A Funny Debtor.

A friend of ours in a commerical firm in this city has handed us the following letter from one of their country correspondents. He answers a call from them for certain sums due by him. Our readers will doubtless remember a letter we published from him some months ago, which was in answer to a similar call and was in the same amusing style as this The firm here appreciate their correspondents vein exceedingly, inasmuch as notwithstanding his apparent determination not to pay their claims, he always acts just in the contrary sense:—No. N. Picayune.

State of Louisivania, Up our way.

Gents.—Yours of blank date—I don't remember it—has been received, as well as several others from different distinguished individuals of your city, on the same subject.

Were I an aspirant for office, or ambitious of having my name written in the annals of the nineteenth century, I should feel highly complimented at receiving so many letters from such distinguished resources; but as I am neither, and only desire the privilege of passing the remainder of my life in my little country abode, I must say that I think that as there is so much wisdom and learning in your great city, [illegible] thout troubling me. If you cannot, I do not see the great advantages to be derived from your railroads, telegraphs, cemeteries, churches, banks, prisions, ship-yards, flat-boat landings, steamboats, pompano, etc., etc.

Here, in the extreme northern part of the interior, where we have only a small steamer twice a month for about four months in the year, and a mail whenever it enters my head to write a letter, (and that's only sometimes) I could get along with my little business as comfortable as possible if the merchants and bankers of New York, New Orleans, Boston, Philadelphia, &c., would just let me alone But as my friends will consult about the subject you so particularly refer to, I will take the matter into consideration, and if I find I can arrive at a satisfactory conclusion, I will let you and them all know my opinion of this difficult question, touching the demand for and supply of gold in this part of the State. And if prove unequal to the task, I sincerely hope you will exert yourself to procure from the Legislature a free banking law, by which my notes may become the sole security which the auditor will be allowed to receive persons desirous of starting banks, and that these notes shall be assumed by the State at a premium.

A Lover of Pleasure Portrayed.

The man who lives principally to gratify his senses—the man of pleasure, thinks that pleasure, gratification of the senses, or of the lower propensities of his nature, foremost among the objects of desire and pursuit. Of course, other things arrange themselves around him in a certain way, for he cannot avoid giving some attention to affairs so common as business, study and religion. But see how his touch degrades every noble and beautiful thing He sees in the objects and occupations around him only that portion which will serve the great purpose of his life. If he is employed in business, he will not be likely to be very desirous to sustain the honor of his profession He is concerned only to get out of it the money that will furnish his house, and cover his table, and fill his cellars and pay the expenses of his pleasures. Thus any degree of meanness can be practised at the trade if it promotes this object. He will 'stick' at a bargain for a few cents will the poor woman that sells him berries, or washes his clothes, while hundreds of dollars will be lavished in one night of feasting and drunkenness with his friends. He must pinch at one end that he may squander at the other: Thus doing all he can to degrade the reputation of a respectable calling, and driving high-minded men away from it If he studies, it is not so much for love of the truth, as to pass away an hour that would else lie heavily upon his hands, or to acquire knowledge enough to avoid ridiculous mistakes in good society; and the manner in which he talks about literature makes educated men almost ashamed of their reputation for learning. If he goes to see a work of art, it is not to be elevated by the expression beaming from the face and form of a Greek Slave or a Virgin Mary, but to talk of it with his friends, or, perhaps, to burn with unlawful passions before that which kindles flames of celestial love in the soul of him who is pure. Woe to the State, if such a man gets into office. Justice and Mercy are degraded to the rank of waiters upon his table; and to cram his own life with good things, he will see corruption, and disorder, and dishonesty, and want, scourging a whole nation. Woe to the Church if he stands in the sacred desk; and woe to Religion, if its honors and preferments are laid upon his shoulders. Thereupon arises a scandal against good morals that sets all the infidel tongues a-wagging; for love, and humility, and disinterestedness are crowded away, and the Kingdom of God becomes the Paradise of Mahomet; and amid the flashing of cups and the steam of feasts, and the glitter of equipage, and the blaze of purple and fine linen, Religion mournfully goes out of church, and Satan briskly comes in. Pleasure is the central, prominent object in his plan of life; and beauty, and sanctity, and love, disappear.—He lives in a faded universe. Nature only created to give him corn, and wool, and wine spirit only existing to impart the capacity of enjoyment to his pampered body.

Is it possible that such a man can see the world as it really is? Of course, it is not.—He sees there only what he wants; and he wants only enough to be comfortable. His estimate of everything is false. His sensualism poisons every judgement he forms of character, and every opinion he pronounces upon any subject of human speculation. This wonderful earthly existence, filled with God, is to him only a transient house of entertainment—a hotel where he can stop and spend a few foolish years between the eternity that is past and the eternity that is to come.

The sensualist finds in all things only what will minister to his appetites and pleasures.—The Christian, out of the same surroundings, obtains the materials and occasions for spiritual growth and discipline. The latter alone comprehends the true value of life, for he takes from each part that which will aid him in the developement of exxellence of character And this is the chief worth of things to us, and not the mere supply of food, or drink, or raiment, or of any animal want.

Gentlemanly Accomplishments

'Swear! Out upon such common attainments! So do the lowest and meanest that swim in the sinks of vice and drunkeneess. There is not a ruffian who cannot boast the accomplishment. Every reeking den of devilry has its proficients. The most degraded of humanity can swear roundly as you. Hark! You hear it in the highway. In every spot where tipplers congregate, the oath is a part of breath.—At night it comes with fearful distinctness from the dram shop. And yet you are proud of your foul mouthed wickedness, as though the vilest of the earth could not do the same.

Chew Tobacco! A loathsome spitting machine, eh! Beautiful and interesting to us, truly! A self acting squirt-gun to eject the filthiest compound in creation! A lama on two legs bespattering all within your reach without provocation even!—And now because you eat tobacco and spit out the juice with mock dignity, you are a gentleman! Ho! ho! The race of fools is not extinct. Why, you slavering beast! you can't make your mouth fouler than the old vagabond who spends the shilling he had begged for rum and a pound of plug. He can act as filty as you can.—Can't you believe it? See him spit once! Mark the dark lines from each corner of his mouth and the noisome stains of his shirt bosom. Rare accomplishments indeed for a gentleman.

Drink Champagne! Ha! ha! Dear sir, the whole land is full of just such suckers. The raggedest, wiry haired, red nosed bleer eyed old bloat in Christendom, can get as rich and as drunk as you can. And what's the difference? From the actions, a looker on could not determine what liquor the two had got drunk on.—The one spews in the gutter and the other in his room. There is a difference in the quality of the coats, but none in that of drunkenness. The common sot can get as 'owly' on common whiskey, as you can on pure—sham pagne. You drink with respectable tipplers and drunkards; he with those who have graduated in the common whiskey cellar.

You are a gentleman are you? Why are you? Go well dressed do you? And so that makes a gentleman. Your whole aim of life is to adorn your person in a fashionable suit of clothe, practice a most unnatural gait and whirl before the glass.—A fine suit of clothes, sir, cannot give a man a heart. You wear a moustache or imperial, and so does a goat. A face may be covered with hair and no brains in his head. Bear's grease and a fashionable twirl are all your dependance.'

Bryant House, Great Bend Depot, Pa.

THIS new and spacious building, situated but a few feet from the Depot at Great Bend, is now opened and furnished in a suitable style for a Public House, and will be kept open at all hours, (both day and night,) for the reception of travellers; and especially for the accommodation of passengers travelling on the N. Y. & Erie & L. & W. Railroads, being at the junction of these two roads, and the most convenient point to step in and take refreshments and be off with the first train, as well as the most convenient house to accommodate the public, because it is NEW, CLEAN and WHOLESOME;—like, because it is NEW, CLEAN and WHOLESOME;—with room enough to accommodate ALL, being fitted up with new furniture to correspond, and tables always get, ments warning.

☞ Passengers desiring rest and sleep, can by calling here, avoid the inconvenience of taking an omnibus to find an inn, as well as the delay and uncertainty of returning to the depot at the arrival or departure of the trains; as a porter will be in waiting to conduct them with their baggage to the Bryant House, "just across the way," and conduct them back again without fee or reward, taking special care to wake them if desired at any hour of the night.

The location of the Bryant House, with the natural scenery around it combine to make it a very desirable SUMMER RESORT for business men and others in the city who may wish to "cast off care" for a few days to recruit in the country.

A Large and Commodious Hall

is attached to this building for the convenience of pleasure PARTIES, who may always find good accommodations here, without regard to numbers, with warm stables for their teams, and reliable help to wait on them.

THE ROAD TO HEALTH!
HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.

CURE OF A DISORDERED LIVER AND BAD DIGESTION.

Copy of a Letter from Mr. R. W. Kirkus, Chemist, Precot street, Liverpool, dated 6th June, 1851.

To Professor Holloway—Sir:—Your Pills and Ointment have stood the highest on our sale list of Proprietary Medicines for some years. A customer, to whom I can refer for any enquiries, desires me to let you know the particulars of her case. She had been troubled for years with a disordered liver and bad digestion. On the last occasion, however, the virulence of the attack was so alarming, and the inflamation set in so severely, that doubts were entertained of her not being able to bear up under it; fortunately she was induced to try your Pills, and she informs me that after the first, and each succeeding dose, she had great relief. She continued to take them, and although she used only three Boxes, she is now in the enjoyment of perfect health. I could have sent you many more cases, but the above, from the severity of the attack, and the speedy cure, I think, speaks much in favor of your astonishing Pills.

AN EXTRAORDINARY CURE OF RHEUMATIC FEVER, IN VAN DIEMEN'S LAND.

Copy of a Letter inserted in the Hobart Town Courier of the 1st March, 1851, by Major J. Welch.

Margaret M'Connigan, nineteen years of age, residing at New Town, had been suffering from a violent rheumatic fever for upwards of two months, which had entirely deprived her of the use of her limbs, during this period she was under the care of the most eminent medical men in Hobart Town, and by them her case was considered hopeless. A friend prevailed upon her to try Holloway's Pills, which she consented to do, and in an incredible short space of time they effected a perfect cure.

CURE OF A PAIN AND TIGHTNESS IN THE CHEST AND STOMACH OF A PERSON 84 YEARS OF AGE.

From Messrs. Tuck & Son, Proprietors of the Lynn Advertiser, who can vouch for the following statement, August 21 1851.

To Professor Holloway—Sir:—I desire to bear testimony to the good effects of Holloway's Pills. For some years I suffered severely from a pain and tightness in the stomach, which was also accompanied by a shortness of breath, that prevented me from walking about. I am 84 years of age, and notwithstanding my advanced state of life, these Pills have so relieved me, that I am desirous that others should be made acquainted with their virtues. I am now rendered, by their means, comparatively active, and can take exercise without inconvenience or pain, which I could not do before.

(Signed) HENRY COE, North st., Lynn, Norfolk.

Liver Complaint,

Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Chronic or Nervous Debility, Diseases of the Kidneys,

AND all diseases arising from a disordered liver or stomach such as constipation, inward piles fullness or blood to the head, acidity of the stomach, nausea, heart burn, disgust for food, fulness or weight in the stomach, sour eructations, sinking or fluttering at the pit of the stomach, swimming of the head, hurried or difficult breathing, fluttering at the heart, choking or suffocating sensations when in a lying posture, dimness of vision, dots or webs before the sight, fever and dull pain in the head, deficiency of perspiration, yellowness of the skin and eyes, pain in the side, back, chest, limbs &c., sudden flushes of heat, burning in the flesh, constant imaginings of evil, and great depression of spirits, can be effectually cured by

Dr. Hoofland's celebrated German Bitters.

Prepared by Dr. C. M. Jackson, at the German Medicine store, 120 Arch street Philadelphia.

Their power over the above diseases is not excelled, if equalled, by any other preparation in the United States as the cures attest, in many cases after skilful physicians had failed.

These bitters are worthy the attention of invalids.—Possessing great virtues in the regulation of diseases of the Liver and lesser glands, exercising the most searching power in weakness and affections of the digestive organs, they are withal, safe, certain, and pleasant.

Read and be Convinced.

The Editor of the Boston Bee said, December 22d—

Dr. Hoofland's Celebrated German Bitters, for the cure of Liver Complaint, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Chronic, or Nervous debility, is deservedly one of the most popular medicines of the day. These bitters have been used by thousands, and a friend at our elbow says he has himself received an effectual and permanent cure of Liver Complaint from the use of this remedy. We are convinced that, in the use of these bitters, the patient constantly gains strength and vigor—in fact worthy of great consideration. They are pleasant in taste and smell, and can be used by persons with the most delicate stomach, with safety under any circumstances. We are speaking from experience, and to the afflicted we advise their use.

Scott's Weekly, one of the best literary papers published, said, August 25th—

"Dr. Hoofland's German Bitters, manufactured by Dr. Jackson, are now recommended by some of the most prominent members of the medical faculty as an article of much efficacy in cases of female Weakness. As such is the case, we would advise all mothers to obtain a bottle, and thus save themselves much sickness. Persons of debilitated constitutions will find these Bitters advantageous to their health. As we know from experience the salutary effect they have upon weak systems."

More Evidence.

The Philadelphia Saturday Gazette, the best family paper published in the United States, says of Dr. Hoofland's German Bitters—

"It is upon that we recommend what are termed Patent Medicines to the confidence and patronage of our readers, and therefore when we recommend Dr. Hoofland's German Bitters we wish to be distinctly understood that we are not speaking of the nostrums of the day, that are noticed about twice in a brief period and then sent packing off, they have run their guilty race of mischief, but of a medicine long established, universally approved, and which has met the hearty approval of the faculty itself."

Look well to the marks of the genuine. They have the written signature of C. M. JACKSON upon the wrapper and his name blown in the bottle, without which they are spurious.

For sale, wholesale, and retail, at the German Medicine Store, No. 120 Arch street, one door below Sixth, Philadelphia, and by respectable dealers generally throughout the country.

DOCTOR YOURSELF
For 25 cents.

BY MEANS OF THE POCKET ESCULAPIUS, or every one his own Physician! This sixth edition, with upwards of a hundred engravings, showing private disease in every shape and form, and malformations of the generative system,

By William Young, M. D.

The time has now arrived that persons suffering from secret diseases need no more become the victims of quackery, as by the prescriptions contained in this book, any one may cure himself, without hindrance of business, or the knowledge of the most intimate friend, and with one tenth the usual expense. In addition to the general routine of private disease, it fully explains the cause of manhood's early decline, with observations on marriage—besides many other interesting subjects, it would not be improper to enumerate in the public prints. Any person sending TWENTY-FIVE CTS. enclosed in a letter, will receive one copy of this book, by mail, or five copies will be sent for one dollar. Address DR. W. YOUNG, No. 152 Spruce street, PHILADELPHIA, post-paid.

☞ DR. YOUNG can be consulted on any of the diseases described in his different publications, at his office, 152 Spruce street, every day between 9 and 5 o'clock, (Sundays excepted.) 38yl

The People's Friend.

T. T. Pond's, of Ithaca, N. Y., Pain Destroyer and Healing Extract.

AN Extract from the shrub called Witch hazel, and purely from that, with the exception of a little Alcohol to preserve it.

It will cure all local pains and inflammation, old sores, fresh wounds and bruises, Piles, and all diseases of the bowels of a chronic nature, tooth-ache, ear-ache, and an excellent remedy for females, &c.

It is truly what it professes to be, "THE PEOPLE'S FRIEND!" Providence has scattered along the rugged paths of life many things that contribute greatly to the comfort and happiness of every body; hence their great value, as I well may they be called "Friends of the People."

One word here to guard against imposition. A man by the name of Spencer has manufactured, and offers for sale a spurious article called the "Coryl Extract"—that would be extract from the hazel-nut—the genuine is as white and pure as water, while the spurious article is colored, which enables the public to distinguish.

None genuine but those marked Pond's Pain Destroyer.

DR. S. E. CRAIN, German Physician, takes this method of informing his friends and the public in general that he has recently returned from California, and located in the village of Owego, County of Tioga, and has established a permanent office on Lake Street, over T. P. Patch's new brick store, and is ready to attend to any business in the line of his profession.

His superior method of arriving at a correct diagnosis in diseases, and his unparalleled success in treating the various diseases incidental to the human system, more especially those of an acute, subacute, chronic, or complicated character, are all that is necessary for him to offer the invalids and diseased of every character to entitle him to the confidence of a discriminating public.—For the benefit of those unacquainted with his method of practice he would say that he detection disease by a chemical and microscopical examination of the Urine.

Persons may send or bring their Urine in a clean (at least two ounce) vial, the first in the morning is preferred, and as a record is kept of all the cases examined, the name and age of the patient are also required. No charge is made for examining a case where no medicine is taken.

His medicines are principally selected from the vegetable Kingdom, and are administered according to the German Botanic Practice.

He would also add, that he has at last made an important discovery in relation to treating diseases of a venerious origin, or travel. This is a singular deposition and may consist of crystalline grains, or a gritty, harsh feel, but not distinctly visible upon a close examination; or it may consist in irregular shaped transparent concretions, sufficient large to be readily distinguished by the eye, and denominated Calculi.

The preparation that he has introduced is capable of dissolving and holding in solution, calculous, or urinous concretions, which is the source of irritation and very often extreme inflammation of the Urinary organs, and thereby allowing the same to escape.

References can be had at his Office from persons living in all the Western counties of the State of New York, Pennsylvania, Michigan; Ohio, who have been given up to die by the most skilful Physicians, but who have been restored to health by the great German Remedies for Female obstructions, Worms, Croup and Dysentery, may always be found at the office. MARRIAGE,
HAPPINESS AND COMPETENCE.

WHY IS IT?

That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life, broken in health and spirits with a complication of diseases and infirmities, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life or at an age when physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy serenity of mind, seems to be a condition of health, should be predominant.

Many of the causes of her sufferings at not perhaps years before, we have during childhood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so slight as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.

IN AFTER YEARS,

When too late to be benefitted by our knowledge, we look back and mourn and regret the fatal consequences of our ignorance.

What would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain, in after years! And what days and nights of anguish we might not have been spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed. It is

MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING

To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife and for many years, from causes simple and controllable, easily remedied—or better still,—not incurred, if every

WIFE AND MOTHER

Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (which is in the reach of all) which would store to herself

YEARS OF MISERY,

And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily devolving upon him from long sickness of the wife, without giving him the opportunity of acquiring that confidence which his exertions are entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.

SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS

By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands. In view of such consequences, any wife or mother is excusable if she neglect to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to herself, which would spare her much suffering, be the means of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and confer upon her children that blessing above all price—healthy bodies, with healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a little work entitled
