NOTICE—TO THE WARD BOUNTY COMMITTEES, CITIZENS' BOUNTY FUND COMMITTEE, January 18, 1864.
At a meeting of the Committee, held this day, the following preamble and resolution were agreed to:
Whereas, There is a balance in the hands of the Citizens' Bounty Fund, estimated to amount to fifteen thousand dollars, after the payment of all outstanding liabilities; and,
Whereas, The Committee are desirous of assisting the different Wards of the city to secure volunteers for the army of the United States, so as to avoid the draft; therefore,
Resolved, That the sum of fifteen thousand dollars is hereby appropriated to the different Wards, and that the disbursing agency is hereby authorized to tender and pay to the proper persons in each Ward the proportion of said sum pro rata upon the quota of each Ward, under the last call of the President of the United States for three hundred thousand men; and in the event of any Ward not requiring its proportion, or any part thereof, that the disbursing agency be authorized to increase ratably the proportion to other Wards.
A true copy from the minutes.
LORIN BLODGET, Secretary.
The undersigned having been appointed to disburse the above specified sum, the treasurers of the different Wards will be required to furnish to me evidence of their inability to collect the money, and a certified statement from the Provost Marshal of the district in which the Ward is situated, of the number of men required from the Ward he represents, on or before the first day of February next, and immediately after which time the disbursing agency will fix the proportion of the several Wards making application.

A NOVEL.
BY MRS. MARY A. HOWE.
One vol., 12mo, $1.25.
[From the Knickerbocker Monthly.]
We have perused the proof-sheets of a very well written and attractive novel entitled "The Rival Volunteers, or The Black-Plume Rifles," a story of the present war, by Mrs. Mary A. Howe, shortly to be published in New York. It is artistically constructed and full of dramatic power, and both in style and incident, a work of uncommon merit and one calculated to achieve more than ordinary popularity.
