| Showing an excess of Liabilities over Resources of | $5,561 57 |

Which it may be proper to remark has been occasioned mainly by the omission of Council to levy a tax for the year 1843; and by the appropriation of the money received for notes issued, and loans made during that year, to the payment of the current expenses of the Borough, and to the purchase of Fire Apparatus and the building of Engine Houses in the year following.

Which item would amount in the aggregate to a sum exceeding $5000, an amount some $1700 larger than the excess above stated—shewing a gain of that amount to have been derived by the Borough from the interest received, &c., over the interest and expenses paid on the notes issued in 1842 and '43. Which gain is liable however to be reduced by any further presentation of those notes for payment.

We, the Committe on Finances, having examined the above account, find it to be as correct as can be ascertained at the present time in consequence of the books being burnt in eighteen hundred and forty five.
