on the sense of taste. Occasionally, while blowing the nose, a crackling or bubbling sound will be heard in the ear, and hearing will be found to be thick and snapped up, but return suddenly with a suspicious sound. This phenomenon is usually repeated until, at one time, hearing does not return, and remains completely injured. Noises in the head of every conceivable description will make their appearance, and add to the distress of the sufferer, and hearing is gradually that a considerable degree of deafness may exist before the person is really aware of the fact. Their eyes are apt to become weak, irritable and disposed to water on exposure to wind and cold, or after the slightest exertion. A pain more or less acute, or a distressing feeling of pressure is experienced over the eyes, and sometimes on the back of the head, and also pain in the ears, closely resembling neuralgia, for which it is often mistaken. The illness in the head weakens the memory and produces irritability and moroseness of disposition. The stomach generally suffers more or less, is weak and irritated, the appetite is capricious, and is nearly always back in the morning. In severe cases the system becomes feeble and prostrated, and manifests a decided aversion to either physical or mental exertion. Not unfrequently death proves fatal either by induction of the system or wearing out the patient, or by tracking upwards and producing more fatal affections, bronchitis, and finally consumption. It may be asserted, that hereditary predisposition, catarrh, is the most frequent and important cause of this fatal complaint.

Catarrh has been considered an incurable disease, and on the strength of that supposition has been neglected by both the profession and the public. As it is the exciting cause in full half the cases of Deafness, Dr. Lighthill have for years past, made its proper treatment their special study, and have by their success fully established the curability of this complaint. That this is no mere assertion will be readily comprehended by the annexed testimonials from highly respectable parties who have been under their care.

TESTIMONIALS:

PITTSBURGH, PA., Nov. 5, 1864.
This will certify that I have been under the care of Dr. Lighthill, for the cure of Catarrh, and that, as though he has attended me for little, over one week, I feel that a permanent cure is to be effected, and am so much better in all respects as to warrant me in giving publicity to these facts and recommending Dr. Lighthill to any one afflicted with Catarrh. JACOB FORSYTH,

NEW YORK, Nov. 2, 1864.
This is to certify that I have been afflicted with Catarrh for some years, which produced the usual disagreeable effects. I consulted Dr. Lighthill about nine or ten months since, and at once placed myself under his care. I am entirely free from Catarrh, my throat is perfectly healthy, and my health is very much improved. [From the Hon. Ira Pitt, Patton, Maine.
DR. LIGHTHILL:—Dear Sir—I send you a statement of my case, which you may use as you think proper. I have acquaintances in different parts of the States, have served three years as Senator of Penobscot county, and three years as Representative—in all six years—in our State Legislature. My statement may benefit some of those afflicted with my disease.
For several years I have been afflicted with Catarrh. I have tried many prescriptions for it without receiving any benefit therefrom. I have taken your medicine about ten months, and it has cured me. I would recommend to those afflicted with this disorder to apply to you. I am confident if they will strictly follow your directions that a cure will be effected, however inveterate the case may be.
Respectfully yours, IRA FISH.

From Rev. R. P. Russell, Lynn, Mass.
I have been much troubled with Catarrh of the worst type for some twenty years. It gradually grew worse, including cough and hoarseness, destroying the sense of smell and breaking down my general health to such a degree as to compel me to resign my pastorate and suspend public speaking. I made diligent use of the usual remedies, such as snuff of different kinds, nitrate of silver, tar water and inhalations, but without any very salutary effect. Last summer I heard of Dr. Lighthill's successful mode of treating catarrh, visited him, and put myself under his treatment. I began immediately to improve, and this improvement has gone on to the present time. My catarrh has gradually molted away, my cough has disappeared, my voice has become natural, and I am once more able
