confining the national government strictly within the limits of the Constitution.

3. That the peace, harmony and prosperity of the country, depend on the undisturbed enjoyment of the rights guaranteed to the States and territories, and that among those stand prominently and in bold relief, State rights, State sovereignty, and the freedom of the people to make their own laws, and govern and direct their own local institutions, in their own way.

4. That any intervention by the Federal government to alter, change, or direct the rights vested and reserved in the States, and the people thereof, is an act of usurpation, and of no power or force whatever. Nor have the people of one State the right to interfere in the domestic and social relations of another; because it is in violation of the federal compact, and fraught with imminent peril to the best interests of the whole country.

5. That the Constitution gives no power to the General Government upon the subject of negro slavery, but, on the contrary, commits all legislation on that subject to the States in which it does now, or may hereafter exist. Any direct interference with it by the people of the non-slaveholding States, or by their representatives, is a violation of the Constitution, and every attempt to invade the Constitution by indirect interference is a fraud upon it, which no honest and fair minded citizen should countenance.

6. That when a portion of our fellow citizens choose to settle upon territory of the United States, beyond the jurisdiction of any State, they have the same right that we enjoy, to regulate their domestic affairs, and establish their own institutions, and every refusal by Congress to concede this right, is a violation of the cardinal principles on which all republican governments exist.

7. That if the people of the whole Union, by their representatives in Congress assembled, have no legitimate power to force slavery or anti-slavery on the people of a territory, it follows by much stronger reason, that no such power can be rightfully exercised by any self-constituted body within the States, and composed of a part only of the people.

8. That every new State ought to be admitted into the Union with such a Constitution as a majority of the citizens thereof shall adopt, provided there is nothing therein conflicting with the constitution of the United States, and whether such State shall have adopted or rejected slavery is not a matter of inquiry by the general government.

The adoption of any measure which would defeat this is a direct encroachment on the popular sovereignty of such State.

9. That under these views, and which we believe to be correct, the bill erecting Nebraska and Kansas into Territories, leaving the question of slavery with the people, was not only constitutional, but expedient and proper, and that we do hereby endorse and approve the same.

10. That we are opposed to any change in our State Constitution, conferring upon Negroes the right of suffrage. We are not willing that this class of "Americans" shall rule this part of America—conceding to other States the right to gratify their own tastes in this particular, however much we may differ with them in opinion.

11. That the secret political oath-bound Order, commonly called "Know-Nothings"—proscribing men on the ground of their religious belief, and the place of their birth, is a flagrant violation of the Constitution, unkind, uncharitable and un-Christian, and justly deserves the scorn and contempt of every honest man in the land.

12. The Government of this Union was the result of religious persecution, and religious toleration is its life-blood. That the Constitutions of all the confederated States acknowledge this as a prevailing principle—and that class of men in our country, who would call into life a system of religious bigotry and intoleration, are not worthy to hold power, and the man who acknowledges the efficacy of an oath obligatory on him to tell a falsehood in place of the truth, cannot be regarded as a patriot, and this is the last of the qualifications for a statesman.

13. The doctrine that "Americans should rule America," is true in every letter, and such has ever been the case, but he who in secret swears to proscribe his fellow, and deprive him of his civil and religious rights, is no American; he is the slave of an imperial master; his conscience is his hypocrisy; he has no attribute of a freeman, and deserves not the name.

14. That the inordinate increase of Banking Capital at the late session, and the weak and inconsistent course of the present Executive in relation thereto, are calculated to awaken anxiety and alarm for the future, and prove the folly of confiding the powers of Government to hands incompetent to their exercise, and controlled by the speculating and greedy interests that prey upon the earnings of the people.

15. That the failure of the House of Representatives at the late Session to pass the joint resolution proposing amendments to the Constitution against State and Municipal indebtedness, was in contempt of the popular will, and the interest and security of the people. It will be the imperitive duty of the next Legislature, freed from the elements of confusion, rapacity and fanaticism which infested the last, to recommence the work of reform which, when consummated, will protect labor, property and morals by preventing the creation of public debts, and will restore and preserve the character, the credit and purity of our State Government, and of our City, County, and other Municipal organizations, by limiting them to the performance of their just and rightful functions.

16. That the act of last session, for the extirpation of licensed hotels, while allowing other establishments for the sale of spirituous liquors, was an unwise exercise of the Legislative power, being without the sanction of public opinion; imperfect in construction, and incapable of accomplishing its intended objects. Disputed in the principles on which it proceeds, impotent for good, and striking at property and persons without the justification of overruling necessity, general public sentiment or certain and thorough reform of existing evils. It should give place to enactments, prompted in a different spirit, sanctioned by public opinion and conform to the principles of republican government, and that the said law should be repealed.

17. That the Democratic party has heretofore signally exhibited its ability to hold in check the elements of discord in the Union; to conduct with success the administration of the general government, in peace and in war; and to secure and promote the interest and welfare of the whole people, while all other political organizations have totally failed in their great objects, or been temporary in existence and limited in usefulness—and that it deserves, therefore, the confidence, respect, and support of the people, and is essential to the probation of their rights, and to their advancement and prosperity.

18. That we approve and endorse the measures of Franklin Pierce, and believe that he has on all occasions adopted that line of policy conducive to the welfare and honor of the country, and particularly in the exercise of the veto power, he has but carried out the principles of the Constitution and reaffirmed the doctrines of Jefferson and Jackson.

19. That we admire the open, talented and manly course of Henry A. Wise, Governor elect of Virginia, in the recent campaign in that State, of the bold and fearless manner in which he exposed the intrigues and conspiracies of a class of men banded together, whose works were done in secret, and whose objects and designs were the attainment of political power in the overthrow of the Constitution, and the proscription of the best men in the Republic. The Keystone of this day, hallowed by the most patriotic associations, sends to the "Old Dominion" greetings and gives assurance of the redemption of Pennsylvania, and a general clearance of the Augean stables which has, though temporarily, impaired her honor and prosperity.

20. That we heartily recommend the nomination of Arnold Plumer, this day made for Canal Commissioner, and urge upon the Democracy of this State his triumphant election.

Mr. Hutter—Mr. President, I move that the resolutions reported by the gentleman from Allegheny county, (Mr. Black,) be adopted.

Mr. Wright—I move to amend by substituting the minority report.

The yeas and nays were ordered on the amendment, and being taken, resulted yeas 19, nays 66. So it was not adopted.

Mr. Wright—I now offer as an amendment the fourth resolution in the minority report which proposes any change in the constitution authorizing negroes to vote.

On this amendment to the amendment Mr. Wright called for the yeas and nays.

The yeas and nays were ordered, and being taken, resulted as follows: Yeas 61, nays 28.

So the amendment to the amendment was adopted.

Mr. Ludlow—I wish to offer an amendment to the first resolution in the majority report.

The resolution now reads—

Resolved, That the Democratic party need not, on old and settled issues, to declare its principles in detail. It is sufficient for us to say that we belong to the Democracy of the Union; and recognize no geographical lines between the North and South. The interests of all parts of the country are the same to us, and so far as in our power, we will maintain the Constitutional rights of every State, with uniform fidelity.

My amendment is to insert after the word "State" the words "and recognize in its widest extent the principle of popular sovereignty in the territories;" so that the sentence will read: "The interests of all parts of the country are the same to us, and so far as in our power, we will maintain the constitutional rights of every State, and recognize in its widest extent the principle of popular sovereignty in the territories."

On this amendment the yeas and nays were called for, and being ordered, resulted yeas 91, nays 5.

So the amendment was agreed to.

Mr. Chase called for the previous question, and the call was sustained.

On the question, shall the main question now be put, it was decided in the affirmative, ayes 52, nays 30.

The question recurred on the majority resolutions as amended, and being put, they were unanimously adopted.

Mr. M'Kinney—I have the following resolution to offer:

Resolved, That the temperance question is one of morality solely, and morality must be educated, not legislated into the mind. That the last Know-Nothing Legislature, in passing what is properly denominated the "jug law," did legislate upon a moral question, which deserves no place in our statute books, and we therefore call for its unconditional repeal.

Mr. Johnson moved to lay the resolution on the table.

Mr. Wright called for the yeas and nays on the motion, and they were ordered, and being taken resulted ayes 69, nays 35.

So the resolution was laid on the table.

Various other unimportant resolutions were proposed, but without action on them, the Convention adjourned sine die.

Perry County Warm Springs,

PENNSYLVANIA.

WILL be open for visitors from the 5th day of June. H. H. ETTER, Proprietor.

This most desirable watering place is situated on the banks of Sherman's Creek, which flows at the base of Pisgah Mountain, some five hundred feet above the level of the creek, in front of the dwellings. This stream affords pleasure to the guests, as there are boats upon it to pass up and down, also a beautiful Island in it, well shaded with large forest trees; the walks up and down the creek are delightful, while there is pleasure for those who desire to fish in the streams. The springs are numerous, and cannot be surpassed for bathing; there are bath houses separate for ladies and gentlemen, also large plunge pools for each, with an abundance of pure spring water.

There is an extensive view of rich and rare scenery of mountains and valleys, being the most picturesque in the State. Among the attractions of the Warm Springs there are numerous shady and romantic summer roads, making it very pleasant for drives. Horses and vehicles will be kept this season to hire.

Having taken pains in making a selection of first-rate servants, I feel confident, they will give general satisfaction to the guests. There shall be no pains spared in supplying my table with the luxuries of the markets.

All persons leaving Philadelphia or Baltimore, in the morning train to Duncannon, on the Central Railroad, fourteen miles north-west of Harrisburg, then taking a coach which is always in readiness, will arrive at the Springs about 4 o'clock, the fare being but $4,00 through to the Springs.

All communications intended for the Springs should be addressed Duncannon Post Office, for the Springs, and they will arrive daily after the fifth of June. Persons wishing to engage rooms, &c., will please address Landisburg Post Office. Persons in the cities wishing information can have it by calling on the references hereunto attached. A Band of Music has been engaged.

Second Annual Fair

OF THE

Big Spring Literary Institute,

For the promotion and encouragement of Agricultural, Horticultural and the Mechanical and Useful Arts, will be opened at

NEWVILLE, TUESDAY, AUG. 7, 1855,

In "Literary Hall."

TO this Exhibition, Farmers, Manufacturers, Mechanics, Artists, Inventors and all others desiring to display the results of their labor, skill, ingenuity and taste, are cordially invited to contribute. The success of their first exhibition warrants the expectation that the second will not be inferior to any ever held in this, or any of the adjoining counties. The Managers, therefore, feel, that in inviting contributions from this and the adjoining counties to their second annual exhibition, they are offering to the producer of excellent articles a valuable opportunity of making known to the country their novelty and utility, the superior style of their workmanship, and their adaptation to the purposes for which they may be intended. Materials, Machinery and Manufactures, which have elicited commendation at similar displays elsewhere, may here find new admirers and a new market. The Managers would respectfully solicit the Ladies to contribute specimens of elegant handiwork, which heretofore have formed so attractive and important a feature of these displays.

The Board of Managers will make every effort to display whatever goods may be received to the very best advantage. Competent judges will be selected to examine them, and premiums awarded to articles of superior merit in the several classes.

The Hall will be opened for the reception of goods on Thursday, August 2d; and on Tuesday, August 7th; the Exhibition will be opened to visitors and continue open five days.

No article deposited after Monday evening, August 6th, can be entered upon the judges' list for competition or premium, except such as the managers shall be satisfied were despatched from a distance in time but from unavoidable detention failed to reach the Hall by the day specified.

REMOVED.

MRS. R. A. REYNOLDS, has removed her Daguerreotype establishment, from the South-east to the South-west corner of Hanover and Louther streets, immediately over Mr. Fetter's Cabinet Ware-room, where she will be happy to see all who want good DAGUERREOTYPES of themselves and friends; satisfied that she can furnish them with likenesses, which for truthfulness and beauty, cannot be excelled, not even by those of the "unrivalled Davis." Having been engaged while in Philadelphia, in one of the best Daguerrean Saloons in Chestnut street, adding to her own former skill and experience in the art some valuable instructions, the result of several years experience of one of the very best artists of the day.

☞ Prices to suit all. Those who would be economical, as will as those who desire to invest more largely.

Washington Hotel.

West High St., Corner of the Public Square,

Carlisle, Pa.

THE subscriber respectfully informs his numerous friends and the travelling community, that he has leased that well known tavern stand formerly occupied by H. L. Burkholder, and recently by C. G. Stough, and is now fully prepared to accommodate all who may favor him with a call. The House has been fitted up in a neat and comfortable manner, and every thing will be done on my part to make all feel at home who may be pleased to stop with me. The Table will be supplied with the best that the market can afford, and served up in a way that cannot fail to please. The Bar will always be supplied with choice Liquors. A careful and obliging Ostler will always be in attendance.

CEMENT.

THE superior Cement, manufactured by J. Garver & Co., of Scotland, Franklin county, can be had in large or small quantities at H. Saxton's Hardware store, Main Street, Carlisle. All who have tried this Cement pronounce it the best article they ever used. From a great number of certificates given to the manufacturers, we select the following:

Chambersburg, Feb. 26, 1855.

To Jacob Garver:—Sir—There has been used during the past year, under my direction, in the construction of "The Carlisle Water Works," and work of this Company, about 80 barrels of your Hydraulic Cement, which has proved to be a good and reliable article, and I take pleasure in recommending it to others as such.
