Man's Mortality.

BY SIMON WESTELL, 1623.

Like as the damask rose you see,
Or like the blossom on the tree,
Or like the dainty flower in May,
Or like the morning of the day,
Or like the sun, or like the shade,
Or like the gourd which Jonas had;
E'en such is man—whose thread is spun,
Drawn out and cut, and so is done—
The rose withers, the blossom blasteth,
The flower fades, the morning hasteth,
The gourd consumes—and man he dies!

Like to the grass that's newly sprung,
Or like a tale that's new begun,
Or like the bird that's here to-day,
Or like the pearled dew of May,
Or like an hour, or like a span,
Or like the singing of a swan,
E'en such is man—who lives by breath,
Is here, now there, in life and death—
The grass withers, the tale is ended,
The bird is flown, the dew's assended,
The hour is short, the span is long,
The swan's near death—man's life is done.

If you want to buy anything,
If you want to sell anything,
If you want to hear anything,
If you want to tell anything,
If you want to do anything,
If you want anything done,

August—Work to be done.

THE FARM.—Continue the precautions for protecting sheep from the oestrus ovis, or fly which causes worms in their heads, giving in last month's calendar.

Destroy thistles; If they be cut off when in bloom, at about one inch above the surface of the ground, the hollow part of the stem receives water and the roots will decay. In selecting seeds choose only the most thrifty, so that your roots, &c., may be of an improved quality next year; by continuing such a course for a few years, any vegetable may be brought to a high state of perfection. This is a proper season for making under-drains, draining swamps, &c., &c., and the earth taken from low deposite may be placed with advantage into your hog-pens, compost heaps, &c., &c. Weeds should now be removed to the hog-pens, that the hogs may perform their share of labor in rooting them—throw into the hog-pen all potatoe tops, turf, ditch scrapings, &c., &c., and occasionally a handful of whole corn, to obtain which the hogs will keep the whole mass of rubbish in continous motion. On removing the contents of hog-pens to the compost heap, mix one bushel of salt to every load, and this quantity will prevent those seeds from germinating which may not have been eaten by the hogs.

If the surface of your barn-yard is not so shaped as to save all the liquid drainage, you may consider that you have a hole in your pocket, or at least a waste which will prove equally destructive.

If your potatoes be dug early enough to spare five days before putting in turnips or other late crops, then top-dress the potato ground with six bushels of fine salt to the acre before re-seeding, and you will not be annoyed by grubs the next year, beside improving the general quality of the land. Winter rye should be sowed in the early part of September, and thus give time for the roots to become well established, so as not to be thrown out by frosts during winter. By sowing thus early it may be used as spring fodder for cattle and sheep if desired. Winter wheat should also be sown at the same date. Ruta baga turnips may be sown at any time in August, and even those sowed late, often mature well in open seasons. Strap leaved red top turnips may be sown at any time, and even if too late to perfect, they will more than pay for the expense of seed and labor of sowing by being plowed in at the spring plowing for, as most of their constituents are received from the atmosphere, the ground will be materially benefitted by such treatment. This kind of turnip often doubles in size during October or November, and if the winter be open, good crops are sometimes gathered which have been sown some weeks later than the usual season.

KITCHEN GARDEN.—Keep plants well hoed and free from weeds, &c., Plow vacant ground for turnips, spinage, shallots and other late crops, and after plowing cart on manures and plow them in deeply and thoroughly.

Sow cabbage seeds for collards. Earth up celery and cardoons, transplant endive and prepare to blanch early plantings. Sow onion seed to stand the winter. Plant shallots by Sept. 1st. Sow turnips as directed in former paragraph. Gather hops on dry days and cure them properly. Hoe plants in rows frequently in dry wether, for in addition to keeping them free from weeds, these frequent hoeings enables the soil to collect moisture from the atmosphere much more rapidly than if left compact. Pull up early sown onions, and expose for ripening drying, &c., removing useless parts and turning them frequently, so that they may become thoroughly dried for keeping. Gather seeds as ripe and place them in proper condition fos keeping.

Plant beans for picklers early this month. Early kinds of cucumbers may still be planted for picklers. Sow autumn lettuce. Peas may still be planted. Attend to gathering herbs; dry sage and other late herbs. Globe artichokes which are ripe should be gathered before the leaves begin to open, and the stems should be broken down to encourage the growth of offsets from the root.

In the latter part of the month sow rape, cabbage, lettuce, cress, &c., every week for small salads. Sow cabbage, lettuce, &c., &c., to be pricked out in cold beds for winter protection and spring use. Sow spinage for winter and spring use, &c. Manure grounds intended for spring gardening, especially where bone dust and other slowly decomposable materials are intended to be used.

☞ There is nothing purer than honesty; nothing sweeter than charity; nothing warmer than love; nothing brighter than virtue; and nothing more steadfast than faith. These, united in one mind, form the purest, the sweetest, the richest, the brightest, the holiest, and the most steadfast happiness.

Preserving Potatoes for late Table Use.

Potatoes are often rendered unpatatable and unfit for use by souring. The principles which nature calls into action to consummate the process of germination, are those, unfortunately, which are essential to give it value as an edible, and consequently as soon as germination commences, the roots decreasing in value as it proceeds. To arrest this, or rather to prevent it, by destroying entirely the vegetative principle, it is necessary to kill the eyes, which can in no way be so speedily and effectually accomplished, as by immersing the tubers for four or five days in ammoniated water. One ounce of liqor ammonia, to one pint of water, are the proper proportions to be observed. After the potatoes have thus been immersed, they should be spread and dried. The cost of this is but trifling, and potatoes once thoroughly subjected to the process, will keep six eight or ten months as sound and good, as when taken from the soil. When it is desireble to transport them to other climates say to the tropics, it is an object of great importace to prevent their sprouting, and for this purpose they are often submerged for days in a strong solution of common salt and water. This stops the insipient vegetation quite effectually, but the salt must be entirely free from them, which requires much care and many subsequent ablutions and many changes of water to accomplish it thoroughly. Rubbing out the eyes is a tedious process, and can never be effectually adopted where large quantities are wanted for transportation; besides it never destroys the germinative instinct, only temporadily arrests its action, and in warm weather, requires to be repented every week. One advantage and a very important one in favor of the ammoniated liquor, is, it actually renders the tubers far more dry and mealy, and besides gives them a fine exterior appearance, which has its effect in the market, especially in advanced seasons of the year. Many potatoes are rendered bad and uneatable by carelessness in saving them. When they are taken to the cellar, they should be placed in a close bin, and completely excluded from light. No more air should be allowed than is barely necessary, and if none is permitted, the tubers will be all the better unless there is a liability to heat. This will never occur if they are properly stored, and a sufficiency of soil thrown over them to fill up the interstices between the roots, and arm, a close covering over the top. In the Spring, as warm weather advances, they should be closely covered, and the lower the temperature, the better and longer they will keep. All rotten or injured potatoes should be carefully picked out before housing.—Norristown Herald & Free Press.

Getting up the Steam.

An experiment in the way of getting up the military glory excitement was tried last week, by holding a SCOTT meeting on the anniversary and on the ground of the Battle of Lundy's Lane. Lundy's Lane is just across the border, in the dominions of Queen Victoria, and within a mile and a half of Niagara.

The fare of the Rail Road lines was put down for the occasion, and so favorable an opportunity of seeing Niagara at the fashonable season, was of course eagerly embraced by many, and the result was a considerable crowd. To add to the inducements, "at the earnest solicitation of his friends," Gen. SCOTT consented to be present, having been induced to reconsider his determination not to attend any public demonstrations, in his favor. On the other hand he was not there after all, wiser friends than those who urged his attendance persuaded him to stay away. After a severe struggle with his desire to appear and share the glory of the occasion, and avail himself of so favorable an opportunity of "fighting his battles over again," the General concluded to stay at home. Still as the next thing we heard after hearing of the determination of the General to write no letters to the Convention or its members, was the production of his letter of Mr. ARCHER, so we would probably have heard on the heels of this decision that he had been at Niagara, but unfortunately for the full success of the experiment, an attack of dysentery intervened to make the decision final.—We pity the Whigs who were induced to go to Niagara with the expectation, of seeing Gen. SCOTT enact the part of Alexander at the feast, when

"Elate with vine the King grew vain,
Fought all his battles over again,
And thrice he routed all his foes,
And thrice he slew the slain."

and who will now have to put up with the play of Hamlet with the part of the Prince omitted; but hope they may find some compensation for the disappointment in the success of their first demonstration in Canada.

The Newspaper in a Family.

A school-teacher, who has been engaged a long time in his profession, and witnessed the effects of a newspaper on the minds of a family of children, writes to the editor of the Ogdensburg Sentinel as follows:

I have now found it to be a universal fact without exception, that those scholars of both sexes, and of all ages, who have had access to newspapers at home, when compared with those who have none, are—

1st. Better readers, excelling in pronunciation, and emphasis; and consequently read more understandingly.

2d. They are better spellers, and define words with greater accuracy.

3d. They obtain a better knowledge of Geography in almost half the time it requires others, as the newspaper had made them familiar with the location of all the important places, nations, their government and doings, on the globe.

4th. They are better grammarians, for having become familiar with every variety of style in the newspaper from the common-place advertisement to the finished and classical oration of the statesman, they more rapidly comprehend the meaning of the text, and consequently analyze its constitution with greater accuracy.

5th. Those young men who have been for years readers of the newspapers, are always fond of taking the lead in the debating society, exhibiting a more extensive knowledge upon a greater variety of subjects, and expressing their views with greater fluency, clearness and correctness in the use of language.

"UNCLE TOM'S CABIN"
AS IT IS.
Being Narratives, Scenes and Incident in the real "Life of the Lowly."
BY W. L. G. SMITH, ESQ.

THE object of the author is to represent the condition of the Slave in his rude but comfortable cabin, his daily occupations and pastimes the relations between the master and slave, the mistaken impulses and misconceived views of the Northern Philanthropist, etc. etc., and to represent the passions and sentiments in their natural forms, as the same are displayed in the humblest lot of society, thus showing that, in the case of the slave at least, contentment bestows more happiness than freedom; and at the same time to represent, as it is, a class of people, viz: the Planter, to whom justice has seldom been done, and whose character, as exhibited in every day life, is well calculated to win the amiable judgment of the world.

$500 CHALLENGE.

WHATEVER concerns the health and happiness of a people is at all times of the most valuable importance. I take it for granted that every person will do all in their power to save the lives of their children and that every person will endeavor to promote their own health at all sacrifices. I feel it so be my duty to solemnly assure you that Worms according to the opinion of the most celebrated Physicians, are the primary cause of a large majority of disease to which children and adults are liable, if you have an appetite continually changeable from one kind of food to another, bad breath, pain in the stomach, picking at the nose, hardness and fulness of the belly, dry cough, low fever, pulse irregular, remember that all these denote Worms and you should at once apply the remedy.

HOBENSACK'S WORM SYRUP,

An article found upon scientific principles; compounded with purely vegetable substances, being perfectly safe when taken, and determined in all its effects, and not leaving the system in a diseased condition as most advertised nostrums for the removal of worms, composed of calomel, such as Lozenges, Vermifuges, &c.; but has performed the most astonishing cures an saved the lives of thousands, both old and young, who have been pronounced hopeless incurable, by physicians. Read the following and become convicted of its efficacy over all others:

Morris River, N. J., Aug. 13, 1851.

Mr. J. N. Hobensack—This is to certify that my child, 15 years of age, having been sick for three years, was attended for a disease of the spine by Drs. Roper, Wollitt, and Pfeiffer for a long time without receiving any benefit. After giving her up as incurable, I went to Philadelphia and consulted one of the best physicians, her disease still growing worse. It was at this time I was induced to try Hobensack's Worm Syrup, and after taking two bottles she entirely regained her health, after passing a great quantity of worms. Hoping this will be a benefit to parents whose children are similarly affected,

I am yours, &c.
R. BROWN.

HOBENSACK'S LIVER PILLS.

No part of the system is more liable to disease than the liver, it serving as a filter to purify the blood, or giving the proper separation and secretion to the bile, so that any wrong action of the liver affects the other important parts of the system, and results variously in Liver Complaints, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Fevers, &c. We should therefore watch every symptom that might indicate a wrong action of the liver. These Pills being composed of roots and plants, furnished by nature to heal the sick, namely: 1st, an Expectorant which augments the secretion from the pulmonary mucus membrane, or promotes the discharge of secreted matter. 2d, an alterative, which changes in some inexplicable and insensible manner, the certain morbid actions of the system. 3d, as a Tonic, which gives tone and strength to the nervous system, renewing health and vigor to all parts of the body. 4th, a Cathartic, which acts in perfect harmony with the other ingredients by operating on the bowels and expelling the whole mass of corruption and vitiated matter and purifying the blood, which destroys disease and retrieves health.

Liver Complaint.

Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Chronic or Nervous Debility, Diseases of the Kidneys,

AND all diseases arising from a disordered liver or stomach, such as constipation, inward piles fullness of blood to the head, acidity of the stomach, nausea, heart burn, disgust for food, fulness, or weight in the stomach, sour eructations, sinking or fluttering at the pit of the stomach, sour eructations head, hurried or difficult breathing, fluttering at the heart, choking or suffocating sensations when in a lying posture, dimness of vision, dots or webs before the sight, fever and dull pain in the head, deficiency of perspiration, yellowness of the skin and eyes, pain in the side, back, chest limbs, &c., and sudden flushes of heat, burning in the flesh, constant imaginings of evil, and great depression of spirits, can be effectually cured by

Dr. Hoofland's celebrated German Bitters.

Prepared by Dr. C. M Jackson, at the German Medicine store, 120 Arch street, Philadelphia.

Their power over the above diseases is not excelled, if equalled, by any other preparation in the United States, as the cures attest, in many cases after skilful physicians had failed.

These bitters are worthy the attention of invalids—Possessing great virtues in the rectification of diseases of the Liver and lesser glands, exercising the most searching power in weakness and affections of the digestive organs, they are, withal, safe, certain, and pleasant.

Read and be Convinced.

The editor of the Boston Bee said, December 22d—"Dr. Hoofland's Celebrated German Bitters, for the cure of Liver Complaint, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Chronic, or Nervous Debility, is deservedly one of the most popular medicines of the day. These Bitters have been used by thousands, and a friend at our elbow says he has himself received an effectual and permanent cure of Liver Complaint from the use of this remedy. We are convinced that, in the use of these bitters, the patient constantly gains strength and vigor—a fact worthy of great consideration. They are pleasant in taste and smell, and can be used by persons with the most delicate stomach with safety, under any circumstances. We are speaking from experience, and to the afflicted we advise their use.

Scott's Weekly, one of the best literary papers published, said, August 25th—

"Dr. Hoofland's German Bitters, manufactured by Dr. Jackson, are now recommended by some of the most prominent members of the medical faculty as an article of much efficacy in cases of female weakness. As such is the case, we would advise all mothers to obtain a bottle, and thus save themselves much sickness. Persons of debilitated constitutions will find these bitters advantageous to their health, as we know from experience the salutary effect they have upon weak systems."

More Evidence.

The Philadelphia Saturday Gazette, the best family paper published in the United States, says of Dr. Hoofland's German Bitters—

"It is seldom that we recommend what are termed Patent Medicines, to the confidence and patronage of our readers, and therefore when we recommend Dr. Hoofland's German Bitters we wish to be distinctly understood that we are not speaking of the nostrums of the day, that are noised about for a brief period and then forgotten after they have run their guilty race of mischief, but of a medicine long established, universally approved, and which has met the hearty apptoval of the faculty itself."

Look well to the marks of the genuine. They have the written signature of C. M. JACKSON upon the wrapper, and his name blown in the bottle, without which they are spurious.

For sale, wholesale and retail, at the German Medicine Store, No. 120 Arch street, one door below Sixth, Philadelphia, and by respectable dealers generally throughout the country.

PEPSIN

Another Scientific Wonder!

Great Cure for Dyspepsia!

DR. J. S. HOUGHTON'S PEPSIN, OR THE TRUE DIGESTIVE FLUID, OR Gastric Juice,

Prepared from RENNET or the fourth Stomach or the Ox, after directions of Baron Liebig, the great Physiological Chemist, by J. S. HOUGHTON, M. D., Philadelphia, Pa.

This is a truly wonderful remedy for INDIGESTION, DYSPEPSIA, JAUNDICE, LIVER COMPLAINT, CONSTIPATION and DEBILITY, caring after Nature's own meth d, by Nature's own agent, the Gastric Juice.

Pepsin is the chief element or great Digestive principle of the Gastric Juice—the Solvent of the Food, the Purifying, Preserving, and Stimulating Agent of the Stomach and Testines. It is extracted from the Digestive Stomach of the Ox, thus forming an ARTIFICIAL DIGESTIVE FLUID, precisely like the natural Gastric Juice in its Chemical powers, and furnishing a complete and perfect substitute for it. By the aid of this preparation the pains and evils of Indigestion and Dyspepsia are removed just as they would be in a healthy stomach. It is doing wonders for dyspeptics, curing cases of Debility, Emaciation, Nervous Decline, and Dyspeptic Consumption supposed to be on the verge of the grave. The scientific evidence upon which it is based, is in the highest degree curious and remarkable.

Scientific Evidence.

Baron Liebeg in his celebrated work on animal Chemistry, says, "An Artificial Digestive Fluid, analagous to the Gastric Juice, may be readily prepared from the mucous membrane of the stomach of the Calf, in which various articles of food, as meat and Eggs, will be softened, changed, and digested! just in the same manner as they would be in the human stomach."

☞ Call on the agent and get a Descriptive circular, gratis, giving a large amount of scientific evidence, similar to the above, together with reports of remarkable cures from all parts of the United States.

DR. HOUGHTON'S PEPSIN is now sold by nearly all the dealers in fine drugs and popular medicines throughout the United States. It is prepared in powder and in liquid form, and in prescriptive vials for the use of Physicians.

PRIVATE CIRCULARS for the use of Physicians, may be obtained of Dr. Houghton or his agents describing the whole process of preparation, and giving the authorities upon which the claims of this new remedy are based. As it is not a secret remedy, no objection can be raised against its use by Physicians in respectable standing and regular practice. Price, ONE DOLLAR per bottle.

☞ OBSERVE THIS!!—Every bottle of the genuine PEPSIN bears the written signature of J. S. HOUGHTON, M. D., sole Proprietor Philadelphia, Pa. Copyright and Trade Mark secured.

☞ Sold by all Druggists and Dealers in Medicines.

FOR THE CURE OF COUGHS, AND COLDS, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA AND WHOOPING-COUGH, CROUP AND CONSUMPTION.

In offering to the community this justly celebrated remedy for diseases of the throat and lungs, it is not our wish to trifle with the lives or health of the afflicted, but frankly to lay before them the opinion of distinguished men and some of the evidences of its success, from which they can judge for themselves. We sincerely pledge ourselves to make no will assertions or false statements of its efficacy, nor will we hold out any hope to suffering humanity which facts will not warrant.

Many proofs are here given, and we solicit an inquiry from the public into all we publish, feeling assured that they will find them perfectly reliable, and the medicine worthy their best confidence and patronage.

From the distinguished Professor of Chemistry and Materia Medica, Bowdoin College.

Dear Sir: I delayed answering the receipt of your preparation until I had an opportunity of witnessing its effects in my own family, or in the families of my friends.

This I have now done with a high degree of satisfaction, in cases of both adults and children.

I have found it, as its ingredients show, a powerful remedy for colds, and pulmonary diseases.

PARKER CLEVELAND, M. D.
Brunswick, Me., Feb 5, 1847.

From an Overseer in the Hamilton Mills, in this city.

Lowell, August 10, 1849.

Dr. J. C. Ayer: I have been cured of the worst cough I ever had in my life, by your Cherry Pictoral and never fail, when I have opportunity, of recommending it to others. Yours respectfully, S. D. EMERSON.

☞ Read the following, and see if this medicine is worth a trial. This patient had become very feeble, and the effect of the medicine was unmistakably distinct.

United States Hotel, Saratoga Springs, July 5, 1849.

Dr. J. C. Ayer—Sir: I have been afflicted with a painful affection of the lungs, and all the symptoms of settled consumption, for more than a year. I could find no medicine that would reach my case, until I commenced the use of your Cherry Pictoral, which gave me gradual relief, and I have been steadily gaining my strength till my health is well nigh restored.

While using your medicine, I had the gratification of curing with it my reverend friend, Mr. Truman, of Sumner District, who had been suspended from his parochial duties by a severe attack of bronchitis.

I have pleasure in certifying these facts to you, and am, sir, yours respectfully,

J. F. CALHOUN, of South Carolina.

☞ Prepared and sold by JAMES C. AYER, Practical Chemist, Lowel, Mass.

☞ Sold by A. Turrell, Montrose; Lucien Scott, Great Bend, and by Druggists everywhere. 6yl
