Escape from Prison.

Aaron B. Brown, who was confined in our county prison, for robbing the store of Mr. George Heaton, watchmaker, made his escape from confinement last Friday night.

He was confined in a cell on the second story of the building, and effected his escape by working his way through the ceiling of his cell. In accomplishing this he evinced a great deal of ingenuity and tact.

The room was arched, and the brick work was of a thickness that would require the labor of more than one night to open a passage, hence it was necessary to contrive a plan to hide the fracture from the eye of the keeper.—This he accomplished by obtaining on some pretence a sufficient quantity of white wash to prepare a piece of muslin, till in color and appearance it made a very good imitation of the wall. The muslin, it is said, he tore from one of the sheets belonging to his bed. He obtained sufficient shoemaker's wax to answer his purpose, by pretending that it was needed about his loom, (he was employed in weaving;) and by pasting the muslin over the hole in the wall it escaped notice. As to the tools used, they are not so easily accounted for, but it is probable that the keeper, under the impression that the building was substantial and every thing secure, has not been sufficiently cautious in admitting visitors, and it is likely that some friend of the prisoner has smuggled to him the necessary tools. At any rate he had them and used them to good advantage for himself.

By standing on his loom he was raised sufficiently to work with convenience, and by cutting the mortar from around a brick or two he found but little difficulty in taking out the number necessary to make an opening of sufficient size to allow the passage of his body; the same with the second layer of brick. On reaching the roof of the building, with an augur he cut an opening and made his passage out. From here he descended to the yard by a ladder of rope made from yarn taken from the loom; and with another ladder of the same material, but furnished with a hook to catch to the coping of the wall, he made his way from the prison yard.

A reward of $150 is offered for his apprehension and return to prison.—Pottsville Mining Register.

Singular Secret Societies.

The police of Perrysville, Ashland county, have just discovered and exposed a "Secret Society" among the youth of that town, which is startling enough in its features:

"The society numbered a band of fifteen young men and boys, formed for the purpose of robbery. A captain was chosen and a regular constitution and by-laws, the violation of which was death, adopted. One of the band stole from his own father $10, which he had collected for a poor widow, who had a son belonging to the band. Learning that the money belonged to her, the band stole $10 from another woman to replace it. The cash drawer of a landlord in Perrysville was opened by two of the band and a ten dollar bill taken from it. The one who changed it to divide with his comrades, charged a premium for making change.

"This being a violation of the by-laws the rest of the band, unknown to him, held a meeting and determined on his death. It was arranged that all were to go out upon the ice—in which a hole was to be previously cut—to skate, and that all should appear struck at some curiosity of the water, and look in, and when this one should stoop down over the hole, one of the company should strike him with a club and pitch him in. One young man whose heart was not so corrupt as the rest, relented, and by giving information prevented the murder. Several of the company are now in the Ashland jail."—Western Advocate.

Editing a Newspaper.

Hear what the National Intelligencer says about editing a newspaper:

Many people estimate the ability of a newspaper, and the industry and talent of its editor, by the editorial matter it contains. It is comparatively an easy task for a frothy writer to pour out daily columns of words—words upon any and on all subjects. His ideas may flow in one wishy washy everlasting flood, and his command of language may enable him to string them together like bunches of onions; and yet his paper may be a meagre and poor concern. But what is the toil of such a man who displays his leaded matter largely, to that imposed on a judicious, well informed editor, who exercises his vocation with an hourly consciousness of his responsibilities and duties, and devotes himself to the conduct of his paper with the same care and assiduity that a sensible lawyer bestows upon a suit, a humane physician upon a patient, without regard to show or display? Indeed the mere writing part of editing a paper is but a small portion of the work. The care, the time employed in reflecting, is far more important, and the fact of a good editor is better known by his selections than anything else, and that we all know is half the battle. But as we have said an editor ought to be estimated, and his labors understood and appreciated, by the general conduct of his paper, its tone, its temper, its uniform and consistent course, its principles and aims, its manliness, its dignity and propriety. To preserve these as they should be preserved, is enough to occupy fully the time and attention of any man. If to this be added the general supervision of the newspaper establishment, which most editors have to encounter, the wonder is how they find time to write at all.

LAWYERS.—Lawyers are the only men who believe that the older the world, the less it knows about right and wrong. Judges of today refer to Judges of the last century, who bowed with reverence to those of the century before. Almost all our legal decisions are based upon the opinion of a lot of noddies who believed that the earth was a living monster, while the movements of the tide were caused by the monster's breathing. In the Court of Appeals, Lord Chief Justice Rustyaw, who lived when the devil was supposed to be afraid of a horse-shoe, actually exerts more influence than either justice or common sense. Had physicians been as fearful of new ideas as lawyers are, asses' milk would still be considered the only antidote for insanity.

THE PRICE OF IRON—WHO GAINS.—In the public discussion that took place in former days, we always contended that a higher tariff, increasing the duty on foreign, and of course the price of domestic iron, would benefit no one but the Manufacturer of the article—and we now have another illustration of the truth of this argument. A few months ago, iron was down to $20 a ton—now it is up to $40 a ton and is likely to remain so. But has any one heard of the Laborer at any one of these establishments getting his wages increased? Does the Farmer get more for his ore? No indeed. The increase of $20 all goes into the pocket of the Manufacturer and the man who uses any article made of iron pays the additional $20. There is no such inequality in Free Trade.—Easton Argus.

THE WILL OF GEN. WASHINGTON.—A petition was presented to the Virginian Legislature, on Tuesday, from Alfred Moss, clerk of the county court of Fairfax, authorizing him to carry out of the commonwealth the original will of Gen. George Washington, for the purpose of having it lithographed, accompanied by a letter approbatory thereof from G. W. Parke Curtis, Esq., the sole surviving executor of Gen. Washington.

☞ Mercy is not itself that oft looks so.

COL. H. S. MOTT.—This gentleman who was a prominent candidate for Canal Commissioner, before the recent Convention, will suffer nothing by his defeat. His friends came from all quarters of the State, and seemed determined to do honor to the noble son of the "Tenth Legion!" Superior management, on the part of the Philadelphians, secured for them (in person of Mr. Forsythe) the nomination. Mr. Mott, throughout the entire contest acted as a man of honor, and when the delegates decided against him, nobly stepped forward and pledged himself and his friends to the support of the nomination.

His magnanimity and honorable conduct will meet with a sufficient reward at some future day. His defeat has endeared him the more to his numerous friends. We honor such a man.—Fulton Democrat.

The Law of Divorce.

The State Commissioners to revise the Code, have proposed a law providing that in addition to the cases now provided by the act of March 15, 1831, the Courts of Common Pleas shall have power to grant divorces where either of the parties were minors at the time of the marriage, and it was contracted without the consent of the parents or guardians of such minor, and has not been followed by cohabitation subsequent to such alleged marriage; where such alleged marriage was procured by fraud, force, or coercion, and has not been subsequently confirmed by the acts of the injured party, and where the parties have mutually agreed to a separation, and such separation has taken place, and been continued for six years, except where the application is made by the party whose adulterous practices or cruel and barbarous treatment may have been the cause of the separation. The proceedings in such cases to be the same as those prescribed by the above act and its several supplements, with the like right of appeal as is therein given.

Two Cotton Ships on Fire.

Petersburg, March 14.

There was an error in the telegraph despatch from New Orleans of the 7th in reference to a fire on board two cotton ships while lying at their wharves.

The British ship America took fire on Sunday morning, the 5th inst., and was almost entirely consumed, together with her cargo, consisting of nearly 3000 bales of cotton. On the following morning, the ship Belmont took fire, and during the evening was still burning. It was feared that some 2000 bales of cotton would be destroyed.

LINES & REYNOLDS.

Montrose, Nov. 10, 1852.

What can be got for five dollars.

THE undersigned have entered into an arrangement by which they agree to furnish the, Knickerbocker Magazine, (monthly,) the Home Journal, (weekly,) and the Musical World and Times, (weekly,) to new subscribers, at the very moderate price of five dollars a year for three publications; all orders, enclosing that amount to Dyer & Willis, will be promptly attended to. Samuel Hueston, Publisher of the Knickerbocker; Morris & Willis, Publishers of the Home Journal; Dyer & Willis, Publishers of the Musical World and Times, 257 Broadway New York.

Grand Literary and Artistic Combination.

Arrangements have been made to furnish the Knickerbocker Magazine, the Home Journal, and the New York Musical World and Times, to new subscribers for five dollars a year! This is cheap literature, with a vengeance. The Knickerbocker is $3 per annum; the Home Journal, $2; and the Musical World and Times, $3; making $8 a year at the usual rates. That three such works can be obtained for five dollars a year, is a fact truly worthy the Caloric age, which is just now being ushered in. Of the Knickerbocker magazine, edited by Lewis Gaylord Clark, it is unnecessary to speak. For twenty years it has been the most genial, humorous, and spicy "monthly" in the world; and the present volume will be better than any which preceded it. The Home Journal, edited by George P. Morris and N. P. Willis, is well known as the best family newspaper in America; and the Musical World and Times, edited by Richard Storrs Willis, with Lowel Mason, Geo. H. Curtis, Thos. Hastings, Wm. B. Bradbury, Geo. F. Root, and other musical writers contributing; and which gives among other things, over $25 worth of music and a full course of instruction in harmony annually, is the very best musical Journal ever published. These three publications will post a family up in regard to nearly everything worth knowing;—art, science, literature, music, painting, sculpture; inventions, discoveries; wit, humor, fancy, sentiment; the newest fashions and other attractions for ladies; choice new music for the Sabbath; the Church and the Fireside; reviews and criticisms of musical works, Performers and performances; in short the very pick and cream of novelty, incident, history, biography, art, literature and science; including whatever can be given in periodicals to promote healthy amusement and solid instruction in the family, and help to make it better, wiser, and happier, may be now obtained for five dollars.

TO COUNTRY DEALERS.

Silks and Fancy Dry Goods.

NICHOLSON & WRIGHT, IMPORTERS AND JOBBERS
Of Silks and Fancy Dry Goods,

HAVING removed from 54 Cedar street, to the New Marble building, 93 Liberty street, four doors west of Broadway, would invite the attention of dealers in distant cities and towns to a very extensive and rich stock of silks and fancy dry goods, consisting of Ribbons, Laces, Embroideries, Dress Trimmings, White Goods, Gloves, Silks, Delaines, Shawls, Parasols, Millinery Articles, &c.

An examination of our Goods and prices, will we think, convince country dealers that we can offer them fully as advantageous terms as any house in New York—if not better. We pay particular attention to the Auction sales, and if goods are selling at less prices than they can be imported—as is sometimes the case—we shall see that our customers shall realize all the benefit accruing from such sales. We are at all times willing to exhibit our stock to buyers, whether they purchase or not; we do not consider it any trouble to show our goods.

☞ Cash and close time purchasers are especially invited to give us a call. From our facilities we are convinced that we can sell them at such rates as must prove satisfactory. NICHOLSON & WRIGHT.

New Books just Received.

Frank Freeman's Barber Shop, by Rev. R. R. Hall. "Although a story of Southern life, it is entirely different from the many imitations of "Uncle Tom's Cabin." It is intensely interesting."—Buffalo Republic.

"Frank Freeman's Barber Shop will be read with avidity by a large proportion of those who have read "Uncle Tom's Cabin," and perhaps they will derive greater profit from the perusal of this than of that commentary upon the South."—Boston E Gaz.

"All we have to say is, buy the book, buy it for Frank's sake—for the Friend's sake—for your own sake—if you want something that will strongly, deeply interest you."—Saturday Courier.

The Napoleon Dynasty, or the History of the Buonaparte Family, with 22 authentic portraits, by the Beverly men.

Bryant House, Great Bend Depot, Pa.

THIS new and spacious building, situated but a few feet from the Depot at Great Bend, is now opened and furnished in a suitable style for a Public House, and will be kept open at all hours, (both day and night,) for the reception of travellers; and especially for the accommodation of passengers travelling on the N. Y. & Erie & L & W. Railroads, being at the junction of these two roads, and the most convenient point to step in and take refreshments and be off with the first train, as well as the most convenient house to accommodate the public, because it is NEW, CLEAN and WHOLESOME!—with room enough to accommodate ALL, being fitted up with new furniture to correspond, and tables always set, with WARM MEALS and luxuries furnished at a moments warning.

☞ Passengers desiring rest and sleep, can, by calling here, avoid the inconvenience of taking an omnibus to find an inn, as well as the delay and uncertainty of returning to the depot at the arrival or departure of the trains; as a porter will be in waiting to conduct them with their baggage to the Bryant House, "just across the way," and conduct them back again without fee or reward, taking special care to wake them if desired at any hour of the night.

The location of the Bryant House, with the natural scenery about it combine to make it a very desirable SUMMER RESORT for business men and others in the city who may wish to "cut off care" for a few days to recruit in the country.

A Large and Commodious Hall is attached to this building for the convenience of pleasure PARTIES, who may always find good accommodations here, without regard to numbers, with warm stables for their teams, and reliable help to wait on them.

☞ For further particulars, inquire at the Bryant House of the proprietor. ADDISON BRYANT.

A World of WONDERFUL THINGS.

Attend ye dwellers 'neath the sun!
Behold the wonders Art hath done!
We talk by lightning, ride by steam,
And paint by Sol's eternal beam!

But without stopping to enumerate the many benefits derived from the 'wire and the 'track,' we would call attention to the advantage of procuring one or more of those beautiful which are taken at the Odd Fellows' Hall, by the aid of heaven's own sunlight and W. B. Deans, the Artist.

He has 'just returned from the city! not with his 'head full of knowledge,' but with a new and interesting supply of plates and cases, gold and plated lockets, keys, etc. Among his latest styles of cases are the Madame Sontag, Fancy Turtle Shell, and
