GRIPPED BY THE LIGHT OF THE MOON

A Cheap Book Agent Jumps From Town Without Paying His Board.

In the week before last, a book agent, who gave his name as E. H. Coleman, came to Lancaster and registered at the City hotel. He pretended to be an agent for an encyclopedia, and was anxious to secure a person to make collections for him. He advertised for such a man but did not succeed in getting one, as he asked the parties to put up $25 as security which they did not feel like doing without some security from Coleman. Last week he canvassed the town for an advertising scheme of his own. He had a very pretty plush album and in it had a number of fancy pictures of females, &c. Above and below the pictures he put in advertisements and charged 25 cents for each card. He caught a number of people with this petty thing, many of whom would refuse to advertise in a legitimate way, but did not succeed in filling his book. On Friday night he managed to slip from his room in the City hotel and succeeded in getting away without paying his board bill. Coleman is a man of short stature and about 40 years of age. He has a large and very prominent nose and was fairly well dressed.

The People's National Bank.

The People's National bank opened its doors to business this morning under the most gratifying auspices. When a reporter of the INTELLIGENCER poked his head into the bank's handsome quarters at No. 152 East King street this afternoon, Cashier Slaymaker smilingly informed him that the deposits already ranged in the thousands. The appointments of the room in which the bank is located are first-class and will be ample until the occupancy of the handsome building that is soon to be erected on the site of the Killinger property, on the other side of the street.

It is the only authorized version of the great prelate's life, and has been prepared by Rev. Bernard O'Reilly from papers and documents secured through the Holy Father. As the pope has a share in the profits of the work, there is an additional inducement to the admirers of Leo XIII to purchase a copy. It is published at prices to suit all.

Great reductions will be made for the next ten days at the 99c. store to close out remainder of the stock. Do not miss this last chance of getting goods at one-half their value. mh8 2t

Sallie Hinton's Engagement.—Sallie Hinton opens a week's engagement, at low prices, in the King street theatre this evening, when "The Hidden Hand" will be played, with Miss Hinton as Capitola. She will introduce a number of new songs, etc. This young lady has become quite popular and is capable of filling the leading roles as was her late Sister Lillie.

"A Cold Day; or The Laplanders."—This evening there will be lots of fun at Fulton opera house when Fisher & Hasson's company will appear in the the rattling comedy, "A Cold Day; or The Laplanders." The company includes Frank Wills, Perkins D. Fisher, Misses Marie Heath, Lizzie Height and others. Incidental to the comedy, will be given vocal selections from Dixey's "Adonis," Harrigan's "Leather Patch," Rice's "Evangeline," "Mikado," "Spectre Knight," and "Black Hussar." Miss Heath, during the third act, will introduce her famous song, "I'm so shy."

Miss Kate Forsyth.—Miss Kate Forsyth, who appears here on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, delighted the people of Reading on Friday and Saturday evenings of last week. There is no doubt that she is a fine actress, and her support includes such people as Frank Lossee, who was here several times with Annie Pixley, J. H. Fitzpatrick and others. The bill to-morrow evening will be "Faithful Hearts."

At Mannerchor Rink.—This evening the masquerade carnival to be held at the rink will no doubt be well attended. Good music will be furnished and every arrangement has been made to ensure an enjoyable time for all who attend.

OAK HALL.

HEADQUARTERS FOR SPRING.

Spring Clothing: abundant, excellent and ready to show. Spring Overcoats and Spring Suits.

On this threshold of our Spring business it seems proper to say that the highest notch Oak Hall Clothing ever reached for variety, durability and unquestionable value is surpassed by this season's stock.

This statement touches every point of clothes-making; in the selection of clothes for quality and patterns, and the more perfect workmanship.

Grades of materials hitherto confined in custom-made Clothing and improvements in the workmanship, of our own invention, are used and leave our goods without a parallel among ready-made clothing.

The extraordinary quantities, lowest prices, and generous ways of serving customers are too well known to need emphasis.

It's better worth your money than ever this Spring.

CARPET CLEANING WORKS.

Four years ago, as an experiment, we put up a small machine for cleaning carpets by steam power instead of hand-beating. Each year since we have been compelled to enlarge our works, put in additional machinery of the latest improvements, and we this season have a plant second to none in the State, and with a capacity for cleaning over 5,000 yards per day.

This addition of new machinery was necessitated by our rapidly increasing business each year. All this is the result of doing what we promised when we started. That is returning carpets the same day without regard to weather, and returning them thoroughly clean—a thing that cannot be done by the old plan of beating carpets by hand. We have cleaned many carpets sent to us from Harrisburg, York, Columbia, Lebanon, etc.

All we ask is a trial, feeling sure when once tried you will never have a carpet beaten by hand again. The steam-power cleaning has rapidly grown in the larger cities, Philadelphia having no less than fifteen different carpet-cleaning works.

As usual, with every new thing interested (?) persons have circulated reports to the effect that carpets are torn, spoiled or shrunk by the steam, &c. In reply, we will say such is not the case; that if we tear your carpets anywhere we will give you a new one of the same quality. As far as the steam spoiling and shrinking, that is another "fairy tale," as the steam does not touch the carpet, merely drives the machinery.

In the last four years we have cleaned thousands of yards of carpet, and have torn but one, and that by carelessness of an employe. It was an old one and the owner received a new one in its stead.

Customers are always welcome to inspect the machinery and see how the cleaning is done. You can see at a glance that the carpets are in no way injured.

We are owners of the patent process of cleaning carpets without removing from the floor—a very good thing in its way, but we always advise taking up the carpets if at all possible. This is the only proper way to do where it can be done; where it cannot be done, the other is a good substitute.

The machinery for beating carpets simply removes the dust and dirt and brightens the colors. For removing ink, grease or stains from carpets we have another process, which is perfect in its work and will thoroughly remove all traces of soil, and will restore colors as bright as new.

Our prices are but little more, if any, than hand-beating, and you are sure of having it done right, and when promised, rain or no rain. Not only are the moth removed from the carpet, but they are not likely to attack it for a year or so to come.

We have no connection with any other carpet cleaning works. Be sure your orders get at the right place. Works—Gable's Building, corner Church and Duke streets.
