SATURDAY MORNING, AUGUST 13, 1853.

LOVE SICK POTATOES.—Dr. Malfatti, of Austria, thinks he has found out at last the malady which has caused this esculent to be so diseased and unprolific. It is nothing but love sickness—pining after that beautiful intercourse which is the source of joy and life to potatoes as well as men. Listen! The doctor has presented this fanciful theory, and the remedy, to the savans of Vienna. It appears from the proceedings of the Royal Agricultural Society, that this gentleman has planted pieces of potato in juxtaposition with roots of other non-allied plants, such as the Helianthus tuberosus, Cyclamen, and also Cardiveum Esculentum, which is not even tuberous.—He asserts that the potatoes grew vigorously, appearing to derive health from the adjoining plant, and absorbing their very flavor, while the tubers produced were entirely healthy, though the stock planted was defective. In one instance, he states that the potato was restored at the expense of the nurse plant, which became diseased

BROOM-CORN AND WEEPING WILLOWS.—In the Mohawk Valley, says the Scientific American, vast quantities of this crop are annually grown. Pennsylvania, Ohio and Connecticut are the next largest producers of it. Its origin as a cultivated plant in this country, is attributed to Doctor Franklin. It is a native of India. Franklin saw an imported whisk of corn in the possession of a lady in Philadelphia, and while examining it as a curiosity, found a seed, which he planted, and from this small beginning arose this valuable product of industry in the United States. In the same manner England and America are indebted for the weeping willow to the poet Pope, who, finding a green stick in a basket of figs sent to him from the Pope, from Turkey, stuck it in his garden at Twickenham, and thence propagated this beautiful tree.

CHLOROFORM FOR BEES.—A sixth part of an ounce of chloroform for a common hive, or nearly a quarter of an ounce for a large hive, is used in Scotland for putting bees to sleep while their honey is taken. They put the chloroform in a shallow breakfast plate, covered over with thin gauze, and then put the hive over the plate, covered with cloths, and in 20 minutes the bees are in a sound sleep, and out of the combs on the table. This is considered better than sulphur.

Portraits and Memoirs of EMINENT AMERICANS NOW LIVING with Biographical and Historical Memoirs of their ancestors, by Jared Sparks, President of the N. York Bar, in 2 vols. 1843.

These works are all engraved from daguerreotypes, in the finest style of the art, and are undoubtedly correct. We can vouch for the remarkable fidelity of the likenesses of distinguished men whose forms we are familiar. This truly national work is creditable to the ability and enterprise of the publisher, should adorn every public and private library in the country. His plan is to "no cost of expense spared, to present engravings, lawyers, doctors, statesmen, financiers, merchants, manufacturers, and artists—in short, distinguished living representatives of every department of American society. To accomplish this object, the work would be sure from time as it must commend itself to universal favor.—Gen. Adv.

PROFESSOR ALEX. C. BARRY'S TRIPLE COPAIBADE, or Medicated Compound, for beautifying, improving and preserving the hair, curing scurf, boils, burns, stings, rheumatism, and all irritations of the skin. A preparation, the sale of which amounts to one million of bottles annually, would seem to need no advertisement but as the thousands who have purchased and approve of it having probably no idea of the enormous extent of the business done by Professor Barry, he gives herewith a plain statement of the facts derived from his books, and with them tenders his earnest and hearty thanks to his innumerable patrons.

Professor Barry's accounts of sales for the year 1852, show that during that year a loss 900 000 bottles of the Triopolitorous were disposed of, and that the cash product of this immense sale was nearly $100,000.

This plain, unvarnished tale is a better commentary on the value of the article than anything its inventor could say. If it were not perfectly in the effect upon the hair—if it were not invaluable as a homebold remedy for cuts, bruises, burns, skin diseases, &c.—it would not, of course, be so universally in demand. The wealthy portion of the public would buy it at any price, but Professor Barry has reduced it to a figure so low that the poorest can avail themselves of its benefits

Sold in large bottles (price 25 cents), at wholesale and retail, at the Manufactory and Depot, No. 197 Broadway, New York, and by the principal Merchants and Druggists throughout the United States and Canada, Mexico, West Indies, Great Britain, France, &c., and by

[From F. P. Ducoque, Esq., New Orleans.]

NEW ORLEANS, March 9, 1852.

Messrs. B. A. Fahnestock & Co. Gentlemen: I am pleased to inform you that your Vermifuge continues to sell well in this city, and I find it gaining favor daily amongst our planters. Many of my customers, who were in the habit of using other vermifuges, are now determined to try B. A. Fahnestock's Vermifuge, daily, owing to its safety as well as efficacy. In fact I know of no vermifuge sold in this city which stands so high in the estimation of the public. Please send me fifty gross more of your Vermifuge, as I find my present stock getting very low.
