"REPORT" CONTINUED:

And then.....the rain came down! This caused the stands to empty -- and at this point Highacres lost a few more of its students. Francis Sullivan, showing up at the bus an hour late, insisted that the parking lot had been moved. A little investigation proved that Francis had not even been looking for the parking lot! (Just kidding, Fran)

Richard Allison and Ronald Reichart covered Main Campus from end to end looking for the bus. At last the bus driver found them. After rounding up all the members of the contingent, the buses headed for home. As everyone sat in their damp clothing, colds, sinus trouble, sneezing and coughing started.

Bus #1 was doing fine when all at once it jerked, sputtered, and slowly rolled off the highway. No gas! This was (of course) of no immediate concern to the students in that bus but for some reason it greatly upset the driver. A phone call was placed and in 15 minutes a supply of gas was rushed to the bus and it was on its way again.

The buses arrived in Hazleton at 9:30 and thus a very pleasant trip was concluded.

COLLEGE ARTS SOCIETY TO PRESENT FILM DEC. 7

The second film presentation in this years series of College Arts films will be held on December 7 in the SUB. This picture is a Japanese film with English narration. It was created by Josef von Sternberg, famous creator of "The Blue Angel". "ANATAHAN" is a postscript to the late Pacific conflict, based on a fantastic actual incident that occurred on the island of Anatahan where 20 Japanese sailors and a single Japanese girl held out for 7 years, refusing to believe in Japan's defeat.

Make plans now not to miss ANATAHAN Monday evening, December 7.

FACTUAL REPORT OF RECENT FOOTBALL TRIP TO MAIN CAMPUS:

"All aboard" was the cry heard at 7:15 A.M. last Saturday as the two buses carrying 82 Highacres students and faculty members began their journey to the Main Campus and the Penn State vs. Holy Cross football game.

Things went smoothly on route to the campus. Only a few minor details gave some life to the journey--such as losing two or three students at the first coffee stop and another two or three more by falling out of the bus windows. Finally, MAIN CAMPUS!

The bus no sooner stopped when a mad scramble started. Everyone dashed for the many buildings in search of old friends. Some did some shopping while a few just wandered about as though they were lost.

When 1:30 P.M. rolled around it was game time and multitudes were seen headed for Beaver Field. (As the game got under way some of our lost friends were still wandering.) Penn State took the lead and held it all the way. The game was very exciting and the half-time show that the Blue Band conducted was superb.
