THE

NATIONAL STEEL TUBE CLEANER.

(Patented July 27th, 1875.)

Carbon is one of the worst conductors of heat known, a deposit of 1-32 of an inch on the tubes causing a loss of 15 per cent. of fuel.

This Tube Cleaner is made of spring steel. Each segment is of itself a spring, and distends in a perfect circle so as to press against the inside of the tube, removing all the carbon and scale without the slightest injury to the tube.

Guaranteed to clean better, last longer, and work easier than any in the market. Adopted and in use by the U. S. Navy. For sale by Dealers. Send for circular.

Life, Growth, Beauty.

LONDON HAIR COLOR RESTORER.

LONDON HAIR COLOR RESTORER.

Not a Dye; makes harsh hair soft and silky; cleanses the scalp from all impurities, causing the hair to grow where it has fallen off or become thin.

Can be applied by the hand as it does not stain the skin or soil the finest linen. As a hair Dressing it is the most perfect the world has ever produced. The hair is renovated and strengthened and natural color restored without the application of mineral substances.

Since the introduction of this truly valuable preparation into this country, it has been the wonder and admiration of all classes, as it has proved to be the only article that will effectually without deception, restore gray hair to its original color, health softness, lustre and beauty, and produce hair on bald heads of its original growth and color.

This beautiful and fragrantly perfumed article is complete within itself, no washing or preparation before or after its use, or accompaniment of any kind being required to obtain those desirable results.

HERE IS THE PROOF OF ITS Superior Excellence.

Read this Home Certificate, testified to by Edward B Garrigues one of the most competent Druggists and Chemists of Philadelphia, a man whose veracity none can doubt.

I am happy to add my testimony to the great value of the "London Hair Color Restorer," which restored my hair to its original Color, and the hue appears to be permanent. I am satisfied that this preparation is nothing like a dye but operates upon the secretions. It is also a beautiful hair dressing and promotes the growth. I purchased the first bottle from Edward B Garrigues, druggist, Tenth and Coates street, who can also testify my hair was quite gray when I commenced its use.

MRS MILLER

No 730 North Ninth street, Phila.

Dr. Swayne & Son, Respected friends:—I have the pleasure to inform you that a lady of my acquaintance, Mrs Miller, is delighted with the success of your "London Hair Color Restorer." Her hair was falling rapidly, and quite gray. The color has been restored the falling off entirely stopped, and a new growth of hair is the result.

E. B. GARRIGUES, Druggist, cor. Tenth and—Coates, Phila.

BOSTON TESTIMONY.

July 23d, 1871.—Dr. Swayne & Son: Last winter while in Taunton, N. J., I procured six bottles "London Hair Color Restorer," which I like very much, in fact better than any thing I have used in the last nine years. If you please, send me one dozen bottles C. O. D., care of W. S. Fogler & Son, Druggists, No. 723 Tremont street, Boston. Respectfully yours,

ADA BAKER, No. 59 Rutland square,

"London Hair Color Restorer and Dressing."

Has completely restored my hair to its original color and youthful beauty, and caused a rapid and luxuriant growth.

MRS. ANNIE MORRIS

No. 413 North Seventh Street, Philadelphia.

Dr. Dalton of Philadelphia, says of it: The London Hair Color Restorer is used very extensively among my patients and friends, as well as by myself. I therefore speak from experience.

The Lungs! CONSUMPTION!

This distressing and dangerous complaint, and its premonitory symptoms neglected cough, night sweats, hoarseness, wasting flesh fever—permanently cured by "Dr. Swayne's Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry."

BRONCHITIS—A precursor of Pulmonary Consumption, is characterized by catarrh, or inflammation of the mucous membrane of the air passages, with cough and expectoration, short breath, coarseness, pains in the chest. For all bronchial affections, sore throat, loss of voice, coughs,

DR. SWAYNE'S Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry is a sovereign remedy.

HEMORRHAGE OR SPITTING OF BLOOD, may proceed from the larynx, trachea, bronchia or lungs, and arises from various causes, as undue physical exertion, plethora, or fullness of the vessels, weak lungs, overstraining of the voice, suppressed evacuation, obstruction of the spleen or liver, &c.

Dr. Swayne's Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry strikes at the root of disease by purifying the blood, restoring the liver and kidneys to healthy action, invigorating the nervous system.

The only standard remedy for hemorrhage bronchial and all pulmonary complaints. Consumptives or those predisposed to weak lungs, should not fail to use this great vegetable remedy.

Its marvelous power not only over consumption, but over every chronic disease where a gradual alterative action is needed. Under its use the cough is loosened, the night sweats diminished, the pain subsided, the pulse returns to its natural standard, the stomach is improved its 1st power to digest and assimilate the food, and every organ has a purer and better quality of blood supplied to it, out of which new recreative and plastic material is made.

Death of a Millionaire Merchant.

The recent death of Mr. A. T. Stewart, the great dry goods merchant of New York city, on April 10th, says the Scientific American, has called forth from a large number of people a variety of curious and often striking anecdotes relating to his early life and struggles, as well to his habits after he had attained his enormous wealth. Perhaps not again in this generation will any one man accumulate by legitimate trade so immense a sum as he acquired; and it is a natural curiosity which prompts all to examine closely those traits, customs and habits through which the great fortune was amassed. Mr. Stewart was born in Belfast, Ireland, in 1803. His parents were well-to-do people, but died when he was quite young, leaving him under the care of his grandfather. He was well educated, and had begun to prepare for the ministry when his grandfather's death caused him to change his plans, and at the age of 20 to embark for America. Here he started as a school teacher, and was pursuing that calling when he lent a small sum to a friend who desired to open a dry goods store. The friend, and Mr. Stewart, partly from a desire to enter trade, and partly in order to protect his investment took charge of the store. Soon after he returned to Ireland to obtain his patrimoney, some $3,000, and this he laid out in cotton trimmings for dresses, which were then very fashionable in New York. In Belfast he purchased the goods at two pence sterling a pound, and afterwards sold them in this city at two shillings a pound, and this stroke of success, he always stated convinced him "that money could be made in the dry goods business." Of Mr. Stewart's honest and rigidly fair dealing in the little store in which he began, there are abundant stories. "What do you mean by paying what you know to be false?" he once angrily demanded of a clerk who was exercising all possible powers of persuasion to convince a woman that the colors in a piece of calico would not fade. "The calico won't wash; she'll be right. I don't want the goods represented for what they are not." It was this perfect honesty toward all his customers that was Mr. Stewart's most prominent characteristic, and it was his invariable custom, when questioned as to his explanation for his great success, to reply with great emphasis: "Truth, truth is the talismanic word; and if I have one earthly wish or desire greater than another it is that in this respect my example may be commended and followed by young men entering into business, and especially by young merchants."

On the firm basis of truth and honesty he reared his gigantic transactions: not by bold ventures or colossal speculations, but through steady application, perfect organization, and minute attention to every detail. The discipline in his establishment was rigid. "Do you see all these people about here?" he once asked of Mr. Peter Cooper, pointing to the scores of salesmen and ushers in his great retail store. "Well, there isn't a man of them who is allowed the slightest discretion. Every one is taught to be precisely and simply what he has been told. He is a machine working by rote according to rule." Haggling over prices was to him a perfect abhorrence. There was but one price for everything and everybody; but on the other hand he was no believer in holding for high prices, when by lower ones he could sell promptly. An old employee of his recently told us that Mr Stewart seemed to watch each individual class of goods, "as if fortune depended upon them only. "If, in making his rounds through either store, he noticed an unusual quantity of any material on hand, he would question the salesmen closely about it; and if he found its sales slow, he would mark down the price to such figures that its very cheapness would attract customers. It is said, moreover, that he knew the contents of his warehouses better than those in his employ, while he watched the latter more closely than they ever imagined. If he saw too much jewelry worn, he deemed it a suspicious sign, and placed the wearer under special surveillance. "He never spoke to me but once," says an old clerk, "and then it was when I tore a piece of wrapping paper roughly across. He came and told me I should have folded it and made even edges. "People," he said, "did not like to get shiftless bundles." At another time, a clerk wound a package with an extra turn of cord. Before he could cut the string, Mr. Stewart quietly took the bundle from him and unwound the extra turn, saying: "Never waste even a piece of string; waste is always wrong."
