THE CORNER.

A DOWN EAST JURYMAN.

["Ethan Spike" contributes to the Portland Transcript a sketch of his experience as a juryman The first cases he was called to try were capital once—the criminals being a German and a "nigger" respectively.]

"Hev you formed any opinion for or agin the prisoners?" said the judge.

"Not perticular agin the Jarmin," says I, "but I hate niggers as a general principle, and shall go for hanging this here old white-wooled cuss, whether he killed Mr. Cooper or not," says I.

'Do you know the nature of an oath?' clerk axed me.

'I orter,' says I. 'I've used enough of 'em. I begun to swear when I was only about—'

'Tha'll do,' says the clark. 'You kin go hum,' says he, 'you won't be wanted in this ere case,' says the clark, says he.

'What?' says I, 'aint I to try this nigger at all?'

'No,' says the clark.

'But I'm a juryman,' says I, 'and you can't hang the niggers onless I'v sot on him,' says I.

'Pass on,' says the clark, speaking rather cross.

'But,' says I, 'you, mister, you don't mean as you say; I'm a regular juryman, you know. Drawed aout of the box by the seelick man,' says I. 'I've ollers had a hankering to hang a nigger, and now, when a merciful dispensatory seems to have provided one for me, you say I shan't sit on him! Ar this your free institutions? Is this the nineteenth century? And is this our boasted'—Here somebody hollered 'Silence in Court.'

'The Conrt be—!' I did'nt finish the remark, for a couple of constaples had holt of me, and in the twinkling of a bedpost I was hustled down stairs into the street.

'Now, Mr. Editor, let me ask, what are we coming to, when jewrymen—legal, lawful jewrymen, kin be tossed about in this way? Talk about Cancers, Mormons, Spiritualism, free love and panics—what are they in comparison? Here's a principal upsot. As an individual, perhaps, I'm of no great account; t'an't fur me to say; but when as an enlightened jewryman, I was tuk and carried down stairs by profane hands, just for assertin my right to sit on a nigger—why it seem to me the pillows of society were shook; that in my sacred person the hull State itself was, figgeratively speakin, kicked down stairs! If thar's law in the land I'll have this case brought under a writ of habeas corpus icksney Dicksit.

A HAYFIELD ANECDOTE.—An old gentleman who was always bragging how folks used to work in his younger days, one day challenged his two sons to pitch on a load of hay as fast as he could load it.

The challenge was accepted and the hay wagon driven round and the trial commenced. For some time the old man held his own creditably, calling out—

"More hay! more hay!"

Thicker and faster it came. The old man was nearly covered; still he kept crying—

"More hay! more hay!"

At length, struggling to keep on the top of the disordered and ill arranged heap, it began first to roll, then to slide, and at last off it went from the wagon, and the old man with it.

"What are you down here for?" cried the boys.

"I came down after hay," answered the old man, stoutly.

THE AWFUL BENEDICTION.

The Saviour demanded his disciples to return good for evil, assuring them that by such a course they would heap coals of fire on the heads of their enemies.—The following historical incident may be considered an illustration of that policy:

General Steenbock commanded the Swedish army, which in 1713 reduced the city of Altona to ashes. In order to avert this calamity from the city, a deputation was sent to the General, at the head of which was seen the Lutheran minister, John Casse, who on appearing before Steenbock, went down on his knees, and for the sake of Jesus' wounds sued for mercy in behalf of the city. Spurning the clergyman away, he exclaimed: "For the sake of the wounds of Jesus, the Russians gave no quarter to a single Swede!" Sasse, however, determined not to be repulsed, endeavored, at the last interview to prevail upon the enraged General to adopt more pacific principles But all his prayers and intercessions proved unavailing. Steenbock pleading that he was acting under orders from his superiors, Sasse said, in a firm tone of voice:—

"If that be the case, if you must apply the torch to the ill-fated city, according to the command of your superiors, while yourself are innocent of the dreadful deed, take hence with you, upon your conscience, blessing of that Lord, who will one day be the judge of us all!" and with that, he blessed the General in that awful hour, with that well known benediction: "The Lord bless thee and keep thee." &c.

Steenbock trembled and quivered under this benediction: yet, notwithstanding, he executed his horrible design. But from that very hour, like General Tilly, (who during the thirty years' war had laid waste the city of Magdeburg, with inhuman cruelty,) nothing but misfortunes befell him, and the close of the Swedish war in Germany saw their General ground his arms, and surrender himself with his whole army prisoners of war to Danes, near Tonningen. Some time after, Steenbock himself died in prison. On his dying couch, he said to the clergyman who administered the sacrament to him: "No curse of all those with whom I have waged war, rests with such weight upon my soul as the benediction of that minister; it will continue to torture me, even in my dying moments, for it proved to me the source of dreadful consequences."

The most dreadfully savage contrivance upon the Western gunboats, now ready for operations on the Mississippi, is that to prevent boarding. Each boat is supplied with a number of large hose pipes for throwing hot water from the boilers, with a force of two hundred pounds pressure to the square inch. Any human being who will encounter this terrible stream of hot water will be boiled in an instant.

☞ The federal troops opposite Harper's Ferry, after being annoyed for a long time by firing from concealed enemies, and by the violation of a flag of truce, have shelled and burned the lower part of the town.
