ASSAULT AND BATTERY.

Joseph Levine appeared before Alderman McMasters, Saturday, and made information against Barney Harrington, charging him with assault and battery. Levine is a pea nut vender, keeping a stand at the corner of Sixth and Smithfield streets, and he alleges that Harrington purchased some of his "merchandise," and a quarrel ensued about the amount of change coming to Harrington, when, as the prosecutor alleges, he was knocked down by the defendant. Harrington also made an information before the same magistrate, against Levine, for assault and battery, alleging that Levine struck him several blows with a cane or stick. The case was compromised by each party paying his own costs.

Catharine Rice appeared before Alderman Thomas, and made information charging Catharine Owens with assault and battery on her little boy. The prosecutrix alleges that the defendant struck her child with a board, hurting it severely. Ahearing was had in the case when the defendant gave bail for her appearance at Court. The parties reside on Stevenson street, in the 8th Eighth ward.

LARCENY BY BAILEE.

John Fox made an information before Alderman McMasters, against Joseph Fisher, Saturday, charging him with larceny by bailee. The facts of the case, which, if as stated to us, would indicate Fisher to be guilty of that worst of all sins, ingratitude, are as follows: Fisher had been committed to the county jail for some misdemeanor, and about the time his term expired, Fox was also "sent up." Fisher, it appears, was in a rather destitute condition when discharged from custody, having no coat and the remainder of his clothing in a very dilapidated condition. He appealed to the sympathies of his fellow prisoner, Fox, who very generously loaned him his coat, which was a new one, valued at twenty-five dollars. Fisher appeared to be thankful for the favor, promising to reciprocate at the first opportunity, and also to return the coat at an early day. Fox, it appears, did not get out of the "tombs" for several days after the above transaction, and Fisher failed to call and return the coat as he promised to do. When restored to liberty Fox found himself in the same dilemma in which he found Fisher—turned out of jail without a coat to wear. He at once sought the man he had befriended and requested him to give up the coat, which was refused, hence the prosecution. The warrant was issued.

Barbara J. Woods made information before Alderman Thomas, charging Rose Ann Madick with larceny by bailee. The prosecutrix alleges that the defendant obtained a pair of shoes from her and has refused to return them or pay for them. A hearing was had when the defendant gave bail for Court. The parties reside in the Seventh ward.

SURETY OF THE PEACE.

Thomas Flinn, a resident of Oakland township, appeared before Alderman McMasters, yesterday, and made information against Rose Leonard for surety of the peace, alleging that she threatened to do himself and family bodily harm. Rose was arrested and after a hearing was held to three hundred dollars bail for her appearance at Court.

COMMITTED FOR TRIAL.

John Berger, arrested Friday evening, on a charge of larceny, on oath of Mr. J. Boles, who alleged that the defendant had stolen a lot of rope, had a hearing before the Mayor on Saturday, which resulted in his being committed to jail to answer the charge at Court. The defendant is a boy about seventeen years of age and resided in Allegheny City.

Professional "Shovers" Arrested.

Two men hailing from Philadelphia, supposed to be professional "shovers" of counterfeit money, who gave their names as John B. Wright and George W. Waters, were arrested yesterday morning about two o'clock, at the Union Depot, by officer Reeder and Johnson, and taken to the lock-up, where they still remain. The circumstance leading to their arrest are as follows: Friday night they arrived at Johnstown from Philadelphia, and during Saturday succeeded in "shoving" a number of counterfeit twenties on the First National Bank of Philadelphia. Having done so much business there as was practicable they took the evening train for this city, which arrives here at two o'clock A.M. A short time after they had taken their departure, some one of the parties who had been the recipient of favors, discovered that the twenty was a counterfeit. This led to a further investigation and developed the fact that some three or four hundred dollars of the same kind of money had been shoved upon the unsuspecting merchants and others of the citizens by those Philadelphians. Burgess Kopeland was informed of the fact, and at once telegraphed to the conductor of the train on which they had taken passage to have them arrested, and giving such an accurate description of them as could not fail to lead to their identification. The dispatch, we believe, was received by the conductor at Greensburg, but he very wisely kept his own counsel in the matter, and allowed his "game," who had taken a sleeping car, to enjoy their nap without interruption. On arriving at the depot, having first seen that the doors of the car in which were his men were securely fastened, he notified the officers above named of the circumstance, conducted them to the car, and pointed out the men. They were taken in custody by the officers and searched, but no evidence of their guilt was discovered upon them. Shortly after the search, however, one of the officers found a package containing two hundred and thirty dollars in counterfeit notes on the bank on which the twenties were said to be, lying under the seat near where the search had been made.

From the number of arrests and convictions of counterfeiters and "shovers" recently, the business appears to be a risky and unsafe one, and if men wish to keep out of the penitentiary they had better keep out of the business.

Serious Affray.

An affray of a serious character occurred on Liberty street, in front of the Rush House, about two o'clock Saturday morning, which, had it not been for the timely interference of Officer Gumbert, might have resulted fatally to some of the parties engaged. The names of those concerned in the row, so far as we could ascertain them, are as follows: William Davis, William Payne, James O'Donnell, Pat Deane, Charles Maratha and William Brown. The difficulty originated between Davis and Payne, the former knocking the latter down, when the friends of both parties entered the engagement, and it free fight ensued, clubs, stones, bricks, etc., being used freely. Officer Gumbert succeeded in arresting Brown, Davis, O'Donnell, Payne and Maratha. They had a hearing before the Mayor Saturday, when Brown and Davis were each fined $25 and costs, and the remainder of the party discharged, as it appeared that they were only acting in self defence. Brown paid his fine and was released, and Davis was sent to the tombs.

ANOTHER "DEAD LETTER."—The ordinance passed recently, by Councils, locating a stand for hacks, carriages, and baggage wagons, carrying baggage and passengers to and from the Union Depot, on the East side of Grant street, South of Liberty, is a good one if properly enforced, but no steps have yet been taken, we believe to put it in force. Saturday afternoon Liberty street, opposite the Depot, was literally clockadded with vehicles, from the Rush House to the St. James Hotel.

OBITUARY.—Brevet Major G. W. Feterman, of the United States Army, died last evening, at the residence of his brother, on Third street, of chronic dysentery. The deceased was about forty years of age. He leaves a large circle of friends and acquaintances, who will deeply regret his death.

A "GALLUS" MANIA.—The Post editor's prospects for the Senate early developed in him a fearful mania for "roosters." He was knocked into a cocked hat, however, and consoles himself, in lieu of legislative "roosters," by making his sanctum a cock-pit stocked with saucy barn-yard fowls.

WASHINGTON COUNTY FAIR.—The Washington County Agricultural Society held their annual exhibition on the fair grounds at Washington on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of last week. The attendance is said to have been unusually large and the exhibition a very fine one.

THOMAS WHITTAKER, arrested on a charge of larceny, on oath of Mary Sproull, will be removed from his present quarters in the lock-up to Washington, Pa., to-day.

"SHINE" ARNOLD, who is now in the Washington jail charged with the murder of David Sproull, in Washington county, will have a hearing at once clock to-morrow.

—The Washington Chronicle says: "Every revolution is stabbed by a child of its own begetting, and we have not escaped the general destiny. What surprises us is, and has been, that men who had the power to remove the betrayer, and hold the Government in hand until the work of emancipation was complete, should have hesitated to adopt so simple and constitutional a remedy."

—According to the Avenir National, the settlement of the affairs of Maximilian has led to unpleasant disputes between the Austrian and Belgian royal family, and even a procès between them is regarded as probable. The point chiefly in litigation is whether the Archduchess Charlotte or the Archduke Francis Charles, uncle of the Prince, should be named general legatee.

NEIGHBORHOOD NEWS.

PENNSYLVANIA.

—Dr. S. S. Christy, formerly Mayor of Oil City, met with an accident on Tuesday night, at the summit, Cambria county, which may prove fatal. He was standing on the steps of Riffell's hotel, leaning on his staff, when the staff gave way and he fell backward, striking his head against a stone with such force as to produce concussion of the brain. He was some better at last accounts, but was still very low. He has a host of friends here.

—Cambria county wants a school master in some sections. The Ebensburg Alleghanian gives the following verbatim copy of a posted notice in that neighborhood: "Hoss lost. Take no tie to hoo so ever may find this Horse Will no Him for Hey les alyt tay with astar in Hiss fase rito Hind leg iss White from the parter Jont down Blind off Hise left iyo let me no and le will pay Charges Direct to——, fall en tim ber port Cambery Co in haste."

—The Johnstown Tribune says: On Sunday evening last Rev. B. L. Agnew, pastor of the Presbyterian congregation of this place, notified his hearers that he had received a call to preach statedly for the Westminster Presbyterian congregation of Philadelphia, and that he had favorably considered said call. He requested that, in accordance with the action of the Presbytery of Blairsville in the premises, the congregation would meet on Wednesday evening of last week to decide upon his application for dismissal. The congregation accordingly met, and granted Mr. Agnew's request. The unfavorable condition of his own health and that of his family, we understand to be the principal reason for inducing Mr. Agnew to take this important step. It is probable that he will leave with his family for Philadelphia about the close of the present month.

—From the Juniata Sentinel we clip the following: On Saturday evening, as the Cincinnati Express train east passed the Manayunk bridge, a passenger was observed divesting himself of hat, watch, etc., and then, placing his hands on the back of two seats, he sprang out of the window feet foremost, taking the sash with him. The train was immediately stopped, and on going back he was found walking towards the persons in search of him. As soon as he saw them he fell upon his knees and commenced praying for mercy. He has a cut on the chin, and is considerably bruised, yet it is a miracle that he was not instantly killed. He had been laboring under an attack of delirium tremens, and no doubt jumped from the train to escape the presence of those dreadful phantoms seen by persons in his situation.

—At a camp meeting at Mount Morris, Greene county, Mr. Joab Coleman was severely injured on Sabbath evening, by his horse running over a steep bank, some thirty feet high. The horse was killed outright, and Mr. Coleman had one arm broken and several ribs crushed in, besides being otherwise severely bruised.

—Two Waynesburg Republicans tells of a violent convulsion in the earth which took place in Alleppo township, Greene county, a few weeks ago, with a report equaling in violence that of the heaviest artillery, being sufficient to shake a house near by very sensibly. Soon after the noise was heard, a large stump, with a portion of the stump still attached, was found sitting on top of the earth, in a field of Mr. Long's, near by, in the position it now stands in view. About thirty yards below the stump there was a hole about ten feet in diameter, corresponding in shape with the rock which had been displaced. The hole was filled with water to within two feet of the top. The stump had been thrown up the hill this considerable distance, together with a log about fifteen feet long, which was lying across the hole. The stump and hole in the ground are still to be seen by any one passing the road.

The steam tannery of Huber & Bro., at Milton, Union county, was destroyed by fire last week. Loss $25,000; insurance $7,000.

The Easton Express says: The County Commissioners have purchased a lot two hundred feet square, immediately east of the Court House, for the sum of $1,500. Orisan, Lafayette Horner, of Moorestown, Burlington county, New Jersey, have resolved to build next year, and they intend making preparations.

—The trains on the Lehigh Valley Railroad are now running regularly between Easton and Scranton, making direct connection with trains to Philadelphia and New York. Passengers now ride from Scranton to Philadelphia, via the North Pennsylvania Railroad, without change of cars.

—The Bethlehem Times tells the following joke: As the North Pennsylvania passenger train was approaching the Sellersville tunnel, a few days ago, a young couple in one of the cars were noticed to have a great fondness for each other. This suggested fun. Some mischievous chaps on the train waited for the middle of the tunnel, illuminated the car by lighting a match, when the couple were discovered hugging and kissing each other in the most patient manner. Of course there was an immediate cessation of the delicious amusement. The passengers roared with laughter, and the lovers were immensely embarrassed.

—The Honesdale Republican says: James Bonnell, who was arrested for murdering Mosier, in Damascus, and lodged in jail here, but who proved to be innocent of the crime, and admitted himself to answer the description of a man wanted in Pike county, for selling fire to a barn belonging to Mr. Kinnan, has been tried, found guilty and sentenced to imprisonment for eighty years. The man who committed the murder was also sentenced for six years each. A barn in Pike county is worth more than a man's life in Wayne county.

—The Columbia county Republican says: Our old friend Peter M. Traugh, near Berwick, informs us that he has raised 1500 bushels of onions, this year, from two and three quarter acres of ground. A good part of them are already sold at eighty cents a bushel. Quite a profitable crop. Mr. Traugh is one of the most successful farmers in the county.

—John K. Ross has sold his Lime Ridge farm, in Columbia county, for $20,000.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, SATURDAY, October 12, 1867.

—The financial advices from Washington are encouraging, and Secretary McCulloch's annual report, it is stated, will have no uncertain tones in it. He will be able to show a most satisfactory reduction in the national debt, but what is better, the fact that the whole mass has been reduced to order, and that a resumption of specie payments is an event of the immediate future. He will be able to go before Congress with facts and arguments to prove the necessity of prompt resumption so conclusively that they must prevail with those who at the last session held the option that contraction must be long deferred, and more currency be issued.

—A dangerous counterfeit on the June Seven Thirties was discovered on Thursday, but not until it was put out very extensively. The counterfeit is upon the the thousand dollar note, and is distinguished from the genuine by the note being darker layer than the original, the edge being more sharply defined, and the lathe work being more coarsely executed. The brokers are on their guard, and the community generally should exercise some caution before dealing in this issue.

—The New York Journal of Commerce says: Speculation is still going on in Gold, Securities, and the pressure from the outside will give additional force to the arguments of those who are anxious for a little reaction in the market just now. The present season. Few dealers are willing to buy stocks or gold at the prices, and far more uneasiness among business men than is apparent on the surface. Speculation has in the habit of manufacturing sensations may, if such a thing be possible, produce a very panic for their own good, but it is well for all to keep handle political machinery to "draw it mild" in the meantime. It would not be much further satisfactory to bring up the bottom. The natural prosperity of the nation has been expected at this stage of the season, although it is not the case at present, because of the various commercial departments. The dry goods trade is more phenomenally dull than the descriptions of plain and printed cotton goods have been for years, and many clothing houses are held with less firmness. Money continues active demand.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, SATURDAY, October 12, 1867.

CRUDE—The Crude market was again dull and weak, and the close quotations are for current rains and the improved prospects for a resumption of navigation, and, while there is, as yet, no actual decline, that is, so far as we can learn, there has been a tendency to a reduction, yet there is no disguising the fact that the general tone of the trade at this writing is in favor of lower rates. Should the weather clear up and turn cold before there is rain sufficient to effect the river, the chances are that spot oil will go still higher; while, on the other hand, if a rise does set in, prices will go much lower. We continue to quote nominally at 16c for spot oil, and 15c for first water; the only sale reported was at 15c, and that was made at first water. on private terms—rumored at 14½c. We have no advices from Oil City to-day, but, we presume, the market there, as here, is dull.

REFINED—The market for bonded oil, in sympathy with crude, was also dull and weak to-day, and for the same reasons—unfavorable indications for a resumption of navigation. Compared with the early part of the week prices have declined from one-half to one and a half cents per gallon, and holders are willing to tender deliveries, and even at the reduction, the market is dull and depressed, and devoid of life or animation. We quote nominally a sale of a barn belonging to Mr. Kinnan, has been tried, found guilty and sentenced to imprisonment for eighty years. The man who committed the murder was also sentenced for six years each. A barn in Pike county is worth more than a man's life in Wayne county.

—The Columbia county Republican says: Our old friend Peter M. Traugh, near Berwick, informs us that he has raised 1500 bushels of onions, this year, from two and three quarter acres of ground.
