INSTALMENT peddlers should be taxed!

NO BETTER man could be elected superintendent of public schools for Carbon county that Prof. N. M. Balliet of Normal Square.

SHOULD Mr. George Esser, of Mauch Chunk secure the appointment of Revenue Collector, he will make a good official. Congressman Mutchler is for Mr. Esser.

IT is amusing to read in the partisan press that the Democrats are making a "disgraceful scramble for the spoils." We would kindly turn them back to 1888 and then let 'em consider.

THE ADVOCATE would kindly invite Council to give some consideration to the arc light for street illumination. The incandescent light does not answer the purpose for which they are intended. Lehighton is big enough to have something better.

ALL ABANDONED wells should be filled in and not used for cesspools or drains for water closets. By preventing this now there will be no need to guard against sickness and epidemic later on. In any action in this direction council should heartily support the board of health.

THE BRIDGE across the canal remains intact, a menace to the safety of the traveling public. When the L. C. & N. Co., loses its grip on the law, the people may get the necessary new bridge, in the meantime, perhaps the best thing to do is to quietly grin and bear it.

THE GENEROSITY of the Carbon County Commissioners is only exceeded by their broad and genuine disinterested philanthropy. For a year it was understood that the appraisement should appear in the Record, Gazette and Advocate, but in order not to tread on the toes of the press it is divided up and given to six newspapers and there is now just about enough in it to pay for the setting up of the type. When the newspapers of the county begin to learn a little more of independence and a dollar doesn't look like a wagon wheel to them we can expect something different, but will the time ever come?

A CONSENTRATED effort should be made during the coming months to have a new Lehigh Valley railroad station built in the rear of the Exchange Hotel. The present station is a very small affair, too small by far for the big business done here by the Valley, while at the same time it is badly located. A station in the rear of the Exchange Hotel would convenience the public—both passenger and freight traffic find be a long felt want, most excellently filled. Perhaps if this matter were brought to the attention of the company through the medium of a petition from our business men this object could be accomplished. There is nothing like making an effort in this direction any way!

THE PANAMA scandle exemplifies the fact that the "rascal" is not alone confined to the United States. It appears that the greed for gain, the desire for money has so thoroughly satiated and so completely permeated civilization, that to get this "root of all evil" men now steep their souls in the basest crime and bring ruin and disgrace upon themselves and families. It was Ingersoll, we believe, who said that "riches were a gilded hell," yet men plunge wildly and recklessly into the vortex every day. Some radical measures should be adopted to put a stop to this mad race or we will soon be short of prison cells. Added to this suicides are on the increase, many of them brought about through financial difficulties, caused by speculation and fast living. It is time to stop and consider "where we are at."

THERE ARE some men who are always candidates. You can set them down as candidates. The chill winds of popular disfavor may strike them but they are candidates. They may go down under the avalanche of ballots, but they bob up serenely as candidates again. Their case may look hopeless; there may be no dawn to their night, but they are candidates nevertheless. They meet you while running for office and with tears in their eyes ask "if you can't do no good don't do me no harm." They haunt the streets like living ghosts; they enter public places like man who have lost all that is dear and near to them, with wistful, pitiful countenances and soon begin to tell their woes to any one who may lend a willing ear; they are up early in the morning to catch the workingman, upon the "b'hoys." Defeat does not dispel their ambition, nor discouragement teach them to work for a living, but on the contrary they live in hope till "life's last ember burns."

RAILROAD brakemen throughout the country feel considerably elated over their successful efforts in having a law passed by congress and signed by the president compelling every railroad engaged in inter-state traffic to have its cars fitted with automatic couplers. More lives are lost and more men are wounded every year through accidents in coupling cars than in any other occupation in the country, mining or actual army service not excepted. The slaughter of brakemen has been steadily in creasing, and the automatic coupler is expected to lessen the danger considerable. The railroad brotherhood have worked unceasingly for the past ten years for this law, and to organized labor must be given the credit of having it passed. Too much time has been given the companies to have their cars equipped with the new coupler. Two or three years would have been sufficient to change from the old to the new system, but congress has given them until January 1, 1898, before the law will go into effect.

THE READING MUDDLE.

Bondholders Demand the Removal of Receiver McLeod.

CASE MAY BE TAKEN INTO COURT

New York Bondholders Opposed to the Issuance of Certificates by the Receivers Which May Have Priority Over Their Bonds.

PHILADELPHIA, March 16.—Messrs. Charles B. McMichael and John R. Dos Passos, representing a number of prominent holders of the Reading railroad company's general mortgage bonds, have sent a communication to the trustees under the mortgage, asking: First, To intervene to prevent the issuance of receiver's certificates by the receivers of the Reading railroad, which may have any priority to the aforesaid bonds. Second, to reform the mortgage so as to provide for the setting aside of ten (10) cents on each ton of coal mined by the Reading Railroad company, as a sinking fund for the aforesaid bonds. Third, to ask for the removal of Mr. McLeod as one of the receivers.

Charles McMichael, counsel for the New York bondholders of the Reading railroad, who yesterday applied to the Pennsylvania Company for Granting Annuities to take steps to protect the bondholders interests, said last evening: "The step I took was in the interests of my clients. They have large holdings and wish their interests protected, and they naturally look to the trustees of the bonds to do this, but if the Pennsylvania company is averse to doing this we will begin proceedings ourselves."

"What specific charge will you bring against Mr. McLeod when you apply to the courts to have him removed from the receivership?"

"Well, we will try," replied Mr. McMichael evasively. "We will not go before the court unless we think we are justified in doing so. I will have a consultation with the counsel of the Pennsylvania company in regard to what shall be done, and of course I don't know at this time what the result will be."

Thomas Dolan, a director of the Reading, said he did not think the action of the New York bondholders would amount to much. "Why, it's preposterous," said Mr. Dolan, "to suppose that the court will nullify itself and remove Mr. McLeod from the receivership. When Judge Dallas named Mr. McLeod as one of the receivers he was fully cognizant of the condition of the company, and he is also aware of Mr. McLeod's abilities."

Another gentlemen largely interested in the Reading and also in the Pennsylvania Company for Granting Annuities was asked if the opinion that the protests of the New Yorkers amount to next to nothing. He characterized their proceedings as the action of a few disgruntled bondholders and speculators who had been overreached in a railroad deal and wished to avenge themselves on McLeod by causing him all the annoyance they could. The gentleman called attention to the fact that the bondholders would have to show some crime of Mr. McLeod's to have him removed from the receivership, and this he thought they would have some trouble in doing.

A Fanatic's Terrible Crime.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 16.—An Anabaptist fanatic has been arrested in Latrig, government of Saratoff, for having murdered a girl of 14 years. He had been preaching before a room full of people in a private house concerning his power to raise the dead. At the end of his sermon he strangled the girl, with the consent of her parents, in order that he might demonstrate his pretended ability to bring her back to life. After his prayer and exhortations had continued for two hours the parents of the girl became convinced that he was an imposter and complained to the authorities, who locked him up.

TERRIBLE MINE EXPLOSION

Nine Men Killed and Eight More Horribly Burned.

MCALLISTER, I. T., March 15.—A terrible mine explosion occurred in mine No. 1, owned by the Choctaw Coal company, at Anderson, I. T., six miles east of McAlister, on the Choctaw Coal Railway company's property. It was caused by the premature explosion of a blast. There were only eighteen men in the mine at the time. Of these nine were killed outright and eight so badly burned that they will probably die.

The excitement is so intense that it is impossible to ascertain the names of dead and injured, who are mostly Italians. The dead who have already been taken from the mine are: John McFadden, John Scanlan, W. E. Warren, Ernest Matthews, Warren Love and Jules Trioceni. The mine is owned and operated by the Choctaw Coal company, and considered one of the best in their possession.

Boston's Great Blaze.

BOSTON, March 11.—One of the most destructive fires in the history of Boston, next in magnitude to the famous one of Thanksgiving day, 1889, and in the same district, broke out shortly after 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and before it was placed under control, three hours later, had burned over more than a square, had reduced to ashes several of the magnificent new buildings recently completed in the territory burned over three and a half years ago, had consumed property valued at a conservative estimate at $4,500,000, had destroyed three lives, and mangled or maimed a dozen others. The dead are Robert J. Risteaux, aged 25, a ladder man, of Charlestown; Leonidas H. Redpath, merchant, who died in the hospital, and a girl, too badly burned to be recognized.

Crushed Beneath Falling Walls.

CHICAGO, March 16.—Yesterday a fire started in Stephen Carter's picture frame factory. The building was a brick structure and five stories in height. It was well stocked with picture frames and material. A short time after the fire started the top of the south wall fell on the roof of Stephen Carter's residence, adjoining the factory. The building collapsed, burying five people. The dead are supposed to be S. J. Chartier and Lillie Chartier. The police suspect that the fire was of incendiary origin. The watchman went on his rounds of the building and encountered Carter on the fourth floor. Carter said everything was all right and went out the front door. A few minutes later he discovered sparks dropping down a chute.

THE BLUE AND THE GRAY

Mingling of Grand Army and Confederate Veterans.

CORDIAL GREETINGS EXCHANGED.

The Grand Army Representatives Furnish a Ward in the Confederate Home in Richmond to Remain for Courtesies Extended to the Veterans.

RICHMOND, Va., March 16.—In recognition of the attention that was shown the several thousand Grand Army men who visited Richmond last fall after the encampment of the Grand Army at Washington, a committee was formed before adjournment to present a suitable testimonial in return for the kindness shown. It was agreed that the eastern ward at the Soldier's Home should be furnished as the testimonial. Mr. N. V. Randolph and Mr. Gans, of this city, were appointed a committee to purchase the furniture and send the bills to the Washington committee. This has been done, and the ward has been handsomely and comfortably fitted up with the latest improved hospital furniture.

The ward will be used principally for those who are incurably afflicted, and will be a last monument to the existing friendship between the camps of the north and the camps of the south. The following delegation from the Grand Army encampment of Washington arrived in the city last evening on a special car to formally present the ward to the home: Chairman John Tay Edson, General H. V. Boynton, Corporal Tanner, ex-District Commissioner Douglass, General Duncan S. Walker, B. H. Warner, E. B. Hay, R. A. Parke, P. V. De Graw, of the United Press, Lawrence Gardner, H. P. Goslwin, of The Evening Star, and Isdor Saks.

They were met at the depot by the following committee: Colonel John Murphy, Colonel A. Warcher, Colonel T. T. Pollard, James T. Gray, John Meanly, N. V. Randolph, J. Cans, A. L. Phillips, J. W. White, Captain Frank Cunningham and the Southern Associated Press agent. They were escorted to Murphy's hotel, whereupon an elegant lunch was served, after which they were driven around the city in carriages.

At 6 o'clock the party arrived at the Soldiers' Home and repaired to the messroom, where the inmates of the institution were assembled. N. V. Randolph, president of the board of visitors, called the meeting to order and briefly stated the object of the visit and introduced Mr. Edson, who made the presentation speech. Mr. Randolph, in a few well chosen remarks, accepted the trust in behalf of the home.

Patriotic and touching addresses, in which fraternal greetings were exchanged, were then made by the following gentlemen: Corporal Tanner, Colonel Douglas, General Wanamaker, B. H. Warner and Mayor J. Taylor Ellison. The committee was then driven to Murphy's hotel, where they banqueted and more speech making was indulged in. The Washingtonians left for home early this morning.

Dr. Talmage's Troubles.

DETROIT, March 12.—Rev. Dr. T. De Witt Talmage, of Brooklyn, in answer to a reporter's inquiries, spoke as follows regarding the financial embarrassment of his big Brooklyn tabernacle, which, it is stated, will be lost to the congregation unless a large sum can be raised by April 1. "We have been at our wit's end how to save our church. The embarrassment arises through no fault of ours. The story in a nutshell is that years ago we built a large church. The next year we enlarged it at almost the expense of a new church. Just as we were getting it paid for it burned down. Then we built another large church. Just as we were getting it paid for the lightning put an end to it. We then built this church, which is practically the fourth church, counting the enlargement referred to as a new building. We have raised during my pastorate $1,040,000 for religious purposes. But no church on earth could endure without serious embarrassment what we have been called on to go through, and we must have help or stop. Our congregation is going to do its utmost, and day and night our people will exert themselves. The newspaper press are doing us a kindness that I know not how sufficiently to thank them for." Dr. Talmage also stated that contributions for the purpose of relieving his congregation from their financial difficulty might be forwarded to him in Brooklyn, and would be promptly acknowledged.

Presidential Appointments.

WASHINGTON, March 16.—The president yesterday sent the following nominations to the senate: William McAdoo of New Jersey, to be assistant secretary of the navy; Edward H. Alldere, to be a passed assistant engineer; Captain Charles Williams, assistant quartermaster, to be major and quartermaster.
