COLUMBIA NEWS.

OUR REGULAR CORRESPONDENCE.

Events Along the Susquehanna—Items of Interest In and Around the Borough Picked up by the Intelligencer Reporter.

What might be called a flying weather signal will soon be in operation on the Frederick railroad. A frame will be placed on both sides of the combined passenger and baggage car of the News express south in which will be placed red and blue signs, that will indicate the weather. A red sun will indicate higher temperature—a red crescent lower temperature; and a red star stationary temperature. A blue sun will indicate general rain or snow; a blue crescent, clear or fair weather; and a blue star local rain or snow. A red and a blue sign will appear in each frame. For example: a red sun over a blue crescent would indicate that for the day the temperature would be higher and that clear or fair weather would prevail. These signals are intended to benefit people residing along the line of the railroad. Cards bearing the above signs, with explanations, will be distributed among such residents for information, and the system will soon after go into effect. The signals will be in Columbia before the train departs.

NEW BOOKS.

Some Publications Recently Issued.

The new volume "Troja," which records fresh investigations of Schlieman, the industrious and studious explorer, grown famous in song and story, is an important contribution to that branch of literature of which he is the shining exemplar. Maps, plans and profuse illustrations make plain the results of his persevering task and present vividly the story of Hellenic and Trojan life in even an anti-Homeric period. Interesting in itself the work is the more important, in connection with his "Ilios," in confirming the verity of Troy and much of ancient history that has been too often regarded as mixed, if not entire fable.

The latest published volume of John Morley's series of "English Men of Letters," and the thirty fourth in order, is W. J Courthope's Life of Joseph Addison, the most graceful and elegant writer of modern English, whose limped style is the model of this century as it was an ornament of the last. The biography and criticism of Mr. Courthope's monograph are on the same plan as the others of this series and necessarily restricted. It is to be observed that while the author passes lightly over Addison's domestic relations he does not accept as verity Pope's insinuation that his union with Countess Warwick was one of discord.

William Arthur has written a book "On the Difference Between Physical and Moral Law," which may mean much or little. The old and profound theme is simply treated and the essay has a good deal of practical suggestion in it.

All the above are published by and received from Harper Bros., and for sale by Luther Fon Dersmith, East King street.

Amusements.

"The Jerseyman."—This comedy has already become famous through the efforts of Barney McAuley, who will appear in it in Fulton opera house, Saturday evening, as Gilderoy Punk, a speculative member from Mackerelville. The Philadelphia Inquirer says: "The part of Punk was presented with as much emphasis and accent as that in "The Messenger from Jarvis Section," but it was as widely different a character as if rendered by a different person. The piece is based on the loss and restoration of an English heiress Dot, abandoned at sea as a baby, and brought up by Captain Mayberry as his own daughter. The incidents are striking and the situations are strong."

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Something for all the Preachers.

Rev. B. H. Fairall, D. D., editor of the Iowa Methodist, says editorially, in the November (1883) number of his paper: "We have tested the merits of Ely's Cream Balm, and believe that, by a thorough course of treatment, it will cure almost every case of catarrh. Ministers, as a class, are afflicted with head and throat troubles, and catarrh seems more prevalent than ever. We cannot recommend Ely's Cream Balm too highly." Not a liquid nor a snuff. Applied to nostrils with the finger. 121-2wdeodAw

Letter from Dr. Serre.

18 WEST 35TH STREET,
NEW YORK, June 1, 1883.

I have been a sufferer in the past with Malaria, which finally became Chills and Fever. Treatment by my physician failed to help me. I used BRANDRETH'S PILLS and was cured. Thirteen months have elapsed since then and I have had no recurrence. Other members of my family used them for the same trouble, with the same good result.

I cheerfully endorse them for this illness, and also a pleasant laxative or purgative, according to the number taken. They are now a household remedy with me and I am never without them. I would gladly give the details of the foregoing to any who might choose to call upon me for them.

J. E. SERRE, Dentist.

RESCUED FROM DEATH.

The following statement of William J. Gough, of Somerville, Mass., is so remarkable that we beg leave for it the attention of our readers. He says: "In the fall of 1879 I was taken with a violent bleeding of the lungs, followed by a severe cough. I soon began to lose my appetite and flesh. I was so weak at one time that I could not leave my bed. In the summer of 1877 I was admitted to the City Hospital. While there the doctors said I had a hole in my left lung as big as a half-dollar. I expended over a hundred dollars in doctors and medicines. I was so far gone at one time a report went around that I was dead. I gave up hope but a friend told me of DR. WM. HALL'S BALSAM FOR THE LUNGS. I laughe at my friends, thinking my case incurable, but I got a bottle to satisfy them, when to my surprise and gratification, I commenced to feel better My hope, once dead, began to revive, and to-day I feel in better spirits than I have the past three years.

"I write this hoping you will publish it, so that every one afflicted with Diseased Lungs will be induced to take DR. WM. HALL'S BALSAM FOR THE LUNGS, and be convinced that CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED. I have taken two bottles and can positively say that it has done me more good than all the other medicines I have taken since my sickness. My cough has almost entirely disappeared and I shall soon be able to go to work.' Sold by H. B. Cochran, 137 North Queen street

How to Secure Health.

Seems strange that any one will suffer from the many derangements brought on by an impure condition of the blood, when SCOVILL'S SARSAPARILLA AND STILLINGIA, or BLOOD AND LIVER SYRUP will restore perfect health to the physical organization. It is indeed a strengthening syrup, pleasant to take, and has proven itself to be the best BLOOD PURIFIER ever discovered, effectually curing Scrofula, Syphilitic disorders, Weakness of the Kidneys, Erysipelas, Malaria; all nervous disorders and debility, bilious complaints and all diseases indicating an impure condition of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, Stomach, Skin, etc. It corrects indigestion. A single bottle will prove to you its merits as a health renewer, for it ACTS LIKE A CHARM, especially when the complaint is of an exhaustive nature, having a tendency to lessen the natural vigor of the brain and nervous system.

Oilleholders.

The office held by the kidneys is one of importance. They act as natures sluice-way to carry off the extra liquids from the system and with them the impurities both those that are taken into the stomach and those that are formed in the blood. Any clogging or inaction of these organs is therefore important. Kidney-Wort is nature's efficient assistant in keeping the kidneys in good working order, strengthening them and inducing healthy action. If you would get well and keep well, take Kidney-Wort.

SECOND EDITION.

THURSDAY EVENING, JAN. 31, 1884.

FOUL DEEDS.

MURDERERS AND THEIR PUNISHMENT.

Complications in the Case of Rugg, the East Meadow Criminal—Attempted Murder in Boston.

OYSTER BAY, L. I., Jan. 31.—Justice Richard Collyer, of Hicksville, who committed Charles H. Rugg to await the examination on the day of his arrest for the Sprague assault at East Meadow will send an officer to the county jail to-day to bring Rugg before him for examination and in the event of Sheriff Furman refusing to deliver the prisoner to the officer he will obtain a warrant from the coroner for the sheriff's arrest for contempt of court. When Justice Collyer committed Rugg on Friday he set the examination down for Tuesday. Meantime, after Ruggs' confession, and fearing the vengeance of the people, a new commitment was obtained from Justice Delahauly, of Long Island City, and the examination was held before that justice on Tuesday afternoon, when Rugg waived an examination Justice Collyer maintains that the latter proceedings were illegal, and proposes having the case acted upon by himself. There is much ill feeling engendered by these conflicts of authority and the successful termination of the inquiries into the recent crimes is retarded. Simon Rapalyee, colored, committed by Coroner Baylis, of Oyster Bay, to jail, charged with the Townsend outrage and released by order of Judge Barnard last week has commenced a suit for damages for false imprisonment against the coroner, the latter having exceeded his powers under the code.

Crime in Boston.

BOSTON, Jan. 31.—John B. McLane, charged with manslaughter in causing the death of Catherine Mulvey, was to-day sentenced to 3 years imprisonment.

James A. Price, aged 18, was early this morning discovered attempting to open the safe in a store at Hyde Park. When arrested he fired a revolver at the officer, the ball striking a rib just over the heart, but glancing off. Price implicated O. J. Russell, the manager of the Hyde Park telephone exchange, who, he says, was hiding in the store at the time. The hat was worn by Price and the pistol belonged to Russell, who cannot now be found.

Guilty of Manslaughter.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 31—John W. Thomas to day pleaded guilty to manslaughter in having caused the death of Robert White, on December 20, by striking him on the head with a club during an altercation between them. Both men were intoxicated at the time. Thomas was sentenced to an imprisonment of three years and one month.

Tappan, the Murderer.

JAMAICA, L. I., Jan. 31.—The examination of Edmund Tappan for the murder of the Maybees was commenced this morning, but in view of the disclosures expected it was postponed for two days.

Chopped His Wife to Pieces.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 31.—Patrick Hartnet, a laborer residing at Mount Auburn, killed his wife this morning and endeavored to chop the body to pieces, and hide it under the floor.

The Kentucky Senatorial Contest.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Jan. 31.—The contest in the senatorial caucus last night was very exciting. To break the deadlock a resolution was offered to withdraw Sweeney and take a ballot on Messrs. Williams and Blackburn, and then take another ballot on the leading man and Sweeney. Much time was spent in discussion, and a great deal of filibustering was indulged in by the Blackburn leaders. The caucus adjourned until to day without completing the ballot. Many new names were proposed, that of Mr Carlise being received with great applause. Finally the confusion became so great that the chairman without form of a motion declared the caucus adjourned.

Pottsville's Railroad War

POTTSVILLE, Jan. 31.—A force of men under the direction of Burgess Deer and Highway Superintendent Dewalt commenced this morning to remove the section of the track laid on Coal street Monday night by the Water Gap & Schuylkill railroad. Upon the opening of the court application was made on the part of that corporation for an injunction to restrain the removal of the tracks, as it appeared that no survey had been made by the railroad company. An injunction was refused and the work of clearing the streets proceeded without disturbance.

THE FIRST STATE DINNER.

President Arthur Entertains the Members of the Cabinet and Other Officials.

President Arthur gave his first state dinner of the winter at the White House on Wednesday evening. The entertainment, as custom ordains for the first banquet of the season, was given specially to the members of the cabinet, and they, as the honored guests of the evening, were given precedence over the other officials who partook of the president's hospitality. The usual arrangements were made for the occasion. The state apartments of the main floor were lighted and handsomely decorated and the Marine band was stationed in the entrance hall to furnish music during the repast. The east room was decorated with groups and fan and date palms and other tropical plants were massed in all the angles and window embrasures. The mantlepieces were banked with foliage plants and the chandeliers and mirror frames festooned with smilax. In the Green, Blue and Red parlors there were similar decorations and the silver Hiawatha boat, with its freight of roses, was placed on an antique marble table at the foot of the stairway.

The state dining room was also decorated with groups of palms and blooming azaleas and the table, laid with thirty-six covers, was quite a triumph of the florist's skill. The long central mirror was converted into a miniature lake, set with coral shores and mossy islands and bearing a fleet of tiny boats filled with roses. Above it rose a hanging garden, more than three feet high and six feet long. The supports and sides were covered with red and white carnations. On the garden there were banks of Marshal Niel and Bon Silene roses, set with rare orchids. At either end of this large piece were tall gilt candelabra, bearing shaded wax lights, and beyond them large crystal bowls overrunning with long stemmed roses. At the extreme end of the board were circular plaques of roses, carnation and hyacinths, flanked by silver candelabra.

There were six wine glasses, a water carafe and goblet and a heavy gilt embossed name at each plate. A bouton niere was laid at the place of each gentleman and flat corsage bouquets of fine roses were provided for the ladies. A dinner of sixteen course was served.

A FATAL PUSTULE.

Horrible Death of a Brooklyn Lady from an Apparent Pimple.

Mrs. Mary R. Forrester, of Brooklyn, died on Wednesday. The unfortunate lady, who was 27 years old, was seized with a malignant pustule, which made its appearance on her nose, and shortly spread over her whole face. Dr. Frank H. Ross was summoned at 3 o'clock Tuesday morning and after questioning the patient prescribed remedies to allay the pain. The pustule had not at that time made its appearance, the lady's face being quite free from any eruption. When he called the second time the pain still continued, and he noticed a little discoloration on the nose He then began to suspect the cause of the trouble, but was, of course, only able to give such remedies as would relieve the poor woman from the intense pain she was suffering.

It came, the coroner said, like a little pimple or spot on the nose, which was at first of chocolate color. In the course of two hours from the time it commenced it had covered one half of her nose, and its line, as it progressed, was distinctly marked. In less than four hours it had covered the entire upper portion of her face, and in the tenth hour from the time the pustule made its appearance she died in delirium. Within twelve hours from the time of her death disintegration of the entire body had commenced, and when the coroner and jury arrived the body was in such a condition that an autopsy was inadmissible, owing to the dangerous character of the disease. The deceased leaves a husband and three children The jury found that the deceased came to her death from malignant pustule.

Sent to Prison for Marrying.

On Thursday last Charles Cope, the nineteen year old son of Charles Cope, sr., a wealthy gentleman residing on Roland avenue, Hampton, near Baltimore, and Miss Mary Porter, of the same age, and daughter of a poor widow residing in the neighborhood, were married by the Rev. A. D. Melvin. The young couple remained at the house of a friend until Saturday, when the young husband was arrested by the order of his father, and, being taken before Justice Dorsey, was committed to the House of Refuge as incorrigible and beyond his father's control. The lad obtained a writ of habeas corpus and expects to be released. Although the young wife is a Catholic and her husband is a Protestant it is thought that his father's objection is founded upon the poverty of the family.

Nearly Beheaded by a Circular Saw.

A frightful accident occurred yesterday in Dublin township, near Shade Gap, Huntingdon county, whereby D. M. Peterson, a lumber man, had his head almost severed from his body. Mr. Peterson was engaged in making repairs to the machinery of the mill, and while in the act of stooping for a piece of lumber his neck came in contact with a rapidly revolving circular saw and was nearly cut through. His companions rushed to his assistance and rescued him from his perilous position, after which he was conveyed to his home. Singular it may seem, Mr. Peterson continues to survive, although his recovery is impossible. The greatest astonishment is expressed that he escaped instant death.
