Four Fingers Lacerated.

Charles Bland, aged 16 years, living at East Vine street, and who is employed by Joseph Sondheimer, horse dealer, had four fingers of his left hand badly lacerated on Friday afternoon. He was engaged feeding a hay cutter. The cutter became choked and in endeavoring to clean it he got his left hand in the machine. An accidental turn of the crank caused his hand to be caught and four of his fingers were badly cut. Dr. H. E. Muhlenberg dressed the wounds.

His Hand Crushed.

At noon to-day Harry Geck, who works in the cloth room at No. 2 mill, had his left hand badly crushed. He was engaged cleaning the cylinder of the calander with a piece of waste, when his hand was caught and drawn between the cylinder. He was taken to the office of S. T. Davis and M. L. Davis where his injuries were dressed, after which he was taken to his home, No. 452 Freiberg street.

A Heavy Tobacco Day.

To-day was a busy one among leaf tobacco dealers. The receipts at a number of warehouses were fully as large as a week ago. About all the tobacco bought has now been delivered, and there will be a lull in the trade until the goods now on hand are assorted.

Presented With a Cornet Case.

Yesterday was the 21st birthday of Howard T. Cummings, and his gentlemen friends called on him and presented him with a handsome cornet case.

It Was a Success.

The supper and entertainment of the Aid society of the First Baptist church closed last evening and was a financial success.

The stock market this morning opened strong at advances extending from ½ to 1 per cent, led by Atchison, Union Pacific and Lackawanna, all of which were quite freely bought during the last half hour. Toward 11 o'clock, a movement to realize on the early advance together with the unfavorable showing of the bank statement, caused the market to give way sharply and the advance was soon lost. The bank statement showed a decrease in the reserves of $1,438,100. The closing prices were irregular but in most cases very little changed from those of yesterday. The sales amounted to 150,965 shares.
