last breakwater that stands between your rights and the surges of northern Abolitionism; and having thereby ingulfed your friends, you must be content to bare your own bosoms to its heaving billows. Is a reckless indifference on your behalf to the deep seated convictions of the northern mind the part of wisdom? Is it for your interest to lash into a frenzy on an abstraction that you claim to be of no practical benefit? For what, though you repose in a fancied security, that as a last resort, you have a remedy against all aggressions, real or imaginary, in a dissolution of the Union? How would you derive greater security by making the Ohio river, instead of the Niagara, the line to divide slave from free territory? How would it render your property any more secure by fixing a meridian line as a national boundary along the very borders of your present limits?

Security, sir in a dissolution of this Union! It would be the security of the maiden who conceals in her bosom the poignard that in the last extremity is to take her own life, after it has drank the life-blood of the aggressor.—It would be the security of the strong man who, laying hold on the pillars of Gaza, buried himself with his foes in a common ruin. It is the security of despair, enveloped in darkness and woe. For if ever the starry banner of this Union shall cease to float—the emblem of a united Confederacy—the last hope of the oppressed will go out in darkness; and a pall of midnight gloom will hang over his future. If ever yonder eagle, torn by faction and strife, shall fall rent and dismembered, it will be the knell of men's political rights, the death-sigh of liberty on earth. If ever, in our national disasters, this event shall fall upon us, humanity will be shrouded in mourning, and gloom will pall the future of man.

The American is, therefore, bound to this Union by the glories of the past and the hopes of the future, by the love which he bears to his offspring, and the sympathy that throbs warm in the heart of man for the woes of his race. The Constitution and the Union of these States, the proudest monument ever reared to the wisdom of man, and if ever folly or fanaticism shall lay it in the dust, freedom, heaving her last sigh, may wing her way back from earth to heaven. Strike out this last beacon light, this polar star to guide the political mariner over the troubled waters of revolution and reform, and his tempest-tossed bark, dismantled and rudderless, will sink beneath the waves, and the winds of heaven will bear to the ends of the earth the wailings of despair as they come up from crushed humanity. But, sir, I harbor no such gloomy forebodings for the future of my country and race. I trust in God that when the angel shall take his place, with one foot upon the land and the other upon the sea, to proclaim the world that time is no longer, the banner that waves so proudly o'er us to-day will still float out with its proud motto inscribed upon its folds in letters of living light.

Sir, this is the only element of discord that can ever sunder the bonds of this Union; and there is one method to render even this harmless. And that is, faithfully to observe all the compromises and reconciliations of its conflicts, and henceforth banish it forever from these Halls.

Still Another Fire in Towanda!

On Thursday morning last, at 1 1-2 o'clock the frame building on second street, in the rear of the "Ward House," was discovered to be on fire—Franklin Engine was soon on the spot and notwithstanding the difficulty of procuring water, succeeded in saving the large building adjoining, occupied as a boarding house, by John Laughlin. The building was occupied by Misses Hanson, as a Female Seminary—and owned by C. L. Ward, Esq.—We learn that it was insured for $500, in the Lycoming Company.

When first discovered, the fire apparently proceeded from the ice-house, which, with a large cistern, occupied the basement. The ice-house was kept constantly locked, and had not been opened since 9 o'clock, the previous morning. Footsteps were heard about the building, by lodgers in the boarding house, but a few minutes previously to the alarm of fire, and there can be no question that it was work of an incendary.

This is the first occasion for using the engine since it was procured—and its performance has satisfied every one of utility and value in staying the progress of the destroying element. Without it, the conflagration would have been much more extensive—and if water could have been readily procured in sufficient quantity, the building destroyed might have been partially saved. We trust that immediate arrangements will be made to provide a supply of water for the safety of those streets not to be reached from the river. Bradford Reporter.

Opposition to the Repeal of the Missouri Compromise.

Pursuant to notice given, a large and respectable meeting of the Democrats of Susquehanna County assembled at the Hotel of Wm. K. Hatch, in Montrose, on Saturday afternoon May 20th, for the purpose of expressing determined opposition to the proposed Repeal of the Missouri Compromise, and the men who favor that attempt, and also to take such other measures as should seem proper to render that opposition effective.

The meeting was organized by appointing the following named officers:

D. D. WARNER, President, DENNIS SULLIVAN, SAMUEL SHERER, Esqr's., Vice Presidents; Wm. A. Crossman, Wm. K. Hatch, Secretaries.

The President called on Wm. J. Turrell Esq., who proceeded to state fully the objects of the meeting.

On motion it was resolved—That we hereby declare to our political brethren throughout this Commonwealth,

"Our determined opposition to the measure now pending in Congress for the repeal of the 8th section of the act prepartory to the admission of Missouri into the Union. We warn our friends throughout the State against the consequences of disaster and defeat, which in our judgment will overwhelm us as a party, if this measure of injustice and wrong be forced upon the country under a Democratic Administration, and in the abused name of Democracy. To the principles of the Democratic faith we profess an ardent and unalterable attachment, and we hold it an insult upon our intelligence, and an outrage upon our principles, to press upon our acceptance as democratic, a measure designed to defraud the laboring masses and their posterity of their rightful inheritance, and to surrender the National domain to Southern capitalists, as a field upon which to employ more profitably their capital invested in slaves.

Democracy as taught by Jefferson, and illustrated in the administrations of the earlier democratic Presidents, had no alliance, or sympathy with slavery. As a local State institution, it was free from Federal interference; but never, until these latter times, did slavery dare to claim the fostering care and support of the National Government, for its extension beyond State boundaries. The power of the Nation in the earlier and better days of the Republic was repeatedly exerted to circumscribe the limits of slavery, and to set bounds to its progress; and in this patriotic work, the Democratic party and its leading Statesmen took an active and prominent part.

Standing upon the great and beneficent doctrines of the Democratic creed—instructed by the teachings and examples of Jefferson, we solemnly protest against the attempt now made to prostitute the organization of the Democratic party to purposes of slavery propagandism. We claim for Democracy higher objects, and a nobler mission—the elevation of man, not his degradation and debasement—the protection of the rights of labor, against the heartless demands of capital.

As citizens deeply interested in the honor of our State—as Democrats earnestly desiring the success of our party in all its efforts for the protection of individual rights, and the advancement of the general welfare, we are anxious that this great and powerful Commonwealth should occupy before her sister States, the position of honor and party safety on the great question now engaging the almost undivided attention of the American Congress and people. We condemn as dishonorable, and unworthy of a party which has ever boasted of carrying its principles and policy boldly inscribed on its banner, to evade meeting fully and frankly the great absorbing question now agitating and convulsing the country. We demand that the Democracy of Pennsylvania shall be heard in the settlement of great National questions; that the voice of the party in this State, shall not be smothered on the most momentous issue which has been presented for the deliberation and decision of the present generation. We make principle the test, and the only test of party fidelity—and utterly discard any other, as calculated to detract from the dignity of party action, and to sink our party conflicts into a degrading and demoralizing scramble for office—unworthy of intelligent and independent men."

Resolved, That we call upon the Democratic members of Congress from Pennsylvania, and especially from this district, to take and continue the most strenuous and active measures to defeat the bill now pending before Congress for the repeal of the Missouri Compromise, believing the public sentiment of this State to be now, as in 1819 and 1847, "when the General Assembly passed resolutions in favor of preserving the National domain for free white labor."

Resolved, That we approve the suggestion of holding a Democratic Anti-Nebraska State Convention at Harrisburg on the first day of June, to give expression to the views and feelings of the Democracy of Pennsylvania, opposed to the repeal of the Missouri Compromise, and to take such other measures in reference thereto, as may be deemed necessary and proper; and we name as delegates from this County, Hon. M. C. Tyler, Hon. D. D. Warner, Amos Williams, W. J. Turrell, G. B. Eldred, John Youngs, A. O. Warren, Tyler Brewster, Wm. A. Crossman, Jas. E. Howe, F. P. Hollister, and Harvy Tyler, with power to substitute.

Resolved, That the proceedings of this meeting be published in all the Democratic papers in this Congressional District.

The meeting then adjourned.

☞ At a meeting held at Montrose Pa., May 22, 1824. The following Preamble and Resolutions were unanimously adopted.

Whereas, It is not only the privileges—but the duty of Freemen, when their rights are invaded, to give aid and support to those who patriotically availing themselves of the position allotted them—step forward and do battle for the right, and against the wrong.—And whereas, a crisis has arrived in our National councils which calls loudly upon the men of the North, to speak out words of encouragement, to such of their Representatives as are now nobly battling for the dearest interests of humanity, and the legally established rights of the free States of the American Union. Therefore be it

Resolved, That we have watched with admiration, the noble stand taken, and the untiring efforts put forth by those in the House of Representatives of the United States, from North and South against that portion of the Nebraska bill which proposes to repeal the Missouri Compromise.

Resolved, That they have our hearty thanks, and that their names shall be honored by us, and their noble efforts in this behalf, cherished in all time to come, whether they triumph in the contest, or whether they are crushed beneath the mighty combinations brought to bear upon them.

Resolved, That in this hour of threatened peril, and while the dark cloud hangs upon the political horizon, of our beloved country, our eyes are involuntarily turned to the noble, generous and incorruptible HOUSTON as the star of our hope, whose patriotism, has been tested, whose Statesmanship has been proved, whose integrity is established, whose ability is undoubted, and who is the man, the best man, the only man, to be elevated to the executive chair of our Union, in the hope of restoring peace and confidence to the country.

On motion the above Resolutions be published in the papers of our county.

H. S. STEPHENS Sec.

DIED,

At his residence, in Montrose, on Monday April 17th 1854, EDWARD FULLER, aged 85 years and 8 months.

Such was the simple and brief announcement in your paper of the 11th inst., of the departure from among us, to that bourne whence no traveller returns, of one, who, for almost half a century, has been a member of this community—who had outlived nearly all his early associates, and of those with whom he had mingled in the busy scenes of life, but few survive him. Mr. Fuller was one of the pioneers in this region, having removed with his family from Connecticut in June 1806, and settled about three miles south of Montrose. Then Luzerne County extended to the State Line; but in 1812 the present County of Susquehanna was organized, and Mr. F. was elected Sheriff. For many years he kept a Public House in this Borough, and was justly distinguished for his social qualities.—In Feb. 1833 he united with the Presbyterian Church in Montrose, and continued a consistent and exemplary member to the close of life.

He was emphatically an honest man, and enjoyed, in a high degree, the respect and confidence of all who knew him—and it is believed, that in all his long life, he never made an enemy. He was born in Plympton Mass. August 25, 1768—removed to Norwich Conn. in 1788, where he married Hanna West, daughter of Elias West. In June 1806 he removed to Bridgewater Pa., with his family, and died April 17, 1854, leaving a wife and eight children. This brief tribute of affectionate respect is offered by one who cherishes his memory, and would imitate his virtues. {COM.

AMONG THE "KNOW-NOTHINGS."

THE SECRET OUT.

BUT the fact that W. B. Deans has taken and is still taking some very beautiful and life-like DAGUERREOTYPES, never was a secret and he has no desire to make it one now.

He has just purchased a splendid assortment of Gold Lockets, Pins, Keys, &c., and in his selection of the latest paterns of plain and fancy styles of cases, he trusts there is nothing lacking.

He knows not what he can say, or what he need to say more than has already been said, to induce you to come to his Gallery, and bring your friends with you. You have all experienced something of the satisfaction afforded in gazing on the faithful picture of an absent friend; and some of you have known the sad pleasure derived from possessing the likeness of some loved one who has been laid beneath the church yard mound, and felt that

No price could take from you
A memento so cherished,
For how sacred the shadow
Since the substance has perished.

But you, perchance have friends still with you whose pictures you have not secured. If so, make it the business of to-day, to-morrow may be to late. Improve the opportunity while it is yours—while the roses of health bloom on the cheek, ere yet the mildew of disease shall blight and blanch your treasure, and death rob you of both it and its image. Pictures taken in clear or cloudy weather. Prices, from 75 cts. to $15,00.

100 Dollars Lost.

IT was not stolen, neither was it dropped in the road, yet irrevocably lost to any gentleman who purchases slop-shop clothing, instead of selecting his cloth of an honest dealer and getting his clothes made up by an honest Tailor.—Instead of losing that amount, any gentlman can save $100 in two years time by carefully selecting his cloths, and employing such a Tailor as John Groves to cut and make them up, and say nothing of the comfort of having decent fits.

THE SPRING FASHIONS

are posted up at my shop, and very neat styles they are. Call and see.

☞ Cutting done as usual for ready pay, and warranted to fit.

Remember, my shop is in the basement corner of Searle's Hotel, about forty feet in a Northwest course from the Liberty-pole.
