COLUMBIA NEWS.

OUR REGULAR CORRESPONDENCE.

The Police Courts of Columbia--Death o John Madden-- Co. C. Off for Camp—News Around the Town.

Officer John Gilbert arrested Mrs. Lawrence, living on Fifth street, yesterday for being drunk and disorderly, on complaint of Jere Long. 'Squire Young gave her the choice of going to jail for 10 days or paying costs. Not having money to pay costs she was taken to the borough lockup, but about 9:30 p. m. was released, as some of her friends had paid the costs.

A colored man named W. R. Stephens was arrested last night for being drunk and disorderly on Saturday night July 26. The paying of costs released him.

A young white girl named Katie Swares, sued Jim Waters, a colored young man, for the maintenance of her child, which was born on January 26, 1884 and, as she says, Waters was the father. She did not wish to have the matter in court so believing in Jim's promises to pay her $1 per week for the support of the child, the case was settled in that manner.

Death.

Mrs. John W. Madden died from the effects of the paralytic stroke which she she had a few weeks ago, yesterday afternoon about 2 o'clock. The deceased was in her forty-sixth year. Funeral will take place on Monday at 2 p. m.

Severe Hemorrhage.

Samuel Hogentogler, an employee at Bachman & Forry's planning mill, had a very severe hemorrhage while at work yesterday afternoon. He vomited blood several times. He was taken to his home on Seventh street, and a physician called in. His condition is considered as very critical.

Off for Camp.

Forty nine members of company C, rank and file, left this morning for Gettysburg, where they will attend the annual encampment and inspection. The boys looked very well in heavy marching order, and will no doubt keep up to the former standard.

Base Ball.

The Mountville club and our home nine played a game of ball this afternoon on the grounds of the latter.

The game on next Tuesday between the Columbia and the Domestic Eastern League club of Newark, N. J., will be attended by a large crowd, as much interest is manifest as to the probable result of the game.

Briefs.

No services of a special character will take place in any of our Columbia churches to-morrow. The Second street Lutheran church will be closed on account of the absent pastor.

An alarm of fire was created yesterday afternoon by the sight of very dense smoke assending in Wrightsville. The Vigilant fire company ran down Walnut to Front street, but upon hearing that the smoke was occasioned by the burning of brush, they returned to their house.

The Columbia fire company met to hold their regularly monthly meeting, but just as they had commenced business, the gas went out owing to a defective metre. In consequence the meeting was postponed until Monday night, August 4th.

An itinerant missionary among the canal boatmen, named S. W. Zegler, preached to that class of men at the Columbia coal wharves last evening.

The canal boat, mules and harness, belonging to Henry Olphin, accused of shooting Charles Beatley, and who is now in jail at Lancaster, were sold at the canal locks this morning.

A party of Columbians spent a pleasant day at Wild Cat Falls yesterday. There was also a party at the Columbia dam engaged in fishing.

GOING TO GETTYSBURG.

The Philadelphia City Troop to Encamp Here on their Way to the Battle Ground.

The First City Troop of Philadelphia started on their march yesterday afternoon. They will reach Coatesville to-night, where they will encamp. To-morrow evening they will arrive at Lancaster, and encamp just outside of the city. Monday they will march to York and remain all night. Tuesday they will march to Little Oxford, where another halt will be made for the night, and on Wednesday, about noon, the troop will march into camp at Gettysburg.

The party numbers 44 men, besides blacksmiths, saddlers, teamsters, cooks, &c. There are several large wagons containing provisions, which are drawn by mules. Each man has strapped to his saddle a haversack, overcoat, blanket, tin cup, canteen, carbine and his horse's feed bag, which, with the rider, make an average weight of 250 pounds for each horse to carry.

Nearly every train going toward Gettysburg has one or more car loads of soldiers.

A Runaway Orphan Girl.

Josephine Mulcaehey, an inmate of St. Mary's orphan asylum, has escaped from that institution and is still at large. On Thursday night she left the sister's room with the hired girl, a German, named Catharine, with the intention the sisters supposed, of going to bed. On Friday morning it was discovered that the hired girl and Josephine were missing, having escaped through a rear door. Inquiry was made about them and it was finally learned that they boarded the Seashore express, on Friday afternoon, with tickets for Philadelphia. A telegram was sent to the Pennsylvania railroad officials at the Broad street station to detain Josephine, but nothing has yet been heard of the missing girl. She is described as being 15 years old, has light brown curly hair and had on a black and white or blue and white calico dress, and black straw hat, trimmed with crape.

Suburban Improvements.

H. C. Harner, cashier of the First National bank, has purchased from Amos Funk nine acres of land. The tract is situated at the eastern end of Mr. Funk's farm and gives Mr. Harner a frontage of over 1,000 feet on the Marietta turnpike. A number of suburban residences, it is expected, will be erected within a year.

Accidents to Mill Employes

Viola Miller had her arm terribly lacerated to-day by it being caught in a shuttlebox at No. 3 cotton mill. Dr. Davis dressed the wound.

William Horn, foreman of the carding room of No. 2 mill, had a bone broken in his right foot by a wine press falling upon it.

A Trot That Did Not Come Off.

This afternoon a trot against time was to have taken place at McGrann's park. On a wager of $100, a horse owned by Joseph Acker, was to beat three minutes. This morning Acker refused to trot his horse, and after paying his forfeit, left for home.

Fall of Painters.

This forenoon a scaffolding on which two painters were at work on Water street, broke, and the men fell to the ground from the second story. Neither were hurt, but both were covered with red paint.

Horses Shipped.
