Agricultural.

INDIAN CORN AND ITS USES.

A bushel of Indian corn contains more nutriment than a bushel of wheat; but corn meal should not be ground fine, or it will not keep sweet. There is no grain that can be put to so many good uses and served up in so many different ways, as corn and corn meal.

First we have green corn, roasting ear and soup in the early, and the dried corn soup and hominy the balance of the year. These dishes every good housekeeper knows how to prepare, being among the most simple in the culinary art.

And then by grinding it into meal, what visions of delicious eating float before our eyes. First, we have the corn cake, made of meal and water, and a little salt, if you are too poor to use eggs and milk, mixed into dough or batter, and baked on a griddle. Then corn bread or pone, which can only be made properly by about one housekeeper in ten. Then mush and milk and fried mush. We have never seen the individual that did not like one or the other. Many fail in making good mush by not boiling it enough. When it is merely scalded it has a raw taste. Then there is a very good corn meal pudding made by stirring the meal into scalded skim milk till as thick as gruel, and, when cool, add ginger, cinnamon, nutmeg, salt and sweetening to suit the taste, and a little fine cut suet and some raisins or dried peaches, and a fine cut apple. It should bake an hour or more, according to size. This is a good puddding. And then see into how many dishes corn becomes a palatable and favorite mixture. It is the cheapest and most wholesome food that man can live on, and should be on the table of both rich and poor more frequently than it now is, in some one of its many forms.

FALL PLOUGHING.—All stiff clay lands will be greatly ameliorated by ploughing them in the fall, at any time before heavy frosts lock up the ground. After ploughing them they should not be harrowed but should be left in the rough so that the frost may have the largest action upon the upturned surface of the ridges. But whilst all lands in which clay predominates will be improved by a winter fallow, such would not be the case with light sandy soils.—With such soils fall ploughing would prove an injury rather than a benefit.—One precaution however, should be taken even in ploughing heavy soils—they must not be worked in a wet state, or they will break up in clods which, as they subsequently become dry, will become so hard that the frost will not act upon. Wherever a heavy sod is turned under there is however very little injury to be apprehended, even if the soil is moist, provided it does not contain an excess of water.—In any case when clays are ploughed in the fall the land should be ridged into beds with deep water furrows between, to carry off the surplus moisture. In the spring run a heavy harrow over the field and drag all down as nearly to a level as possible—next cross plough and harrow again. The extra labor will be amply repaid by the extra product.

A CURE FOR HOG CHOLERA.—Tar is said to be a speedy cure for the disease now prevailing among hogs. The tar should be mixed with the corn, and thus fed to the hogs. We have heard of several farmers who have done this, and in every case that has come to our knowledge, hogs that had the disease were cured, and its ravages stopped.—Mr. Benjamin Sherwood, of Queen Anne's county, informs us that one of his hogs was attacked with cholera, as soon as he discovered it he administered a plentiful dose of tar, the hog soon recovered. Mr. Sherwood, immediately procured a barrel of tar, and mixed in with their food and not another case occurred. Several of his neighbors tried the same thing with like results. This is a simple remedy and easily tried.—The extent of this disease and the number of animals that are dying make any effectual remedy a matter of importance.—Comet, St. Michael's.

FATTENING HOGS, &c.—After hogs have been put for fattening, and during the first week of the fattening process, cooked roots, apples, pumpkins, and vegetables of various kinds, mixed with a small quantity of corn meal, should be given them. At a later period increase the quantity of meal, and during the last three weeks of the fattening they should be fed exclusively on cooked corn meal and slops. It is extremely wasteful to feed corn in the ear. We may here remark, that warm and comfortable sleeping apartments for the hogs expedite the process of fattening, and that the open portion of the pens should be at all times furnished with an abundance of rough vegetable fibre and woods' mould to be worked over by the animals and converted into the richest of manures.

CHICKEN CHOLERA.—The symptoms of this disease are a high fever, feathers ruffled, the skin turns black, the eyes are closed, and the patient will not move unless driven. Death usually takes place in about three hours. I have lost about 100 chickens this winter, besides turkeys, ducks and geese.—I tried all the remedies I could hear of, but without effect, until the following came to my notice: Take corn meal and shorts in equal parts, wet the compound, and mix with lime as strong as they will eat it. For turkeys, geese and ducks, corn soaked in lime water will effect a cure.—Cor. Rural American.

WOOD ASHES FOR MANURE.—The Maine Farmer knows a farmer who went into the soap-making business some years ago, for the purpose of securing the ashes, after having been leached, to apply to his land. He owned a large farm, the soil being chiefly a clayey loam, and any one visiting the farm now, who was acquainted with it before the owner began to apply the ashes, would be astonished at the results they have accomplished. He applied them at the rate of 150 to 200 bushels per acre, to different crops, and in every conceivable way.

CUTTINGS OF GOOSEBERRIES AND CURRANTS.—Cuttings of these fruits will strike well at this season if planted in a warm boarder and kept slightly shaded for a few days. Plant the cuttings in rows 18 inches apart, between the rows and the cuttings in the rows 6 inches apart. All that take root should be suffered to remain in the bed until the following autumn, when they may be planted out where they are to stand permanently.

PRUNING FRUIT TREES.—Fruit trees may be pruned either this month or early in February. Whichever season may be chosen see that the branches are cut smoothly off and close to the limb. Where large limbs are taken off cover the wound with a mixture composed of equal parts of beeswax, rosin and tallow, over which bind some stiff brown paper.

STRAWBERRY BEDS.—Clean off these as early as possible, if the work has not already been done. Spread well rotted manure between the rows and fork it lightly in. Finish off by covering the beds with wood' mould and decayed leaves.

☞ Remember—if ever you knew it—that manure, even if long, is an excellent thing to keep knolls moist, if spread on the surface. In this way grass can be successfully grown on any uplands.

TRENCHING.—If the soil of the garden is stiff, haul over it a liberal quantity of sand, spread it broadcast. Trench the soil deeply and leave the ground roughly cast up throughout the winter.

The subscriber thankful for past favors, respectfully informs his friends and the public, that he has now on hand a large supply of the latest and best improved
COOK and PARLOR STOVES, HEATERS and RANGES.
In the Stove Department we desire to call particular attention to the following, comprising as they do, the very best Cook and Parlor Stoves now in use:
NIMROD,
QUAKER CITY,
EXCELSIOR, PENN,
NOBLE COOK,
NIAGARA,
SUSQUEHANNA and IRONSIDES.
To speak at length of the different Stoves would occupy too much space, but we deem it necessary to call the attention of the public to the EMPIRE GAS BURNER.
This truly wonderful Parlor and Office Stove is so constructed that the cheapest quality of coal (Limeburner's), can be used with success.—It burns continuously and the fire is easily kindled. It is capable of heating one room below and two rooms above. There is no dust and no escape of gas, and an actual saving of coal, which in two or three seasons will pay for the Stove.
The Empire has many valuable qualities which can only be fully appreciated by seeing it in operation. We claim that it is far superior to any other Stove now in use, and we feel satisfied that we can convince all who will favor us with an examination of the Stove at our shop of this part.
We have on hand a full assortment of

268. HOOP SKIRTS. 628.
WILLIAM T. HOPKINS.
"OUR OWN MAKE."
After more than five years experience and experimenting in the manufacture of STRICTLY FIRST QUALITY HOOP SKIRTS, we offer our justly celebrated goods to merchants and the public in confidence of their superiority over all others in the American market, and they are so acknowledged by all who wear or deal in them, as they give more satisfaction than any other skirt, and recommend themselves in every respect. Dealers in Hoop Skirts should make a note of this fact. EVERY LADY WHO HAS NOT GIVEN THEM A TRIAL SHOULD DO SO WITHOUT FURTHER DELAY.
Our assortment embraces every style, length and size for Ladies, Misses and Children. Also, Skirts MADE TO ORDER, altered and repaired.
Ask for "Hopkins' Own Make," and be not deceived. See that the letter "H" is woven on the tapes between each hoop, and that they are stamped "W. T. HOPKINS, MANUFACTURER, 628 ARCH STREET, PHILADELPHIA," upon each tape. No others are genuine.
Also, constantly on hand a full line of good New York and Eastern made Skirts, at very low prices.
