COURT PEACE, F. OF A., FOR WAR ACTIVITY

Appeal to Ranks for Support of Accessory Movements in Country's Defense

Court Peace, No. 337, Foresters of America, Greble Post Hall, 721 Wharton street, made an appeal for the co-operation of all F. of A. who are in a position to do so to render their services to the State Department of Civic Relief, of which Colonel L. J. Kolb is in charge. Deputy Miller, No. 4, stated: "There are many members incapacitated by legitimate causes from military duty. Many of these are prevented from entering the home defenders or any duty demanding strenuous physical exertion. Some others would do their bit better if they were in a work more adapted to their abilities than the one they are engaged in, but for lack of knowledge as to where to apply have taken up the first thing presenting itself. These mobilization activities for citizens not called for military duty give an opportunity for those qualified to labor for State-wide civic relief, and should appeal with force to many of our members."

Bro. Stanton (of the Sons of Veterans), a Relief Woodward of the Court, explained the primary requirements for recruiting for the work. "That those tendering their service do so without compensation and will agree to devote three half days a week and accept service assignment to any city district."

Bro. Metcalf (of the Central Labor Union), the treasurer, announced the ten divisions in which the plan is divided, any one of which can be availed of as best suits the adaptability of those desirous of co-operating, and to families and individuals, improving health conditions, improving moral conditions, child care, education and recreation, employment, improving housing conditions, home condition improvements, bettering civic conditions and studying community needs.

Brothers Scott, Maloney, Preole, Matalsk and others spoke of the splendid opportunity afforded in the project and that the canvass by the officers of the movement should enroll many members with the ability and time to devote to the cause. Fraternal visitors were present from Courts John Hay, M. and L. Lawrence, Penn, L. J. Shoemaker, Penn, S. S. Albans, East End, Neshaminy, McClellan, Franklin, Pride of Thornlow and McKean.

Court Haddington, No. 128, turned the last meeting into a "Kelly night." The guests of honor were the Forester triplets—Tom, who helped to make Neshaminy, No. 162, what it is; guided Mt. Pleasant, No. 242, over the stony pathway; now is the pride of Lindenwood, No. 356; Joe, one of the guardian protectors of the destinies of De Lancey, No. 321, and Charlie, who is not to be represented when right is at stake," in the way P. C. R. Charles described the three brothers, "who have made their impress upon the records of Forestry in the West Philadelphia district as notable as upon its annals in other localities, prior to their advent to the city, over the river." Brothers Stiles, Taylor, Pearson, Harmon, Wood and West gathered a complete selection of inglodies descriptive of the historic name of Kelly and beautifully rendered them. Brother J. Barber accompanying and Brother Conlin reciting. Brother Bro. Riley, No. 81, speaking the sentiments of West Park, over which Charlie is deputy, said: "He is a superior worthy of the title, and more of his caliber would help vitrify the inactive.

"In No. 128 C. F. Kelly is a live wire, alert, progressive, tireless in doing; an originator of ideas; practical methods; a worker, not a dreamer. He has the confidence and respect of his colleagues and is regarded as one of the young element who can hardly fail to attain to Grand Court honors," voices Brother Powers, No. 202, the deputy of the court. Delegations were in attendance from Courts Manitou, Cross Keys, Tulpehocken, Martins, Greenway, Hamilton, West Philadelphia, Lincoln, Bartram, Haverford, West Park, Mount Pleasant, De Lancey, Lindenwood, Neshaminy, Darby, St. Albans, Delaware and Good Will.

P. C. R. George T. M. Taylor presents this regard in which the brother is held in court. No. 128, "Charles F. Kelly, P. C. R. of Court Haddington, No. 128, and deputy of West Park, No. 81, is one of the younger rank noted for his activity. He excels as a promoter of social fetes and has the happy faculty of investing routine with a charm of interest that makes the procedure lively and attractive. Engaged in electric lighting as a vocation, he is a 'live wire' when progressive moves are needed, and as the P. C. R. of Court Robert Burns, his ability is recognized. It is a regular custom to place him on committees that exact initiative and work, and he has never failed to make good in achievements."

Court Bartram, No. 237, at 4828 Woodland avenue, was the host of the delegations from Courts 81, 88, 90, 128, 190, 202, 229, 250, 267, 274, 321, 342, 346, 349 and 356, of the West Philadelphia District. A conference session was held relating to matters of interest to that section of the order, later developing into phases of general import to Forestry at large. Impressive figures of the membership showing men of eligible age to affiliate with the fraternity, as disclosed in the conscriptive registration statistics and in the city, State and national returns, were the topic of an animated discussion as to the best means to reach and influence their interest in the Foresters of America. P. C. R. J. Bailey, Delaney, No. 321, gave as a factor vainly "the point of view we must bring optimism and optimism into play, for no proposition is less susceptible to argument than that a negative state of mind is fatal to progress. He never can, who believes he cannot, and it is always too late for him who thinks so. In our work able plans we must be guided by sane discretion and give due consideration to the careful thoughts of prudent men of initiative. We have a grand field for our exertions, let us not lose the opportunity afforded."

Practical suggestions were given, which will be tried. The session was replete in good things and should help inspire the participants to do effective work in their local courts and vicinities. Brothers Lynch, Landis, Gilbeaux, Stiles, Henry, Smith, Sheridan, Fischer, Jacobs, Hemsley, Baker, Edward, Banas and Longman took an active part in the proceedings.

Court Chocksink, No. 142, at Berks street and Germantown avenue, presented Supreme Representative J. Borrell, who gave an account of the sessions of the supreme convention, with some personal reminiscences. Portland, Me., with its rigid liquor prohibition, made some of the delegates look forward to Woodchopper night at hospitable No. 142. Never did I hear the ballad, 'How Dry I Am!' with variations, sung so feelingly as it was rendered by Courtney, No. 131; Dempsey, No. 141; Richenbaugh, No. 211; Lawell, No. 126; Sauerwald, No. 101; Cowan, No. 259; Walther, No. 124, and Crockett, No. 17, the double quartet of our delegation, with 'Mike' Kelly, No. 268, of Malvaney City, conductor. The shingle barbecue committee were Broderick, No. 195; Campbell, No. 93; Taylor, No. 128; Higgins, No. 229; Carroll, No. 250, and George A. Kelly, No. 205, under the leadership of L. W. Hoyt, No. 34, who evoked strains that reverberated the pathetic melody. The parched throats of the warblers were medicinally treated by Doctors Brown, No. 102; Fradinger, No. 241; Daly, No. 108; McDevitt, No. 53; Shannon, No. 17, and Schefferer, No. 52, of Shrewbury medical staff. The voice recovery of the patients has been pronounced so complete that he can safely invite them to our coming social for a repertoire program of their gem selections, when our Doctor Snyder will be present to allay any recurrence of the irritation."

Brother Ogden, No. 294, added: "The usually sagacious remarks of Brothers Orr, No. 86; Guarin, No. 34, and other exponents of the dry vs. wet' were not appreciated, and the explanatory fact that Portland had a water storage area of 100 square miles received but scant attention, and the reference to Casco Bay, with its 365 islands, caused a shudder, lest the songsters should be compelled to spend a day on each." "It was a great outing minus one detail," voiced H. J. Bailey, No. 201, and "Prohibition is a grand idea for water quaffers, but many of our convention boys use the sparkling beverage, also, as a 'chaser,' and all of them for bathing," is Dorset's opinion.

Court Broadway, No. 362, at Brady Hall, 2158 North Broad street, holds the unique position of being composed entirely of members of the Loyal Order of Moose. As P. C. R. Edwards, of No. 342, says: "The friendly relationship existing between the two organizations, the F. of A. and the L. O. of M., is very pronounced. The Stag and the Moose travel well in double harness. Prominent Foresters hold high positions in the latter, and from its rosters come many exalted in the councils of the former. By a coincidence that has been noted and commented upon, the Pennsylvania delegation to the Foresters' Supreme Convention numbered twenty-one Foresters, solely and twenty Loyal in both bodies. In the assignments to committee work and official station elevation from that delegation the dual membership holders secured nine places to two that were accorded to the solely F. of A. class."

"Some members express the opinion," states Bro. Spahr, of No. 60, "that the two orders may in time merge into one, while others hold that they will continue separate, but reciprocally helping each other." The notable help accruing to the F. of A. ran be "counted," expresses Bro. Connell, of No. 128, "by the growth financially and numerically, the development and efficiency procedure of Court Broadway and a careful analysis of the other courts embracing active 'pups,' are in a measure of the same uniformity in all F. of A. activities." The record of the last two years in No. 362 is aggressive movements, onward upward and remarkable semi-monthly sessions is likely to be eclipsed," in the opinion of P. C. R. Butterfield, "in the plans now in vogue in this court of a class by itself."

Augmented meetings, enhanced treasury, increased membership and a general stir-up is expected to follow as a result of the talks to be delivered at each session by 2 score of selected orators, who by reason of their dual membership will enable them to dilate upon topics that will appeal to their hearers and meet with cordial response. The staff selected comprises Brothers Schefferer, Joseph J. Kelley, Mates, Gderin, Fox, Fiellinger, Sauerwald, Donohue, Durose, Morrell, Daly, Keenan, Forest and others of fine note to be listed hereafter.

Chief Hamilton, No. 90, gave an illustration of the records made into the fraternal ranks by the war call, when, at its late session, Brothers Irvine, Maguire, White and MacCallon were installed as chief, subchief, treasurer, secretary and leader, to fill the respective vacancies created by war conditions. P. C. R. Bradley and P. C. R. Luttrell, as proxies, were the installing officers. P. C. R. Chief J. Cross has been urged by Court Schuylkill, No. 229, to accept the deputyship of that court, being the unanimous choice of its 422 members, a century Lawler was to convey the request and urge its acceptance. The Chief, it is expected, will be asked to accept the deputyship of all the courts under Moose and Stag auspices in the jurisdiction, and his acceptance, it is said, would superadd wonderful impetus to all the courts. Peter Tarry, a veteran of the Civil war, who is 90 years of age, and who has been a member of Court Broadway since its inception, 28 years ago, was the guest of honor at the meeting held last Friday's session, 728 Wharton street, on that Friday's session.

DEPUTY SACHEMS' COUNCIL, I. O. R. M.

Contributions to the Ambulance Unit Fund—District Deputies Busy on Raisings

The Deputy Great Sachems' Association of Philadelphia and vicinity held the regular business meeting in the Great Council office on last Monday night, Charles F. Wieland presiding. Walter Robertson, recently appointed, was elected to membership. Talks were made by Great Sachem Beswick and G. J. S. Charles E. Bell, who took up with each deputy the question of district meetings. The social committee announced a social session at Thirteenth street and Girard avenue for Monday night, October 22. James R. Pinkerton, of the publicity committee, also was present and received news for publication. Deputies reported the result of the installation work and it was announced that about ten tribes were disappointed. Steps were taken to prevent a delinquency of visiting teams. Deputy Carson, of Willow Grove, described the raising of his tribe by a team from Wyandotte, Tulpehocken and Seminole Tribes. Reports from the various districts were good and speak well for the work for the cooler moons.

Additional contributions from tribes to the ambulance unit fund are reported by G. K. B. Fraser as follows:

Mocopoasa, No. 149	$31.10
Yuba, No. 278	45.75
Tecumseh, No. 521	7.65
Conestoga, No. 28	20.00
Tioga, No. 358	22.00
Winnepacca, No. 256	25.00
Yoto, No. 377	24.00
Tomoko, No. 80	25.00
Po-ko-non, No. 331	23.25
Canassatego, No. 263	25.00
Pocono, No. 8	25.00
Red Warrior, No. 109	100.00

Great Chief of Records Thomas L. Fraser, appointed by Great Sachem Beswick to fill the unexpired term of Thomas K. Dunnalley, will be raised to the chieftainship of the office next Wednesday's Sleep, October 17, in the wigwam of Yuba Tribe, No. 278. The full board of great chiefs, as well as other prominent members of the order, will be present. The great chief of records is making many changes for the handling of the business of the office. New methods have been established and a new system is being installed for the keeping of a more complete record of the affairs of the order.

The district deputies have been kept busy during the last week looking after the raising of the officers of the tribes in their districts. Under the new system of the deputies exchanging tribes with deputies of other districts, a series of visitations is established which gives the members an opportunity to visit a different tribe each term, thereby bringing the members in touch with each other, and thus creating a closer feeling throughout the reservation.

Many of the tribes have organized degree teams especially fitted for the work, making an especially fine showing and performing the ceremony with credit to the order, which often leaves a lasting impression with the members, inspiring them to a determination to be up and doing. The teams always add strength to the weaker tribes.

Great Junior Sagamore Bell is organizing a series of district meetings throughout the city and surroundings. The first meeting is to be held in the wigwam of Minsola Tribe, No. 187, at 3917 Lancaster avenue, on Friday evening, October 18, and will be continued at intervals during the winter season, announcements being made each week in this column.

Torah Tribe, No. 44, called to the wigwam of Menoken, No. 381, in the Parkway Building, and raised the host's chiefs. The ceremonies were the finest presentations in history and the work was remarkably well done. Deputy G. S. J. Frank Redfearn is justly proud of his team, and Drill Master William M. Davis was complimented on its appearance. The team was attired in the conventional tuxedo, and led by Yonah's string band in Hussar uniform, marched up Broad street. Following the team came the Yonah warriors and braves almost 100 strong. After the ceremonies, short but interesting talks were made by P. S. Pollock, of Menoken; P. S. Kite, Redfearn, Neppe, Bencker, Clark and several others, after which the council fire was quenched and the tribes enjoyed the corn and venison provided by the braves of Menoken.

On the following sleep the team took up the trail that led to the Wyandottes, No. 54, at Germantown avenue and Price street, and raised the chiefs in a beautiful manner. The following chiefs were raised: Sachem John Cokely, Senior Sagamore William Conlon, Junior Sagamore Albert Mullen and Prophet Joseph Glassey.

On the next sleep the scouts led the deputy great chiefs to the council fire of the Wecacoes, No. 155, at Kensington avenue and Cumberland street and the following braves were raised to chiefs' chieftancy: Sachem William Glendon Senior Sagamore Godfrey Schober, Junior Sagamore Charles Richardson, Prophet C. S. Walter Boyer, in place of William Andrews, who is serving the Government. Among those who gave short talks were P. S. Redfearn and the officiating chiefs of Yonah, P. S. Waterfield, McCard and Godward, of Wecacoes, and P. S. Winters, of No. 9, who dwelt upon the wonderful work of the Yonahs, saying he had seen many "raising-ups," but never one that surpassed or equaled what he had witnessed that night. The team was composed of the following chiefs: D. G. S. J. Frank Redfearn, D. G. S. R., Louis G. Bencker; D. G. J. S., Claude Clark; great prophet, Peter J. Kite; great chieftaincy, William M. Davis; great sannap, Charles J. Young; G. K. of W., M. L. Cramer; G. C. of W., Irwin Bloom; G. C. of R., Charles P. Neppe; warriors, Walsh, Smallbach, Kline and Smith; braves, Hoppel, Hogarth, Herkness and Magill; guard of the wigwam, Widin Smith, and guard of the forest, John Rothman.

The chiefs of Yonah were raised in a very impressive manner last sleep by the team of Wawatam, of Roxborough. Accompanied by their band and clad in the costumes of the Aboriginal chiefs, they trailed to the camp of the Great Bears, almost 100 strong, where they were met by almost 300 of Yonah's braves. These raised were Sachem Harper T. Kline, Senior Sagamore M. L. Kramer, Junior Sagamore Irwin Bloom and Prophet P. S. Louis G. Bencker, who was chosen to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Sachem George Kempf, Jr., who is serving at Camp Meade. Corn and venison were served, and the run of low sun was passed before the chiefs took up the trail to their private wigwams.

Many of Yonah's active members are enlisted in various branches of the service, and their loss is being felt by those left behind. P. S. Al. Hepworth is in the marine corps at Port Royal, Brother McShane is in the cavalry at Schenectady, N. Y.; Brothers Jacobs, McFarland, Barnes, Kirkpatrick, Kempf and many others are at Fort Hancock, Camp Meade and Camp Dix. A delegation from Yonah will soon trail to Camp Meade and present past sachem's jewel to Brother George Kempf, Jr., who served the tribe as sachem during the last six moons.

Pequod Tribe, No. 18, had its officers raised by Deputy Great Sachem William H. Elbler, assisted by the degree team of Eyota Tribe, No. 35. The work was done in excellent form and was highly appreciated by the members present. District Deputy William Lindsley was present and was pleased with the work done by Brother Elbler.

Hiawatha Tribe, No. 36, admitted to membership Harry Fapper, George Buchanon, Edward Dougherty and four propositions were received for the next meeting. The district deputy called the tribe to stand one minute in silence and prayer in memory of the late Brother Tomason. A floral offering and donation will be given to the bereaved ones and services held at his late home, Wednesday evening. The tribe expressed thanks to the Evening Ledger and visitors from other tribes for making the first raising of chiefs a great success.

Deputy Great Sachem Fred Hobert, assisted by the degree team of Bear Tribe, No. 87, raised the chiefs of Wyoming Tribe, No. 1, at 726 Wharton street, on last Friday's sleep.

Shakahappe Tribe, No. 138, will be raised by the members of Tecoma Tribe, No. 321, from Bridesburg, on tomorrow's sleep. The work will be done by Deputy Great Sachem George Henry, assisted by the degree team of No. 138.

Menoken Tribe, No. 381, trailed to the wigwam of Quakeltauk Tribe, No. 116, and raised its chiefs. The degree work, in charge of Deputy Great Sachem William H. Heppard, was done in excellent form. District Deputy F. G. Alsop accompanied the tribe and gave an encouraging talk to the members. A delegation from Wawanoe Tribe was present and Great Representative Dr. W. R. Rogers gave an inspiring talk.

Hepanna Tribe, No. 12, will visit Beaver Tribe, No. 62, at Norristown, on this Thursday's sleep and raise its chiefs. The work being done by Deputy Great Sachem Albert Foxall and the degree team of Hepanna Tribe. A large delegation of the members and the Hepanna band will go along.

Iroka Tribe, No. 8[illegible], was raised in public by Schuylkill Tribe, No. 202. The degree team of Schuylkill Tribe deserves much credit for its work. The chiefs of Iroka were dressed in full Indian regalia and made a very impressive appearance. A large delegation of members of the order and visitors were present. Great Sachem Beswick, Past Great Sachem Wahnetah, Great Sachem Warner, Great Chief of Records Harry Hanken all gave interesting talks. The committee in charge of the arrangements was Past Sachems James Harris, Wilson, Hoffman, Robert Burns, Frank Hancock and Sachem Al. Berger. They received many compliments for their good work.

Watach Tribe, No. 3[illegible], was raised by Deputy Great Sachem Fred Schlater and a picked degree team from the members of tribes in the Thirteenth District, which did the work in splendid form and pleasing to the large delegation of members and visitors present. Watach Tribe has purchased Liberty Bonds and made a contribution of $25 to the great sachem for the ambulance fund. One new member was adopted at the last meeting. Sachem Jesse Richards expects to make a record breaking sleep during the term. Deputy Great Sachem William Carson is an active worker in the tribe.

Yuba Tribe, No. 278, was raised on last Wednesday's sleep by Menno Tribe, No. 328, with Past Great Sachem Dr. Joseph Farley filling the position of deputy great sachem, and assisted by the degree team of Menno Tribe. The work was done in ample form and pleasing to the members present. The officers installed were: Sachem H. Van Gell, senior sagamore, George H. Gilbert, junior sagamore, Joseph Chamberlain; prophet, John Nelson. Interesting talks were made by Deputy Great Sachem Farley and Chief of Records Bennett. Brother Bennett gave a very interesting talk on the question of suspending members not adjudicated that the guestions be taken up by the great sachem. Past Sachem James Hoit is still confined to the hospital, where he has been ill for several weeks, but is now showing some improvement.

The officers of Pinite Tribe, No. 251, were raised by their own comrades with the assistance of Past Sachems Nicholson and Camero, of Pocono Tribe, No. 31. After waiting for a visiting staff a team was made up of Deputy Great Sachem P. S. Camero, and Past Sachems Bain, Straub, Nicholson and Thomas. The following officers were elected and raised: Their respective stunns: Prophet, P. S. Grim; sachem, A. F. McClain; senior sachem, Albert De Maine; junior sachem, [illegible]. The attendance was large and hearty commendation was given for the work. On behalf of the tribe, Past Sachem Camero presented a gold watch charm to Past Sachem Feery for his earnest work and faithful attendance while serving in the various stunns. Enthusiastic remarks upon the good of the order were made by Past Sachems Bairo, Shara, Camero, Nicholson and Brother Degney. The committee served coon and venison.
