Popular Astronomy.

HOW THE STUDY OF IT IS SPREADING.

An Eleven-year-old Lititz Boy on the Subject.

From the following our readers may get an idea of how the study of popular astronomy is spreading through the county under the influence of the "Star club" in this city. At a late meeting of the Lititz lyceum Robbie Tshudy, a lad eleven years of age, told the audience what he has learned about astronomy during this term. Robbie is a son of the late R. R. Tshudy, a bright little fellow, and a "chip of the old block." Below is an abstract of his talk:

We have no text-book on astronomy in our school; it is taught by lectures; and while the teacher talks we note down important points. Every lecture is illustrated by drawings on the blackboard which aid us very much in understanding the subject. I propose to-night to read you a few of my notes, and although they are somewhat disconnected they will give you an idea of what we are thinking about:

In our first general talk on astronomy we were told what notions the ancients had about the stars—we took no notes this time, but when the talk came down to the present day we commenced to write. Our first note reads: "The stars which you see form the universe. There are many universes in space." This was the biggest thought that had ever entered our minds. As the thought came in, my head began to swell, and the scalp has felt tight ever since.

Note 2. "Our Sun is a star and the reason why it is so much larger and brighter than the rest is because it is nearest to us. Many of the stars we see are much larger and brighter than our Sun."

Note 3. "The stars shine because they are white-hot. They are great balls of hot metals, burning more fiercely than anything we can imagine."

Our second lesson was about the moon. The first note reads: "The Moon is a planet of the Earth, as the Earth is a planet of the Sun."

The blackboard illustration showed us the path of the Moon around the Earth as well as the cause of its changes.

Note 2. "The Moon is a dead planet, having days two weeks long and far hotter than our equator, while the nights are colder than our north pole and are also two weeks long."

Note 3. "The deep rocky valleys in the most dreary places imaginable, being miles in depth.

Note 4. "The Earth is fifty times as large as the Moon, which was no doubt at one time a star; but its heart being gone it is now dead; its volcanoes are gone out; its oceans dried up and it is in the condition which the Earth will attain 20,000,000 of years hence."

Note 5. "The Moon has no wind, no air, no twilights, no sound; everywhere it is a silent, lifeless desert. We never see but one side of it."

Our third lesson was about the Sun:

Note 1. "The sun lights and warms the planets and keeps them in their places by its weight. It is 91,000,000 miles away. A train of cars running at the rate of 30 miles an hour would reach the Sun in 338 years. A train running around the Earth at the same rate would accomplish the journey in about a month."

Note 2. "The Sun weighs 300,000 times as much as our Earth. Astronomers can weigh and measure the stars." (Another big thought.)

Note 3. "The Sun does the heavy work of the world. It is the source of all life and every product which sustains life."

Note 4. "It is not known where all the fuel comes from which keeps the sun burning, but it is probable that at some time the supply will be exhausted, and the Sun with the planets which surround it will be welded together and roll through space a cold, black ball, as dark as the moon now is."

Our next lesson was about comets and meteors, but as I did not take notes that day, I can not give you particulars. I know, however, that comets are masses of gas, not solid bodies. Meteors are composed of particles of matter floating in space. The earth crosses their path at the rate of 1,100 miles a minute. The matter of the meteors is coming at the rate of 30 miles a second. When it comes into our air the united force and motion of the earth and this matter causes it to burn, and hence we see it as we would see any other fire.

Meteoric showers occur mostly in November. They come (the most brilliant ones) every 33 years. Sometimes these meteoric masses reach the earth before they are entirely consumed, then we have meteoric showers.

Our next lesson was upon the late eclipse; it was the most interesting one we have ever had, although I took no notes. I was so eager to hear every word that I did not stop to write points. The blackboard illustrations showed us how the shadow of the Moon falls upon the earth during the time it is between the Sun and the earth, and we were told what the astronomers busy themselves about during the eclipse, as this is their best opportunity to observe either the Sun or the Moon. One thing in particular I remember—that an astronomer during the eclipse of 1878 said he had found the lost planet Vulcan which the European astronomers have been looking for so long. Of course those wiseacres across the water said he was an impudent fellow, but investigations during the last eclipse proved that he was correct and "Johnny Bull" and the "Kaisers" stopped laughing at "Young America." I have no time to tell you much more to-night; I will only say that the best way to hunt up the stars in the sky is to take some constellation as a starting point and from it find the rest. We start from the belt of Orion, run a straight line southeast to Sirius, the brightest star in the sky; it is 3000 times as large as our sun. Go back to the belt of Orion, run a line direct to the Pleiades, you will pass through Aldebaran and the Hyades. With a celestial map you can find the rest (or any star you want). If there is any one present who would like to have me point out these stars if they will stay outside with me I will show them.

The little fellow here led the way out into the street and pointed out the constellation of Orion and the stars which constitute it. Then drew a triangle to Procyon in the Little Dog, naming the stars. He next traced the line to Pleiades, pointed out Aldebaran and other stars, to the entire satisfaction of those who accompanied him.

Mrs. Partington Says

Don't take any of the quack rostrums, as they are regimental to the human eistern; but put your trust in Hop Bitters, which will cure general dilapidation, costive habits and all comic diseases. They saved Isaac from a severe extract of tripod fever. They are the ne plus uaum of medicines. f2-2wd

R. L. Mosely, of Montreal, Canada, certified Sept. 27, 1879, that he had suffered terribly from dyspepsia, and was completely cured by taking Warner's Safe Bitters. He says: "My appetite is good, and I now suffer no inconvenience from eating hearty meals." These Bitters are also a specific for all skin diseases. 12-2wd

STARTLING ASSERTIONS.

DR. GREENE is ready to cure all diseases by external applications of medicine. During 18 months practice in Reading, he has treated over 1,600 patients, many of them from other cities and towns in the United States, 70 of them from Lancaster; hundreds are cured, and no one has died under his charge, and only three persons have died during that time who have been treated by him, and they died away from Reading and under their physician's care. Over 1,150 deaths occurred in Reading during his sojourn there. Having taken up his residence in Lancaster, he will be in his offices all day.

Call and see him and he will give you a list of cases cured of all diseases of the body.

A. A. Mellon, of Reading, Nov. 13, 1879, says: Dr. Greene removed from my neck a tumor of the size of a hen's egg, in 15 days, without cutting or causing me any pain or the loss of a drop of blood. His certificate is endorsed by the autographs of Jesse G. Hawley, proprietor of the Eagle; T. C. Zimmerman, proprietor of The Times and Dispatch; G. W. Grant, postmaster; H. A. Tyson, mayor, and ex-Mayor Evans, all of Reading.
