The Pittsburgh Gazette.

CITY AND SUBURBAN.

The Gazette is furnished in the city for six days of the week for 15 cents per week; by mail, $8 per annum: 3 mos., $2.

Pittsburgh Councils will meet Monday afternoon, November 14th.

Sixteen citizens, male and female, occupied the lock-up at one o'clock this morning.

Yesterday afternoon a lady fell from a wagon in Lawrenceville and fractured two ribs. Dr. H. H. Clark rendered medical attention.

Yesterday Deputy Mayor Cartwright committed Jacob Keiser to jail for vagrancy. Jacob has been annoying East Liberty with his presence for a few weeks past.

Allegheny Commandery, No. 35, Knights Templars, will be instituted in the new Masonic Hall, Friday evening, November 12th by Sir Knight Robert Pitcairn, P. G. Commander of the State.

Trouble about an Oath.—Yesterday Thomas Whittaker alleged before Alderman Butler that John Gilles had sworn falsely in a certain case of illegal liquor-selling, before Alderman Hewen. Warrant issued.

Large Funeral.—The mortal remains of A. A. Carrier, Esq., were yesterday followed to the grave by a large concourse of people, who assembled to pay the last tribute of respect to a gentleman who was so much honored and admired.

Yesterday morning a piece of slate fell from the roof of St. Andrew Church, Ninth street, and struck Patrick Chialett, a laborer, on the head, inflicting painful injuries. Dr. Hamilton dressed the wound, which is not dangerous.

Handsome Dividend.—D. C. Holtz, Esq., Secretary of the Pittsburgh Insurance Company, one of our safest and most prosperous home institutions, announces a dividend of five dollars per share free of taxes, out of the earnings, which will be paid forthwith.

Threatened.—Thos. Whittaker states that Leonard Burke maliciously and with evil intent demeaned himself in such a manner toward him, that he fears bodily harm at his hands. Ald. Taylor notified his officer to wait on Leonard and induce him to visit the office for an explanation.

Consolation.—It will be a matter of pleasant information to some, that hanging hereafter in Allegheny county will take place inside the new jail, not in a damp and disagreeable yard as heretofore, where the doomed man was apt to catch cold while waiting for the final shifting.

Enterprise.—Pittsburgh is fairly alive with building improvements. Brown and white stone, most of the former being brought from Philadelphia, and the latter from Massillon, Ohio, are generally used for fronts, iron being almost entirely discarded, although equally as pretty and more enduring.

Fires in the County.—From the report of the Fire Marshall, G. W. Murphy, it appears that there have been eight fires in the county during the month of October, and that the property destroyed amounted to $7,459, upon which there was insurance to the amount of $3,787; not insured $3,672.

A Brutal Father.—Information was made before Justice Salisbury, yesterday, by Catharine Slocnski, against her husband, John Slocnski, charging him with assault and battery. She alleges that John beat and abused his daughter in a brutal manner. The accused was arrested and held for a hearing.

Whisky Cases.—Chief Hague yesterday made informations before the Mayor charging Henry Schultz, Christ. Klotz, Barney Leisler, Mrs. McCauley, A. Gernet and J. M. Robeitzer with selling liquor on Sunday. The actions were instituted to recover the penalty of $50, and a summons was issued in each case.

Dedication.—It will be seen by a notice elsewhere that the new Presbyterian Church at Bloomfield, in the Sixteenth ward, is to be dedicated on Sunday next. Morning, afternoon and evening services will be held, at which the Rev. Drs. S. J. Wilson and W. D. Howard, and Rev. W. B. McIlvaine, will officiate. The occasion will be one of peculiar interest, and a very large attendance may be expected.

False Representations.—Yesterday Jacob Lossing, proprietor of a boarding house, corner of Bedford avenue and Fulton street, charged Francis Courtney before Alderman McMasters, with obtaining boarding to the amount of twenty-five dollars by representing he had money in bank, which was subsequently ascertained to be false. A warrant was issued.

Coal Yard Fight.—Yesterday Frederick Brininger made information before Alderman Thomas alleging that George Graham had struck him in the face with his fist. The row occurred in a coal yard, and was occasioned it is said by a business difficulty. The deffendant was arrested and held for a hearing. He claims that Brininger used insulting language toward him which justified an assault.

Personal.—Dr. Reid, late of the firm of Drs. Lighthill & Reid, will open an office at No. 137 Grant Street, Pittsburgh, from November 6th until the 13th, inclusive. He will be pleased to meet any of his former patients and all others who may need his services, in the curing of old chronic complaints of the Eye, Ear, Throat and Lungs, Catarrh and Deafness. He also removes cancers by a new process, without the use of instruments. Remember the time and place, and call and see him. Consultation free. 6

Lamp Explosion.—Last night, about eight o'clock, an alarm of fire was struck from box 45, Allegheny Fire Department, located at the Ellsworth Engine House. The alarm was occasioned by the explosion of a lamp in the residence of Mr. Jas. McDonald, Third street. The lamp had been placed in a chair, and was just lighted when the explosion occurred, and the oil was scattered over the room. The chair and the carpet in the center of the room were burned, but further than this no damage was done. The engines were out, but did not go into service.

Still in the Lock-up.—The young man who was taken to the lock-up from the Connellsville Depot, Tuesday evening, because of insanity, still remains in that comfortable institution. The next day after his arrest he had a lucid interval of about half an hour, during which it was ascertained that his name is August Kephanger and that his friends reside in New York. He has been in St Louis for some months and was on his way home when the malady came upon him. His sister, Mrs. Sophie Linda, who resides in New York, has been telegraphed to relative to the case.

Home Again.—Our esteemed neighbor, Mr. William M. Bell, of the manufacturing firm of Holmes, Bell & Co., reached home yesterday, in fine health. He sailed from New York in company with a party of friends on the 30th June, and has, during an absence of four months, crossed and recrossed the Atlantic and visited a large part of Insular and Continental Europe, including England, Ireland, Scotland, France, Italy, Switzerland and most of the German States. A sincere and heartfelt welcome home greets him on all sides. May his shadow never be less.

Row in a Rolling Mill.

Yesterday Thomas Keller appeared before Alderman Thomas and made information against John Burke for assault and battery. The parties are employed in the Keystone Rolling Mill, and had a dispute, when it is alleged Burke overcame his opponent by a forcible argument in the way of an iron crowbar, which he wielded vigorously, and greatly to the discomfiture of his opponent. The Alderman issued a warrant for the arrest of the accused. There was subsequently a rumor afloat that Burke had fallen through a trestle work on the Connellsville Railroad and seriously injured himself, but we could not trace the rumor to any reliable source.

Inquest Concluded.

Yesterday afternoon Alderman Donaldson concluded the inquest on the body of the young man who met with his death on the Fort Wayne railroad on Wednesday. The witnesses testified substantially as we gave the particulars, with the exception of the brakeman, who said he observed three men climbing on the train just before it reached the Ohio street bridge, but that he did not see them get on top of the car or see them after the accident. It is supposed that one of them was the unfortunate victim. The jury, after half a dozen witnesses had been examined, returned a verdict that the deceased, Boyd C. Algeo, came to his death on Wednesday evening, November 3rd, 1869, by being run over by a freight train drawn by engine No. 30, Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railroad, he having accidentally fallen off the train upon the track between Ohio and Ridge street, and the jury fully exonerates the employes of the same from any blame in the matter.

The parents of the deceased arrived from Herriottsville yesterday morning, and returned with the body for burial at home.

Another Case.

We mentioned a few days ago that Mr. Kinney Goff, Salt Inspector, had brought suit before Alderman Thomas against a grocer in the Diamond for refusing to allow him to inspect a quantity of imported salt, the merchant claiming that it did not come under the regulations of salt manufactured at home. The case was regarded as a test, and the Alderman's decision being against the merchant, it was appealed to Court. Since then another information has been made by Mr. Goff, on the same charge, against Mr. S. H. Baird, on Second avenue. The case was heard yesterday and the decision of the Alderman reserved. This, to our wholesale merchants, is an important matter, as they contend, and apparently with justice, that if the sacks containing the salt are once opened, they cannot be put together again in a proper manner, for storage, except at the manufactory; further that every time the salt is exposed to the air it is to a certain extent injured, and that the inspection of the salt in the manner prescribed is a waste of an article which is valuable, and entails a great loss upon them. The decision of the Court will be looked for with interest.

Street Cars.

We recommend the following paragraph from the New York Commercial Advertiser, to the especial attention of our street railway companies. We believe, that, as a general thing, our street cars are as well managed and comfortable as can be found in any city of the Union, but there are some exceptions to be made against a few of the conductors and drivers, who would probably be the better of a few words of advice upon the subject:

Now that the cold weather is coming on, the managers of our horse railroads should see to making their cars as comfortable as possible. During the winter months they are generally as uncomfortable as possible, and productive of not a few coughs, colds and other bodily complaints. The doors and windows should be closely fitted to the casings, leaving no apertures for air currents, and every car should be kept supplied with an abundance of fresh and clean straw. The exercise of a little foresight in these matters will add very materially to the comfort and health of passengers.

New Goods at an Old House.

E Houston & Son, merchant tailors, clothiers and dealers in gentlemen's furnishing goods, No. 107 Fifth avenue, corner Cherry alley, announce that they have just received, for the fall and winter trade of 1869-70, one of the largest and most judiciously assorted stocks of new goods, peculiar to their line of business, ever opened in the city. The stock embraces all the latest novelties of the fashionable world in the way of cloths, cassimeres and vestings, together with a fine assortment of well made and stylish clothing and gents' furnishing goods. They propose selling at greatly reduced prices, adopting a new system in their business, to sell at a very slight margin over cost, and thus rapidly turn their goods into money. From a life-times knowledge of these gentlemen we can commend them to our friends as eminently worthy their patronage, they being fair, honest and honorable in all their dealings.

OIL IN FLAMES.

Fire at Citizens' Refinery—Destruction of Warehouse and Oil—Loss $11,000—Fully Insured.

Yesterday afternoon a destructive fire occurred at the Citizens' Oil Refinery, just above the Sharpsburg bridge, which for a time threatened the demolition of the entire works. The first intimation of the conflagration given in the city was an alarm struck about three o'clock, which quickly summoned the fire department in full force to the scene. It seems that the fire was occasioned by a hot coal, dropped by a passing locomotive on the Allegheny Valley Railroad, which ignited a small quantity of oil spilled where it fell. The flames from this communicated to the gas from the refinery, which, during the present heavy atmosphere, circulates along the ground. It spread like a flash of lightning and reached the warehouse located but a few rods from the track, which, in an instant, was a blaze. The warehouse contained at the time between six and seven hundred barrels of refined oil, and the attention of the workmen was directed to saving it. The fire burned with such fierceness however, that only about one hundred barrels were secured, the balance, over five hundred barrels, falling a prey to the devouring element. The warehouse, a one storied structure, was also completely destroyed, but as it was located at some distance from the main portion of the works, the flames were prevented from spreading beyond it. The works were constructed in such a manner that plenty of space intervened between the tanks, stills, and every department, which alone prevented, on this occasion, their entire destruction. The company had a large quantity of oil, crude and refined, on hand, but fortunately the fire was kept within bounds and the damage will be comparatively small.

The total loss, including oil and warehouse, will not exceed ten thousand dollars, which is fully covered by insurance in eastern companies.

The "Citizen" is owned by a stock company, consisting of Messrs. J. M. Brush, James Bowen, The Messrs. McCord, Theodore Tack, D. F. Agnew, A. Lyons, and S. Owens. It is very carefully constructed, and is considered one of the largest and best refineries in this vicinity. The burning of the warehouse will not interfere with the running of the works, as it will be rebuilt immediately and another building occupied until its completion.

A Safe and Reliable Fire Insurance Company.

We do not know any subject of more special interest to the general business public as well as to all owners of real estate, than that of fire insurance. No prudent or cautious merchant will permit his place of business, his home or household, to remain a single hour in risk from accidents by fire, the most destructive of all elements, without having a compensating insurance on which to rely in emergencies. But it is better to have no insurance than to take out policies in companies unworthy of confidence, who will battle in Court against paying a cent when called upon to do so. In most cases the litigation draws from the assured as much as he can expect finally to realize as the result of his vexatious legal proceedings. It is, therefore, a matter of vital importance to those taking out insurance that they select a reliable and responsible company, such for instance as the Continental of New York, which has through a long term of years maintained a proud and leading position among the first class corporations of the country. It can abundantly afford to be honest and honorable, and those insured in it can feel as safe as possible. With cash assets amounting to over two and a quarter millions of dollars, no fire no matter how extensive it might be, or whether the whole country was simultaneously laid in ashes, could prevent the Continental from discharging every dollar of its liabilities. The system on which the affairs of this company are managed inures largely to the advantage of its customers—three quarters of the profits being divided in July of each year with them in scrip bearing interest at six per cent, until redeemed in cash, the remaining quarter only being divided among the stockholders. It requires no searching mental process to discover that by this system the customers of the company obtain their insurances at about what it costs the Continental to protect them, and under no circumstance are they liable for the losses. Those contemplating changing their policies or taking out new insurance on insurable interests, should give the Continental due consideration and call at the office of its courteous agent, James W. Arrott, Esq., No. 167 Wood street, where all needful information may be obtained.

Amusements.

OPERA HOUSE.—The patrons of the Opera House had the pleasure of hearing the Leffingwell in his speciality of the "Gushing Chlorinda," last evening, and to-night "Fra Diavolo" will be presented with the Leffingwell as "Beppo." Go and see him.

PITTSBURGH THEATRE.—The Lopez troupe of juvenile acrobats and gymnasts, in connection with the many other attractions presented to the patrons of the Pittsburgh Theatre, by Manager Williams, are drawing large audiences.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—"Perfectly delighted" would hardly express the sentiments of the intelligent and very large audience which greeted the inimitable Vandenhoff on the occasion of his first entertainment at the Academy of Music last evening. That popular reader and perfect elocutionist never seemed in better trim, and from the opening to the close of the entertainment held the attention of the audience completely, except when interrupted by cordial and flattering applause. His selections embraced every character from "gay to grave, from lively to severe," in the rendition of which the reader seemed equally at home, and exhibited the wonderful versatility of his genius. To-night the second entertainment will be given, and as it may be the last opportunity his admirers and the admirers of the highest style of elocutionary ability will have of hearing him, the occasion should be improved. For this evening the following entirely new programme has been selected:—"Paradise and the Peri," "Gaffer Gray," "The Destruction of Sennacherib," "Louise on the Door Step," "John Brown," "Scene from Sheridan's School for Scandal," "The Battle of Ivry," "For 'a That and a' That," "Mr. Winkle's Midnight Adventure."

The tickets are but fifty cents. Go early and secure a good seat, as there are none reserved.

On a Lark.

Three young sports of Allegheny started out Wednesday evening to make a "night of it," and succeeded so well in their designs that daylight next morning found them, with unsteady and slow steps, endeavoring to make their way up Federal street, bearing with them in soiled clothing, weary gait, and general dejected appearance evidences of their evening's entertainment. This, however, was not all. One of them, who occupies a room somewhere in the vicinity, took his companions there to sleep off their dissipation before again appearing in public. While in the room, instead of retiring they commenced the careless inspection of a revolver, and as a result, the weapon was discharged, the ball entering the foot of one of them, who it is needless to say was instantly sobered up A physician was hastily summoned, the ball extracted and the wound dressed. The young man was then allowed to occupy the apartment until evening, when he was removed to his home. The accident was one under the circumstances unavoidable, and no information of course has been made. That young man hereafter will carry a memento of the occasion, which, if not agreeable, may at least be useful in teaching him to avoid the like in the future.

Confidential.

Another confidence game was developed yesterday. Twenty dollars was the amount which a young man from the country was swindled out of by a well dressed, oily talker, and a first-class confidence man at the Union Depot. The youth was employed by the stranger to take charge of a lot of horses, which were to be shipped to Baltimore. After the bargain, the two took a walk, stranger in a short time borrowed twenty dollars until he could get some gold changed, went to bank for that purpose, stranger went in, young man staid out long enough to discover that he was out all around, just the amount of the loan. Last evening he called upon the police, who are now on the lookout for the interesting stranger. He is not found and likely never will be.

Health and Fashion.

There are no two things in the whole vocabulary of more interest and importance to ladies, than health and fashion, for upon them, in an essential degree, depends the attractive appearance of the fair sex, and upon that attractive appearance depends, what they were born for, and what is their greatest and only earthly heaven, the admiration and love of the opposite sex.

These reflections have been suggested to us by the appropriateness and advantage of a fashion, which is becoming every day more and more universal, both in Europe and America. We mean that of wearing furs. Nothing is so essential to the health as well as the appearance of a lady, as to preserve those vital and delicate organs which are situated about the neck and chest. Left to exposure they become coarse, or wither and decay, but properly sheltered from the chilling winds of winter, like the plant in the nursery, they bloom in perpetual beauty.

Furs are not only the natural provision for the protection of those delicate and vital portions of the body; but there is nothing which so gracefully sets off the form, and heightens the attractive appearance of a lady, as a neatly fitting set of these rich and luxurious articles. A proof of this fact is found in the great rage which exists all over the world for this article of winter dress. Nothing is so genteel, nothing so comfortable, and no lady at church or on the street is now considered well dressed, without a set of furs.

Another great advantage of this fashion is the durableness of the article. A good set of furs, which costs no more than a shawl, will last a lifetime, and while the fashion of the shawl or sacque will change with every season, the furs are always fashionable.

To supply this inestimable article of comfort and luxury, the far off regions of Russia, of Hudson's Bay, of Africa, or of the Arctic Ocean, are taxed. The immense White Bear of the Polar region, the Bengal Tiger—the dread and terror of the native residents, the Seal, the Otter and Mink, in fact almost the whole animal kingdom are availed of, and under the skilful manipulations of our ingenious artizans, the animal hides are transformed into garments, rich, rare and comfortable, which resist the winds of winter with impunity.

Among the dealers in Pittsburgh, we know of none whose experience and extensive trade more thoroughly fit them for extensive operations in Furs, than the justly renowned and great representation Fur and Hat House of Wm. Fleming & Co., 139 Wood street. An examination of their extensive stock reveals to us one of the richest and finest assortments of Ladies', Misses' and Gentlemen's Furs we have ever seen.

They have Hudson Bay Sable, Mink Sable, Siberian Squirrel, Astracan, Persian Lamb, and every other variety, from the cheapest and plainest to the most valuable and magnificent sets. Their extensive cash purchases and rapid sales enable them to sell the same articles at from fifteen to twenty-five per cent. less than any other house in this part of the State. As no misrepresentations are allowed, all classes of our citizens may rely on being suited, and in getting the precise articles represented to them. We therefore unhesitatingly recommend the great wholesale and retail house of Fleming & Co., 139 Wood street, as the best place to go for furs. They are opening this week an immense new stock, unsurpassed for its variety and excellence.

Poplar Alley Excited.

Yesterday morning Poplar alley, that delectable locality in the Sixth ward, was excited by reason of hostilities between Margaret Catlin, a dusky female, and Margaret Duffey, a white ditto. The cause of the quarrel dates back to a period in the long ago, when Mrs. Catlin offended Mrs. Duffey and created a feud, which has existed ever since. Yesterday it broke out in a violent manner, when Mrs. Duffey so far forgot herself as to threaten her opponent with decapitation, by a painful process. That worthy immediately recognized her advantage and at once sought Alderman Thomas, laid before him an information for surety of the peace and caused a warrant to be issued for the arrest of Mrs. Duffey, who, by her impolitic conduct, lost all advantage in the dispute.

Exit Blondes.

It is intimated that the blondes are not to have it all their own way this winter, as they have had for several years past. The brunettes, instead of dyeing their hair a dingy yellow, and daubing their skins until their complexions looked like raw starch, have wisely determined to stick to their own brilliant and natural attractions, and fight it out upon that line. They have discovered that their utmost efforts only succeeded in producing a hideous sort of resemblance to the blondes, who were thus left masters of the field, superior to competition or rivalry.

This supremacy received a great blow, however, a few weeks ago, at a grand wedding which was considered as inaugurating the fashionable season. The beautiful bride, though not strictly a brunette, was not at all a blonde, but the four bridesmaids, all exceedingly lovely, were all decided brunettes, and wore in their dark tresses, only the scarlet flowers of the sweet-scented geranium. Their dresses were triumphs of art and taste. They consisted of white tulle, bouillons, trimmed with white satin paniers. The boquets of scarlet flours were placed on the left side of the bodice.—N. Y. World.

Bronze.—They were shrewd men who constituted the people known as the "bronze race," or the race of men who used bronze tools and implements of war. There are virtues in this alloy that we have not yet fully appreciated. We have fine edge tools of it if we could discover the ancient method of hardening them. Chantrey, the sculptor, tried the experiment, and got so far as to make a bronze razor, with which he was wont to shave himself every morning. Of the durability of bronze we need say nothing, but its property of conferring durability upon contiguous objects is not well known. In fact, it has only just come out, in the course of an examination by a French chemist of the public statues in and about Paris. It was found that the stone pedestals of all those made of bronze were in perfect preservation, while all the supports of other figures had more or less decayed. It was clear that the bronze arrested decay; and when the rationale of its actions was discussed, little doubt remained that the rain-water trickling from the bronze upon stone contained a trace of copper in solution and that this poisoned the cryptogamous plants to which the disintegration of stone is probably due.

Indian Summer.—The New York Farmers' Club speculates upon the cause of Indian Summer in this wise: The warm, smoky spell known as Indian Summer, which is perhaps more peculiar to the Northwestern States of America than any other portion of the globe, always occurs after the first killing frost, not the first white frost, but one which is severe enough to bring down nearly all the forest leaves and kill the herbaceous plants. The bulk of vegetation thus destroyed is almost incalculable. In its decay this is undergoing slow combustion. Who can calculate the amount of smoke and heat given off, or what effect this must produce upon the atmosphere, or tell whether that is not the true cause of Indian Summer? In support of this theory the fact is patent that when forests were much more extensive the Indian Summer was longer, warmer and more smoky than at present.

A Cleveland citizen submits the question whether the Nicolson wood pavement in that city has proved a success or failure, and partially answers it by stating that as far as a smooth roadway is concerned it is, but he has some reserved points as to the matter of its durability. Its advocates claim that the pavement will last twelve years, but portions laid in 1860 and 1867, taken up to make water or gas connections, reveal the fact that some of the blocks are unsound, the tar-coated surface showing smooth, while the inside indicated rapid decay from dry rot. These rotten blocks, he says, must soon give way to the pressure of heavily loaded vehicles, or even to the tread of the horse, and this kind of pavement may become even more uneven on its general surface than the worst paved street.

TUESDAY EVENING, Nov. 9th, at 7½ o'clock, will be sold on second Floor of Commercial Sales Rooms, 105 Smithfield street, 2,500 shares Western Pennsylvania Oil Stock. The par value of the stock is $3 00 per share, all paid in. It has paid the last six months 54 cents per share from its earnings and the price of oil still increasing. This is a handsome dividend on an investment of say $1,00 per share, which has been about the ruling rate. The above stock is to be sold.
