PETITION PREPARED TO FIGHT VARE'S VOTE

Board of Registration Commissioners May Hear Argument on Senator's Residence Today

LEADER IS "MYSTERY MAN"

A petition to the Board of Registration Commissioners to have the name of Senator Vare stricken from the lists on the ground that he is not a legal resident of Philadelphia has been prepared and may be heard today.

An affidavit to the effect that the senator is not entitled to vote in this city, it was said, will be made by Samuel Hill, an Independent, who challenged Senator Vare on the first registration day. Hill maintains that the senator legally lives in Ambler, Pa.

Senator Is "Mystery Man"

Senator Vare is more a "mystery man" than ever. He has developed spiritualistic powers.

It seems he is able to enter barred windows or doors that are closed and locked without the need of turning a key or drawing a bolt.

He can pass in and out unseen. His comings and goings are invisible to human eyes. He could stage an act that would have the "Handcuff King" faded. He could give lessons to the elusive Banshee.

For he has "resided" two or three months each winter at 2009 South Broad street, which he claims as his legal residence—and yet his nearest neighbor has never seen him enter or leave his humble domicile.

The now famous "house behind the chicken wire fence," where the owner of the costly mansion at Ambler says he lives, is next door to another old-time dwelling occupied by Louis Husson, a Frenchman, artist and friend of noted men, veteran of the Franco-Prussian war, who has dwelt there for thirty-one years.

See For Yourself

"You can see for yourself whether the house next door is occupied," said M. Husson, when asked about his eminent "neighbor."

"Has it ever been occupied?" he was asked.

"Oh, yes, years ago. A family named English used to live there."

"But has anyone lived there since Senator Vare bought it?"

"I was away the year the house was bought about three years ago," was the answer. "I cannot say, therefore, about the first winter. I know Mr. Vare moved his furniture in—the house is filled with fine furniture, which must be rotting away. You know fine furniture cannot last without some care.

"But in the last two years I have never seen any one there. I would know if people were coming and going, as I am here always."

"Who takes care of the little garden?" he was asked. "There is a small flower bed in front of the door, and the lot alongside of the Vare "mansion" has been dug up and vegetables planted.

"Every spring," he explained, "Senator Vare lets the children at the public school nearby have the ground for a garden. They come in and plant the flowers and vegetables, and take care of them."

Only Apparent Use

And apparently this is the only use to which the property at 2009 South Broad street is put—except that of furnishing a legal voting residence for the South Philadelphia leader.

Senator "Ed" lives all the year round at Ambler—at least, that is the impression of his fellow-townsmen. They don't know very much about Mr. Vare at Ambler, though he has lived there for several years.

It seems he is a bit of a "country gentleman" when on his million-dollar estate. Though he is one of the most widely known men in Philadelphia, with a speaking acquaintance that goes up into the thousands, at Ambler no one seems to know him intimately.

The only time the Ambler folks see Mr. Vare is when he steps into the town barber shop—as he does now and then—to get shaved, or when he is driven in his automobile to the station.

STONE CUTTER FOR VARE

Denial Made That Senator Purchased Stone Outside City

Walter Maxwell, of John Maxwell's Sons, cut stone contractors, spoke in defense of Senator Vare today, after hearing of the attack upon Vare and Judge Patterson by John C. Walsh, business agent of the Philadelphia Granite Cutters' Union, and Thomas P. McShea, business agent of the Journeymen Stone Cutters' Union of North America.

"I wish to deny the statements. I have furnished Senator Vare all the cut granite he has used in his contracts with the city," said Maxwell. "The stone was cut in my yard by Philadelphia stone cutters at a cost higher than Senator Vare could have obtained it from Eastern quarries."

GIRL-WORKER FOR MOORE HOPES TO BE POLITICIAN

Miss Lee Anna Wadleigh "Just Learning Ropes" While Directing Distribution of Campaign Literature for Congressman

"I'm just learning the ropes. I expect to be a politician myself one of these days."

The speaker was Miss Lee Anna Wadleigh, of 1433 South Fifty-fourth street, just now in charge of a squad of 100 young women who are sending out campaign literature for the committee of one hundred. She was hunting up lists of names and directing the mailing of literature from Congressman's Moore's campaign headquarters as she talked.

A simple lavender-checked gingham dress set off her blonde beauty. Her neatly marcelled hair was coiled in most becoming fashion and her wide blue eyes and fair complexion gave her an almost doll-like appearance. But her keen appreciation of the political game and her desire to learn all the angles proved she wasn't doll-like in other respects.

"Interested in the campaign? Indeed I am. I'm going to learn all I can now because I expect to be able to vote before very long. The girls are all deeply interested in the work and we are doing our bit of campaigning on the side, too.

Sees Moore Victory

"About twenty-five of us work all day and 100 girls will be working till 11 o'clock each evening till the middle of September, sending out campaign literature and helping in any other way we can to push the campaign. I never knew Mr. Moore till I began the work here, but I know something of his record and admire him very much. I believe he will win."

The squad of 100 young girls is working on the balcony of the Liberty Building, while downstairs, in one corner of the big headquarters, the women's committee for a better Philadelphia, headed by Mrs. Cornelius Stevenson and Mrs. Joseph Mumford, is working busily. The women hope to have a committee of 100 of their own fully organized by next week.

"Just what work we will do in the wards we cannot decide till our organization is completed," said Mrs. Mumford today. "But our committee is to include 100 active women workers and not a single sloucher. We are carefully choosing as members those women who are deeply interested and enthusiastic, and I know we shall accomplish things.

"We are all agreed that our first work is to get voters to register, and we are already working on that."

MOORE PARADE IN 39TH

Service Men Lead March, Winning Voters From Patterson

Moore supporters in the Thirty-ninth ward paraded last night. They assembled at headquarters, Broad and Porter streets, shortly after 8 o'clock. Flags, torches and roman candles were distributed, and men fell into line behind a band.

Soldiers and sailors headed the procession, bearing two large American flags, an Italian and an Irish flag. Then came the band and a placard inscribed "This Is a Union Band." There were many placards indorsing the candidacy of Representative Moore. Along the line of march boys distributed cards announcing the rally tonight.

The procession moved up Broad street to Snyder avenue, to Front street, to Jackson street, to Moyamensing avenue and back up Broad street.

Moore's Speeches Tonight

There will be five meetings tonight at which Congressman Moore will speak. He will start his addresses at 1726 South Broad street, going from there to Broad and Porter street and then to the Young Men's Republican Club of the Thirty-sixth ward, at Twenty-fourth and Wharton streets. After that he will address meetings at Seventy-second street and Elmwood avenue, in the Fortieth ward, and at Greenway Hall, Fifty-sixth street and Woodland avenue, in the same ward.

VARE CLAIMS CREDIT FOR BIG ENROLLMENT

Senator Tells Republican City Committee That Organization Turned Out the Electors

"UNCLE" DAVE IS ABSENT

Credit for the big registration last Tuesday was claimed by organization leaders at a meeting of the Republican city committee this afternoon.

Senator Vare attributed the big enrollment last Tuesday to the active Republican workers, returned service men and members of labor unions.

The cramped quarters of the city committee were crowded with ward leaders, public officials and party workers.

"Uncle Dave" Lane, the veteran leader of the Twentieth ward and the sage of the organization, was not present and was not expected.

He came up from his summer home in Atlantic City last Tuesday to register and was not expected to make another trip this week.

Senator Vare, who was the first speaker, "congratulated" the workers on the result of the registration and admitted that the "newspaper drive" had helped. He said:

"I want to congratulate the members of this committee, and through you, the returned service men, the members of organized labor and the active regular Republican party workers, for the splendid work which they did last Tuesday in helping to bring about the large registration of Republicans. This registration was the result of organized effort on the part of those I have mentioned, and was very materially assisted by the newspaper drive.

"A large registration in Philadelphia always means a substantial Republican victory, and the regular Republicans of this city have every reason to rejoice because of last Tuesday's registration.

"We must not let the good work stop at this point. There are two more registration days, Tuesday, September 2 and Saturday, September 6."

MOORE INDORSED BY JEWS

Meeting Calls on Co-religionists to Support Independent Candidate

Representatives of the Jewish citizenship from the various wards in Philadelphia held a meeting last night in the Moore campaign headquarters in the Liberty Building and adopted a resolution pledging support to the candidacy of Representative J. Hampton Moore for the Republican nomination for Mayor. The resolution follows:

"Resolved, That the Republican campaign committee of Jewish citizens indorses the candidacy of the Hon. J. Hampton Moore for the Republican nomination for Mayor of Philadelphia, and urges that all good citizens who desire to give Philadelphia a clean administration lend their support to Mr. Moore and the entire independent ticket at the coming primaries."

Dr. H. Y. Belber was chairman of the meeting. D. Louis Zimmerman will act as manager of the Jewish campaign committee. Mass-meetings will be held throughout the city under the direction of this committee and the issues of the campaign will be brought home to the citizens of the various wards.

PATTERSON INVADES INDUSTRIAL PLANTS

Speakers Supporting Organization Candidate at Hog Island, Cramp's and Baldwin's

JUDGE RETURNS HOME

Judge Patterson's campaign for the Republican mayoralty nomination was carried to three big industrial centers at noon today—Hog Island, Cramp's shipyard and the Baldwin Locomotive Works.

Speaking within view of scores of placards used in the Hog Island election of a sponsor, Major Vincent Carroll and Ephraim Lipschutz dwelt on the Organization candidate's record on the bench and his "100 per cent Americanism."

Several thousand workmen heard the addresses and cheers occasionally rewarded points made by the speakers.

At the Cramp shipyard the orators were H. F. Wright and Robert F. Irwin, Jr. Baldwin's workers were addressed by Samuel Moyerman.

Judge Patterson returned today from a fishing trip to Bay Head, N. J., and went to the headquarters of the committee of one thousand, at Thirteenth and Chestnut streets. Members of the committee gathered about him to congratulate him upon the outlook in the campaign.

Judge Patterson was optimistic when asked what he thought of the large registration last Tuesday, he said:

"Fine. I want to see a big registration. Then there'll be no question after the primaries whether the people have had their say."

Dr. William J. O'Brien, of 1765 Frankford avenue, has sent a letter to Judge Patterson, pledging his support. Doctor O'Brien has been active in reform movements and was vice chairman of the City party in 1905.

PATTERSON SPEAKS TONIGHT

Boomers of Mayoralty Candidate Arrange Series of Meetings

Organization leaders plan to start their campaign machinery tonight with a series of mass-meetings, at which Judge Patterson will be the principal speaker.

Three meetings have been scheduled in the Independent strongholds of West Philadelphia.

The meetings will be held at the Fortieth Ward Republican Club, Fifty-seventh street and Woodland avenue; combined Thirty-fourth and Forty-fourth ward meeting at Fifty-second street and Girard avenue and a Twenty-fourth ward meeting.
