LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

A thunder shower early Wednesday morning, was unusual for February.

Mrs. L. L. Smith has suffered for the past week with a severe case of tonsilitis.

John M. Coldron suffered a severe attack of acute indigestion last Thursday night.

Rev. J. F. Bingman is continuing his revival meetings this week, with good success.

A son was born to Rev. and Mrs. Fred. W. Barry, at Baltimore, Md., one day last week.

Rev. R. P. Miller, of Philipsburg, will occupy the Presbyterian pulpit in Centre Hall on Sunday afternoon.

D. W. Bradford, the I. H. C. dealer, unloaded a carload of tractors at the Centre Hall station, last week.

A regular meeting of the W. C. T. U. will be held at the home of Mrs. John C. Rossman, Saturday evening.

Harvey Vonada, of Georges Valley visited his granddaughter, Mrs. Archie Moyer, and other relatives in Centre Hall, last Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. G. O. Benner entertained Haines A. Reichel, of Harrisburg, State Secretary of the Christian Endeavor, and also Miss Miriam Beck, of Nittany, on Monday.

The High school students realized gross receips of $72.00 from their Orange Tree Social in the Grange hall on Saturday evening. Considering the bad weather, the proceeds were fine.

The condition of Miss Mary Dutrow, who has been seriously ill with scarlet fever, has improved during the past week to such an extent that her complete recovery is anticipated.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Glenn, newlyweds, spent Saturday with the latter's brother, F. V. Goodhart, in Centre Hall. They failed to escape the attention of the calithumpians who during the evening delivered an old-fashioned serenade.

John D. Moore, of near Centre Hall, has a cow whose record for calves is five in the past three years. Two years ago she gave birth to twin calves, and last week she repeated with a pair of healthy twins, and between the twin births a lone calf was born.

The "Helping Hand" Class of the Lutheran Sunday-school met at the home of Mrs. C. S. Brungart, on Tuesday evening. Sixteen of the class of twenty-one responded to the roll call and a very interesting meeting was held. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

Just to what extent the price of milch cows has tumbled may be gathered from the statement that a carload shipped by C. D. Mitterling, on Saturday, averaged $68.00 a head, as against $105.00 a head on a load shipped but a few months ago. The last load, too, was by far the best grade of cows shipped in the past year.

Through the combined effort of a half dozen ladies interested in the Bellefonte hospital, the sum of nearly $50.00 was contributed for the purchase of linens of various character for use in the Centre Hall room in the hospital. The linen will be made up by the ladies and others who may become interested. Previously money was contributed for repainting of the room and an electric reading lamp was also donated quite recently.

On Monday evening the local Odd Fellows held an interesting meeting when the degree team from Bellefonte was in attendance to confer the third degree, which they did in a masterful manner. The visitors had their own band with them and consequently there was much enjoyment derived from this feature. Splendid refreshments followed the business session. Visiting members present included fifty-five from Centre Lodge, Bellefonte, and others from Lemont, Lick Run, Spring Mills, Unity Run, Fort Augusta, Neversink, and Monroe (Wis.) lodges.

Will America Fail ?

In a recent interview, Colonel Haskell, who has been in charge of the Near East Relief work in Transcaucasia, declared that without America there would be no Armenian problem. Armenia territory would remain, but Armenian people would have ceased to exist. The lives literally, of the whole Nation have been saved by America.

As the greater part of Armenia is at a very high altitude, it is consequently bitterly cold in winter, and there are thousands of little ones facing death from the rigors of a mountainous winter. Kars is 5,260 feet and there are 6,000 little children there under American care. Alexandropol, where 10,000 orphans are housed in barracks by the Near East Relief, is 4,620 feet. At Erivan, the Near East is clothing and housing 7,768 children and feeding 25,872 others who are clothed and fed as best they can be by their families. There are no window panes left in Armenia. In the Near East Orphanage they use oil paper to keep out the cold.

These orphan boys and girls constitute the hope of the future for the Near East. They are the coming generation and will have to create a peaceful and prosperous Armenia if the land that is theirs is to be regenerated at all. The future depends, therefore, upon the aid we give them now.

Centre County must care for 146 of these orphan boys and girls. This is the week to give your dollars.

HISTORIC SPOT IN PENNS VALLEY TO HAVE MARKER.

tle or nothing of this old place of defence; and after consultation with many residents of lower Penns Valley, I find that they know little or nothing of this historic spot. Just almost directly south of the ancient burial place, Wolf's Chapel, about one-half mile, was the sight of the famous Lower Fort. The site is off the main highway, about three miles south-east of Aaronsburg. Here the men of the lower valley, headed by such mighty men of valor as the first two Stovers, Adam and Jacob, Adam Harper, David Weber, and others, this fort was erected as a shelter for those who had braved the assaults of the red men during the period of the Revolution and later. By personal observation we are convinced that the exact location of this old Fort was just north-east of the farm house, now owned and occupied by Mr. Hasten Long. Tradition has it, as Judge Linn remarks in his history of Centre and Clinton counties; that there was quite a battle with the Indians of this Fort and quite a row of graves marked the last resting place of those who had fought and fell. Several years ago Mr. Long showed the writer bones—which appeared without question to be human—that were taken from the excavation which he had made for the pit to his garage at the base of the hill.

On this sloping greensward warmed by the sunshine, fanned by the breezes, while the speeding aeroplanes wing their fight above, are the resting places of those who gave their lives that this valley might be made safe for homes of settlers who should do and dare. Unmarked they lie; the beautiful spring from which those sturdy men drank, unmarked; the rise of ground where the Fort stood, unmarked. In fact, Mr. Long's garden occupies the spot, or at least a part of it. Mr. Long is a direct descendent of those men, the Stovers, who had such a part in the history of this early settlement. And at the village of Fiedler, two miles north-east of the Fort site, lives old father Benjamin Stover, 87 years old; staight as a mighty pine, sturdy as the rugged oak, who still smokes his pipe and can draw the trigger of his trusty rifle as of old—a direct ancestor of the first Stovers.

This appeal is made to the D. A. R. Why cannot something be done to have this famous spot marked? Our boys and girls should know this spot, just as much as the Upper Fort near Centre Hall. It sheltered just as many settlers. Just north of this place, on the top of the hill, east of the farm owned by Mr. Seymour Winkleblock, was the famous "sugar grove" where the kettles were overturned, and escape made to the Lower Fort when an attack of the Indians was made, just prior to the "Great Runaway" in 1778.

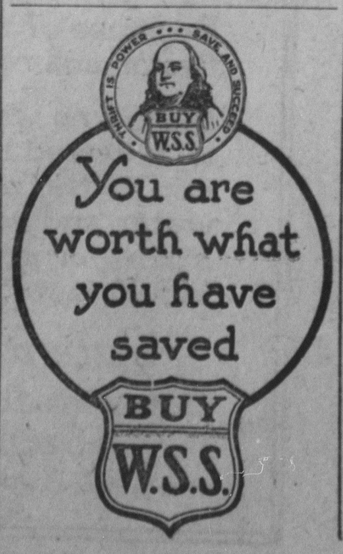
A small marker should be place at Wolf's Chapel Cemetery—one of the very oldest in Centre county. This marker should state that "just one-half mile south of this place stood the Lower Fort of Penns Valley." This old cemetery is historic in itself. It contains the remains of those famous men who made the valley safe—the Stovers, Weavers, and others. Those graves have not been marked by the D. A. R., but in justice to the organization, I will say that they have asked that those graves should be noticed, and the Society notified that suitable flag markers could be provided. Let us not forget these brave men! Let us not forget the old Fort site! If these lines should come before the eyes of Col. Shoemaker, the one who more than any other has labored to preserve central Pennsylvania history, I cannot but feel that he would do all possible to assist in this very worthy object. Let this work be done. Let us awaken to the privilege that is ours.

JOHN J. WEAVER,
Everett, Pa.

COL. SHOEMAKER'S RESPONSE.

Colonel Henry W. Shoemaker has advised interested parties that he will provide and have properly inscribed a suitable marker to be placed in Wolf's Chapel cemetery, designating the spot provided the citizens will do the hauling. He further suggests that it will be dedicated on the Fourth of July, coming.

This very generous offer on the part of Colonel Shoemaker has been turned over to the Daughters of the American Revolution, who have consented to accept it.



TUSSEYVILLE.

Mr. and Mrs. Neese, from Michigan, are visiting at the home of William Grossman, who has been on the sick list for some time.

Charles Miller, of Colyer, who had been sick for several weeks, we are glad to say, is able to be around again.

Mrs. Arthur Slutterbeck and daughter Mary, Mrs. E. T. Jordan and Mrs. Chas. Sluttetbeck spent Tuesday quilting at the home of Samuel Klinefelter.

Mrs. George Meiss, of Colyer, spent over Sunday at Altoona where she is receiving electric treatment, with beneficial results.

An accident occurred on Sunday evening when William Jordan and his wife, while on their way to church in their Ford car, struck the buggy driven by Harry Crumbling and broke the hind wheel. No one was hurt, only the fender of the car was bent, but the little old Ford rambled right along.
