The Pittsburgh Gazette

County Prison Sensation—Alleged Inhuman Treatment—Death of a Child the Result.

Ordinarily, when anything out of the usual order of things transpires, affording opportunity for a sensation, it is seized upon as rich food by those prone to animadvert upon the misfortune or misdoings of others. The points are elaborated, more or less discretion being exercised to detract from the individual recounting the story responsibility for the truth thereof. Newspaper reporters generally are upon sensations, or make them, with the same avidity with which they are received by a class of the community, in very large one; and are just as free to use a sensation after it has served its purpose. That reporters in some instances are responsible a great measure for injury and wrong inflicted on the feelings or the character of persons made subjects of criticism or obloquy, we will not deny, but that this is the result of design or malice, as a general thing, we maintain is not the case, and it not unfrequently happens that the reporter unwittingly becomes persons of whom he has no knowledge though the deception of persons in whom he may have reposed confidence, and who, it may turn out, were actuated by improper motives.

Without further generalizing, we will refer to a matter which transpired in Court on Saturday, duly appreciating the opportunity we have of stirring both sides of the story.

Casper Schaedel and wife, Germans, reside in East Birmingham, and some two weeks or more since they were committed to prison by Mayor McCarthy in default of bail for surety of the peace, on complaint of Armstrong Ammon, Esq., justice of the Peace of East Birmingham. Schaedel was in the army as a drafted man, improperly as he claims, and since his discharge and return to be has, on frequent occasions, always while under the influence of liquor, spoke of the great injustice which had been practiced in forcing him into the army, and the trouble caused to his family during his absence. Attributing to Justice Ammon a share of the responsibility for his grievance, Schaedel has threatened to inflict violence, going to the extent in his excitement to threaten murder. Mrs. Schaedel encouraged her husband in these demonstrations, which were so frequent that Mr. Ammon, in actual fear lest the attempt might be made to execute the threats, thought it prudent to make complaint in the matter. And thus it came that Schaedel and his wife, failing to produce the required security, were incarcerated. On Saturday week Mr. Ammon died of Birmingham, became interested in the case, and in his view, from first to last, the Schaedels have been victims of most outrageous injustice. Justice Lippincotted to make a statement, but was not allowed, as counsel, what he had to say would have been a repitition of the magnificent imaginings of those for whom he was interceded.

The Schaedels were brought into Court on Saturday, and it being understood Mrs. Schaedel had complaints to make against the prison authorities for alleged inhuman treatment of herself and infant child, she was allowed to make a statement through an interpreter, as she spoke no perfect English. She said she was committed to jail with her infant, between seven and eight months old; that her infant was taken sick, and that the prison fare, bread and water, with occasional meat, was not sufficient to enable her to give sustenance; that she called, in the night, whilst her child was very sick, for a light, without obtaining any response; that finally, the Deputy Warden, Mr. Smith, came, asked her what she wanted, called her a "bitch," said he would put her in the "black hole" for making a noise, and struck her; that her child grew worse, and she asked that the Doctor be sent for; that the Doctor finally came, and said it was "all in the childhood" that she desired a minister to be sent for to baptize the child; that the Warder and the Deputy Warden said that was not necessary, and asked her of what religion she was; that the preacher came, however, and baptized the child; that the child died in the prison on the 27th ult. Her statement left the impression that, in her opinion at least, the child died through neglect.

Further statements were made about the troubles of the Schaedel family, but the Court said they could not be taken into consideration, at least in connection with the complaint against the prison authorities. The statement of Mrs. Schaedel, just read, would be taken into consideration. It appeared from it that the treatment received by the consabhand was cruel and unusual, but opportunity would be given the Warden to answer the complaint. The prisoners, Schaedel and wife, were released upon their own recognizance, having promised to give no further annoyance to Justice Ammon.

Neither the Warden, W. J. White, nor his Deputy, Wm. Smith, were in Court, and it seemed as they had no notice of the proceeding. Subsequently we saw Mr. Smith at the prison, and upon informing him of what Mrs. Schaedel had stated, he told us quite a different story. The child, he says, was sick when it came with the mother to prison, and received attention from the Jail Physician, Dr. A. G. McLandless. Mr. Smith was absent for some time from the city, during the Schaedel's incarceration, but he was informed that Mrs. Wilhelm, Warden's wife, had prepared food in the night time for the sick infant. In regard to the statement Mrs. Schaedel is a woman of very violent temperament, and was the cause of great annoyance in the prison.

If the child was under the care of the Jail Physician, as is fair to presume that he knew of its condition, and that Mrs. Wilhelm would render it a matter of duty with him to see that it received proper attention, (this not intimated, we understand, from visiting committee,) and thus afflicted the prisoner, it was not a proper place for it, and prison fare not sufficient for its sustenance. None should know this better than the Physician, and his recommendation in such matters always are promptly acted upon by the Court.

In advance of further information, we do not desire to convict of the idea that there is no ground for the complaint of Mrs. Schaedel, but we cannot avoid expressing the opinion that from our knowledge of the prison authorities, and their manner of treating, heretofore, the charge of cruel and inhuman treatment will not stand the ordeal of investigation before the Prison Board.

Citizens Passenger Railway.

The Citizens Passenger Railway is one of the most flourishing enterprises in our city, and its present success is mainly due to the excellent management it has been under since the organization of the Company. During a visit to Lawrenceville, a few days since, we were shown through the stables of the Company at that place, and took up a few statistics in regard to the business done on the line, which may be of interest to our readers.

The company are running at present twenty cars from St. Clair street to Lawrenceville and two from Allegheny City to Lawrenceville, which are makes regularly nine round trips per day on the Allegheny route, which being three miles and a quarter in length, makes a distance of thirty miles, which is supplied from each car. To run these twenty cars it requires twenty conductors, twenty drivers, and one hundred and twenty horses. The first car leaves Lawrenceville at precisely five o'clock in the morning, and is followed by one every fifteen minutes thereafter, until ten o'clock and from that time to eight minutes to make the trip from the stables in Lawrenceville to the station on Penn street, a distance of three and a quarter miles. The average receipts of each car are twenty-five dollars per day, a total average of five hundred dollars daily, at six cents each, would require them to carry 83,333 passengers. The main stable, situated on Butler street, Lawrenceville, is a brick building one hundred and fifty feet square, with stalls for one hundred and seventy horses, and a double track for cars, running the full length of the building at the east end. In the rear of this is the feed house, a brick building one hundred and fifty feet long by fifty wide, the basement of which is used for a feed store, and will accommodate sixty head of horses. On the second floor is the grinding apparatus, cutters, &c., and in the basement is the engine by which the water is supplied from a well, and which also runs the straw cutter. These buildings are separated by an alley twenty feet wide, over which bridges extend from one to the other. There are in the stables at present one hundred and fifty five head of horses, which cost on an average one hundred and fifty dollars each, and there are employed in the stables, independent of drivers, twenty-five men. The cost of the buildings above described was forty-five thousand dollars. In addition to the stables the company have an extensive car house and passenger depot, which is situated further east on the same street. A great improvement on the days of omnibuses.

Innocent Amusement.

We heard of a little piece of "fun" on Saturday night, which we have no desire to engage in, for various reasons, and much less desire to have any one who does engage in it make us the subject of their joke. A gentleman was quietly and peacefully passing along High street, Saturday evening, when he was met by W. H. Lucas, who deliberately knocked him down. Lucas was arrested and taken to the lockup by officer Colby, who happened to be near and saw the occurrence, and then asked if he knew what he did it for. The gentleman thought such jokes too good to be enjoyed for nothing, and charged Mr. Lucas five dollars and costs for his fun. We don't want any of it at that rate.

The Lancaster (Penn.) Eagle describes the natural bridge, twelve miles south of that place, showing it to be nearly as great a curiosity as the world-famed natural bridge of Virginia. The bridge is a mild sand-stone, one hundred and fifty feet in length, and from eight to twenty wide, spanning a ravine at an elevation of forty-five feet from the bottom. It is level on the top and arched below, with a curvature of thirty degrees. The Eagle says that persons who have visited both pronounce this bridge equally as wonderful, except in size, with its celebrated Virginia rival.

Brick Side Walks.

It is generally conceded that brick side walks are a nuisance, and the citizens of Pittsburgh have been looking long and anxiously for the day to arrive when they would, in this city at least, be "numbered among the things that were;" but notwithstanding they have been discarded in many other cities, where the facilities for procuring the flagstone fall far short of ours, we are doomed to wait on and "tramp Bricks," with scarcely a hope of being relieved of the nuisance. We have made no calculation as to the comparative cost of brick and flag sidewalks, but are confident that the difference is not sufficiently great to compensate for the inconvenience and uncomfortableness of the former. A good flagstone pavement, properly put down, will last for ages and needs no repairing; while a brick sidewalk is a nuisance from the day it is put down until it is taken up, and constantly needs repairing to keep it a passable condition. There is no city in the Union, that has the facilities that we have for obtaining the flagstone, that has as great a proportion of brick pavement as Pittsburgh. Why this is we are unable to see, unless it is to be attributed to a spirit of penuriousness. There are a number of sidewalks in the city at present, which could be improved by shovelling the brick into the street, and among them is that on the east side of Smithfield street, from Fifth to Diamond, which is in a miserable condition, and should be attended to at once.

Concentrated Fluid Extract Sarsaparilla

Eradicates ERUPTIVE and ULCERATIVE DISEASES of the THROAT, NOSE, EYES, EYELIDS, SCALP and SKIN,

Which so disfigure the appearance, PURGING the evil effects of mercury and removing all taints, the remains of DISEASES, hereditary or otherwise, and is taken by ADULTS and CHILDREN with perfect safety.

TWO TABLE-SPOONFULS of the Extract of Sarsaparilla, added to a pint of water, is equal to the Lisbon Diet Drink, and one bottle is equal to a gallon of the syrup of Sarsaparilla, or the decoctions as usually made.

AN INTERESTING LETTER is published in the Medico-Chirurgical Review, on the subject of the Extract of Sarsaparilla in certain affections, by Ben amin Travers, F. R. S., &c. Speaking of those diseases, and diseases arising from the excess of mercury, he states that no remedy is equal to the Extract of Sarsaparilla, the power is extraordinary, more so than any other, and can be administered safely. In the district of Norfolk, a locality with these ineradicable diseases, that it is applicable, and is adapted to the system, so sunken, and yet so irritable as to admit of no other remedies of the tonic class unassailable or injurious.
