Modern Miracles.

The Sketched Ship that "Materialized" and the Sandal that Saved a Caravan.

The Paris Rappel says: In the fifteenth century the Jews were greatly persecuted in Spain, and on one occasion a number of them were lying in prison in an inland Spanish town, condemned to death and expecting the speedy execution of the sentence. Among them was grand rabbi enjoying the name of Ben Simah Durand. All at once his countenance was seen to become radiant; he took a piece of charcoal, and having roughly sketched a ship on the wall, the rabbi turned to his companions in misfortune and said: "Ye who have faith put a finger on the ship." All accordingly did so, and the ship forthwith became a real vessel, which sailed away with Ben Simah and the other true believers to Algiers. It is not to be supposed, however, that the individual who abstained from following Ben Simah's behest remained behind to die. Being a great rabbi himself, he was able to perform miracles on his own account, and no doubt disdained to benefit by those of others. Scarcely had Ben Simah's troupe taken their departure than this gifted individual—Ben Koua by name—stooped down, picked up the neglected charcoal, and portrayed with it a lion's form with as much success as his rival. The lion became endowed with life, Ben Koua mounted on his back, and the pair proceeded direct to Mostaganem. This may, with justice, be called a miracle. Its most wonderful feature, however, is not that the sketches should have developed into realities, though such events are not to be seen every day, but that the ship which had to travel a considerable extent of land before reaching the sea, should have experienced no difficulty in doing so, while the lion, on the other hand, found it was just as easy to cross the water. Wonderful as this may be, however, the genuineness of the miracle can scarcely be considered open to doubt, as all the names are given—Ben Simah Durand, in fact, being the ancestor of the Durand family which acquired great celebrity in connection with the events which preceded our conquest of Algiers. We might quote any number of similiar cases, but will only mention one, the hero of which is a Mussulman—a certain Sidi-Abd-el-Kader-el-Djilali, who enjoyed a great reputation throughout Islam, and is still indeed regarded as the patron of travelers. This miracle is much more recent than the preceding, being little more than one hundred years old. The Abd el-Kader in question was engaged one day in haranguing a numerous assembly when he was suddenly seen to take off one of his wood-sandals, which he threw against a wall. The sandal of an ordinary man would probably have been broken and pieces would have fallen to the ground. The holy man's foot-covering, however, went straight through the wall and disappeared, his second sandal also pursuing the same course. Naturally enough the audience were greatly astounded, but the explanation was not long delayed. It seemed that a caravan was being attacked by brigands, and the traders had invoked Abd-el-Kader's assistance. The first sandal had struck the chief of the brigands on the jaw. The robber would probably have not ultimately been deterred from proceeding with the rifling of the caravan by the reception of one sandal on his cheek, but when the second launched as in the first case, by an unseen hand, came flying through the air and hit him in exactly the same spot, the bandit felt there was something uncanny about the affair and therefore let the caravan go on its way. As little doubt can, of course, exist as to the miraculous nature of this incident as of that of the previous one.

Can't Preach Good.

No man can do a good job of work, preach a good sermon, try a law suit well, doctor a patient, or write a good article when he feels miserable and dull, with sluggish brain and unsteady nerves. No man should make the attempt in such a condition when it can be so easily and cheaply removed by a dose Hop Bitters. See "Testimonials" and "Proverbs," other column. j15-2wd&w

Years of Suffering.

Mrs. Barnhart, cor. Pratt and Broadway, has been a sufferer for twelve years through Rheumatism, and has tried every remedy she could hear of, but received no benefit, until recommended to try the Eclectric Oil; she says she cannot express the satisfaction she feels at having her pain entirely removed and her Rheumatism cured.

INVALIDS TAKE NOTICE.

NEARLY 3,000 PERSONS have placed themselves under my charge during the last three years in Reading and this city. One-half of them at least were called incurables. Chronic cases of Dyspepsia, Consumption, Rheumatism, and other afflictions. Nearly all reported the same story, viz: I have tried many doctors and quack medicines, and all in vain. I am discouraged. While caring the sick in these two cities over 1,500 deaths have occurred in other physicians' practice, and not a half-dozen in mine. Won't you in person (at my offices) or by letter investigate my remarkable cures. Men and women, sick for years, were under my practice in a few days or weeks restored to health through Omnipathic treatment. All made well by placing my inexpensive medicines on the outside of the body. No poisons used and no drugs, syrups, pills, powders, bitters, or other such vile stuffs placed in the stomach. Consultations and Examinations Free at my offices. Hundreds have been cured of Catarrh for 50 cents. Cure Quick for Catarrh sent to any address in the United States for 50 cents.

A pamphlet of 32 pages will soon be issued from the press. Send and get it.
