THE

TORPEDO PATENT SUITS.

Roberts vs. Nicholas Geyer.

The following is the decision rendered by Judge McKennan, at May Term of the Circuit Court in the above case:

In the Circuit Court of the United States, in and for the Western District of Pennsylvania.—E. A. L. Roberts vs. Nicholas Geyer.—No. 1.—May Term 1873.—In Equity.

November 21, 1872. Bill filed and subpoena issued.

Subpoena and notice of application for preliminary injunction served.

December 14, 1872. Motion for preliminary injunction heard, and the Court being duly advised to impose bond, the injunction awarded as prayed for, and decree filed.

January 11, 1873. Injunction issued, and on the 20th day of January indicement served personally and by copy.

May 22, 1873. Rule issued for defendant to show cause why attachment should not issue for contempt in violating injunction and duly served.

June 24, 1873. Rule for attachment in this case came on to be heard, and after argument of counsel pro and con, the Court being fully advised in the premises, the Rule is made absolute, and the sentence of the Court is, that the said defendant, Nicholas Geyer, be imprisoned in the common jail of Allegheny County for and during the term of ten days, and that he pay the costs of this proceeding.

June 26, 1873. Committed to jail.

The injunction in this case was for infringement of the Roberts' patent of No.—, called the Big Torpedo, for increasing the productiveness of oil wells. The act of infringement for which the defendant was committed for contempt, consisted in aiding Alexander Hacker in exploding torpedoes in oil wells being the same act of infringement for which Hacker was also committed in the case No. 5, November Term, 1866, as before stated.

The Court McKennan, J., after delivering his opinion in the Hacker case, proceeded to sentence Nicholas Geyer for contempt, and delivered the following opinion:

In the case of Nicholas Geyer charged with the same offense, I am entirely satisfied that there was no infringement in the Rock well at least. As I have intimated to the counsel in the course of the argument, the presence of Rock in the well, whether desired or not, is an infringement of the patent, and is a breach of the injunction of the Court.

Mr. Roberts by his patent made as one of the principal elements of his invention Rock Powder, good wherever there is Rock sufficient in a well, at the time of the explosion of a torpedo, to operate as tamping, which will confine securely or be put there artificially, the power to be exerted. This was exactly the case in regard to the Rock well.

But Mr. Geyer comes to Court and admits he (Hacker, who had been that he merely wanted to make an experiment) and claims that because the Rock that he sought to be very severely punished.

He also is adjudged guilty of contempt and ordered to pay the costs of this proceeding and undergo an imprisonment in the county jail for ten days. I regret to be called to the trial of these cases, because, in the course of commission of contempt, I will be compelled to impose such punishment as will tend to make the Science of the Law Respected.
