ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

R. A. C.—We have never tested the matter, nor do we think it would be worth while. At least, we shall not undertake it now.

JUSTICE.—The new Fee bill for justices and constables passed at the last session of the Legislature, and is the law of the whole State, applying alike to each county.

KATE.—You should try it again. Remember the anecdote of Robert Bruce, and keep up your courage. A faint heart never yet accomplished anything.

LEONARD.—If you really are as anxious as you seem to be, you had better attend to the matter yourself, and not trust it in the hands of anybody else. A single misstep may prove fatal to your project.

NED.—J. S. Clarke, the comedian, and brother-in-law of J. Wilkes Booth, is the funniest man alive, and keeps an audience in a continual roar of laughter. It is not probable that he is in any way connected with the Booth-Lincoln tragedy, and his recent arrest may be only precautionary.

S. T. L.—Yours is certainly an embarrassing case. If the young lady still refuses to see you or to receive any message you may send her, we are at a loss to know what advice to give you. She is evidently very deeply offended, yet if she loves you as devotedly and unselfishly as you seem to think she she does, you need not despair of a reconciliation. When she learns how sincerely sorry you are for your conduct, and what anguish your banishment from her presence causes you, she will relent and restore you to favor, provided you make a suitable acknowledgment of your error. How to make her aware of this you will best know. Hereafter be careful never to commit such an indiscretion again.

THINGS ABOUT TOWN AND COUNTY.

CHANGED.—Mr. Geo. Garman has been appointed agent for Adam's Express Company. The office will hereafter be at Garman's Hotel.

ACQUITTED.—The trial of Wm. Gains, for the murder of his brother Robert, resulted in his acquittal. We shall give a full history of the case next week.

GOING BACK.—A squad of soldiers in charge of a lot of horses and army wagons on their way to Harrisburg to be discharged, encamped in town on Wednesday night last.

GETTING READY.—The juveniles about town are getting exceedingly industrious and saving since the bill posters for the circus were around. The 15th will be a big day for them.

BROKE JAIL.—A prisoner by the name of Charles, confined in the jail at this place for passing counterfeit money, broke jail one day this week and made his escape. He has not been re-arrested at this writing. Another argument in favor of a new jail.

GOOD.—The bricklayers will commence work on Brokerhoof's Row on Monday next. This has been an eyesore to the citizens of our town for the last two years, and the removal of the vast brick piles that have barricaded the streets about it will be something that will cause every one to rejoice

BONNETS.—The spring fashion has discarded the sky-scraping bonnets, and has brought in vogue the half-handkerchief bonnet, which a newspaper Mantalina in New York reports as being "a dainty little fraction placed on the top of the head, and barely affording the requisite facilities for sustaining even the moiety of falling lace and clustering decorations which so delicate an atom requires."

A COUPLE of free female Americans, of African descent, indulged in a little 'set-to,' the other day, on the hill back of the Cummings House. The imprecations were fierce, the blows heavy, and the finale somewhat injurious.

"The dogs did bark—the children screamed,
Up flew the windows all.

We would recommend some of our humane abolition brethern to give that neighborhood a call.

ADJUTANT MUFFLY.—Our sanctum was illuminated on Tuesday last by the presence of Adjutant Sydney T. Muffly, of the 134th reg't., who has been for so long a prisoner in Dixie. "Syd." looks well, and is in first-rate spirits. We were glad to see him once more, as we had begun seriously to fear that he had gone 'the way of all flesh.' He left for Annapolis, on Wednesday, to report, and hopes soon to be discharged from the service, in which he has always been an honorable officer.

ERBS LUNCH.—Mr. Stone, at the Logan Saloon, under Hoffer's store, has introduced a new feature in the entertainments of that establishment. He now sets out a free lunch every morning, which is a most convenient arrangement for those who get hungry between breakfast and dinner. The lunch consists of bread and butter, dried beef, cheese, pickles, &c., which, washed down by a glass of good lager, are not hard to take. The lunch is free, and is set out every morning from nine to eleven o'clock. Stone knows how to keep saloon, and in this respect he is ahead of all his cotemporaries. Give him a call and partake of his good things.

Two of our neighbors picked up a poor, little, yellow, starved "purp." They nursed and fed him to fatness. They doated on the grateful wag of his narrative. They were enraptured at the music of his voice. They slept soundly on their downy beds, conscious that no robbers could molest or make them afraid while that lynx-eyed canine kept watch and ward.

The scene changes. 'Tis noon. The foundling "dorg," the "purp" of misfortune, gnaweth a bone. Apprentice blacksmith approaches, takes a deliberate and cold blooded sight at the defenseless animal, fires his ax, and all that remains of that dog is his inanimate corpse. The tail shall wag no more. Requiae dog in peace.

—Pleasant weather has come at last and for the past few days, old Sol has made his appearance, developing the green of the herbage rapidly. Trees have budded and are putting forth their green leaves, thus giving all nature a charming appearance.

—Mansfield's Dispensatory says that most of the Sarsaparilla of the shops is inert and worthless. Dr. Ayer in his writings on this drug states that not only is it inert as found in the shops, but so also are most of the preparations from it or bearing its name. He shows, however, that this fact arises from the use of worthless varieties, or unskillful preparations by incompetent men; that the true Medical Sarsaparilla (Sarza smilax off,) of the tropics, when freshly gathered in the bud, is one of the most effectual alteratives we possess. Combined with other substantive power, like Iodine, Stillingia, Dock, &c., it makes Ayer's Comp. Ext of Sarp., which we have reason to believe is one of the most effectual remedies for humors, skin diseases and for purifying the blood which has ever yet been found by anybody.—Bangor (Me.) Mercury.

MR. M'ALLISTER'S SPEECH.—In another part of to-days paper will be found the remarks of Mr. McAllister, on the death of Hon. James T Hale, together with the request of the "members of the bar" and "officers of the court" for its publication, and the reply. In justice to Mr. M. we cheerfully give it a place in our paper, notwithstanding the ungentlemanly insinuations contained in his letter. It is a matter of regret that Judge Hale's death should in any manner form a pretext for party bickerings, or political strife, and we are sorry that the gentleman chosen to pronounce the eulogy, should pursue such a course as may cause matters to be referred too, that will be anything but pleasant to those interested.

Whether the speech furnished us for publication is a literal rendition of the one delivered in the Court House, on the occasion referred to, we cannot say. The comments on it at the time, in the WATCHMAN, as the mark attached indicates, were written by another than the editor—a gentleman whom we have every reason to believe would not wilfully misrepresent the remarks of any one. But we do know that over half of the gentlemen whose names are signed to the request to have the speech published, did say at the time that that speech was both "out of place" and "disgraceful."

If it was the time and place to bring up the political record of the deceased; if it was the time and place to denounce those who could not endorse his political course; if it was the time and place for Mr. McAlister to eulogize a few renagade democrats, because they saw proper to leave the party and vote with abolitionism, to overturn the Constitution of our country, and the time and place for him to make assertions, which he knows cannot be sustained, so far as the Democratic members of Congress from this State are concerned—then we will admit that the comments of our correspondent were unkind, and did "misapprehend" his remarks. But we give his speech in full, corrected and revised, and our readers can judge whether, on an occasion of the kind, it was not both "out of place" and "disgraceful."

GENERAL BRISBIN.—We had the pleasure of a call from Brigadier General James S. Brisbin the other day, who has recently arrived in this place from Kentucky on his way to Washington, on business connected with his department. Gen. Brisbin is su superintendent of the organization of colored troops in Kentucky, and in a recent report he shows that his labors have resulted in the enlistment of twenty one thousand colored troops in that State, while eleven new regiments are being organized. This will make a quota of over thirty thousand colored troops for Kentucky, and Gen. Brisbin hoped to have it filled within sixty days after the date of his report.

The Cincinnati Commercial states that Gen. Brisbin has recently addressed a letter to Governor Bramlette, of Kentucky, urging upon him the importance of calling the Legislature together to pass the "Constitutional amendment."

"The Gen. says the slaves are nominally free and the masters can no longer depend upon their labor, and points out the evils that must arise from the present half slave and half free condition of the State.

He claims that the passage of the amendment would quiet the minds of the negroes, and cause them to remain at home and till the soil now so much in need of their labor. More than twenty thousand of the most valuable slaves have already gone into the army; so that Kentucky must choose either to have her slave population abscond and feed by the army, or to save her labor to the soil by granting unconditional freedom to the slaves at home.

The Governor replies, concurring in the opinion that slavery can no longer be retained in Kentucky, that labor must be reorganized on a free basis."

While we are glad to see Gen. Brisbin on the high road to prosperity, and believe that he has honorably won his way to his present position, we suggest that State executives should best know their own policy, and should not be influenced by military dictation. We give Gen. Brisbin credit for conscientious motives, but knowing that a letter which he once wrote to Governor Letcher was productive of no good, we would caution him, in a friendly way, against to much indulgence in his epistolary proclivities.

We do not now, nor have we ever approved of the enlistment of negro troops into the army, but, nevertheless, the position of superintendent of the enlistment of colored troops, is an important one, and requires a good deal of tact and energy. Gen. Brisbin appears to give satisfaction to the government in this respect, and as it has to be done, we do not know of any one who would do it more effectively or impartially than Gen. Brisbin.

The general left here on Tuesday for Washington, but will return again on his way to Kentucky. Personally, Gen. Brisbin is a gentleman, and has many friends in this county.
