Important to Tailors.

ANDREW LORIMER, Practical Cutter, respectfully offers to the Tailors of Lancaster and surrounding country, an entire new system of cutting, based upon sound principles, termed the Graduating Scale. From long experience in the most celebrated establishments of London and Paris, and the many opportunities of testing the various systems, he is persuaded the present will be appreciated.—For simplicity in working, and the elegant style which is produced, it has been pronounced by the most able practical cutters, such as are well qualified to judge, to be a work of great value. Even those who have not been trained to the business, may acquire a sufficient knowledge in a very short time, that will enable them to cut any garment correctly.

Those wishing to obtain a knowledge of the above system, will have an opportunity of doing so by calling at Russell's Buildings, East Vine street. Terms moderate.
