CULTIVATION OF THE POTATO.

Dr. F. W. Heximer, of Westchester county, recently read a paper on the potato, before the New York Fruit Growers' Club, from which the following extract is made:

"The principal cultivation of the potato consists in keeping the soil loose and free from weeds. Whatever process accomplish these points, best and cheapest, is the best cultivation. As soon as the potato vines appear above the ground a small furrow should, with a small plow, be plowed away from the rows as close to the potato as possible. About two weeks after this, a furrow, with a double mould-board plow, is opened in the center between every two rows, and repeated every two weeks afterward, until the vines cover the ground. If the field is very weeedy and the plow does not destroy the weeds, it is necessary to go over the ground after plowing and hoe up the weeds left by the plow and also uncover vines occasionsly covered by the plow. After the plowing has been discontinued a very important part of the cultivation commences. In order to obtain a full crop there should not, at any time, a single weed be visible in the field, and all the weeds growing after the last plowing should be pulled up by hand. After a rain, when the soil is light and loose is an excelent time to weed potatoes, and it should have the preference before any other farm work. The time required is but very little compared with the advantage gained. The labor saved in digging in a clear field is more than is required to pull up the weeds when they are small, not to add to the increase of crop. We have raised large crops without the use of the hoe, by simply plowing three times and pulling twice. When potatoes are planted late so that the ground can be plowed twice before planting, that is probably the cheapest way to raise the crop."

TAKE CARE OF YOUR HORSES.—Farmers should, if possible, keep their horses in good condition, summer and winter. It is wretched policy to allow working horses to become weak and thin through the winter, for want of proper feed. They should have good hay and some grain or cut feed daily, and then when spring opens, they will be able to perform their part in the spring work.

The Agriculturist for May says, "when horses have been fed grain all winter, and have not worked regularly, it not unfrequently happens that they have little appetite as warm weather approaches, and when put to hard work on the farm lose flesh rapidly. They need a change of food. If it be possible, give them a few carrots, or, in the absence of these, a bran mash sufficient to relax the bowels. If oats have been fed in the winter, give a little corn in the ear by way of change, varied with "cut-feed," consisting of chaffed hay and cornmeal, or fine bran, or, better still, oat-meal. As a rule, nothing is so good as oats, and this year oats are nearly as cheap as corn.

Barley is also cheap, and by way of a change there is nothing better for farm horses than foiled barley. Boil it until it bursts open, and then add a little salt and mix it with chaffed hay. There is nothing will fatten a horse so soon as bolied barley.

GERMINATION OF SEEDS.—An eminent writer, in speaking of the action of the sun in this great work of germination, remarks:

"Upon the chemical influence of the sun's rays depends the germination of seeds as well as the growth of the plants. We bury the seed in the ground and shut it out from the influence of light, but we do not place it beyond the reach of the sun's actinic influence, for that penetrates like heat to the little earthy couch where the embyro plant lies hid, and arouses it into life. Light, or the luminiferous rays of the sun, so important to the well being of the plant, is actually inimical to the excitation of vitality in the seed. How singular is this fact! A series of carefully conducted experiments has proved that seeds will not germinate in light, although supplied with heat and moisture, when the actinic rays are cut off. Deprived of the luminous rays, with actinic in full force, they spring into life with great rapidity. Seeds sown upon the surface of the earth will scarcely germinate, as soil cultivators very well know, and, on the other hand, seeds buried so deep that the actinic rays cannot reach them will certainly perish. The planting of seeds, so as to secure the proper distance below the surface, is a most important point in husbandry, as it has much to do with the early starting of the plant and the success of the crops."

A QUESTION FOR PHYSICIANS.—Judge Ball, who is collecting facts, for a history of Hoosick Falls, furnishes the following: "In the year 1799 several cases of small-pox occurred in the town, and a dwelling near the village of Hoosick Fall was used as a pest-house. Seventy years afterwards the house (having been occupied all that time as a dwelling, with no case of small-pox, or other unusual sickness) was repaired. One of the workmen employed on the repairs was taken down with a disease which proved to be malignant small-pox, to which he had not otherwise exposed himself than by working on this old pest-house." If small-pox virus can be retained for seventy years in the walls, floors, ceiling or furniture of a dwelling house, greater care and more stringent measures will be necessary to insure protection from this loathsom edisease.—Troy Press

SUSQUEHANNA COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE.

TOWANDA, BRADFORD COUNTY, PA.

This institution will commence its Seventeenth Year

MONDAY, AUGUST 28, 1871.

The courses of study are English, Normal, Commercial, Academic, Scientific and Classical, in all of which the instruction is systematic and thorough.

The Principals will be assisted in the various departments by a large and very excellent corps of instructors—three graduates, experienced teachers having been recently engaged—and no effort will be spared to make the Institute, in comfort, discipline and general efficiency, second to no other similar institution.

The Musical Department will be under the charge of Professor H. Fr. Johannesen.

This institution is now in thorough repair.

In addition to the extensive improvements during the past year, new apparatus, maps and charts, and most approved patent desks and seats for all the study and recitation rooms have just been purchased.

The Principal of the Normal Department will organize August 28, a 'Teachers' Class, and by SPECIAL ATTENTION aid to complete the most thorough course possible during the time.

Tuition from $4 to $10. Board and room in the Institute $4. If desirable, students may obtain rooms in town and board themselves. Early application for board and rooms at the Institute should be made, as the rooms are being rapidly engaged.

PHILADELPHIA OPTICAL INSTITUTE,

For the manufacturing of

CONCAVE CONVEX, CRYSTAL LENSES, LONDON SMOKED AND TINTED GLASS FOR WEAK OR INFLAMED EYES.

The Concave Convex Crystal Spectacles, made by the above institute are now a long time before the public, and the rapid and increased demand for them combined with the universal acknowledgment of their clearness in vision and ease to the eye, shows plainly that they are superior to any other glasses in the market.

The majority of Spectacles, (mostly imported) and no matter how fine the frames, contain but a poor and worthless article of glasses, (generally cast or pressed;) they are made to be sold only, without any calculation respecting benefit to the eye, and therefore the great complaint of poor and weak sight. Thousands are using glasses now which tire and fatigue the eye, where the objects get dim after short usage, or require an intensely strong light and therefore destroying the sight, which, were they properly suited, would be preserved a life time.

The advantages claimed for the Concave Convex Crystal Glasses are the following:

The Lenses are ground of the best material, pure and hard, and made only for optical purposes, they are therefore not liable to get scratched or dim.

They confer a brilliancy and distinctness of vision not found in any other glass.

They can be used equally well by day or candle light without tiring or fatiguing the eyes.

They are ground mathcmatically true in the concave convex mirror, according to the philosophy of nature, and shape of cornea of the eye, therefore assisting nature only instead of forcing it.

That the lenses are centered correctly into the frames.

They can be used longer than any other glasses without changing to a higher power.

The frames are made strong and durable by experienced workmen and warranted to give satisfaction.
