GOSSIP OF THE STREET

SUCCESS OF LOAN FOREMOST TOPIC

Campaign for New Issue Claims All Attention in Financial District

Only one thing counts in the financial district these days—the success of the fourth Liberty Loan. One sees it in the banks and trust companies, in the brokers' offices, in the street, everywhere.

No one has time to talk of any other subject except the one so closely related to the success of the loan, namely, the war, for, after all, these two are one.

The stock market yesterday was somewhat erratic. Stocks which should boom under the wonderful war news which has poured in for the last forty-eight hours declined somewhat. One broker, on being asked the reason, said he believed the market was already discounting an early peace. There are, he said, certain stocks, known as war stocks, such as du Pont's, which must decline on the first whisper of peace, and there are the others, mainly industrials, which will be in demand because the products of the industries they represent will be in great demand for several years to come.

This broker went on to say that to his mind peace was not quite so near as perhaps some people imagined, but he remarked, "the stock market is always at least six months ahead on such matters."

* * *

In the opinion of many financiers the recent victories of the Allies and the collapse of Bulgaria will promote the sale of Liberty Bonds more than any other agency. One broker said there has never been a time when war bonds did not appreciate in price in peace times, and as everything now points to an early end of the war, the time is not so far distant when Liberty Bonds of all issues will be quoted above par.

Bankers Looked Weary

William A. Law, president of the First National Bank, of this city, has returned from the annual convention of the National Bankers' Association of America, held in Chicago last week.

He said the most striking thing about the assemblage of bankers was the wearied, tired appearance of the delegates, most of whom were the presidents of banks represented. It was evident, he said, not only to him but to others that the strain of the war was telling on these men, many of whom had lost their principal helpers, who had gone to the front and thrown a heavy burden on them. Many of them had sons on the other side. The lack of help, he said, has been the cause of bank officials being saddled with an amount of work which is telling in many instances, and making conscientious men age prematurely.

Campaign Better Conducted

This Liberty Loan campaign, remarked a banker yesterday, is being conducted to all appearances differently from the former ones. There is an absence of the indiscriminate buttonholing on the street, he said, that we had in previous campaigns, and there are few if any booths in operation along the sidewalks. "I understand," he continued, "that the work is being done in a quieter but more effective manner, and that more dependence is being placed on the results that will come from a house-to-house canvass. It may be that the same noisy tactics may begin in a day or two, but one thing certain; they are not in evidence today.

Essential Industries Finance

A local banking house which is largely interested in the Portland Railway, Light and Power Company, of Portland, Ore., said yesterday that this company will in all probability be the first of the public utilities companies to receive aid from the Essential Industries Finance Corporation, which is now in the process of formation, to enable such public utilities as are in need of immediate financial assistance to take advantage of the $500,000,000 fund of the War Finance Corporation. It is not likely, this banking house said, that anything will be done till the close of the Liberty Loan campaign, and besides there are a number of details and formalities which must be attended to before the finance corporation can begin operations. It was also said that the Portland Railway, Light and Power Company of all public utilities which will seek the assistance of the Essential Industries Finance Corporation is in the most favorable condition "to be operated upon"—as it was put. It owns and operates virtually all the street railways in Portland and vicinity, and it also does the greater part of the electric lighting and power business of that city. It has $4,000,000 of notes due November 1. These notes matured in May last, but were extended for six months at 6 per cent. As a matter of fact, these notes matured in May, 1917, but were extended for one year. The company has $15,000,000 of common stock outstanding on which 75 per cent has been paid in, besides $5,000,000 each first and second preferred stock. Besides the notes the company has outstanding $34,646,000 of bonds.

As it supplies transportation, light and power to the extensive shipyards and other war industries the business of the company is of a character considered essential by the Government.
