SATURDAY EVENING, FEB. 26, 1881.

ASLEEP.

In summer time how fair it showed!—
My garden by the village road,
Where fiery stalks of blossom glowed,
And roses softly blushed;
With azure spires, and garlands white,
Pale heliotrope, the sun's delight,
And odors that perfumed the night
Wherever the south wind rushed.

There solemn purple pansies stood,
Gay tulips, red with floral blood,
And wild things fresh from field and wood,
Alive with dainty grace.
Deep heaven-blue bells of columbine,
The darkly mystic passion-vine,
And clematis, that loves to twine,
Bedecked that happy place.

Beneath the strong unclouded blaze
Of long and fervent summer days
Their colors smote the passing gaze,
And dazzled every eye.
Their cups of scented honey-dew
Charmed all the bees that o'er them flew,
And butterflies of radiant hue
Paused as they floated by.

Now falls a cloud of sailing snow,
The bitter winds of winter blow,
No blossom dares its cup to show—
Earth folds them in her breast;
A shroud of white, a virgin pall,
Is slowly, softly, hiding all;
In vain shall any sweet wind call
To break their silent rest.

My garden is a vanished dream,
Dead in the waning moon's cold beam,
Clear icicles above it gleam;
And yet—I know not how—
My flowers will hear the dropping rain
When Spring reneweth hill and plain,
And then it shall be mine again;
It is God's garden now.

—Rose Terry Cooke, in Harper.

Spirit of the Age.

Old lady (to modest curate): "Lor, sir, I do like to hear you preach extrumpery! Your language is that won'erful fluid!"

A little girl was saying her prayers the other evening and had just finished "give us this day our daily bread," when a precocious four-year-old brother exclaimed, "Say tookies, Mamy!"

Sunday school teacher (reprovingly): "Boys, do you know what day this is?" Street boy: "Hi, fellers! here's a cove that don't know what day this is! I guess he's been out all night."

A little girl of 12 years, the daughter of a clergyman, was asked: "Sadie, does your papa ever preach the same sermon twice?" After thinking a moment Sadie replied: "Yes, I think he does; but I think he hollers in different places."

"Good gracious, Seth, what were you dreaming about?" said Mrs. S., as Spicer awoke with a' start. "Dreaming I had got to Paradise and St. Peter shut the gate in my face;" and when Mrs. S. asked how that made him feel, he sleepily ejaculated—"Petered out," and drifted off again.

NATIONAL BANKING.

A Profit Even on Three Per Cent. Bonds.

The following table is based on a capital of $160,000, and is intended to show an advantage of 1 per cent. in favor of the national bank circulation:

Circulation.

Dr.
Tax on $90,000 circulation 1 per cent	$900	Interest on $100,000 bonds at 3 per cent	$3,000
Expenses, express, &c., ½ per cent	80	Interest on $90,000 circulation at 6 per cent	5,400
Interest on 5 per cent. redemption fund $4,500 at 6 per cent	270
Interest on $90,000 bills in drawer 6 per cent	600
To balance	6,545
	$8,400		$8,400

Amount in favor of circulation $6,545.

Cash.

Interest on $100,000 currency loan at 6 per cent	$6,000
Less tax ½ per cent. paid government	500
Amount obtained by cash on interest	5,000

Thus it will be seen that on $100,000 capital there is a difference of $1,045 in favor of the national bank circulation, as against loans of $100,000, even with three per cent. bonds.

MORE MISMANGEMENT.

Why is this extra $150,000 Wanted?

Philadelphia Bulletin, Rep.

The bill giving the trustees of the Norristown state hospital $150,000 has been favorably reported. It is undoubtedly necessary for the state to pay this money, nearly all of which is required to finish the work left undone by the commission. The trustees are not responsible for the shortcomings of the commission, and the necessities of the insane poor demand all this additional expenditures and it will have to be made. But it should not be done without the Legislature and the general public being reminded that the commission was under every obligation to complete this hospital for the sum originally appropriated; that it had two bona fide offers from responsible parties to build it complete for that amount; and that it repeatedly proclaimed to the public that it had completed the work and turned over a perfect hospital to the state. The bill now before the Legislature has some items in it not included in the original specifications for the hospital, but these are more than counterbalanced by original items never yet provided and not included in the present bill; so that the large sum now asked for may be taken as expressing about the measure of the commission's failure to carry out its undertaking, and so fully justifying all the criticisms that have been made upon it.

Mackey's Memory.

Centre County Democrat.

In the Pennsylvania Legislature last week a bill was favorably reported from the committee, appropriating a sum of money for the relief of the estate of the late R. W. Mackey. If our recollection serves us aright the only estate Mr. Mackey left was a disputed claim to an interest in a Philadelphia faro bank, and an undisputed claim to a woman and two children in Pittsburgh. We are not informed by the title of the bill to which part of the estate the money appropriated is to be applied. We do know, however, that the impress Mr. Mackey left upon the politics of this state was a most scandalous and disgraceful one. We do not wish to defame the memory of the dead, but the less the name of Robert W. Mackey is mouthed the better for his posthumous reputation. It has been said Simon Cameron was the first man to resort to the use of money in Pennsylvania politics. If so, Mr. Mackey must have been his first and most promising pupil. Occupying an honorable position in a large banking institution he entered the political arena only to smirch everything with which he came in contact. His absolute mastery of the Republican machine was only obtained by resorting to the most disreputable practices. His whole career was a blemish and a shame, and we hope the bill will not pass.

Too Many Editors on the Committee.

Lancaster Inquirer.

The prospect is that there will be no change in the system of nominations for this year at least. The primary meetings will most likely be called in May, as is customary, and the rules now in force will govern them. The committee on "revision" appointed some time since has not been able as yet to reach any conclusion, and from present indications it is not likely it ever will.
