CAMP MEETING.—A camp meeting has been in progress in the Goshen settlement the past week, to which a large number of our citizens repaired, and all returned highly pleased with their trip and the manner in which they were treated by the tent-holders and the citizens of the neighborhood; awarding each high praise for their hospitality.

SOME DIFFERENCE.—On our fourth page will be found the "journal" of Rev. James Robison, President of the Pittsburgh Conference of the Methodist Protestant Church, one of the ablest divines belonging to that denomination. His clerical duties called him to make a visit to this county, and our readers can learn by his letter what esteem he places upon the citizens of this county. Mr. Robison, it would seem, never heard anything of Bigler, Wallace, copperheads, "rebel feeling," etc., of which brother Ehrenfeld learned so much during his short stay. How strange that two ministers of the Gospel should see and hear so differently—vide Robison's and Ehrenfeld's letters.

A LOCAL TRAIN.—It is with pleasure that we announce to the public the fact that Mr. Wilkins, Superintendent of the Tyrone & Clearfield Railroad, has commenced running a local train, carrying passengers and freight over this road between Clearfield and Philipsburg, with the intention of continuing it ere long to Tyrone.

This train will leave Clearfield at 7 o'clock in the morning; leave Philipsburg at 3:40 P. M., and returns at 5:15 P. M., we understand also, that the time of the regular passenger train has been changed, and will arrive in the future at 12:10 and leave at 2:30. It will therefore remain at the depot two hours and forty minutes. Not having received a schedule time table we are unable to give the time along the line of the road.

BASE BALL.—A return game of Base Ball, between the Susquehanna Club, of Curwensville, and the Chinclecla-moose Club, of this place, was played on the ground of the latter club, on Saturday last. We append the score:

After the game the "Chincks" invited the "Susquehannaites" to the Mansion House, where they partook of a sumptuous supper, gotten up by "mine host," Mr. Johnston, in his best style.

EDUCATION.—In the past, parents and guardians were often exercised over this question. They had children and friends to educate. The local schools were not very inviting, while the purses of many were too light to send them away to a foreign institution. These were some of the vexations of the past. The facilities for obtaining a good practical domestic education are to be found at our doors, if we but embrace them.

The Academy, under the careful supervision of Prof. Harrison, is in a flourishing condition, and will re-open on Monday next. The teachers have all been tried and not found wanting. All the essential branches necessary to a complete education, including instrumental and vocal music, are taught as correctly as anywhere else. In view of these facts, the Academy should be patronized by our people.

THE AMERICAN BASTILE.—This is the title of one of the most interesting books ever published in the United States. It gives a complete history of the illegal arrest and imprisonment of citizens during the late civil war, including those arrested in this county. The invasion of Clearfield and Columbia counties by the military satraps is given at length. The author is John A. Marshall, Esq., who was selected by the "Association of State Prisoners." The details of this book are enough to harrow up the conscience of a devil, and should make every American freeman weep for shame.

This work contains an authentic account of the arrest, imprisonment and terrible sufferings of American citizens incarcerated as Prisoners of State; together with the orders for arrest, suspending the writ of habeas corpus, prohibiting the employment of counsel.

The horrors of prison life in Forts Lafayette, Warren, McHenry, Delaware, Mifflin, Old Capitol Prison, Penitentiaries and Military Camps, and their condition, together with the food furnished the prisoners, are truthfully and graphically delineated. It is a perfect novel as well as an historical work.

The book contains preface, introduction, translated copy of the Magna Charta, with its seal; the Constitution of the United States, with the recent amendments; history and incidents of the Old Capitol Prison. The orders, proclamation, &c., issued by Lincoln and his secretaries in regard to the illegal arrests and imprisonment of citizens; together with the narratives of about seventy citizens from eighteen different States, including in the number Foreign Ministers, Governors of States, U. S. Senators, Members of Congress, Members of State Legislatures, Judges, Lawyers, Ministers, Doctors, Editors, Ladies, Merchants, and indeed all the walks of life are represented.

The work is, in addition, embellished with a number of engravings. The frontispiece is ornamented with the "Independence Bell," and Mr. Seward's "Little Bell," while pictures of the State House, Philadelphia; Fort Lafayette, New York Harbor; Fort Warren, Boston Harbor; Old Capitol Prison, Washington, and the "Key of the Bastile," illustrate the other portions of the work.

This work is complete in one octavo volume of 728 pages, printed from beautiful type, on good white paper, and will be sold only by subscription.

The book will be furnished to subscribers at the following price, payable to the Agent on delivery: Bound in fine cloth, $3 50 per copy.

Mr. U. H. Akers is the Agent for this county, and is now canvassing. Let all subscribe who can pay for it.

"We are informed that the county commissioners refused the Court House to the Woodworth Sisters for their concert last week. Was it because they were a soldier's orphans? They gave it a few days before to Gould Rogers, a vagabond, who is a nuisance and a bore, to deliver a lecture in. It seems strange that it should have been refused to the widow and children of a deceased soldier.—Journal.

We take the liberty to inform the editor of the Journal that he LIES—under a mistake. Neither the "Sisters" nor "Goold Rodgers" ever applied to the Commissioners for the use of the Court House. It seems strange that the cute editor in question and his informer should so flippantly mistake facts.

HON. GEO. R. BARRETT.—We were honored on Monday afternoon with a call from our old esteemed friend, Hon. G. R. Barrett, President Judge of the 22d Judicial District. The Judge still gives evidence of vigor and health, retaining much of his manly beauty, with all the apparent freshness of his early feelings. We learned in the course of conversation with him, that he is one of our predecessors, being editor and proprietor of the Jeffersonian as early as 1834. It is refreshing to meet with such old workers and champions in the Democratic faith. Men who, when the storm of Jacobinism raged fiercest and howled loudest, when the dark clouds of fanaticism were most lowering, and the whole land convulsed with demoniacal Abolition revolutionism, stood firm on their immutable Democratic faith. We delight to honor such men as George R. Barrett.—Brookville Jeffersonian.

A man who cheats in small measure is considered a measureless rogue. If he gives short measure in wheat, then he is a rogue in grain. If in whiskey, then he is a rogue in spirit. If he gives a bad title to land, then he is a rogue indeed.

Horrible Negro Outrage.

From the Macon Journal & Messenger, of Thursday, we get the particulars of the most fiendish outrage that has ever been committed in any country, barbarous or civilized. It appears that on Thursday last, two respectable young girls residing near Station 14, upon the Central road, were on their way home from school, when they were overtaken by two stout negroes, who immediately seized them, and despite their screams for aid, committed a diabolical outrage. Having effected their brutal deed of violence, one of the negroes, who had but one arm, shook the mutilated stump of the other in the face of the eldest of the two girls, and exclaimed: "I want my revenge and I'm bound to have it. When I belonged to your father I ran away, he followed me to the woods and shot me, and I had to lose this arm; do you see it? Now I'm bound to get even with him." And drawing his pocket knife, he severed her arm entirely from her body, between the wrist and elbow joint. The two scoundrels then broke away and ran for the woods. Very fortunately, the girls had presence of mind enough to tie the mutilated arm tightly above the elbow until medical aid could be procured, and it is barely possible that the young sufferer's life may be spared.

The news of this deed of violence ran like wild-fire all through the neighborhood, and in a short time a mounted patrol was organized, who volunteered to go in pursuit of the scoundrels. They soon found one of them, whom they questioned right sharply, but somehow or other the negro got lost somewhere in the swamp, and the party returned home without him.

The other, and by far the worst of the two
