Our Special column is decidedly interesting in a local point of view, and profitable reading to outsiders who want to save money.

YES, OF COURSE!

"Will you take wheat, oats or corn for subscription?" We are often inquired of in this way by letter from patrons who reside at a distance from Clearfield. We again say yes. The receipts of a responsible merchant or mill owner in the vicinity, will answer as just as well as the cash. To illustrate: If any of our patrons will deliver us a bag of grain at the mill of Joseph H. Breth, in Chest township, Horace Patchin, in Burnside, Thomas H. Forcey, in Graham, Wm. Porter or Shaw's, in Lawrence, or Brown & Sayler's, at Rockton, Bigler township, and forward their receipts for the amount, we will credit them on their account for the same. In this way all may now pay what they owe, if they will pursue this course. tf.

Friday next is St. Valentine's day.

Gaulin's, at the postoffice, is the place to get valentines.

Judge Mayer is presiding over the sessions of the Bizle county Common Pleas Court at Hollidaysburg this week

There will be services in St. Andrew's Episcopal Church, in this place, next Sabbath, at 11 o'clock A. M. and 7 P. M.

Remember that Lytle is County Agent for Lorillard's Tobacco, and can sell them at factory prices. They are the best tobaccos in market. Try them.

On the night of the 29th ult., five dogs went through the sheep fold of Washington Patton, in Lawrence township, killing ten of his best sheep, and tearing the ears off two calves.

The Elders' Convention of the Presbytery of Huntingdon will be held in the Logan Valley Church at Bellwood, on Tuesday and Friday, February 20th and 21st. Sessions will be held morning, afternoon and evening.

Messrs. Scott & McFadden is the name of the firm according to the new management of the Osceola Recorder, and under their direction that journal will hereafter appear before the public. Success in a business sense, gentlemen.

Another Candidate.—We have before us No. 3, Vol. 1, of the DuBois City Courier, a patent-outside journal, of the independent persuasion, with the names of Butler & Harton as proprietors, and the latter as editor. Good luck to you, gentlemen, if you will only do your own work.

Not So.—A cotemporary announced that the borough and township elections would be held on the 11th of February; but we presume by this time he is willing to adopt the views of the Act of Assembly, and not allow them to be held until the 18th.

We regret that we are compelled to chronicle the premature death of an excellent young printer, Mr. S. W. Hoek, until recently one of the proprietors and publishers of the Philipsburg Journal, who died at his home in Philipsburg on the 5th instant, of consumption, in the 24th year of his age.

We Are Happy.—The Clearfield Gas Company has gone and reduced its rates from $3 to $2.50 per thousand feet. That is mighty good for the consumers of gas; but how does the stockholder like it? Well, one of them, at our elbow, says: "I don't care a darn; I have had several hundred dollars worth of stock for over five years and I have never seen a 'dirty' yet."

N. C. Barclay, Esq., the senior editor of the Sun, is spoken of by the Second Ward Democrats as a candidate for School Director.—Altoona Morning Tribune.

Dare you, give us something new. This item was copied from your files of last February!—Altoona Sun.

We would call that a Blaine accident—a sunstroke! Would you, Dare you?

We learn from the Philipsburg Journal that Mr. J. N. Cassmore, of that borough, received a telegram on Wednesday, the 5th inst., informing him of the death of his brother Emanuel, who died in Cuba. The deceased resided at Philipsburg for one season, some two years ago, but was so unfortunate as to be injured by a runaway team of horses, seriously impairing his health, and which may have been the cause of hastening his death.

Private School.—We call the attention of those parties who wish to employ a competent teacher for their children during the Summer to the advertisement of Miss Hettie Moore, to be found in our columns this week. She is an experienced teacher and comes well recommended, being at present one of the teachers in the Leonard Graded School of this borough, and is deserving of a liberal share of public patronage.

Minister Suspended.—Rev. Reuben E. Wilson, well-known in this community, pastor of the M. E. Church at Mifflintown, has just been suspended from the ministry. Some ugly rumors prevailed not recently about his having been picked up by the police at Harrisburg, and obscene literature being found on his person. Charges were soon after preferred to the Presiding Elder of the district against him, who appointed a committee, and one, it is said, of Mr. Wilson's own selection, to pass upon the charges. Rev. J. W. Olewine acted as counsel for complainants, and Rev. G. D. Pennypacker and J. S. McMurray for Mr. Wilson. We learn that the investigation was thorough and exhaustive, and the verdict as above stated. We suppose the judgment thus rendered against him is subject to review at the Conference next month.

It a boy wants to see himself as he is, let him go to the postoffice and get a valentine.

Westward, Ho!—The undersigned is the owner of some fine farm land and city lots in Kansas, which will be sold, or exchanged for property in Clearfield county. For further information, address the subscriber at Clearfield, Pa.

List of letters remaining unclaimed in the Postoffice at Clearfield, for the week ending February 3, 1879:—
Martha J Beck, David Dixon, C. O. Hammond, Miss Katie Hoffman-(2), Daniel Jones, Wm. E. Reed, J. H. Snyder, George Savage, A. G. White, A. E. Woolridge.

Worth Millions.—The Philadelphia Times of Saturday says: "Millionaire John Naulty, who died recently in Buenos Ayres, leaving an immense estate to a Pennsylvania brother, served his apprenticeship in this city with Thos. Naulty, at that time a carrier, but now retired. Thomas Naulty was a kinsman of John and schooled him in the business out of which both drew fortunes."

Many of our readers, no doubt, recollect Mr. Thomas Naulty, alluded to by the Times, as one of those whole-souled Irishmen, who was ready at one period in his life, to assign a farm, located on one of the mountain summits in this county, to any good "Dimocrat" for a song and the taxes.

Brady Township Institute.—The teachers of Brady township held one of their most successful Institutes at DuBois, Feb. 1st. Twenty teachers were present. The evening session was held in the Presbyterian Church. The pews were filled. Among the exercises was an address by Prof. P. S. Weber on "Luck and Pluck." It was decisive and applicable. Many of the citizens encouraged the teachers very much by their presence.

They will hold their next Institute at Troutville on Saturday next, the 15th inst. All interested in the cause of education are requested to attend. Rev. John Wolbach, of Troutville, Rev. L. G. Hetrick, of DuBois, and M. L. McQuown, County Superintendent, of Clearfield, will deliver lectures at the evening session.

Clearfield Coal Trade.—Statement of Coal and other freights sent over the Tyrone & Clearfield Division, Pennsylvania Railroad, for the week ending February 1, 1879, and the same time last year:—

Frying Raw Potatoes.—We thought we knew how to fry potatoes; but we found we were mistaken when a lady friend who came to stop with us a few days convinced us she had a better way. And such a little difference there was in the cooking of them, too—to make them so much nicer—the secret was in keeping them covered as they were cooked.

The potatoes were washed, pared and sliced thin; put to fry in a spider previously heated and buttered the same as I was in the habit of doing; salted to taste; and to think that just keeping them covered should make so much difference and improvement—in the way of cooking them. They would come to the table as crispy and crusted, with scarcely a slice broken, owing to the care of handling when being turned over. Oh! they are nice, and taste just as mother's did at home.—Exchange.

Debating It.—We are informed that the Penn Township Literary and Debating Society have fixed upon Pennville as the place, and next Saturday afternoon, at 2 o'clock, as the time, to debate the question, whether or not, capital punishment should be abolished. Penn township turns out some able debaters, and those who favor this means of mental culture can spend no afternoon more profitable than to go and listen to the discussion, or, if so disposed, take part in the proceedings.

We notice that the late Elisha Fenton, by his will and testament, has left the above-named institution $200 worth of books and $100 in money, provided that somebody else, of the community, raise $200. We have no doubt but that the citizens of Penn will do this, and give more, if necessary. We presume the members of the Lyceum (if they propose to avail themselves of this bequest) will have to apply to our court for a charter, before they can legally cover the money into the Treasury.

Miraculous Escape.—Newt. Shaw's team of blacks created considerable sensation in this place on Tuesday evening, the 4th, by trave ing about our streets at a rapid gait, with a sled and no driver. A party of six—four ladies and two gentlemen—were in the sled, enjoying a sleigh-ride that beautiful moonlight night, and while returning home, the sled was upset by some means, near where Mr. John A. McBride lives, about a mile and a half west of town. The occupants were spilled out and the team with the sled came over Coal hill and through the Market street bridge to town, where, after parading several of the streets, they were caught near Weaver & Betts' store, on Second street. No damage was done to either team or sled, which was driven back to Mr. McBride's, when the ladies had been left, and returned home, they congratulating each other that it was no worse. No one was injured except the driver, who was thrown about ten feet, head foremost, into a ditch. He was cut somewhat about the face and bruised about the body. Take everything into consideration, it was one of the most fortunate runaways we have ever heard of.

Penitentiary Deeds Lifted.—The Huntingdon Local News says that on Thursday evening last, after consultation and negotiations which continued during the day, Messrs. Hart, Secretary, and McPherson, Attorney, for the Penitentiary Commission, lifted all the deeds to the land embraced in the Middle Penitentiary site at that place. This consummates the desired ultimatum that had its origin in June last, when Senator H. G. Fisher introduced the bill for the institution in the State Legislature. There were thirty-seven deeds examined in order to ascertain the chain of title to the land, and all of them have been recorded in the Recorder's office. The property purchased embraces the following:

7 houses east of turnpike	$ 6,230
Springs property	1,250
Weatherock's house on the site	1,025
Vo Logan Martin	200
15 acres from R. R. Bryan	1,300
Total	$10,005

The Commission bought the following:

12 acres from R. R. Bryan	$ 1,200
Lot belonging to Lutheran Church	250
Additional property near Springs	122
To Frank Hufright	52
Total	$ 1,624

Making a total of about 33 acres, for which the sum of $11,629 was paid. The property includes the land beginning at the forks of the McConnellstown and Alexandria roads, a short distance above Smithfield.

Death of a Hermit.—An old man supposed to be named Michael Backet, who lived a hermit life in the woods about three and a half miles back of Kittanning Point, was found dead in his hut on Friday last. His hut consisted of a couple of logs laid together in the shape of a V, covered with brush. About two weeks ago a boy named Degin passed by the hut and the old man complained of being sick, but although the boy reported this fact no inquiry was taken into the condition of the old man. The remains were brought to Altoona on Saturday and Coroner Hunter impaneled a jury, who rendered a verdict of death from exposure. The Altoona Tribune, from which we take the above particulars, says: His clothing was dirty and impregnated with coal dust, little clouds of which would float away when the garments were torn off in sections. From the quantity of rags the old man had stuffed about his bosom it would seem that he had laid down on his back to keep warm. No less than seven garments of different kinds—shirts, vests and coats—were drawn from his body, and his legs were covered with four or five pairs of common pantaloons. Several pairs of stockings were on his feet, but he had worn no shoes. In his pockets were found a couple of pieces of manuscript, two or three scraps o printed paper, matches, a piece of coal pencil, a two-dollar bill, a twenty-five cent silver piece, and five pennies. It is related of the poor old man who died thus miserably that he would tramp around at times for two or three days with nothing to eat, when he would visit a farm house and eat enough for half a dozen men, pay for it, and disappear. From the fact that he had paid for his outfits the idea gained strength that he had money secreted somewhere; but $2.50 was all that was found. It is stated that he claimed a piece of ground in the vicinity of his burrow, and that he lived as he did in order to retain possession of it, seeming to think it was in danger of being seized. The old man secreted during his lifetime that he had brothers residing in the vicinity of Claysburg.

E. K. Thompson—Dear Sir: I am a hard-laboring man, and have been troubled for two years with pain in my chest, hurting me to take a long breath, and feeling so tired that I could not walk far without a good deal of effort; at times dizzy in my head. Thought I would have to stop working. I got a bottle of your Harmony and a box of Dandelion and Mandrake Pills, which have relieved me very much indeed—feel like a new man. Shall continue to take one bottle more, which I think will make me entirely well. C. J. Lemmon.

A Drunken Juror Stops a Court.—An exchange says: "We have heard of the business of Court being suspended on account of the sickness of a juror or the indisposition of the Judge, but it is left for a Huntingdon county jury to cause the adjournment of court because of drunkenness. Says the News of last week: William Houck, a farmer of Tod township, was drawn to serve as a juror in the case of George Fleming vs. The Pennsylvania Canal Company. The case proceeded, although, as the report proved, Mr. Houck was then under the influence of liquor, with mind unfitted to weigh the evidence. In the morning court was called and Mr. Houck was absent. The sheriff was sent in search of him and found him out of town wending his way homeward. He was brought back and lodged in jail until in the afternoon, when he was summoned before the Court and asked if he had anything to say in exculpation of his misconduct. He unhesitatingly replied that he had not. Judge Dean then recounted the duties of the Jury Commissioners to place in the wheel the names of sober, discreet and intelligent citizens, a duty in which they had utterly failed in his case. He then pinioned to the culprit the disgrace he had brought upon himself by indulging his appetite in strong drink, and the loss of a fine $1,000 he had caused. He was sentenced to pay a fine of $200, and have his name stricken from the list of jurors hereafter. The eleven jurors were then discharged. Defendant's counsel refusing to continue the case with less than the Constitutional number.

IMPORTANT ROAD LAW DECISION.

Recently Judge Galbraith, of Erie county, decided a question of some importance under the road law. It defined the rights of owners on a point that is arising continuously under our complex special legislation. The plaintiff, John W. Dawley, resides in Franklin township, Erie county, on the Population road. The defendants were the Supervisors of Franklin township and others employed by them. In 1874 the Supervisors of Franklin township employed the County Surveyor to survey the Population road, with instruction to find the line of the original survey of the road. According to the line run by Platt, under these directions, the road through Dawley's improvement appeared to be from three to seven feet too far west and the Supervisors ordered him to move his fence on the east side of the road back east in accordance with this new survey. Dawley's house and grain barn stood on the east side of the road, and he had built a good fence in front of his house, with iron posts, etc., and a nice stake and rail fence the balance of the distance, in all about ninety rods of fence, and had set shade trees along the whole line. All these and other improvements had been made with reference to the road as actually opened and travelled since the year 1831, forty-seven years ago. The road was the lawful width, 50½ feet, and the fence which the Supervisors required him to move was twenty feet east over from the centre of the travelled track, and being advised in regard to the law of the case he refused to comply with the order of the Supervisors. In the fall of 1875 the Supervisors came on with help and tore down and threw back the fence above referred to, and Dawley brought an action of trespass against them the same year to recover damages. The Court, after a very careful consideration of the law, decided that the Supervisors have no right to relocate a road in order to replace it on what they may suppose to be recorded site, and that a road once laid out and opened and used by the public for a term of years, whether opened on its recorded site or not, can only be altered by a view proceeding under the road law.

Died.

In Houtsdale borough, on Monday, January 27th, 1879, William, only son of Luke and Sarah Riley, aged 2 years.

In Lawrence township, on Thursday, January 30th, 1879, Ashley, son of Wesley and Bertha I. Norris, aged 5 months.

One little treasure waiting up yonder,
Freed from time and all its wars;
One precious bond that nothing can sunder
Way up there 'among Eternity's stars.

Two little arms will stretch out to greet us
When our tears are all shed and were all done;
One wee white face, smile to, will meet us
On the beautiful shore where God is the sun.

The snow-pure spirit went home to bliss
Ere sorrow had darkened and sin had marred;
Without a shadowing rod to kiss,
Or tear to gloom its sky-heaven starred. N.

In Pennville, on Sunday, February 24, 1879, of typhoid pneumonia, Stella, daughter of George and Sarah Haney, aged 5 years, 2 months and 18 days.

When we see a precious blossom
That we tended with such care,
Rudely taken from our bosom,
How our aching hearts despair!

Around its little grave we linger
Till the setting sun is low,
Feeling all our hopes have perished
With the flower we cherished so. L. M.

At Port Matilda, Centre county, on Thursday, February 6th, 1879, William E. Ardesy, agea 21 years, 8 months and 20 days.

Why Will You

Allow a cold to advance in your system and thus encourage more serious maladies, such as pneumonia, bronchitis and lung troubles when an immediate relief can be readily attained Boerhave's German Syrup has gained the largest sale in the world for the cure of Coughs, colds, and the severer Lung Diseases. It is Dr. Boerhave's famous German prescription, and is prepared with the greatest care, and no fear need be entertained in administering it to the youngest child, as per directions. The sale of this medicine is unprecedented, since first introduced there has been a constant increasing demand, and without a single report of a failure to do its work in any case. Ask your druggist at once for a bottle of these remedies. Large size 75 cts. Try it and be convinced. July 1st, 1878-tow 1y.

I Wish Everybody to Know.

Rev. George H. Thayer, an old citizen of this vicinity known to every one as a most influential citizen, and Christian Minister of the M. E. Church just this moment stopped in our store to say, "I wish every body to know that I consider that both myself and wife owe our lives to Scotch's Consumption Cure." It is having a tremendous sale over our counters and is giving perfect satisfaction in all cases of Lung Diseases, such as nothing else has done. Bourbon, Ind. May 1, '78. Drs. Mottsett & Fisher sold by Hartwick & Irwin and C. D. Watson, Clearfield, Pa.

The most popular and fragrant perfume of the day "BACKMACK" try it. Sold by Hartwick & Irwin, and C. D. Watson, Clearfield Pa.
