DEATHS.

Died, suddenly, in Baltimore, on Wednesday last, JOHN REYNOLDS, Esq., of this city, in the 67th year of his age. He was well and favorably known as one of the most useful and respected citizens, and his decease has cast a gloom over this entire community.

Mr. R, left home on Monday, in apparently good health, on a short visit to his daughter and son-in-law, in Baltimore. On Wednesday, in company with the latter, he started for the wharf intending to take the Philadelphia boat—but before reachiug it he complained of feeling unwell, and in a few minutes ceased to exist. A telegraphic despatch was received here by his family announcing his sudden and dangerous illness, and his son, James L. Reynolds, Esq, took the next train for Baltimore, but shortly after his departure, a second despatch was received, announcing his death. His remains were brought home on Thursday, and on Friday they were interred in the Lancaster Cemetery, attended to the tomb by a large concourse of his fellow citizens.

Mr. R. is a native of this county. In 1820 he became the editor and proprietor of the Lancaster Journal, and continued his connection with the paper for several years, previous to its union with the Intelligencer. Upon his retirement from editorial life, we learn from the Saturday Express, he moved to Cornwall Iron Works, assumed their management, and acted as guardian of the minor children of Thomas B. Coleman during their minority. He remained at Cornwall until about six years since, when he again removed to this city. As a man, Mr. Reynolds was kind and warm-hearted—as a father, indulgent—as a friend, self-sacrificing and true. Of his social virtues and value as a citizen, there is bnt one opinion in his praise amongst all his acquaintances.

On Wednesday the 11th inst., at the residence of her son, George L. Boyle, Mrs. Elisabeth Powell, aged 68 years.

On the 6th inst., in Conestoga Centre, Samuel D., only son of Samuel S. and Anna Welsh, in the 4th year of his age.

Death is usually an unwelcome guest. This is especially true when the subject is a tender bud—an unopened flower, and under circumstances like in this case. Overtaken suddenly by the icy hand of death, during the absence of a fond Father, he was taken from the regions of mortality and hurried into eternal bliss.

The hearthstone has indeed been rendered desolate; the cheerful influences of home made lonely, and the dearest bud rudely snapped from its parent stem.

The sorely bereaved parents have the most tender sympathies of numerous friends who mourn with them for their irreparable loss; the heart soothing consolation that blessed are those who die in the Lord; that their only son is now where disease cannot rack his tender frame and death no more can claim him,

"The Lord gave and the Lord hath taken away!"

"Oh, weep not for the dead!
No more for him the blighting chill,
The thousand shades of thorny ill,
The thousand thorns we tread;
Weep for the life-charm early flower.

The spirit broken—bleeding—lone;
Weep for the death-pangs of the heart,
E're being from the bosom part;
But never be a tear-drop given
To him that rests in yon blue Heaven."

Youth, Age, Style, Taste, Beauty and Fashion.—The seasons of life should be arranged like those of the year. In the spring of youth, when all is lovely and gay, then as the green cover is spread on all the face of smiling nature, in brightness and beauty, so let the dress partake of the season. Fine taste, as well as fashion, decrees the necessity of nicely adapted garments to age, circumstances and seasons. The man whose head is silvered with age, who feels not the blood of youth dancing warmly in his veins, should not run into extremes of dress, nor yet should he permit his clothing to be so far behind the times as to render him ridiculous. There is a beco.ning fashionable dress, suitable for the age and seasons of life as well as the seasons of the year. You can be suited in handsome style in clothing that is well and fashionably made, of good materials that will fit well and become the figure and season, at the great Clothing Bazaar of

A New Article.--Patent Venitian Blinds.—These Blinds overcome the only objection to this highly useful and ornamental appendage to every well furnished house. They are so arranged as to let down from the top of the window as well as hoist up from the bottom, or can be suspended at any point between, giving free access to light and air when required, affording every opportunity of cleaning them from the floor. They are as simple in arrangement and, nearly as cheap as the ordinary blind. All I ask, is that you call and examine them before purchasing.
