Special Notices.

WHEN DOCTORS DISAGREE

Where can patients look for relief? The experience of every Dyspeptic tends to prove that the proper method of treatment of that wide-spread disease, Dyspepsia, is not to be found in any of the regular schools of medicine You cannot find three physicians who will agree upon this point; each has some pet theory of his own, and each patient is but in truth a subject for experiment The only effectual remedy for this terrible scourge is

HOSTETTER'S HERB BITTERS.

It alone is certain and uniform it its effects. It has cured thousands and will cure you. TRY IT!!!

A BODY AND MIND DISEASE.

Such is dyspepsia. The stomach and the brain are too intimately allied for the one to suffer without the other, so that dyspepsia and despondency are inseparable. It may be added, too, that irritation of the stomach is almost invariably accompanied by irritation of the temper The invigorating and tranquilizing operation of Hostetter's Bitters is most powerfully developed in cases of indigestion, The first effect of this agreeable tonic is comforting and encouraging. A mild glow pervades the system, the chronic uneasiness in the region of the stomach is lessened, and the nervous restlessness which characterizes the disease is abated. This improvement is not transient. It is not succeeded by the return of the old symtomps with super-added force, as is always the case when unmedicated stimulants are given for the complaint. Each dose seems to impart a permanent accession of healthful invigoration. Not this is not all. The aperient and anti-bilious properties of the preparation are scarcely secondary in importance to its tonic virtues. If there is an o erflow of bile, the secretion is soon brought within proper limits, and if the biliary organ is inert and torpid it is toned and regulated. The effect upon the discharging organs is equally salutary, and in cases in constipation and cathartic action is just sufficient to produce the desired result gradually and without pain. The bitters also promote healthy evaporation from the surface, which is particularly desirable at this season when sudden spells of raw, unpleasant weather are apt to check the natural perspiration and produce congestion of liver, coughs, and colds. The best safeguard against all diseases is bodily vigor, and this the great Vegetable Restorative especially promotes.
