BROOKE HOUSE OPENS

Miss Joan Sawyer Appeared at Opening of Exclusive Dance House

Brooke House, successor to Keen House, at 1819 Walnut street, opened yesterday afternoon under the management of Mrs. Edward Brooke and Mrs. James T. Halsey.

The delightful feature of the opening was Miss Joan Sawyer and her partner's dancing. They gave exhibitions of the one step, mazurka, fox trot and Miss Sawyer's inimitable waltz.

The two large rooms in the second floor back of the Jones Wister home were most artistically arranged, and small tables were placed about the walls. Yellow curtains gave a pretty glow, and Miss Brooke carried out the color scheme delightfully by appearing in a dainty gown of white lace and yellow satin. Mrs. J. Chalmers Da Costa presided at the tea table. She had selected a black gown, which was relieved with white chiffon and lace. Her hat was a brilliant cherry velvet, and a rose of the same shade was attached to the bodice of the gown.

Receiving with Mrs. Brooke were Miss Katherine Hunter, Miss Corinne Freeman and Miss Heloise Halsey, all of whom will be debutantes next season. Miss Hunter wore a charming gown of accordion pleated green taffeta made with a double skirt and a lace and chiffon decollete bodice.

Miss Freeman looked extremely girlish in a frock of white satin, while Miss Halsey wore a smart tailored suit and hat of brown. About 75 other guests were present. The afternoon was given up to general dancing between the exhibitions of Miss Sawyer. On Wednesday afternoon and Saturday Miss Sawyer will again appear at Brooke House.
