MOST-CROWNED SONG.

Calm is sweet but 'tis the tempest
Stirs the soul's sublimest powers,
And our nobler, grander living
Springs from out the darkest hours.

The raging deep of hoary ocean
Moves at all, tho' its divine;
And amid its wild commotion
Thought is thrilled to height sublime.

'Tis sometimes sweet to dream, but dreaming
Never won the hero's crown;
Laurels bloom not o'er the scheming,
And waiting never won renown.

Earnest labor, strong endeavor,
Battles fought, and duty done,
Bring the golden crown and laurel,
And the rest, so nobly won,

'Tis not the noontide hush which calls
The laborer to slumber best;
The bright merridian sun should fall
O'er work begun, no idle rest.

'Tis the rest which crowns the labor
That is sweetest to the soul;
'Tis the golden calm of even
That surrounds the high st goal.

And the brightest gleams the heavens
Pour thro' tempest and the cloud;
And 'tis sweet to wait at even
For the silence and the shroud.

Oliver's Mill to Close.

Thursday afternoon great excitement was caused by the report that Messrs Oliver Bros. & Phillips, of Pittsburg, had withdrawn the reduction of twelve and one-half per cent. demanded of their workingmen. The news spread like wild fire and was received with favor by the three thousand workmen, who had either quit work on account of the reduction or been forced to do so by the strike. It was looked upon as a Republican dodge to regain some of the ground lost, and it was known that a committee had been appointed to confer with the firm in regard to the proposed reduction, and it was generally surmised that the withdrawal was made in accordance with a request made by the committee. The works will immediately resume in all departments, but it is thought that after the election the men will be forced to accept a cut in wages or remain idle through the winter.

LETTER FROM ASSEMBLYMAN HOAG

STATE OF NEW YORK ASSEMBLY CHAMBER,
ALBANY, Sept 11 1884.

During my temporary residence here the past winter I contracted a severe cold, which for a time confined me to my room and rendered me unfit to attend to my duties. I not only suffered all the inconveniences which usually arise from a heavy cold, but was afflicted with a dullness in the ears, accompanied with a severe pain, which made breathing difficult and at times impossible. I tried the usual remedies—cough drops, cough cures, &c., but received no substantial relief until I applied ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS on my back and chest.

The first put on when retiring, and was delighted to find myself much better the next morning. In two days I was well. This, and the experience I have had with Allcock's Plasters in my family, has convinced me that for coughs, colds, sprains, bruises, rheumatism and local pains, Allcock's Porous Plasters are the quickest and most effective remedy extant. JOHN HOAG.

Flowers Will Die

The figure showing the enormous yearly sale of Kidney-Wort, demonstrates its value as a medicine beyond dispute. It is a purely Vegetable compound of the best roots, leaves and berries known to have special value in kidney troubles. Combined with these are remedies acting directly on the Liver and Bowels. It is because of this combined action that Kidney-Wort has proved such an unequaled remedy in all diseases of these organs.

Mrs. Dr. Walton's Perfumed Tea.

Mother Walton has prescribed this valuable medicine for a great many years in her practice. "Blind Piles."—Symptoms: Moisture.

Like perspiration, intense itching, worse by scratching, like a pin-worm. Worse by warm water. "Swayne's Ointment" is a pleasant, sure cure.

Something for all the Promoters.

Rev. H. H. Faird, D. D., editor of the Methodist says editorially, in the November issue of his paper: "We have tested Kidney-Wort, Swayne's Balm, and believe the best, of course, time will tell, but we believe almost every one who tries them will be satisfied with them, and the earth seems more pretty than ever. We can not recommend Kidney-Wort too highly." Not a liquid or a dose. Applied to both sides with the finger.

Mr. Shuler's Stomach.

Dr. Tanner certainly has great stomach—great to cause of its strength and endurance. We may err in saying that the doctor has Burdock Blood Bitters, but if he does, it will be gently, yet unsuccessfully counteracted for Burdock Blood Bitters being a standard medicine are sold by all druggists.
